3. Make the visit short. Fifteen minutes is enough, unless the bereaved wants you to stay longer.
4. Dress neatly, tastefully, not necessarily in somber shades or mourners' black.
5. If the bereaved wish to talk, fine. Be a good listener!
6. A simple "I'm sorry about (father, mother, etc.) is appropriate, accompanied by a firm handclasp or brief embrace.
7. Leave after offering to help or after performing whatever help you may have been asked to do.
8. Call back in a few days, again offering your aid. That's when the bereaved may especially appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Hunt-Whipple United

Patricia Hunt and Douglas Whipple were married Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Adrian.

Fr. William J. Carolin officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duaine Hunt of Adrian and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Whipple of Cadmus.

Candelabra and bouquets of mixed flowers in the bridal colors flanked the altar for the bride's approach with her father.

Michael Anderson was organist and Dennis Skelle was soloist, both friends of the groom from Hudson.

The couple solemnized the wedding vows by lighting a unity candle.

For her wedding, the bride selected a gown of white polyester knit. The bodice was designed with a wedding ring collar of Venice lace. Matching lace accented the empire waistline and long tapered sleeves. An A-line skirt fell softly into a chapel train. A matching lace edged mantilla completed her bridal attire. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Mary Hunt, the bride's sister of Adrian, was maid of honor in a daisy floral gown featuring a V-neckline and bell sleeves. She wore a white hat and carried a white basket of yellow and white daisies.

Barb Whipple, the groom's sister of Cadmus, and Mrs. Michael Mart, the bride's sister of Concord, were bridesmaids and Barb Hunt, the bride's sister of Adrian, was junior bridesmaid.

Robert Cole of Hudson was best man.

Ushers were Roy Rodriquez, the groom's uncle of Adrian, Ronald Hunt, the bride's brother of Adrian and junior groomsmen, Terry Sroufe of Adrian.

Scott Hunt the bride's nephew and Raul Rodriquez, the groom's cousin were ring bearers.

Altar boys were Kevin Cote of Adrian and Eric Forsthoefel of Chicago, Ill., cousins of the bride.

A reception of 450 guests followed the ceremony at the United Products Workers Union Hall. Guest tables were decorated with glass hurricane lamps. The baskets of flowers carried by the attendants decorated the bride's table.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sylvanus Cote cut the wedding cake. The cake was a three-tiered, set on tall pillars and topped with a bride and groom decoration. A smaller cake with the same decoration was set inside the pillars and saved for the couple.

Kitty Gardner and Pam Witt served cake. Cindy Russ of Lansing assisted with the pouring of punch which came from a cascading fountain.

Special guests included the bride's great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Remie Dionne of Kankakee, Ill.; her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hutchinson of Somerset Ky.; the groom's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jacobs of Owosso; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sylvanus Cote of Adrian and grandfather, Howard Hunt of Jerome and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Sword of Cadmus.

RACOONS AND RAIN

Gertie T. saw them on that beautiful day when Tecumseh's drought ended. Marda, almost the original sunshine and warm weather lover, calling a rainy day beautiful? Yes indeed! So serious was lack of rain that, when the thunder rumbled and real honest-to-gosh raindrops started to fall, I joined everyone else in silently saying, "Thanks".

It happened at lunch and was so exciting that Gertie T. bounced from window to window as she nibbled her apples and cheese. In addition to watching the rain there was also the problem of closing and opening windows and doors.

With everything open it was too damp and yet when they were closed it was stuffy, opening up let rain in but when closed we missed that good smell of cool rain hitting a warm and dusty earth.

Finally the chilly dampness and the thought of wet curtains and window sills won. Gertie T. was closing up -- she was just about to reach for the crank on the casement window when she happened to look up the creek. All action stopped and she gasped In amazement. The timing could not have been more perfect because, just as she looked through the west facing window, two racoons splashed across the creek. Wow!

I am sure there are racoons along the creek bank most of the time, there simply has to be but we don't see them often. This is a shame too for these black masked little bandits are cute characters. They are nocturnal, of course, and this is the main reason we so seldom see them. If their days go according to schedule they prefer to rest during the daylight hours and prowl at night. Their diet consists of practically anything they happen on — anything from fish to frogs to insects to corn, etc.

Corn on the cob is a great treat and more than once we have heard tales from irate home gardners who have gone to their gardens with every intention of picking one of the summer's great treats only to find that a racoon had the same idea during the night. How temper-blowing it must be to find a whole row of corn stalks broken over and each ear tasted. And once a good corn patch is found I am told that the racoon will make nightly raids and unerringly pick the corn when it is at its peak of flavor.

A hollow tree or a cave in a rocky cliff or bank are usually spots picked by racoons for their home-sweet-homes. This accounts for some interesting speculation — speculation as to where the two racoons Gertie T. saw were resting. There is a large round drain tile on the creek bank, it is part of the storm sewer system. It looked as though the 'coons scooted out of this tile, ran down the bank to the creek's edge,' splashed through the water to the other side, and then disappeared.

An inagination teaser: Picture two racoons all curled up and enjoying their naps when suddenly a small stream of water comes trickling through their tile home. Surprise!

Although the adventure was not long Gertie T. did have a good look at the two animals. One was noticeably larger than the other, presumably a female with a youngster. Were the rest of the kids already out on their own or was this a young female who had had an unusually small litter or, of course, there is always the sad possibility that out of the usual size family of four or five only one had survived. Whoever they were, they were cute. Gertie T. clearly saw their bushy striped tails, sharp pointed noses, and black eye masks.

Since that exciting 'first' rainy day there has been enough moisture to green up the yards and help the shrubbery; in fact, I am almost on the verge of complaining about dark gloomy weather. All this will change in a minute though, if the next rainy day will be accompanied by a racoon or two.

BANG-UP TIME — Adrian's Senior Citizens Kitchen Band provided a lot of musical fun for the Clinton Fall Festival crowd, Friday afternoon from the portable stage at the Middle School. Unidentified players had fashioned their instruments from a variety of kitchen utensils.

Most Claim Festival Was Big 'Success'

By Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON — Third Annual Fall Festival weekend was successful, despite the rain-out on Sunday, according to most participating groups.

Streets were well-lined with spectators – and umbrellas – for Sunday's parade that went on without a few of the units previously announced. Michigan Fifth Regiment Band and Britton-Macon Band were among the missing. Tecumseh's Marching Band christened their new uniforms in the downpour.

Friday and Saturday events were well attended.

Adrian Senior Citizens kitchen band and a rock band provided music for all tastes, Friday afternoon from the stage at the Middle School.

By having entertainment features such as the stage shows, balloon ascension and tractor pull at scattered locations, the crowds were more dispersed and it is hard to compare crowd attendance with former years. However, the booths uptown were much more accessible and pleasant to visit.

Folks at United Church of Christ served over 300 fish dinners Friday night. Jennie Davis and her committee were sorry to have to turn away some 30 people because they ran out of food. Dinner netted over $700. The lawn sale at the Bowman's netted $240 for the church organ fund.

The church's country Kitchen booth, downtown, sold 64 dozen pretzels, lots of sloppy joes and baked goods.

St. John's Episcopal Church Women served beef luncheon Friday and Saturday to an estimated 300 persons, about the same as last year, and netted about $500 from the event. Their lawn sale of bazaar and white elephant items was unusually successful, according to Mrs. Russell Cooper.

St. Dominic's Altar Society Apple Tree was prepared with 170 pies, and ice cream and, although they had a good sale, Sunday's rain dampened sales a bit, according to president, Mrs. Carlos Knisely. However, they did set up in the Community Center where the fascinating Lost Arts display drew visitors throughout the day. The apple cookbooks are still available by calling Mrs. F.W. Balk, 423-8165.

United Methodist Church had a successful rummage sale at the church, according to Doris Reiser, chairman. Norman Zimmerman reported that about 200 persons were served at the ice cream social, Sunday at Memorial Park, despite the rainy day. Although not as great as last year's social, the project raised $100 and all pies and cakes were sold.

Clinton Area Jaycees worked through the night Friday and all day Saturday roasting five big porkers, totalling 1,300 lbs., which they sold out in dinners, along with hundreds of sausages and sauerkraut luncheons and beer. They took in over $3,000 and still have some bills to pay, but they surely had a successful event. They got a second wind somehow, and danced until about 1 a.m. Sunday morning at the tent dance, then closed up shop as the rains began.

Clinton Rotarians, who have braved many a rainy day to put on a chicken barbecue, took this one in stride Sunday. Most of the 1,200 chicken halves went to homes in boxed dinners, but quite a few folks stayed at the tent to eat and visit.

All the faithful volunteers who stayed at their duties, Sunday, with the rain running down their faces, deserve an extra expression of appreciation from all of us. Take time to say thanks to Festival chairman Forrest Haskell and all his committees, too.

Saturday's presentation of the Bicentennial Chorus, on stage in front of the Middle School, was attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd, and many stayed to view the performance by three talented belly dancers. This viewer suspects the girls danced so well, just to keep warm!

Bonnie McElroy Wins Festival Automobile

CLINTON — Mrs. Kenneth McElroy, of Tecumseh, was the winner of the Fall Festival automobile. Mr. McElroy is president at the United Savings Bank, Tecumseh.

Winner had a choice of three luxury automobiles. The McElroy's chose the Toronado from John Underwood Chevy-Olds-Pontiac.

The McElroys left Monday for a two week vacation and didn't stay around long enough to have a photograph taken with the new car. We'll do that when they return.

Joe O'Donnell, car ticket sales chairman, reports a total of 13,360 tickets sold.

When expenses are paid, proceeds will be shared between the four Clinton village churches, St. Dominic's, St. John's, United Methodist and United Church of Christ, and the Chamber of Commerce.

O'Donnell noted that many more tickets might have been sold if those who had unsold tickets — some 5,000 of them, had not waited until the last moments before the drawing to turn them in. The committee actually ran out of tickets to sell for a while.

Last year, 8,700 car drawing tickets were sold and only 4,000 were sold at Clinton's first Fall Festival in 1974.

REDSKINS FALL TO HUDSON—Clinton's Grid Squad had its hands full with Hudson Friday night. Above, a Clinton player tries to plow ahead while three Tigers come in for the tackle. Final Score was 46-0 in favor of Hudson.

JVs Lose to Hudson, 24-0

The Clinton Junior Varsity football team was defeated 24-0 last Thursday by a determined Hudson squad.

Play was relatively even throughout the first half with the Redskins holding Hudson to 8 points, but allowing a second TD with 37 seconds left before halftime.

Clinton's attempt to get on the scoreboard with one second left in the game was futile as a Keith-to-Traves pass was batted away in the end zone.

The Redskins will travel to Ida next Thursday to meet the Bluestreaks.

Girls Win

Clinton's eighth grade girls basketball squad defeated its Hudson counterparts 26-24 Tuesday night.

Rene Snyder scored 12 points, Carrie Merrillat had six and Rene Peterson and Brenda Galovich each had four points.

The Tecumseh Band Boosters have a terrific recipe book available, a collection of their families' favorite recipes. I prepared several dishes from it and they were all really good. This week's recipes were taken from this book.

The apple cake I baked was delicious and the cream cheese frosting really topped it well. It was submitted by Mrs. E. Giesen.

APPLE CAKE

2 cups flour
2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup oil
1½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup chopped nuts
5 or 6 apples, thick chunks

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly, except apples. Mixture will be stiff. Stir in apples. Put in greased 9 x 13 inch pan and bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

3 tablespoons butter or oleo
1 small package cream cheese
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups powdered sugar

Mix ingredients together until creamy. Frost when cake is cool.

This gelatin salad from Dorothy Burack had a light, fluffy texture and was really good.

JELLO DREAM WHIP SALAD

2 small Jello (2 lime or 1 lime and 1 lemon)
1 cup boiling water
1 cup juice drained from 1 large crushed pineapple
½ cup chopped nuts
1 envelope Dream Whip - mix according to directions but omit vanilla
1 large cream cheese

Let cheese stand at room temperature several hours before using. Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add pineapple juice. Chill until firm. Whip with mixer, add cream cheese and whipped cream. continue Whipping until well blended and fluffy. Add pineapple and nuts. Chill well.

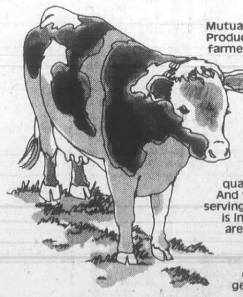
America's future.
Dairy Farmers want to be a part of it... and we hope the feeling is mutual.



Mutual effort is what makes Michigan Milk Producers Association work. For the dairy farmers who make up MMPA. For you, the consumer.

For sixty years, we have been a cooperative owned and controlled by dairy farmers we serve. We are still working together to keep our farms efficient and productive.

So, even though there are now only about half as many Michigan dairy farmers as there were in 1964, our cooperative efforts continue to assure you an adequate supply of milk and other dairy products. And we at MMPA want to be able to continue serving you. Because we believe the dairy farmer is important to America's future, just as you are important to the future of the dairy farmer. But preserving the American dairy farming industry requires a mutual, united effort. That's why the dairy farmers of MMPA keep working together, and keep working to stay together.

BRITTON — The 1976 United Fund goal in the Britton-Macon area has been set at $2,262 and the drive will be conducted from Oct. 4 through Oct. 18.

Residents are urged to be generous in their giving as a large percentage of the money collected goes to support Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Campfire Girls and Blue Birds, the recreational fund and citizens for youths, all local organizations.

Boy Scouts (local) $160; Cub Scouts (local) $160; Campfire Girls and Bluebird Girls (local) $320; Recreation Fund (local) $400 (through an anonomous donor this amount totaled $1500 last year); administration expenses $40; Citizens for Youth (local) $240; Red Cross $100; Salvation Army $100; County Wolverine Council $100; Tuckabatchee Council $100; Michigan Fund $442; Family Counseling $100.

Thirty-five solicitors will be knocking at your door asking your help to make this year's drive the best ever.

Swedish Student Arrives

BRITTON — Annica Danielsson, 16, an exchange student from Vaxjo, Sweden, arrived here Aug. 11, and is making her home until July 7, 1977, with the Gerald Schultz family of 9616 Ridge Rd.

Annica is an International Cultural Exchange (ICX) student, and is fluent in English, having studied it for six years in her native Sweden.

She has a brother, Tommy, 10; and a sister, Anette, 12, at home, and here she has acquired three sisters, Julie, 17, Janelle, 16, and Janene, 15, and three brothers, Jim, 14, Joey, 6, and Jeremy, 5-years-old, with her host family the Schultz .

Annica has already graduated from school in her homeland, where students graduate at 16, or if their grades are not good, they can quit at 15 and get a job.

Vaxjo is a city with a population of 60,000 centrally located in Sweden.

Her father, in partnership with another man, owns a gas station and her mother is attending school to become a secretary.

Annica loves to travel and meet people. Someday she plans to go back to school to become a teacher, but until then she'd like to tour different countries such as Australia, and her dream is to go to the 1980 Olympics in Russia.

Our changeable climate is much to her disliking. She says in Vaxjo the temperature seldom varies from 25 to 65 degrees throughout the year.

When she came over she brought several of her favorite recipes, which took quite some time to change over, because of their metric system. They have had the metric system as long as she can remember, she said. When asked about her American favorite foods she said Big Macs are her favorite and sweet corn. In Sweden meatballs are the most popular.

Annica says she is happy to be here and likes her new American family, the Schultz', very much.

ANNICA DANIELSSON

Students were from Japan, Belgium, Germany, Denmark and Sweden.

Ulla Medin of Stockholm, Sweden, who was at the get together, will spend the weekend with Annica at the Schultz home and will attend the Homecoming festivities planned by the school this Friday.

Memoriam

In loving memory of John Hamilton who passed away Oct. 7, 1974. Sadly missed by his family.
10-7p

In loving memory of our dear son Ricky Frank Horton who left us so suddenly 13 years ago Sept. 29, 1963.
No morning dawns;
No night returns
But what we think of you,
These left behind are very dear,
But none replaces you.
They say time heals all sorrows
And helps one to forget,
But time so far has only proven
How much we miss you yet.
So deeply loved and missed
by his Dad & Mother.
9-30

In loving memory of our mother and Nana (Jean Caligiuri) on her birthday, September 28, who passed away June 6, 1976.
We are knocking on heavens door,
please open it.
Let us step on its floor
And help us explore to find the woman that we adore.
Oh God, please help us,
Will we ever get out of this depression?
Please don't give us any exception,
The answer will be "yes" or "no."
Then we will go,
You see, we just want to say,
"Hello!"
We love her
If all we are taken is your time,
Just be gentle and kind.
Lend us your guiding hand,
Try to understand.
We miss the person who now
Looks down upon the land,
And trys to give us her helping hand!
Sadly missed by her family

Available at home. Call before you come. Monday until 8 p.m.

Voters must register in the city or township in which they live. Many clerks remarked to The Herald that people are confused about where they live because of rural addresses and school districts. One way to find out where you should register is to call a nearby clerk.

You may also register at any Michigan Secretary of State office but the only county office with a terminal is at 725 W. Beecher Rd., Adrian. Some clerks prefer you register in your city or township instead since it is easier for them to determine where you live and make sure you are registered in the right place.

Tecumseh Harriers Split Pair

Tecumseh's cross country squad lost to New Boston Huron on Tuesday of this week 18-37 in Huron League action.

The Indians took a seventh place finish out of 13 teams at the Jackson Invitational Saturday and won over Monroe Jefferson 21-40 last Tuesday.

Three Huron harriers tied for first place Tuesday. Tecumseh's Jesse Castorena was fourth at 17:25. Jim Harris was sixth at 17:43, Kent Norris eighth at 17:53, Mark Oliver ninth at 18:04 and Dave Bilkie was tenth at 18:05.

At the Jackson Invitational, Castorena was 20th out of 91 runners with a 16:29 time. Norris was 39th at 17:13, Bilkie 41st at 17:21, Phil Conklin was 44th at 17:25 and Brian Banda was 47th at 17:30.

Castorena and Norris took the top two spots respectively against Jefferson with times of 17:28 and 17:38. Banda was fifth, Oliver sixth and Conklin seventh.

The squad is 1-1 in the Huron League and 2-4 overall.

Twenty-four runners are out for the team including girls Vickie McDonald, Janelle Mumme and Nena Murphy. Co-captains of the team are Kevin Burchett and Jim Harris.

The roster includes Swedish foreign exchange student Per Janssen who is injured at the moment.

The Indians host Flat Rock next Tuesday.

THS Golfers Victorious in 2 Meets

In the Jefferson match, Jacobs and Scott Macbeth tied at 39 followed by Steve Lynch at 41 and Kevin Clum at 42.

Jacobs shot a 37 against Huron while Macbeth came in at 41. Keith Bauman carded a 42 and Clum, 45.

The junior varsity also won, beating Jefferson 184-218 with Bauman and Kevin Koszka at 41 and Huron 192-204. In the second match, Mike Gower and Larry Lavoy each shot a 47.

The varsity now posts a 2-0 league record and are 5-1 overall.

Girls Face Two Class A Schools

Tecumseh's girls basketball squad suffered its first defeat since losing in the state finals last season when they dropped a 55-34 decision to Detroit Dominican last Wednesday.

Dominican lost in the Class A state finals last year. They were state champs the two previous seasons.

The team bounced back to defeat Class A Ann Arbor Huron Monday night 47-28.

Against Dominican, Tecumseh trailed 24-15 at the half. Coach Diane Nelson had hopes of catching up in the third quarter but just the opposite occurred with Dominican piling up 23 more points and holding the Indians to just five. Tecumseh scored 14 in the final quarter to eight for Dominican.

Tecumseh made 31 per cent of their shots while Dominican hit 46 percent.

Debbie Steadley was top scorer with 12 for Tecumseh.

The junior varsity also lost 45-26.

The story was different against Ann Arbor Huron Monday. Tori Iffland has returned to the lineup and Nelson felt her leadership was a big help in marshalling the offense into a cohesive group.

By virtue of a big second quarter when the Indians scored 15 points, Tecumseh led 22-10 at the half. They added another 14 in the third frame and 11 in the final quarter to ice the win.

Tecumseh hit 32 percent of their shots from the field compared to 30 percent for Ann Arbor. From the line, Tecumseh made 38 percent to 36 percent for Ann Arbor.

The Indians outrebounded Ann Arbor 22-11.

Grace Burns and Tori Iffland tied for top scoring honors with 12 each. Gloria Fosbender had nine.

The junior varsity also won 42-17.

The Indians opened their league season Wednesday at Monroe Jefferson. They will host Adrian next Monday.

Hudson Crushes Redskins

Clinton's Redskins simply were not able to do the impossible Friday night.

The Skins hosted the fabled Hudson Tigers for their football homecoming celebration and high expectations for an upset were the order of the night. But something entirely different was dished up--a 46-0 Hudson romp.

Clinton's problems began as early as the opening kick-off when the squad fumbled allowing Hudson to take over deep in Redskin territory. The Tigers quickly capitalized on the error running 23 yards for the score.

Before that first quarter came mercifully to an end, Hudson ran the score up to 24-0. Clinton lost seven fumbles altogether during the game.

The Tigers added 14 more in the second quarter and eight in the third. Three times Clinton drove inside Hudson's 20-yard line but could never connect for the score.

The Tigers ran up 340 total yards offense with 287 yards coming on the ground. Clinton could muster just 140 yards, 105 on the ground.

Jeff Voorhees was named offensive player of the week for Clinton while Bob Santure received defensive player of the week honors.

Clinton hosts Ida this Friday.

CHS Runners Bury Blissfield, 19-36

Clinton's cross country squad made three more strong showings in the lastweek beating Blissfield 19-36 last Thursday, taking second place of 11 teams at the Fayette, Ohio Invitational, and trouncing Sand Creek 17-44 on Tuesday of this week.

Mike Risner and Jerry Cline tied for first place at 16:11 against Blissfield. Wally Pike was third at 16:53. Mark Prichard was sixth at 17:25 followed by Chris Wojtowicz at 17:27.

Devin Schindler was 12th, John Dotson 14th and Dave Dagastino 16th.

At the Fayette Invitational, Cline was sixth at 14:06 for the two and one-half mile course. Risner was ninth at 14:16, Pike 14th at 14:36, Wojtowicz was 21st at 14:49 and Prichard was 25th at 14:56. Winning time was 13:44.

Risner took first place against Sand Creek with a 16:34 time. Pike was second at 17:08. Cline was third at 17:21, Prichard was fifth at 17:34 and Wojtowicz was sixth at 17:50.

Devin Schindler was eighth and Matt Peters was ninth for the Redskins.

Clinton now posts a 4-1 overall record and are 1-1 in the LCAA.

They host a triangular meet this Thursday with Stockbridge and Ann Arbor Greenhills participating. The Skins travel to Morenci next Tuesday.

3 Grads On Varsity, Dan Gunder Honored

Three former Tecumseh High School football players have prominent roles on the nationally ranked Grand Valley State College grid squad.

Dennis Dermyer, Dan Gunder and Dave Biscupski all came to the Allendale Campus after successful careers playing under former THS Coach Tom Fagan.

All-American candidate, Dennis Dermyer, a senior, 6'2", 210 pound Tecumseh native heads the list. Dermyer was a unanimous choice of the Great Lakes Conference football coaches for the All-GLIAC defensive end spot last year. He was an All-Conference choice in both his sophomore and junior years, and is the only lineman every picked "lineman of the week" twice in the same season.

A honorable mention NAIA All-American last year, Dennis is a strong contender to make the first team this year. A Biology major with an outstanding grade point average Dennis is unsure of his future plans.

Senior, defensive safety Dan Dunder is pound-for-pound the hardest hitter on the Laker squad. Gunder is the career pass interception leader for the Lakers and was named defensive player of the week for his efforts against tough Michigan Tech., Sept. 18. His interception set up the winning field goal for the Lakers and he also made several game saving tackles to preserve the victory. He was voted All-GLIAC honorable mention last year.

The third Tecumseh athlete is Dave Biscupski, a senior, 5'9", 165 pound halfback who returns after a years absence. His 1974 rushing average of 6.4 yards a carry makes him a valuable addition to the Laker Squad.

CHS Golfers Lose Twice

Clinton's golf squad dropped two matches last week but almost upset a strong Hudson team.

The Redskins lost to Onsted 173-187 and to Hudson 183-187.

Top scorers for Clinton against Onsted were Brad Eversole, 43, John Wahl 45, Al Wahl 47 and Bernie Hough 52.

Eversole carded a 44 against Hudson, while John Wahl came in with a 44, Al Wahl a 49 and Mark Dettling a 50.

The junior varsity lost to Onsted 191-207. Dettling shot a 50 in the match to lead the junior varsity.

THS League Action Begins with 23-6 Win

Tecumseh's grid squad opened its Huron League season with a 23-6 victory over Monroe Jefferson Friday night at Jefferson.

Jefferson has never been able to pull off a win over the Indians in nine starts.

Tecumseh led 16-0 at the half after Jeff Anderson scored a touchdown on a two yard run after Kim Cantrell blocked a Jefferson punt. John Egbert kicked the extra point. Tecumseh scored a team safety in the second quarter after Jefferson's quarterback was tackled in the end zone. Anderson scored again in the second quarter on another two yard run. Egbert again kicked the extra point.

Tecumseh's final score came in the fourth quarter when Kevin Eggleston ran four yards and Egbert again succeeded on the extra point try.

The Bears scored their only touchdown when they recovered a Tecumseh fumble in the end zone during the third quarter.

The bulk of the Indians' offense came on the ground. Tecumseh gained 213 yards on the ground compared to just 62 for Jefferson. The Bears completed one pass of nine attempted for seven yards while the Indians tallied two of 10 for 16 yards.

Jeff Anderson was leading rusher for Tecumseh with 81 yards on 21 carries.

The Bears had six first downs compared to 11 for the Indians.

Lyndon Hughes intercepted a pass in the third quarter and recovered a Jefferson fumble in the fourth for Tecumseh.

The Indians host New Boston Huron this Friday.

Tories Score Shut-Out, Prevail Over Whiteford

The Britton Tories defeated the Whiteford Bobcats last Friday night by the score of, 30-0 to open their league season.

The Tories first score came on a one-yard run by Rudy Montalvo capping a 12 play, 39-yard drive. Montalvo also ran across the extra point to make the score 8-0.

The Bobcats took the kickoff and marched deep into Britton territory but Steve Crittenden came up with a big interception. Britton then went 85-yards highlighted by a 29-yard pass play from Randy Smith to Mark Willaert.

Rudy Montalvo went the final yard for the touchdown. The extra point failed and the Tories led 14-0.

Late in the second quarter the Tories marched 80 yards in eight plays with Crittenden going the final 13-yards for the score. He also ran over the extra point to make the halftime score 22-0.

The Tories final score came in the third quarter on a 14 play, 69-yard drive. Tim Kurowicki ran seven yards for the score.

Randy Smith ran over the extra point to make the final score 30-0.

The Tories host Whitmore Lake next Friday night in their homecoming game.

Clinton's JV Girls Post 3-2 Record

This year's Clinton Junior Varsity girls basketball team started with a 3-2 won-loss record.

Returning from last year's JV squad are Fran Cowin, Eunice Ball, Lori Pike, and Dawn Markham. New freshman starters are Kris Pratt, Brenda Cark, Barb Winder, Karyn Coward, and Anne Karapas.

Clinton's J.V's have outscored Whiteford, Deerfield, and LCAA foe Hudson for their first three wins of the season, losing only to Manchester, and Grass Lake. This year the team is running a full court press and man-to-man defense rather than a zone. With this change in strategy the squad hopes to have a winning season.

The new Electra and Riviera. Luxury cars that are

THE NEW ELECTRA. When a car this luxurious promises to provide a few grins when you get it out on the road ... well, that's precisely what you have to do. Get it out on the road. Because you have to actually drive this car to realize just what solid road manners it has.

It continues to be the ultimate Buick.

Amply endowed with rich appointments. Lavish expanses of cushioned fabric. Serenity. Quietness. And plenty of room for passengers and cargo.

Standard equipment still includes features like power front disc brakes, power steering, automatic transmission.

It still indulges you with niceties like power windows, seats with armrests, courtesy lights, and even a quartz-crystal dial clock. All standard.

Indeed, life is still pretty soft in an Electra.

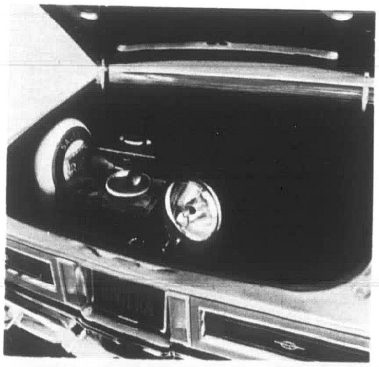
But this year, there's a slightly different emphasis. A regard for function. A desire to make Electra a car that can cope with the times. And to make it as fun as it is elegant.

The first hint of this comes from the styling. It's considerably trimmer of line this year. Which gives Electra a lean, classic look. Even the instrumentation suggests that there's something new going on here. It's particularly easy to read and the various dials and gauges have brushed metallic faces.

The standard engine this year is a 5.7 litre (350 CID) V-8. Plenty of oomph, but with 105 fewer cubic inches to feed than last year.

The 1977 Electra. Luxurious as ever. More fun than ever.

really fun to drive.



THE NEW RIVIERA. Fourteen years ago, we came out with a very special Buick. It was an automobile designed to live in two different worlds—that of the luxury car, that of the road car. We called it Riviera, lavished much technology and affection on it, and succeeded quite nicely, if we do say so ourselves, in achieving our goal. In the process, we created a classic.

This is the Riviera 14 years later. Refinements abound. But the philosophy is the same. The 1977 Riviera may surround you with elegance and luxury, but it is still a driver's car.

Its smooth, quiet ride is coupled with an ability to be tough in the corners. To respond with precision. To give its driver a sense of the road.

The standard suspension system includes front and rear stabilizer bars. And special shock absorbers. And computer-slected coil springs at all four wheels.

Other driving assists include power steering. Which you manipulate with a leather-covered steering wheel, if you so order. And you can order disc brakes at all four wheels—a feature that you'll find on the most exotic European touring and racing cars.

The standard engine is a 5.7 litre V-8. But you can order a new 6.6 litre (403 CID) V-8. Both are effective sources of power—thanks to High-Energy Ignition and the catalytic converter.

But as we indicated earlier, for all its roadability, Riviera is a most satisfyingly elegant and luxurious automobile.

For instance, while Riviera satisfies a serious driver's demand for agility, it also has more front and rear head room than last year. And more rear leg room. (Not to mention more trunk room.)

There is new 50/50 front seating with twin armrests. Rich velour fabrics. An elegant and functional instrument panel. New custom wire wheel covers.

And there is a considerable variety of available equipment designed to make life easier for you. Including an AM-FM stereo radio with an integral citizens band transceiver.

The 1977 Riviera. It's a very special automobile. Because it carries on a very special tradition. Something you'll never really grasp, until you get that available leather steering wheel in your own two hands and take a Riviera out into the real world.

The new LeSabres. Family cars that have a whole

THE NEW LeSABRE SEDAN.
Let's establish one thing right off. LeSabre is the family car extraordinaire. It holds six full-sized adults. Comfortably. In fact, it has even more front and rear head room and more rear leg room than it did last year.

The trunk is bigger, too. Which means LeSabre is most definitely qualified to transport family-size cargoes.

But LeSabre's qualities go far beyond the number of cubic feet it has to offer.

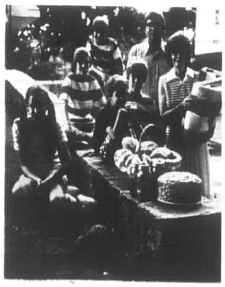
Together with LeSabre's roominess, there is a new trimness to its design. Its lines are crisp, uncluttered. There is a more efficient use of space. And the car itself is very maneuverable. Surprisingly easy to turn. And park. And nimbleness is something you just don't expect from a car that can carry as much as this one.

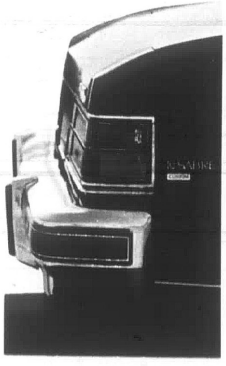
Another thing. LeSabre is a Buick. And that suggests certain things about the smoothness of its ride. And of the quiet inside.

It also suggests that the inside of this car is special. Generously endowed with standard equipment to help make your life easier. With gleaming appointments. And with an easy-to-read, intelligently organized instrument panel.

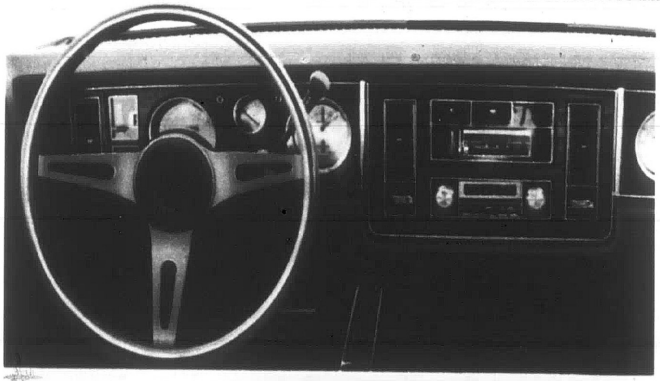
And such helpful features as power front disc brakes, power steering, and a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission.

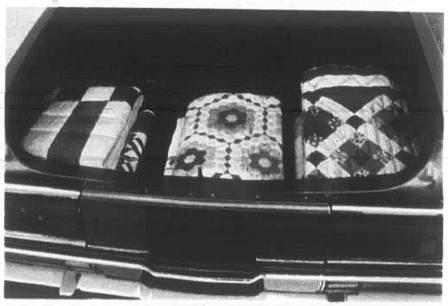
The 1977 LeSabre Sedan. It offers room, yes. But a lot more than that. Drive a new LeSabre. A stretch of road can present a much more eloquent appraisal of LeSabre's quality than words.





hole lot more going for them than room.





THE NEW LeSABRE SPORT COUPE. This, too, is a family car. This, too, can carry six uncramped. This, too, has a trunk capable of absorbing large quantities of family-style paraphernalia.

But, this one is quite a departure from whatever you've come to think of as the family car.

Start with the design. Much of what is normally chrome has been blacked out—the grille, the moldings around the windows, even the wide-louvered moldings on the rocker panels. And there's black applique on the roof pillars. It smacks of something you're more likely to see in Stuttgart than in White Plains.

It's an incredibly clean, beautifully restrained automobile.

That should give you a pretty good idea of the philosophy behind this car.

This should, too: Part of the LeSabre Sport Coupe's standard equipment is a special ride and handling package. It consists of a substantial front stabilizer bar (28 mm). A rear stabilizer bar. Special springs and shock valving. And quick steering.

The standard engine is a 5.0 litre, 301 CID V-8 (or, in California and high altitude areas, a 5.7 litre, 350 CID V-8). The tires are steel-belted GR-70x15 radials.

What's really kind of nice about all this attention to performance, is that it's been lavished on a car that still delivers considerable comfort and convenience.

Power front disc brakes, power steering, and an automatic transmission are all standard. As is thick, comfortable seating with a fold-down armrest in front. Instrumentation is quite complete, and the panel itself most sensibly designed.

See, we're not really trying to make aficionados out of you. (OK, so we sneaked in a Rallye steering wheel.) But the main idea was to give you a roomy, even luxurious, automobile that can do more than double as the living room sofa. To give you a car that can handle a winding road as admirably as it handles the kids and the dog.

And frankly, we think that makes this LeSabre Sport Coupe a rather special sort of automobile.

The new Century and Regal. Mid-size cars that are

THE NEW CENTURY. Philosophically, the mid-size car has always been something of a compromise. Not too big. Not too small. Just a logical and practical way to fill the gap between full-size and compact.

Well, Buick doesn't build just logical and practical mid-size cars. And we offer in evidence, Century.

Century is indeed mid-size. And, yes, it is most certainly practical. Thanks to things like standard fiberglass-belted radial tires. And High-Energy Ignition, which eliminates the need for an ignition condenser and points—and therefore the need to replace them. And a newly revised, lighter version of the super little Buick V-6 engine.

Yup. Century is practical.

But Century is a Buick.

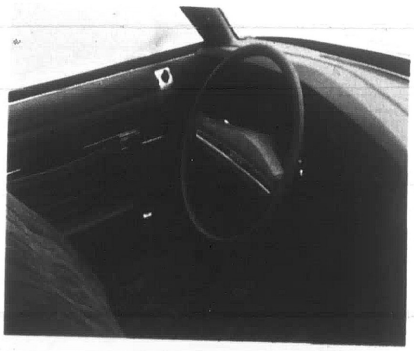
Which explains the handsome styling. The big, soft, comfortable seating. The smoothness. The quietness.

And which explains why so many good things are standard. Like power steering. And front disc brakes (with audible pad-wear indicators). And computer-selected coil springs at each wheel. And Full-Flo ventilation, something that keeps a steady stream of outside air flowing through the car. And a windshield wiper system with a single-wipe feature for wet, but not really rainy, conditions. And a hood release inside the car.

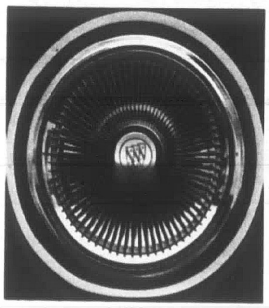
And so on.

No, Century is not just logical. No, Century is not just practical. Century is a beautifully designed, generously endowed automobile.

In other words, the fact that this intermediate-size car is a Buick counts for a whole lot.



much more than practical.



THE NEW REGAL COUPE. This is the ultimate intermediate-size Buick. In fact, it's about as close to a personal luxury car as you're likely to get in a car this size.

In our own humble opinion, it is one of the most desirable-looking American automobiles on the road today. It is distinguished from the regular Century by its more formal styling. Its squared-off front end. Its squared-off roofline.

And as the pièce de resistance of Buick's mid-size line, it offers a most impressive assortment of standard finery.

Naturally, you get power steering standard. And the front disc brakes are power-assisted.

Standard seating is of the notchback variety—which means you get a big, comfortable fold-down armrest in front. The seat fabrics are newly designed this year.

Courtesy lights abound—under the dash, in the front ashtray, in the glove box and on the ceiling.

You get a deluxe steering wheel.

You get added insulation under the seats and dash, which helps explain why Regal is so quiet under way.

And that's just the "basic" Regal.

There's a whole lot more luxury and comfort available.

Naturally, you can order all sorts of available electronic wizardry to make life a little easier. Power windows. Six-way power seats. Electric door locks. Electric rear-window defogger. Electric trunk release. Even a lighted vanity mirror for the passenger's visor.

The available air conditioning is special this year. In the past, when the air conditioning was on, the compressor ran full-time. Now, the compressor is thermostatically controlled, so that when it reaches a certain temperature, it cuts out.

And there are no less than five different sound systems you can order. AM radio. AM-FM radio. A 4-speaker AM-FM stereo radio system. A 4-speaker AM-FM stereo radio and stereo tape system. And an under-dash, citizens band transceiver that you can remove and take with you for safekeeping when you leave your car unattended.

The 1977 Regal. It's a pretty elegant way to get the benefits of mid-size transportation.

Introducing small cars that can actually indulge you.

THE NEW SKYLARK. Skylark is the kind of small car that happens when Buick makes the decisions.

Which means there is a lot more to recommend Skylark than a set of compact dimensions.

On our way to making Skylark manageable and moderately priced, we built in many of the qualities inherent in our larger Buicks. Style. Comfort. Quietness.

In addition to things such as a Buick V-6 (newly revised to reduce weight) and a High-Energy Ignition system, we made sure Skylark had big, cushiony seats. Armrests. Cut-pile carpeting, front and rear. Deluxe steering wheel. Full-Flo ventilation. Generous insulation and sound deadening.

The new Skylark. Sit in one. Drive one. It's going to change a few of your ideas about smaller cars.

THE NEW SKYHAWK. Ever since we introduced Skyhawk two years ago, we've had a very special affection for it. Partly because it was such a departure from the Buicks of the past. And partly because it's such a terrific automobile.

Well heck, just look at the little rascal. All sleek and aerodynamic. It's reminiscent of the exotic GT's that populate European roadways.

It really works, too. The terrific little V-6 engine under the hood certainly helps. And this year it's been modified to reduce weight.

The suspension includes front and rear stabilizer bars. And the standard transmission is a fully synchronized 4-speed. But you can order an available 5-speed with overdrive if you desire. Or a Buick-smooth automatic.

In any case, performance is certainly a major Skyhawk personality trait.

But for something with this much road talent, Skyhawk is remarkably civilized.

It has high-backed bucket seats. Courtesy lights in the ashtray, glove box and under the dash. Computer-selected springs. Remote-control outside sport mirror. And cut-pile carpeting front and rear.

The new Skyhawk. Maybe now you know why we're in love with it. If not, drive it. That'll help you see the light.

THE NEW OPEL ISUZU. The Opel Isuzu is a very interesting small car. It's part German, part Japanese, part performer, part money-saver, and it's sold and serviced by Buick.

And it really does indulge you. But in a rather special way. Because it gives you solid performance and considerable comfort, yet does it for a very reasonable price.

For a relatively small amount of money, you get a sophisticated 1817cc, 4-cylinder, overhead-cam engine with five main bearings and a cross-flow head. A short-throw, 4-speed manual transmission. Reclining bucket seats. Rack-and-pinion steering. And tinted glass.

All in all, Isuzu is fun to drive, comfortable, and very functional. Why not test-drive one today?

Need Volunteers for 3 Flu Clinics

Help, much help is needed for the three swine flu clinics to be held in Tecumseh on Oct. 22 from 9 to 5, and two on Sunday, Oct. 24 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The first one on Friday will be at the Community Center and the Sunday clinics at Patterson School.

Two clinics will be held in Clinton, one on Oct. 21 in the Middle School Library from 9 a.m. to noon and one in the high school Oct. 24 From 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Registered nurses are urged by Donna Marion, also an R.N., to volunteer for this unusually large immunization program. Licensed Practical Nurses are also needed to assist with medical health screening. Willing RN's and LPN's are urged to call Mrs. Marion evenings, 456-4333.

Registered nurses will administer both bivalent and monovalent vaccines, expected to be available. All volunteers will be trained during one hour sessions Oct. 13 or 14 at 7 p.m. in the Community Center.

Mrs. Marion said, "This means that anyone from age 18 years through senior citizens may receive the vaccine on the above mentioned dates.

Children under 18 years will not be vaccinated at the clinics. High risk children with chronic disease such as severe asthma, heart disease, etc., will be immunized sometime in November in their doctor's office.

The vaccine will be administered by jet injection in all Tecumseh clinics.

Christine Fliss, area volunteer coordinate; Mrs. Marion, nurse coordinator; Mary Hanson, Lenawee County Swine Flu project manager for the Health Department, will be featured on Betty Flanders program at 10 a.m. Oct. 13,

Special precautions concerning the flu vaccine are:

+Children should not routinely receive flu vaccine.

+People with fever should delay getting vaccinated until the fever is gone.

+People who have received another type of vaccine in the past 14 days should consult a physician before taking the flu vaccine.

Cafeteria Opens Nov. 1?

Problems with equipment, installation of equipment and back orders will probably delay the opening of the new high school cafeteria until about Nov. 1, Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, reports.

Officials had earlier hoped that the cafeteria would be open by mid-September, but problems beyond their control prevented it.

Other construction at THS is on schedule however, with some areas scheduled for opening next week. These areas include the library, guidance and counseling area and new administrative offices.

An inspection for approval from the fire marshal is set for Friday.

The new drive to the school off N. Maumee is nearing completion with the construction of approaches and the drive itself.

Order Leaf Bags

Leaf bags for the fall season will soon be available at city hall. Council learned Monday night that the bags are to be shipped on or before Oct. 15.

Robert Hamden, acting city manager, said Tuesday that 15,000 bags had been ordered and should be here before too many leaves fall.

Members of the court in the rear include freshman, Chris Spagnoli; sophomore, Laura Keller; and junior, Cindy Cox. Seniors vying for queen are, from the left, Cindy Wright, Danielle Dermyer, and Debbie Lyttle. Tecumseh plays Flat Rock in the homecoming game, scheduled to start at 7:30. Annual homecoming parade will be held in downtown Tecumseh Friday afternoon.

Dealer Not Asked To Bid

An inquiry, related to a recent purchase of mowing equipment for Brookside Cemetery by Council, surprised city officials Monday night when they learned that a local supplier had not been asked to bid. Ashley Chase, co-owner of Tecumseh Equipment, asked councilmen why its bid was not accepted when it was $420 less than the bid awarded to Whelan Implement.

Council told him that only one bid had been submitted, although requests had been made from dealers at Saline and Morenci.

Chase said that he had been approached by a cemetery official and had submitted a bid to the cemetery board. Officials told him the board no longer existed and was abolished several years ago. The bid was not turned over to Council.

When Chase told Council that Tecumseh Equipment had been ignored now three times in a row, officials urged him to meet with city manager Cal Zorn.

He said "it wouldn't do any good," the city manager had been contacted previously.

The city does not advertise for bids, but sends qualifications to various suppliers. Tecumseh Equipment handles International - Harvester equipment while Whelan Implement — and the dealers in Saline and Morenci — sell John Deere equpment.

Calls Reply 'Intolerable'

Councilman Len DeMoss was critical of a city employee's response recently to a resident and told his colleagues Monday evening that such action was "intolerable."

He said that he learned of a "barrage of statements and accusations that were personal."

DeMoss did not name the city employee, and from his statements, he apparently had not questioned the employee as to the nature of the phone conversation. He referred to the employee as a male and told others that the employee was above a secretary's position.

The phone call reportedly was from a woman. She is said to have told others that another party was on a phone extension in her home and listened to the conversation.

According to DeMoss and his remarks, the city employee was simply rude and insulting in answering the lady's questions.

Appoint New PC Member

Hal VanWagner, 1003 Shady Lane, was appointed to the Board of Appeals by Council Monday evening.

He will fill the unexpired term of Marvin Watkins.

VanWagner is a teacher in the Ida school system and is a former councilman at Morenci, Mayor Harold Easton explained to Council.

J.W. "Pat" Meadows, former president of the United Savings Bank and currently chairman of the board, submitted his resignation from the board.

Mr. and Mrs. Meadows recently moved to Ann Arbor.

An appointment to replace him on the board was postponed until the Oct. 18th meeting.

Powells Buy Jerry's Bar

Jerry's Bar and Grill in downtown Tecumseh has been purchased by Bill and Bob Powell, the sale being finalized last Friday after several months of negotiations.

Bob Powell will be the manager.

The new bar, to be called "Second Wind," will open about Nov. 1.

At the present, extensive remodeling and cleaning is underway. New and lower ceilings will be built over the bar and front area, the kitchen will be completely renovated along with the restrooms and other areas.

Main lounge will be completely carpeted.

3 Close Monday

The Tecumseh Post Office, First Federal Savings and Loan of Lenawee County and the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh will close their business offices on Monday, Oct. 11, Columbus Day.

There will be no residential or business mail delivery or window service at the post office.

TECUMSEH AFTER 4th STRAIGHT WIN

Indians Face Unbeaten Flat Rock

Tecumseh can take a giant step towards a Huron League title here Friday night when the Indians host the Flat Rock Rams for homecoming.

Both Tecumseh and the Rams are 3-0 in the league, and Flat Rock is highly touted in the Class C ranks. Last week, the Rams edged Monroe Jefferson by a touchdown.

Coach Pat Connors has fielded one of his better clubs this year and should be favored to hand the visitors their first loss of the season. Besides being especially tough on a defense, the Indians have showed they can move either on the ground or via the pass.

Although not boasting great size, the '76 team is the quickest in a number of years, evident in easy wins over Chelsea, Monroe Jefferson and last week against New Boston Huron.

If the Indians slip past Flat Rock, they could enjoy a breather or two before zeroing in on the tailend of the schedule — and perhaps a league crown.

A homecoming parade will be held Friday afternoon in downtown Tecumseh. Game time is 7:30.

School enrollment for the 1976-77 term shows a slight drop of seven students from a year ago, 3,697 to 3,690.

Official enrollment, taken last Friday, has 1,815 in kindergarten through the sixth grade, 597 in junior high, and 1,168 in the top four grades.

Breakdown is:

	'76-77	'75-76

First grade	272	281
Second grade	273	242
Third grade	231	238
Fourth grade	228	241
Fifth grade	246	259
Sixth grade	261	294
Seventh grade	302	295
Eighth grade	295	302
Freshmen	317	313
Sophomores	301	307
Juniors	292	296
Seniors	258	249

There are 80 enrolled in special education and 30 in the adult program.

Last March when officials had to estimate the 1976-77 enrollment for the new budget, a figure of 3,700 was used for state aid purposes.

Report 3 B&E's

Tecumseh police investigated three breaking and enterings on Saturday. Two occurred in business buildings, while the third was a residential B&E.

In the first of the three breakings, Thomas Hamilton, 510 W. Pottawatamie, reported a B&E at his home between 4 p.m. the day before and 3 a.m. Saturday.

Somebody had used an unknown pry tool to pry the door and break the lock. They stole a number of items, including radios, a camera, and electric razor totaling $175.

Mrs. Stuart, manager of Fabricare, reported a breaking there Saturday. Nothing was apparently taken, but many of the coin machines were tampered with.

Somebody apparently used a screw driver to pry open a window during the night. The broken window was piled on a barrel and an A&P cart was used to climb in through the opening.

In the third B&E, Robert Miller reported a breaking at the Standard Service Station for owner Phil Rumpf.

Suspects in that case used a screwdriver to pry open a panel on an overhead door and crawled into the 24' opening. They took the machine keys from the cash register and escaped with $93, mostly in change.

After taking money from a metal box, register, cigarette and candy machine, they were apparently scared off while in the process of opening up a pop machine outside.

TCC Property Is Annexed

Annexation of 13.5 acres of Tecumseh Country Club property to the city was completed Monday night when Council adopted a resolution for the transaction.

The acreage includes the club house and pro shop north to Milwaukee Rd. Most of the golf course will remain in Tecumseh Township.

Purpose of the annexation was to provide the club with water and sewer utilities. The club has experienced septic tank problems in the past, and they mounted with construction of new apartments along the 17th fairway.

Release Zorn from Hospital

Cal Zorn, hospitalized with severe chest pains, has returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor, but it will be sometime before he's able to resume his duties.

The city manager had suffered two previous heart attacks, and sources now say that it may be at least two months before he's back at his desk at city hall.

Remodeling for Entrance

Remodeling for a new rear entrance has started at Lamb's Rexall Pharmacy in preparation to moving sundries and other merchandise from the west section of the store to the east side.

Harvey Schmidt, who recently purchased the pharmacy from Carl Lamb, says the remodeling and moving of merchandise should be completed by Nov. 1.

City Seeks Appointees

Council is again seeking residents interested in holding positions on various city boards and commissions.

Last year Council sought names for boards but appointments during the past year have nearly completed the list.

An advertisement form for sending to the city is carried in this issue of The Herald on page two.

Give $600 for TM

An allocation of $600 was approved by Council Monday night for the Institution of Cultural Affairs, relative to Town Meeting '76, after an appeal from Roger Proctor, TM coordinator.

Town Meeting '76 will be held here Oct. 23 at the Tecumseh High School cafeteria. City's allocation will be paid from the planning fund.

Proctor indicated total expenses should not exceed $1,500 or $1,600, and said numerous organizations are contributing to the program.

ADK Celebrate International Week

The week of Oct. 10-17 marks the celebration of the first International Alpha Delta Kappa Week.

Members of Lenawee County Beta are paying a special tribute to ADK, international honorary and professional sorority of women educators, through observation of retired teachers night at Apple Hill, according to Jan Robinson, chapter president.

In a span of nearly 30 years, the international organization of teachers has swelled to more than 60,000 members in all 50 states. The local chapter, one of Michigan's active 68 chapters, includes 25 members, who are listed among Michigan's 1800 Alpha Delta Kappans dedicated to a program of altruism and professionalism in education.

Chapter Beta members annually chalk up many hours in order to provide the means for financing scholarships for worthy area students and other altruistic and professional services for the enrichment of both school and community.

Membership in ADK is limited to 10 percent of the women teachers in any given locale. To be eligible for membership, a teacher must have taught at least three years and must be recommended by an active Alpha Delta Kappan.

The local chapter's membership, which is made up of a broad spectrum of teachers with varied specialities and experiences, is a forum for skilled and dedicated educators in the community.

A Widow's Stages of Grief

The newly "widowed" each react differently to the death of a mate, to widowhood, to the possibility of an insecure or lonely future. The following observations may help, if only to indicate that certain feelings are not uncommon and will pass.

The widow progresses through several emotional stages during mourning and after the initial shock. If you and she recognize these as stages through which a widow may pass, it may enable friends and relatives to help the window work through her grieving more fully and effectively.

Sorrow is a basic emotional stage of mourning and very common, sometimes accompanied by expressions of self-pity and/or guilt. Another is anger and resentment against a "cruel world" or an "unkind" god who has taken one's mate prematurely. Fears of the unknown future "without him" as companion and breadwinner, husband and father, prime decision-maker and head of the house are not unusual to a new widow.

Anxiety/Uncertainty: "Who will provide for the family? How will I manage my finances alone?" As the widow's confidence in her own ability is strengthened, her re-entry into the world of reality may be more smoothly achieved. If you and the widow recognize these stages as natural and as fairly common to all persons in mourning, the social adjustments will come quicker and easier for her.

We welcome your questions—in private or publicly, through this column.

Letters to the Editor

Thank You

To the Editor:

Now that the parade is over, the car drawing has been held, the booths have been taken down, Lost Arts have reverted back, and the balloon is safely stowed, it is time to mention and thank all of those people who made Clinton's Fall Festival, 1976, a success.

These people have been working on this project for at least six months. They have rattled their brain and put blisters on their feet.

What makes a person give freely of their time and efforts, when most of us nowadays are so busy with their personal lives? It's not that it's the same people each year that work on the Festival, because it isn't. I cannot think of even one person who I asked to help, who did not say "Yes Forrest, what do you want me to do." They then went out and did a beautiful job.

There are those who say that Americans have lost their initiative and pride of workmanship. I disagree. Americans have been so busy in their day to day lives that they do not realize they still have all the drive and motivations of their forefathers. This virtue is not unique, I saw it each day in the workers of the Festival. Putting it simply "These people are Americans."

My personal thanks goes out to you for all of the "Yeses" I received. I am sure that next years Festival Chairman will receive the same response, for Americans are workers.

Now for some names, many cannot be listed because of lack of space. Special mention to The Village, Joyce and Edwin Piatt, Mary Jane Richards, Charlie Steffens, Joe O'Donnell, Donna Marion, Kathy Thomas, Barbara Van Tuyle, Carol Hunt, Dick Sharpe, the performers who donated their time, all of the merchants on main street, Clinton High School Marching Band, the organizations, clubs, churches, area businesses for their donations, and all of those who contributed in their own way.

I have enjoyed being the chairman of the Fall Festival this year, watching the Festival go from mind, to paper, to workers, and becoming a reality. This was the most gratifying part for me.

Thanks again,
Forrest Haskell,
Clinton Fall Festival
Chairman, 1976.

To the Editor:

Thanks for your help in making our 1976 "Rodeo Against Dystrophy" a success.

L.J. Spence

To the Editor:

I would like to thank and commend the Tecumseh "Shawnee Marchers" for their performance in our Fall Festival parade last Sunday.

The conditions were far from ideal but these "Kids" were a pleasure to work with. They remained polite and courteous and produced a splendid show for the viewers who were standing in the rain.

We hope Tecumseh knows and appreciates what Mr. Rice has produced. Again, we offer our thanks.

The Clinton Fall Festival Committee,
Charles Steffens,
Parade Chairman

Village Council Concerned Over Accidental Oil Spill

CLINTON — Village Council was concerned with ways to prevent a recurrance of an accidental oil spill, which took place at the light plant last week.

Some 4,000 gallons of fuel oil leaked into the ground when it was being unloaded. It was quickly absorbed. However, the entire area had to be excavated to remove the danger of pollution to wells in the vicinity.

Plans will have to be discussed with the Department of Natural Resources for rebuilding the area according to necessary standards to prevent possible pollution.

Stanley Gibbard reported on the recent Riverside Cemetery Board meeting and council approved action taken by that board.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

A pleasant hour was spent last weekend at "Maplewood Farm" on the Britton Hwy., new home of the Dean Moores. MaryLou and Dean acquired 45 acre farm of his grandmother Mrs. Grace Moore and last February began the long job of remodeling it. The exact age of the house is not known. Everything from wiring, plumbing, even a furnace needed to be done.

Mary Lou, her dad, Leo Alderdyce of Tecumseh, Dean and his dad, Hamilton Moore and their children Debbie, Meg and Perry all rolled up their sleeves. The furnace installation was the only thing that required outside help.

Mary Lou recalls the only major stumbling block was in March when the oil space heater they used backfired after they had quit working that day. Luckily only one room was finished at the time but the mess sure helped make the rest of the job much harder.

The Moores formerly lived in the Clayton Bigelow Jr. house on the Clinton-Macon Rd. before their ½ mile move around the corner two weeks ago.

Well done Moores! Congratulations on your new home.

Plan Plaque for Office

CLINTON — Riverside Cemetery Board, at a meeting Sept. 20, attended by Lawrence Bailey, voted to place a plaque at the site of the new cemetery office building marking the Bailey family residence.

Lawrence Bailey's grandfather, Hamilton Bailey, had a house built in 1934, located on the site of the new office. Lawrence's father, Leaman Bailey, had a house just east of where the railroad lines were later installed.

When Hamilton Bailey died in 1904, the family sold the property to the cemetery, with the understanding that there would be no graves or building on the site, and the house was torn down.

The plaque will read, "On this site stood the home of Hamilton Bailey, 1834 to 1904."

Cemetery Board voted to renovate the stone chapel, built in 1912 by the Clinton Culture Club sponsorship. It is projected as a place to meditate. The building is unique in stonework, and interior solid wood vaulted ceiling.

The board will install a new gate in front of the new office and storage building.

Cemetery board meetings will now be held each three months, with the next one to be Dec. 20 at 9:30 a.m. at the village office.

GT Offers 'Life Line'

General Telephone is now offering a special limited one party residential telephone service called "Life Line" in the Britton exchange, according to Dick Zanter, division manager for the company.

The new service is designed for those who make very limited use of their telephone service but who want basic service available because of security, emergency or other generally limited uses.

Life Line is a one-party service limited to 30 calls a month at a rate of $2.00 a month than the regular one-party service rate in an exchange.

Additional local calls over 30 will cost Life Line customers 10 cents each. A $12.00 one-time service charge also applies to present one-party residential customers changing to this limited service offering. Inquiries concerning this service should be directed to the Adrian service office at 1-263-8811 (no charge).

The company recently completed installation of the required specialized equipment necessary to provide Life Line service in the Britton central office.

The service will be available in all General Telephone exchanges in Michigan before the end of 1976.

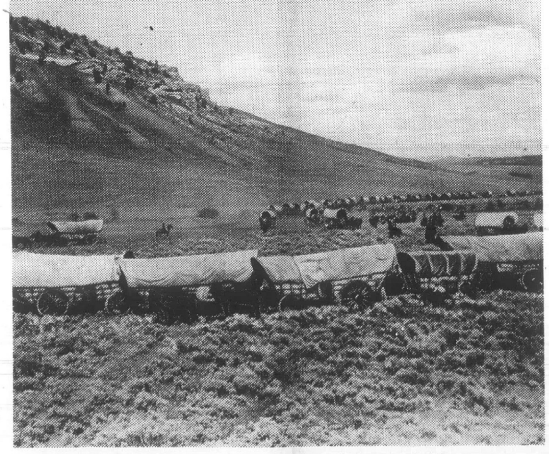
A NATION'S GREATNESS



During this Bicentennial year, we remember especially the covered wagon—and the days when vast stretches of fertile farming land and rich mining country lured the pioneers across our western plains.

Packed in these lumbering vehicles were camping materials, stores of food and medicines, clothing and tools and weapons, for danger lurked everywhere.

These were the rugged people who settled our West, and bore the torch of civilization across plain and mountain to the Pacific.

But the covered wagons carried something besides the pioneers and their material belongings westward. They carried the faith of a great people, and they planted it in every village and settlement.

Faith is the foundation on which the West was built—and the East had been built before it. Faith in God and the right, in people and work and prayer . . . this is the true source of a nation's greatness.

Every church spire pointing heavenward blazens the secret of our country's strength.

ROAST BEEF DINNER SET — St. Elizabeth's annual Roast Beef Dinner is set for this Sunday, Oct. 10 from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30. Pictured above the chairmen of the event begin preparations. Left to right, they are, Ellen Marvin, Joyce Salters, Anne DeLisle, JoAnne Rebottaro and Sister Beth. General chairman Boyde Larrowe and co-chairman Carl Gerten are not pictured.

The rain Sunday didn't spoil the fun for five Tecumseh firemen. In fact the weather may have even inspired them to victory.

A team of five Tecumseh firemen won the first open water ball competition at the Greenfield Village International Antique Fire Apparatus Association Muster Sept. 26 at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Team members were Greg and Gaylord Long, George Ruhl, John Wotring and Wallace MacGeorge.

The Tecumseh firemen picked up two trophies, one a traveling trophy which will be inscribed with the Tecumseh's name as the 1976 winners and the second trophy will be added to Tecumseh's permanent collection.

Tecumseh has been second in the state water ball competition twice, county champions several years and has played in invitationals around the country.

The Antique Fire Muster has been held for the past five years, but this was the first year the water ball competition was offered. Tecumseh won the first honors in its first entry in the contests.

Tecumseh won the honor through elimination rounds with about 25 other fire departments from Michigan.

Object of the water ball contest was to keep the ball in the opponent's court. A point per second is earned for each second the ball remains in the opponent's court. A 15 inch diameter yellow ball was suspended on a 100 ft cable. One hundred feet of 1½ hoses and 90 pounds of water pressure per square inch were used.

Five men on the team consisted of a nozzleman and a back-up man on the front nozzle, a hoseman to carry the hose, a fourth man who stands stationary with a second hose, (used for scoring once the ball exceeds a certain distance), and the fifth man, the team's own judge, directs the nozzleman and back-up man in scoring, especially when the ball is out of sight.

The two-day event at Greenfield Village also included displays of antique fire equipment and Dalmation dog competition.

The general public was invited to join the competition on Saturday with fire department competition only on Sunday.

New Look for Counselors

There's a new look in the guidance office at Tecumseh High School that will result in an increase in services to students. The counselor offices have been remodeled and repositioned.

The newest area is that which will be designated as the Student Information Center. This will be located in the room that was formally the activities office.

The Student Information Center will contain information counselors receive that should be called to the attention of students. One area of this room will contain career information files on the various types of career opportunities and what it takes to get into a chosen field.

The SIC will also contain current college catalogs and a bulletin board with information on scholarships, college open houses and other information received by colleges.

Another section will feature information on jobs and current job opportunities and openings both locally and through the Vo-Tec placement service.

The counselors encourage both parents and students to make use of this new facility.

TAILS AND TALES

It happened the day I dictated last week's article, the one about racoons. Late in the afternoon I just happened to glance towards the mulberry tree in back of the white end-of-the street barrier. What in the world — I looked, then looked again.

About halfway up the tree and on a branch extending to the right of the trunk was something big. Big and broad and tannish gray in color. I called Mom and she too looked, then looked again. We agreed that the broad 'n beam animal in the mulberry tree was none other than Murphy, the woodchuck.

This was the biggest Murphy we have seen. How he managed to balance on such a small branch is a mystery. We wondered then and looking at the spot today I'm even more mystified. It simply doesn't seem possible that thin limbs could support such a fat animal. Today I'm even wondering what he was eating. It was obviously tasty, his appetite outlasted our patience. We never did see him leave.

Hopefully it was a safe exit and not a crashing fall. We have watched woodchucks maneuver in trees and it really can be quite an operation. They manage exceedingly well but graceful, agile, and daring they are not. Often they work themselves into a position where the only way to get down is to cautiously back up and carefully turn around on the more stable footing at the point where the limb meets the tree trunk.

But getting back to what he was eating. He was there so long and was so engrossed. All the time we watched his back was to us and we could only see the little branches and twigs in front of him as his front "hand-paws" reached out and pulled them to him. There certainly are no berries left — short pause while Gertie dashes out to hopefully find the answer.

Success. One mystery solved. Murphy was eating leaves. But oh my, what a finicky gourmet. Gertie T. reports that apparently he ate only the tender soft 'meat' of the leaf and left the tough stem. She could readily see a large area of naked stems. She reaffirmed our belief that he ate everything within reach.

The view Mom and I had of Murphy was, of course, not the best. It was the funniest though. Neither of us can get over how big and fat how broad and wide his rear end was. And hanging down was his sort of ridiculous looking tail. It was bushy but not nearly long enough to be in porportion to the rest of him. A far cry from the full attractive ringed tails that Gertie T's racoons had.

The one thing that both the racoons and the woodchuck do have in common is their rolls of fat. They are getting well prepared for the winter. When the time comes for them to crawl into their winter quarters and go into — well, neither go into a deep and complete state of hibernation but they do sleep away most of the bad weather.

Certainly none of the animals we saw will be forced out into the snow and cold by hunger pangs. They can live off their fat regardless of how long the winter mess lasts.

Speaking of racoons, the other night we had a hint that they truly are around much oftener than we see them. Only twice since we have been home this year have our garbage bags been ripped open and yes, on both occasions there were chicken bones inside.

People have told us that they are among the 'coons favorite things and, as Mom and Dad surveyed the wreckage, they said it was easy to imagine the long fingered, clever hands of a masked bandit digging out the remains of a drum stick.

Since I was not on cleanup duty I should be forgiven the thought that my, wouldn't it have been fun to watch the raiders.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Apple season is one of my favorite times of the year. I enjoy picking apples, the fresh scent of the orchard, and best of all, eating the fresh crisp apples.

There are so many ways to prepare fresh apples. They can be baked, fried, carameled or made into sauce. You can bake apple pies, cakes, crisps and strudels. The list is almost endless.

Here are two new ways I prepared apples this week. The first recipe was taken from a Pillsbury Bake Off cookbook. It makes really quick donuts with an apple filling. Delicious!

APPLE SUGAR PLUMPS

3 medium apples
½ cup milk
1 egg
1 cup Pillsbury pancake mix
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon grated orange peel (optional)

Core and pare apples. Slice into ¼ to ½ inch rings. Beat milk and egg until blended. Add dry pancake mix; stir until large lumps disappear. Dip each apple slice into batter. Batter should be thick. Fry in deep hot oil (375 degrees) until golden brown, about 1½ minutes. Drain on paper toweling.

Mix sugar, cinnamon and orange peel. Use to coat warm apple plumps generously. Makes about 12 donuts.

I enjoy salads of all kinds and this new version of waldorf salad is excellent.

ORANGE WALDORF SALAD

2 cups diced apples
1 cup orange sections
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts
2 teaspoon grated orange rind
Miracle Whip Salad Dressing

Combine apples, oranges, celery, nuts, orange rind and enough Miracle Whip to cream and moisten; toss lightly. 6 servings.

To share your favorite recipes, mail them to me at 1207 Russell Road, or call 423-4848. Hope to hear from you soon.

Indians Whip Huron, 36-0

Tecumseh's grid squad made yet another strong showing Friday night with a 36-0 victory over New Boston Huron.

The Indians have given up just six points in their first three games scoring an impressive 82 against their opponents.

Against Huron Friday, Tony Valdez blocked a punt in the first quarter allowing Tecumseh to take over at Huron's 48 yard line. Quarterback Dave Bohannon later ran 44 yards for the first touchdown. John Egbert kicked the extra point.

In the second frame, Lyndon Hughes scored on a 55-yard pass play from Bohannon. Kevin Eggleston captured another Bohannon pass for the two point conversion.

Eggleston added a touchdown later in the quarter on a one yard run. Egbert kicked the extra point.

Jeff Anderson continued the Tecumseh scoring with a 42-yard touchdown run in the third quarter while Butch Harvey scampered eight yards in the fourth frame for the final score. Egbert made good on both of the final extra point tries.

The Indians racked up most of their yardage on the ground with 320 compared to 101 for Huron. Anderson was the leading rusher for Tecumseh grabbing 104 yards on nine carries.

Tecumseh completed four of six passes for 84 yards. Huron came up with 28 yards through the air. Huron fumbled twice losing it once while the Indians lost two of five fumbles.

The junior varsity also won over Huron 26-0.

The Indians host Flat Rock this Friday as part of their Homecoming celebration.

Morenci Falls to Clinton

Clinton's cross country squad overpowered Stockbridge and Ann Arbor Greenhills in a triangular meet last Thursday going on to soundly trounce Morenci 17-46 on Tuesday of this week.

Jerry Cline and Mike Risner tied for first place at 16:03 setting a new school record. The Redskins defeated Stockbridge 20-37 and Greenhills 18-37.

Risner, Pike and Cline all tied for first place against Morenci Tuesday in a time of 17:16. Wojtowicz was fifth at 18:06, Prichard, Devin Schindler and Matt Peters tied for sixth at 18:49. John Dotson was tenth at 19:50 and Dave Dagastino was 13th at 20:48.

The Redskins post a 7-1 overall record and are 2-1 in the LCAA. They participate in a 12 team invitational at Dundee this Saturday.

Next Tuesday, Clinton hosts Addison. Both teams are tied for second place in the LCAA.

Grand Valley won the contest 26-0.

Dermyer, a senior at Grand Valley, was credited with two sacks behind the line of scrimmage, eight solo tackles and four assists, and a fumble recovery on Northeastern's 35-yard line. The fumble recovery set up Grand Valley's second score.

Tories Fall to Whitmore Lake

The Whitmore Lake Trojans ruined Britton's Homecoming by taking a 12-6 decision over the Tories.

The Trojans scored on their first possession of the game driving 73 yards with Doug Bater scoring on a one-yard run. The extra point run failed and the Trojans led 6-0 which was the halftime score.

In the third quarter, Britton recovered three Trojan fumbles deep in Trojan territory but were unable to turn any of them into a score.

Finally early in the fourth quarter the Tories recovered a Trojan fumble on the Trojan 46-yard line and marched in to score with Rudy Montalvo scoring on a three yard run. The extra point failed.

With around three minutes to go in the game, Whitmore Lake took over the ball following a punt and marched 45 yards for the winning score with Doug Bater scoring on a one-yard run with 21 seconds left. The extra point attempt failed.

Whitmore Lake gained 212 yards rushing with Rick Weidman the leading rusher with 80 yards in 13 carries. They were 0-1 through the air.

Britton gained 99 yards rushing and Randy Smith was 4 for 12 passing for 36 yards for a total offense of 135 yards.

Bill Lutz had eight solos and 11 assists for the Tories and Jeff Osterhout had five solo tackles and 13 assists.

The Tories recovered seven Whitmore Lake fumbles but could only turn one of them into a score.

The Trojans and the Tories are both 1-2 overall and 1-1 in the Tri-County Conference.

THS Golfers Whip MCC

Tecumseh's golf squad easily whipped Monroe Catholic Central in golfing action Monday night 164-183.

Doug Jacobs was medalist with a 38.

Steve Hunter came in at 41, Keith Bauman at 42, and Scott Macbeth at 43 for the Indians.

Tecumseh is 3-0 in the Huron League and 6-2 overall.

The Indians travel to Grosse Ile next Monday and to Hillsdale next Tuesday.

Clinton JV Gridders Defeated By Ida

The Clinton junior varsity grid team was defeated by the Ida Bluestreaks last Thursday by a score of 34-6.

Ida dominated play from the beginning and proved to be an efficient opponent. Clinton's only score came on a 40-yard run by Clayton Semanske.

Aside from facing a tough opponent, the Redskins also proved to be penalty-prone, running up 70 yards in penalties.

This week the Redskins will be at home against the Morenci Bulldogs.

Britton Girls Victorious

Britton's girls basketball squad racked up two victories in the past week beating Deerfield 35-29 last Thursday and Summerfield 43-34 on Tuesday.

The Tories now post a 3-1 overall record and are 2-1 in the Tri-County League.

Dawn Bush led all Britton players against Summerfield with 23 points.

The junior varsity split their games beating Deerfield 21-6 but losing to Summerfield 12-11.

Girls Stopped By Adrian, Overwhelm Jefferson

In the first of two games, Tecumseh's girls basketball squad breezed by Monroe Jefferson 49-28 last Wednesday. They dropped the second game to Adrian in a tight match Monday night, 42-36.

Tecumseh shot 27 percent from the foul line and 32 percent from the floor during the Monroe game. Jefferson shot 30 percent from the floor and never made a foul shot.

Grace Burns was top scorer with 16 points, Gloria Fosbender hit for 10 points, while Debbie Steadly, Tory Iffland, Sandy MacGeorge, and Robin Isom combined to score 23 points.

The Monroe game was the Huron League opener for Tecumseh.

Tecumseh couldn't "buy a basket," commented Coach Diane Nelson. The Indians shot 45 percent from the floor and 42 percent from the foul line. Tecumseh took only 31 shots.

Adrian, on the other hand, shot 50 percent from the floor and 54 percent from the foul line.

Coach Nelson explained that she felt they played a better defensive game than Adrian, but the shots Adrian "did take hurt."

Adrian keyed on Tecumseh's usual high scorer, Grace Burns, and held her to only four points. While Burns was double teamed, Debbie Steadley played her best game of the season hitting nine of 12 shots for 18 points.

Tecumseh, however could not count on only one scorer as Fosbender, Isom and MacGeorge totaled the other 14 Indian points.

Tecumseh trailed four to six points most of the game after the first quarter's 6-6 tie. It was not until the fourth quarter with 3:38 left in the game that the Indians came within two points of Adrian.

Tecumseh then had a chance to tie it up but shot and missed. Adrian rebounded, but Tecumseh turned the ball over and missed a second shot at tieing the score when they could not connect on a 1-1 foul attempt.

Adrian again rebounded, but another Indian turnover gave the ball to Tecumseh. The girls were unable again to tie it up on another 1-1 foul attempt.

Adrian then took the ball down the court twice to increase their lead to six points and continued to lead until the end of the game.

Coach Nelson explained it simply, the "game was won at the foul line." Tecumseh was six for 14, while Adrian shot 12 for 22.

Total scoring by quarters includes:

Tecumseh	8	18	15	8	—49
Jefferson	4	4	12	8	—28
Tecumseh	6	10	14	6	—36
Adrian	6	18	10	8	—42

During the JV match, Tecumseh beat Adrian 34-14. Kelly Kurger hit for 11 points, and Terese Duhan chipped in eight points.

The varsity plays New Boston Huron Wednesday, at Blissfield Oct. 11 and here against Flat Rock Oct. 13. They play Adrian again Nov. 17.

Their record now stands at 1-0 in the league and 4-2 overall.

CHS Girls Suffer 1st Loss of Season

Clinton's girls basketball squad suffered their first defeat of the year last Tuesday against a very good Ida team 48 to 44.

"Our start was also our finish", said Coach Bob King. Scoring only five points in the first quarter and down 19 to 5 early in the second quarter was too much for Clinton to overcome.

The girls did come back to play well during the second half but they couldn't stop Ida's 6 foot center Kris Matthes who scored 20 of her teams 25 points in the second half.

Sue Richter led with 16 points and Karen Busch added 10 for Clinton.

The girls got back on the winning track Thursday night against Onsted 46 to 30. Their season record now stands at 6 and 1.

Playing against a young Onsted team Clinton substituted freely as all 13 players saw action.

Cathy Gibson had her best game of her career scoring 17 points and Sue Richter followed with 16.

The Redskins are now 3-0 in league play.

Clinton's junior varsity lost to Ida 40-31, but beat Onsted 38-27.

Redskins Dominate Ida Bluestreaks

Clinton's grid squad dominated the Ida Bluestreaks Friday night winning the contest 28-16.

The Redskin's quarterback Phil Erickson had a good night completing seven of 10 passes for 56 yards and two touchdowns. He also ran for the other two Clinton scores.

Erickson hit Bob Santure on a 24-yard strike in the first quarter and found Terry Reiser for 15 yards and a score in the third quarter.

Erickson ran for six yards in the second frame and 11 yards in the fourth for touchdowns.

Phil Martiny and Jeff Porterfield each had two-point conversion runs.

Clinton had 365 total offensive yardage with 273 coming on the ground. Ida had 209 yards total with 195 rushing.

The Skins travel to Morenci this Friday.

Fall Activities Announced

The Tecumseh Recreation Department's schedule of fall classes and activities will be announced in next week's Tecumseh Herald.

Flyers will also be sent home with school children.

Beat Addison

The Clinton Varsity Golf team defeated Addison 180 to 185 Friday night. Addison defeated Clinton earlier in the season but Clinton came back in the second meeting.

The Redskins record is now 2-6 overal and 2-4 in the league.

Top four scores for Clinton were Bernie Hough with a 42, Brad Eversole 44, John Wahl 45 and Al Wahl 49.

Bernie Hough was medalist.

Goal of $79,950 Is Set- But No Drive Chairman

Kick-off breakfast for the annual Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation drive usually occurs this time of year - but not in '76.

Ken Crause, president of the Foundation, says a drive chairman has yet to be determined, although "there are a couple prospects." He says announcement of the chairman should be made within a week.

Goal this year is $79,950, up from last years $71,416.

The drive annually supports charities plus providing funds for community projects - and has annually since the Foundation was incorporated back in the spring of 1959 when the late Ray Herrick and others promoted and developed the plan.

It was and remains a unique fund raising program for a number of charities and the City of Tecumseh.

Police Officer Is Wounded during B&E

A Tecumseh police officer suffered minor injuries after two local patrolmen surprised a burglar about 3:30 Tuesday in the VFW on N. Evans St.

Officer James R. Knierim was hit by a shell fragment or piece of the building after Officer Richard Royal fired at the suspect, who escaped shortly before backup units arrived.

Knierim was taken to Herrick Hospital where three stitches were required to close a laceration over his right eye.

The two Tecumseh officers were on patrol and making security checks when they discovered a padlock and hasp had been bent on the northwest rear door of the VFW building.

Royal, upon inspection, discovered the door could be opened and ran to the southwest door while Knierim grabbed a shotgun. Knierim saw the suspect — white, well dressed male — attempt to leave and ordered him to freeze. The suspect ducked back inside the building and appeared at the southeast door where Royal fired.

Fragment of his shot or piece of the building hit Knierim just over his right eye.

Officers radioed for help and county deputies and state police arrived. State police, using a portable public address system, called for the suspect to surrender and come out.

After no reply, officers entered the building, found it vacant with a window facing Evans St. opened. A tracking dog was brought in but lost the scent a couple blocks south of the VFW.

Several VFW rifles were found near the southwest door. The service club's safe also had been tampered with but was not broken into.

Sunday morning, a similar B&E occurred at the VFW with some change taken. Attempts were made then to open the safe, but again not successful.

Fingerprints were taken at the scene and are being checked. At the present there are no suspects.

Leaf Bags Available

Leaf bags for residents have been received and will be available, starting Friday at city hall.

Residents are asked to fill them with leaves and leave them at curb for city pick ups, which will start late next week.

Branches, limbs and grass clippings also will be picked up but no trash and rubbish.

More Nurses Needed for Three Flu Clinics

Registered and practical nurses are still needed to assist in the three swine flu mass immunization clinics to be held in Tecumseh Oct. 22 from 9-5, and two on Sunday, Oct. 24 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The first clinic on Friday Oct. 22 will be at the Community Center and the Sunday, Oct. 24 clinics will run simultaneously at Tecumseh High School and Patterson School.

Wednesday morning the state director of health suspended immunization at all clinics, because of reported deaths in Pennsylvania and Michigan of elderly people after receiving the swine flu shots. It is not known at this time if the suspension will be lifted before the scheduled mass immunization here.

Two clinics will be held in Clinton, one on Oct. 21 in the Middle School Library from 9 a.m. to noon and one in the high school Oct. 24 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

One hour training sessions for all volunteers will be held Oct. 13 and 14 at 7 p.m. in the Community Center.

Registered nurses are needed to administer the shots with a new jet injector; the shot will be practically painless. Practical nurses are needed for health screening. Willing RN's and LPN's may call Donna Marion, R.N. evenings at 456-4333.

All clinics are open to anyone 18 years old and older. Bivalent vaccine will be administered to persons aged 60 and older and high risk adults with diseases such as high blood pressure, heart disease, asthma or heart condition. Others 18-59 will receive the monovalent vaccine. Both vaccines are expected to be available at all clinics.

TM Leaders Sought for Oct. 23 Meeting

Back-up leaders for discussion groups are needed for the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting '76, Roger Proctor, coordinator told Tuesday.

The community wide planning session for Tecumseh's future will be at the Tecumseh High School Saturday, Oct. 23 beginning at 9 a.m. Admission is free. Families are invited.

Proctor explained that plans were made for 400 people, a good crowd for Tecumseh's population, however there was no advance registration for the event. TM '76 planners won't be disappointed if a lot more people show up, although it will mean more volunteers to lead discussion groups.

Anyone interested in volunteering as a leader may contact Donna Roe Flynn, leadership chairman at 423-3313 or Roger Proctor at 423-4100.

Leaders will act as moderators only. Prime interest is service to the individual discussion group; responsibility is to encourage each member to participate. No one is in city government, explained Flynn.

Leader workshops will be held for volunteers on Oct. 14 and Oct. 22 at Tecumseh High School at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in imporving leadership skills may sit in. The Oct. 14 meeting will actually be a mock TM. The Oct. 22 meeting is a briefing for members of the steering committee and leaders.

Start Registering for City Classes

Registration is now being taken for fall-winter classes offered by the Tecumseh Recreation Department. Area residents of all ages are welcomed to participate in these programs for relaxation, enjoyment and learning.

Questions may be directed to the recreation department at 423-5602.

Advance registration is required for all activities to prevent delay at the start of class sessions. The recreation department reserves the right to make last minute changes in the schedule.

Twelve courses being offered include adult art, beginner crochet, cake decorating, creative arts and crafts, furniture caning, elementary gymnastics, hobby night, ladies basketball, ladies exercise and volleyball, men's basketball, men over 35 basketball and youth judo.

Complete information about the fall-winter program is carried in an advertisement on page 12 of this issue of The Herald.

EARN $9,000 IN 16 YEARS

Players Want New Theatre

By KATHY BROWN

Mediocrity has never been a goal of the Tecumseh Players. From their inception in 1960, the players have been dedicated to family theater entertainment for Tecumseh and improving the status of the performing arts of drama and comedy.

Significantly in this Bicentennial year, the players have set a new goal to act as a "catalyst" to get a brick and mortar theater for Tecumseh.

Active in the players for just one year, with his wife, Kathi, and family, Gerry Johnstone, new president of the Tecumseh Players, believes that if Tecumseh doesn't act soon on a theater, the city may stifle one of its most promising resources.

"We didn't realize," Johnstone said, "what we were missing. All work for the same end. The play is for the people. I don't want to see it (the Tecumseh Players) go down the drain. It's too much for me to lose. It's too much for the people to lose."

"There are a lot of talented people (here), talented in everything," added Ricki Speller, new Player and publicity chairman.

Although they haven't found a site yet, the players are looking for a building to renovate. They are open to suggestions.

It's no secret to patrons and sponsors that the Tecumseh Players and audiences have long outgrown the Glass Room at the Tecumseh Community Center where the players have performed for some 14 years, after the Strand was torn down.

"For the size and what we've got now, we do a good job," explained Johnstone, but he hastened to add, "we can't show what we can do because we don't have the facilities."

"Interest in the Players diminished quite a bit until a year ago," Johnstone related, "and so we're trying to get it back."

People have probably been under the impression, as was Speller, that the players used the Glass Room rent free. Not so. Players pay $75 per week for use. Rehearsals are held at a local church ("It's a lot different when you get on stage,") The Players have one week in the Center to set up. The junior and senior classes are welcome to use the props, chairs, lighting and equipment purchased for the Players' own-use. The players pay $50 storage fee.

"I've never seen a high school built that didn't have some sort of stage," remarked Speller. A stage adds professionalism, she pointed out. "Because the school doesn't have a school play, many teenagers have become regulars," a bonus for the Players because it means new life and a bonus for the kids because it means a place to go to express themselves.

The Tecumseh School Board and City Council have kicked around the idea of pooling resources to investigate the possibility of a community auditorium or theater. Only action on record was taken by City Council in November of 1975. It set aside $1,860 from Sesquicentennial funds as a "nest egg" for an auditorium.

Johnstone and Speller cited several factors which encourage the Players in their new goal.

Many people have expressed the feeling that Tecumseh should have a local theater group, something for Tecumseh. Sponsors have asked them, "When are you going to get a theater?' or have said, 'It's too bad we don't have the Strand Theater.'

"Nobody said, "We're going to give you a lot of money to do it'," but there is interest, Johnstone said.

"Theater itself is coming back. With the economic slump, everything seemed to go down," he reflected. "Now it seems to be picking up."

The Players themselves have reorganized. Other officers are: vice-president, Vesta Rothfuss; secretary, Sandra Swift; and treasurer, Guil Rothfuss.

The players would like to put their show on the road again as when they visited the Tibbitts Theater in Coldwater and Dawson Auditorium and the Croswell Theater in Adrian.

The Players have earned about $9,000 over 16 years, representing 125 separate performances of 46 plays and "untold number of rehearsal hours." As a self-supporting, non-profit organization, "We don't want it to go out the window," said Johnstone.

They are also looking to the Michigan Association of Community Theaters and the Michigan Council for the Arts for advice.

As Johnstone put it, "The Players are not some fly-by-night deal. The Players have been around for 16 years, they'll be around 16 more years," he promised.

No Response for City Board

Council's attempts to obtain a list of interested residents to serve on various city boards and commissions have proven negative so far.

Vera Gardner, city clerk, says there has been "no response" after Council announced last week that interested parties were needed.

Officials last year advertised and obtained names of interested residents. This list has been practically depleted.

Names are being sought for the Board of Review, Election Commission, Parks and Recreation, Planning Commission, Retirement Board, Hospital Board, Board of Appeals and the Electrical Board.

A form for filing with the city was printed on page two of the Oct. 7th issue of The Herald.

Updating Land Use

Planning Commission spent approximately two hours Tuesday night in updating a preliminary portion of the city's land use plan.

Present plan, adopted in 1968, is required to obtain Federal funds for city projects. It deals with both vacant and occupied properties.

Misdemeanor Is Charged

According to the Tecumseh police, James Beardsley, 401 W. Chicago Blvd., has been charged with assault, stemming from an incident occurring on Sept. 8.

He was scheduled to appear in District Court Wednesday on the misdemeanor charge.

7 Complaints, One Auto Is Stolen

Police investigated seven complaint reports this week. One auto was stolen as somebody apparently took the car out to the pit at Ives Rd. and used the car for hill climbing.

Larry Anschultz, 803 Murray, told police that he had parked his car in his drive Saturday night and woke to find it gone Sunday. The key was reportedly broken off in the ignition and the car was left unlocked.

Police found the El Camino at the pit on Ives Rd. across from Ayling, Cunningham later in the day. Auto was struck in a large pile of crushed stone and the frame was sprung, as the auto was reportedly used for hill climbing.

A resume of other complaints includes:

Oct. 8 - John Guilford Jr., 2951 Russell, reported malicious destruction to his auto while at the Embers Bar. He parked there and returned two hours later to find five cuts, about 25 inches long, in his auto seat. Estimated damage is $150.

Oct. 9 - Fred Feight, Russell Rd., reported that somebody had driven their car through his cornfield in circles. Over 150 foot in diameter area of his corn was down.

Oct. 10 - Walter N. Frayer, 54, 1104 Murray, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly at 2:40 a.m. after he was found in the parking lot behind Lamb's. He was reportedly staggering and incoherent when police arrested him.

Oct. 11 - Les Dallas, W. Chicago, reported the larceny of mirrors from a pick-up parked there over the weekend. The $75 mirrors were removed when somebody took the brackets off the auto.

Police picked up five runaways from Boysville on two separate occasions. At 4:45 a.m., two runaways came into the station here and turned themselves in. At 7:30 a.m., three more runaways were picked up when officers saw the three near M-50 at the Community Center. When asked to produce identification, police found them to be from Boysville.

ROGER PROCTOR

More on Widowhood: "The Fifth-Wheel Syndrome"

As a happy, energetic couple, Sally and Tom bowled, sang in a choir, were members of a bridge club and entertained often. After Tom died, Sally was encouraged to continue in the choir, attend bridge games and "come out and bowl" as before.

But it wasn't AS BEFORE. Choir was okay, because there weren't couples. Bridge and bowling was another matter. When filling-in as a fourth at bridge -- or on her old bowling team, she felt like an unneeded "fifth wheel," out of place with couples, out of favor in her (and Tom's) old crowd.

Recommended social activities a widow (or widower) might pursue would be those not requiring couples, those in which the widow has an individual interest.

Often during the course of a fine and happy marriage, one mate may enjoy a specific activity that the other does not enjoy. As a widow, she may now pursue that activity freely. Sometimes people don't, though, because they feel guilty . . . as if enjoying the activity now would be unfair to the deceased mate.

This should not be a consideration Rather, it is an opportunity to express a part of one's own self, something not expressed before, during married life.

Realizing one's own individuality and capabilities helps build up courage, and makes a widow's social re-entry less difficult.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

We picked two bushels of apples this fall and, although I do can and freeze a lot of them, we still have plenty left over for fresh eating and apple desserts. Here are two apple desserts that I tried this week.

This first recipe was given to be my Julie Hackstedde. It was quite easy to prepare and really good.

APPLE CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE

1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup warm milk
¼ cup sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs beaten
2 teaspoon salt
4 cups flour

In large mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add warm milk, sugar and shortening. Beat well. Add eggs, and salt. Beat in two cups of flour until batter is smooth. Stir in two cups more flour and mix well. Cover bowl with plastic wrap and refrigerate overnight.

1 stick margarine softened
½ cup sugar
3 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups chopped apples

Peel, core and chop apples. Roll chilled dough out on well floured board about 2 foot square and ⅛ inch thick. Use plenty of flour and work quickly as it will stick. Spread with 1 stick softened margarine, sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon, and chopped apples.

Roll up like a jelly roll, cut in half, and coil each half in well greased 8 x 8 inch pan. Cover with a towel and let raise for 1 hour. Bake in preheated 350 degrees oven for 45 minutes. Cool. Drizzle with glaze while still warm.

GLAZE

2 cups powedered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons water

Mix well. Drizzle on cake.

I found this apple crisp recipe in the Tecumseh Band Boosters cook book. It was submitted by Vivian Bunch. It was quick, easy and delicious!

APPLE CRISP

8 cups sliced apples
½ cup water
1½ cup flour
2 cups brown sugar
2 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine.

Put apples and water in a 13 x 9 inch baking dish. Mix flour, brown sugar, cinnamon, salt and butter in a separate bowl. Pour over apples and bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Serve warm with ice cream, if desired.

Lewis Speaks on Ford Village

David Lewis, economic history professor and acclaimed biographer of Henry Ford will speak about "Ford's Village Industries" at an open meeting of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society on Oct. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Tecumseh Community Center. Admission is free of charge.

Ford's village industries were part of the automobile magnate's scheme to offer employment to farmers and keep rural youth from migrating to the city.

Tecumseh's own Community Center and the Eldredge Mill in nearby Macon were two of eight village industry sites in the four counties of Monroe, Washtenaw, Lenawee and Jackson.

Copies of the 100-mile tour which Lewis has prepared will be available at the meeting.

Lewis, 49, is professor of business history at the University of Michigan. He recently authored "The Public Image of Henry Ford: An American Folk Hero and His Company," Wayne State University Press.

John O'Brien, Detroit News columnist and reviewer has called it "the definitive work" on Henry Ford and the company's history. Lewis spent 19 years of research, reflection and writing to produce the 600-page volume. Ford Country in Macon was also covered.

Lewis spent 15 years in also covered. The Tecumseh Public Library has a copy of the biography.

Lewis spent 15 years in General Motors companies. He has authored more than 300 published articles on public relations and the life of Henry Ford and the company's history.

You will read more from author Lewis. He plans a biography on Edsel Ford and is reportedly in the midst of a "scholarly effort" — a picture story on the "impact of the automobile on courtship and romance."

Lewis and his wife, Yuri, own a prize winning 1921 Model-T touring car.

National Defense Is Topic for Chapter

Current national defense issues was the topic delivered by Mrs. Neil Pearson at the Oct. 8 meeting of the Abi Evans Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Maurice McIntosh.

Mrs. Ellisworth Robison and Mrs. Jennings Frayer were the delegates to the state D.A.R. convention at Grand Rapids Sept. 28-30. They gave brief summaries of the proceedings and highlighted a speech by Mrs. William Milliken on "Land of Tomorrow" and Mrs. Andrus, National Chair of the National Defense Commission on "Let's Keep Liberty Growing." Both local delegates attended workshops and brought the group needed information.

Annual Christmas contributions were made to the Kate Duncan Smith and the Tamassee Schools.

The Hon. Kenneth Glaser Jr. of Adrian was speaker of the day. He talked on the history and law of the birth of the Constitution and our liberties. He spoke of the first assembled group of state delegates held in June 1776 and the work that went into the Constitution and Bill of Rights and how at that time the seeds were sown that finally lead to the Civil War.

Mrs. Vanderlinden, regent, conducted the meeting. The Veteran lap robes are to be ready by Feb. 1. Those not making robes are to assemble kits of toilet articles and scuff slippers.

The hostess served refreshments to conclude the meeting.

Next meeting will be at the West Branch of the United Savings Bank, Nov. 12 Mrs. Vanderlinden will be the leader and subject will be "Historical Banking". Nov. 12 will be guest day.

MEN—WOMEN
Wanted, Volunteers.
Today's Army is an Army of volunteers. The many people who are in the Army are in it because it's a good place to be in.
Partly because of the benefits. A monthly starting salary of $361 (before deductions). With a raise to $402 in just four months. Plus free housing and meals, free medical and dental care, free job training, 30 days paid vacation a year.
Partly, too, because of the personal challenge. The discipline. The mental and physical demands. The early risings, hard days, and late nights.
In the Army, we don't have time clocks. And in the Army, you don't get paid overtime. Soldiering is a full-time job.
We don't require prior experience. But we do require high standards. And if you meet them, you're the kind of volunteer we want. The kind your Country needs.

Autumn leaves, after they've fallen . . . ants at a picnic . . . rain when you've wished for sun. Life is full of such tangles.

But it's how you approach them that counts. Upbeat, or downbeat?

You can rake leaves, enjoying the golden quiet of an October afternoon. You can brush aside the ants and enjoy the picnic. You can settle in with a book on a rainy afternoon.

The choice is yours—for the best of things, or for the worst of things. Like going to church . . . it's up to you!

Why not try the upbeat way there, too?

Need People for Girl Scouts

Somewhere in Tecumseh there is a grandmother whose little people live too far away for her to see them often. Somewhere in Tecumseh or area is a childless couple who have much to offer little girls.

These people are sorely needed by the Girl Scout Association to meet with troops already organized, but who are without a leader for the fall season.

A group of bouncing six-year-olds are waiting to be told that they will have their first Brownie meeting this week or some week.

A troop of 15 Junior Girl Scouts have $140.00 in their treasury and a program mapped out by their former leader, who will gladly act as committeewoman this year.

They need an adult, it could be a grandpa or an aunt or an uncle, interested in meeting with the troop once each week.

Two Girl Scout troops already have husbands as co-leaders and it is an extremely satisfactory arrangement.

Judy Kingensmith, troop organizer, is eagerly awaiting a call from potential leaders. Her number is 423-7836. She can explain leader training and the consultants available for each level, as well as the "buddy" system whereby new leaders have co-leaders for a few weeks to help them become oriented.

Last year Tecumseh had the largest enrollment in the Irish Hills Council, some 300 girls. It's an organization to be proud of and one deserving of help, like once a week.

FROM DUKE TO TYLER

The cycle is complete, the circle has come around. Once more there is a large dog in residence across the street. Tyler, a handsome golden retriever, will I am sure, be able to take his rightful place in history of the dogs who have been our neighbors in the house up the creek. Of course cocker spaniels were the first dogs in that house but it was Duke who really stamped his personality upon the neighborhood.

Duke was a free spirit who loved life and lived it to the hilt. Primarily German shepherd he had just enough collie or perhaps retriever in his background to soften his muzzle and alter his ears.

He owned a large part of Tecumseh, from Logan Street to the downtown area to the hospital and most points in between. One of the many things I remember about Duke was his sense of humor. I am sure he had one. His man wore a hearing aid and oh how many times we three Duncans laughed as he stood in his front yard calling for Duke to come.

The dog came alright but he stayed out of sight and hearing, he would come up in back of his man and sit down.

A couple more calls and finally the dog would nudge the man's leg. It was especially effective in the summer, "shorts" season. One cold nose on one bare leg and do you see why I say Duke had a sense of humor?

The next dog, Lassie, was a pretty collie. A young dog, he did not stay long enough for us to see him filled out but he must have been a nice full-maned collie when grown.

My lasting memory of him is a well marked, long silky haired dog laying in the middle of their yard. The grass was green and his posture was proud. Lovely.

A change of neighbors meant a change in dogs. Schnapps came into the neighborhood on an early spring Sunday afternoon. A little hotdog with four toothpick legs. And where do I begin his adventures?

A miniature dachshound by breed, he was a character by disposition. He sounded fierce and ferocious but the day a repair man came and no one was home except Schnapps the man went in and out, did his work, and never knew there was a dog in the house. He was certainly the protector of hearth and home when his people were around to be impressed though — in fact, he even reached the point of protecting my room.

He would come over for a visit and guard me against the invasion of Mom and Dad. How loudly he would bark and how quickly he would quit when they challenged him. Quit barking and run up to be petted.

Zeke came next. He was mostly hound but his long legs hinted of something else not too far back in his ancestry. However, his voice was 100 percent pure hound — he could bugle and trumpet and howl and wail with the best of them. He accompanied the fire siren perfectly.

But Zeke's two great talents were playing with his kids and running. He enjoyed football, baseball, and tag; we watched many well played games in his yard. When on his own he ran fast and free, his long legs stretching out and occasionally springing him into long impala-like leaps.

No I have Tyler to watch. Tyler is handsome, no other way to describe him. His head is large but looks soft and invites petting. In color he is a golden yellow which lives up to his breed, golden retriever.

Although we have only watched him a few weeks it is fun to see him retrieve a stick or throw a ball up in the air and play with it. Walnuts are only half as good, they don't bounce. One other thing we have learned about Tyler is that he is a gentleman. People came to visit his people one day and brought along two white dogs. (Possibly they were German shepherds.)

Tyler played the perfect host and we chuckled as he escorted his guests around his yard and creek bank. It was for all the world as though these were special friends and he was proudly showing off his new home.

Welcome Wagon Entertained by Author

The Welcome Wagon book club was entertained last week by Jackson author, Mrs. H.L. Gentry.

"Wait Gabriel Wait" is Mrs. Gentry's second book and is the amusing story of her mother, a great-grandmother, who is transformed from depression to complete fulfillment and proves that even at her age life can be fun.

Mrs. Gentry's first book, "One More River to Cross," is about the earlier days in the pipeline business with her husband, Dux.

Born and raised in Kentucky, Winalee Gentry, a pretty, petite widow, now lives in Jackson, where she is an officer in a family business.

Annual Drive To Begin

CLINTON — The 15 agencies who each year benefit from the Clinton United Fund, and all the local supporters of these groups will be reassured to learn that the annual fund drive is being held from now until Oct. 31.

The Clinton United Fund Board has had difficulties in getting organized this year, since the president, Shirley Caruso resigned early in the summer, and meetings have been poorly attended by a board membership, lacking two or three members.

Volunteers are welcome to fill the board vacancies.

Presently Dennis Reeve is serving as chairman; Roy Wagner, vice-chairman; treasurer, John Frye, and secretary, Judy King.

This year's fund drive will not include a door-to-door canvas.

However, pledge drives will be conducted in the schools, commercial and industrial areas.

Donations may be made by check or cash at the Clinton State Savings Bank, both at Clinton and Irish Hills branch, through the tellers. Clinton businesses accepting donations are Merkel Young Hardware, Pizza Pit, Clintonian Inn and Clinton Township Library.

Donations may also be made by addressing a check to "Clinton United Fund," Clinton, Michigan, 49236.

Employees in area plants are reminded tht they must indicate their preference to have donations sent to Clinton United Fund.

Because of the increasing needs of all the agencies served, this year's goal has been set at $12,000.

Traces Circus History

CLINTON — Don Smith of Clinton traced the history of circuses from the early riding and shooting shows to their present form as indoor extravaganzas of animal, trapeze and other familiar acts, at the Oct. 5 meeting of the Historical Society of Clinton.

Mr. Smith also displayed several copies of early circus advertizing posters and his personal collection of autographed photos of circus performers he has met while photographing for circus publicity since the 1920's. He pointed out that many circus performers came from Michigan and many circuses were formed in Michigan as well.

Several new acquisitions were announced by president, Shirley Fraley, and librarian, Sharon Scott. The Society now counts among its collection several text books used in early Clinton schools and other books including volumes of Lenawee County Memoirs from the estate of Beth Woods, and the bell from the 1858 Clinton School (torn down about 1905) and some glass negatives from Roland Hause.

The dated trowel used in the laying of the cornerstone of the Courthouse is in the possession of Lawrence Bailey, past president, and may be presented by the local society to the Lenawee County Historical Society at a later date.

The back issues of the Clinton Local are sorted and are in the process of being microfilmed by the Monroe County Library. This process makes research in these brittle old papers more feasible, and the papers themselves will be preserved in the Lenawee County Historical Museum as the property of our local society.

Lawrence Bailey announced receipt of a letter from Lansing informing the Society that the site of the Clinton Inn will be nominated at the next committee meeting for inclusion on the State Register of Historic Sites. This is the next step in the Society's efforts to erect a State Historical Marker on this site.

Through the generosity of many Clinton residents, the State Savings Bank of Clinton is now the repository of nearly $600 earmarked to pay for this two-post marker.

There will be text on both sides of the marker telling US-12 travelers and Clinton residents alike about the Clinton Inn site and other Clinton data. The Michigan History Divison as well as the local society is researching possible points to include.

Coming events of interest to history buffs in the are include the State Historical Society meetings at Greenfield Village Nov. 3-6.

Contact Shirley Fraley for further information if interested in going. Saline has announced a lecture series and Oct. 10 is the Grass Lake Homes Tour.

Of more local interest is Lawrence Bailey, program's announcement of the local Historical Society's meeting to be held at the home of Charles and Elsie Helgren's home on Dec. 7. The Helgren's have expended great effort to restore their lovely home at 102 Litchfield and will open it for the Society to tour. This is a fine example of what can be done with love and an old home. Plan to attend as it is sure to provide an inspiration to preserve some of the fine homes of our town.

Attend Corn-Sugar Beet Expo '76

BRITTON — Mrs. Edna Bortel, and Mrs. Delta Croll attended the Michigan Corn-Sugar Beet Expo '76, Oct. 5-6, near Caro, on the Dick Donahue farm.

The Donahue farm has 1,600 acres of which 120 acres were used for the harvesting of corn and 80 acres of sugar beets. Equipment covered 40 acres.

The show culminated a year's effort by local farmers and Bill Bortel, Michigan State University corporate director in Tuscola County. Bortel is formerly of Britton.

Latest harvesting and land tillage techniques were shown. It also provided a better understanding of the cost and complexity of today's agriculture production in Michigan to non-farmers.

Visitors observed harvest and tillage equipment in operation and also the latest in crop dusting. There were four large tents with agriculture clinic exhibits, also programs and demonstrations for the women.

It was estimated over 10,000 attended the exhibit on Tuesday. Due to rain on Wednesday the demonstrations did not take place as scheduled.

Mrs. Bortel and Mrs. Croll spent the two days and nights with Mrs. Bortel's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bortel and sons in Caro.

Fun Night Profits $1,000

BRITTON — Britton's Fun Night wasn't without last minute excitement last week. Despite an unhappy incident, Fun Night profited $1,000.

Through the generosity of kind people, four prizes, stolen from the Britton Variety Store, were replaced in time for the door prize drawing.

A flurry of activity replaced two of the prizes and some kind people from the Detroit area heard of the problems and donated 12 items along with Bill Kopke who donated a rubber plant. Total prizes available were 19.

Other good news was that Harold Tesch's trained animal and magic show appeared. The animals, which were unusual, included a three-year-old 32" dwarf cow, the world's smallest pony, a duck born wearing a hat, an earless goat, a llama with a double ear and a 25 pound skunk. The animals were tame and were petted and fed.

Winners and their prizes are: Lewis Gilbert, candelabra; Janet Pickell, bathroom scales; Karen Barrett, pen and pencil set; Roland Downing, knife set; Dee Miller, clock; Gale Murdock, radio; Ruth Pewtter, radio; Larena Walker, table grill; Linda Bury, rubber plant; Kurt Spencer, corn popper; Barb Kimerer, magic lock; Al Lenz, combination locks; Dawn Lidster, cake carrier; LaVern Tubbs, model ship; Bert Wade, corn popper; John Irvin, Martha Washington goblet; Ron Forsyth, grease and oil change; and Cliff Underwood, coffee pot and a 10 pound Hersey bar.

More good news was the ticket sale campaign which netted over $600 before Fun Night. Overall high salesperson for the school was Brian Fanslau selling 240 tickets. Brian won $3 for his efforts.

The room selling the most was Mrs. Rosemary Niblack's fourth grade with total sales of $140. Each child in her class was given a candy bar.

First prize of $1 and second prize of 50 cents went to the following students:

Fourth grade — (Mrs. Lola Knaur, teacher). First prize, Candy Daykin, 120 tickets; second prize — Troy Hemphill, 114 tickets.

Fourth grade — (Mrs. Rosemary Niblack, teacher). First prize — Richard Halstead, 220 tickets; second prize, Sepp Prochaska, 150.

Fifth grade — (Miss Sandra Shannon, teacher). First prize — Jim Hawkins, 190; second prize — Lissie Needham, 110.

Fifth grade — (Mrs. Geraldine Gorton, teacher). First prize — Darlene Fuller, 101; second prize, Richard Dulinski, 100.

Sixth grade — (Mrs. Patricia Bryce, teacher). First prize — David Irwin, 127; second prize — Dawn Cook, 120.

Sixth grade — (Mrs. Elizabeth Cheever, teacher). First prize — Donna Cook, 143; second prize — Clarence Murdock, 142.

All in all, with the work from the students in ticket sales, help from members of the Ways and Means committee, donations from interested individuals and the added attraction of more door prizes, the PTO Fun Night netted a profit of approximately $1,000.

The engagement of Dawn Lidster to Charles Moore is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lidster, Britton. Bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Britton High School and is employed at Herrick Hospital. Mr. Moore's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Spohr of Britton. He is a graduate of Britton High School and is employed at Ford Motor Co. Saline. Wedding will take place April 30, 1977.

Writer Is Honored

THS senior, Rodney Turner, has been cited for his outstanding performance in writing. The National Council of Teachers of English has named him a finalist in their NCTE Achievements Award in Writing.

RODNEY TURNER

Over 6,500 students were nominated in February by their English teachers for the award. Each student, in turn, submitted a sample of his writing and an impromptu essay.

The compositions were then evaluated by high school and college English teachers and 850 finalists were selected. They represent high schools in all 50 states. Possible winners for each state are keyed to state population.

The council recommends the award finalists for college scholarships in 1976, should the students need assistance.

The NCTE is a professional organization of individuals and institutional members at all levels of instruction. Its goal is to increase the effectiveness of teaching English literature and language.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

Tecumseh homecoming activity reached out to the Macon area last week. Tim Ries' home on the Tecumseh-Macon Rd. was a busy place all week as the seniors constructed their float in the large garage-workshop. Charles Gross, industrial arts teacher at the high school, was advisor for the group and their long hours of work produced a winning float; the tied with the juniors for first place in the contest.

The John Keller home on Ford Rd. found more homecoming excitement. Laura had her part in festivities as freshman representative in the queen's court.

Before Coach Pat Connors went "back to the drawing board" following that disappointing homecoming loss Friday night, he and the family, wife, Sharon, Kristin and Tim, took a two-day Northern color tour. Just the respite before getting busy and back in the winning grove.

Last Thursday morning, Dave Jedele of Tecumseh was on his way to work in Milan about 7 a.m. when he ran into a slight delay. He hit a deer, almost in front of Don Whelan's home on Tecumseh-Macon Rd. Dave gave the deer to Whelans.

Mrs. Don Whelan entertained 18 guests at a baby shower last Sunday in her home. Mark Louis Banotai, honoree, was born one month ago, and weighed 5 lbs. 5 oz. Mark surprised everyone and arrived much earlier than planned. Mark's parents are Louis and Brenda (Whelan) Banotai. The family lives in Ypsilanti.

Bob Kollar was in Iowa last week at Struthers Dunn Co. on business for Budd Co.

Clara Davis returned home Saturday from Herrick Memorial Hospital. Clara was there almost two weeks during which time she had emerency surgery. She reports she is doing well but will be taking life easy for a while.

Janis and Ed Scheffler celebrated Jason's second birthday with a family gathering on Sunday. A panda bear cake was a highlight of the festivities.

Shirley Chatters' home in Macon was a busy place this last weekend. Son Tom had a hayride and hotdog roast for some of his classmates. Bob popped home for an unexpected visit also. He attends Michigan State and is studying electrical engineering in his second year of a four-year Air Force scholarship.

Bernard and Pearl Tucker returned from Clare on Saturday after visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tucker. They had a good visit and enjoyed the four grandchildren.

Terry Ross' dad, William E. Ross of Whitmore Lake died Oct. 4. A memorial service was held the following day at Muelig's Funeral Home in Ann Arbor. (Terry Ross' new address is 5225 Braze Rd., Onsted.)

Bill Bishop took Kelly and Kristy to visit his brother, Gus and family at Stanton for the weekend. Bill's mom had been visiting in Stanton and returned to Macon with Bill.

Complete 4-H Workshop

Tecumseh area 4-H leaders recently completed two 4-H workshops for adult volunteer leaders in Lenawee County at the Vo-Tech Center.

Members of the planning committee, which organized and executed the two workshops included: Jim Rundell of Tecumseh and Mary Schroeder of Britton. The 4-H youth assistants who aided in making the program arrangements were Mary Miller, Mike Elliott and Cathy Clement.

An all-day Saturday workshop was the more ambitious of the two. The morning program consisted of the three sessions on important 4-H leader responsibilities.

Tom Meyer, a leader from the North Franklin Hustlers, moderated a panel of teens including Sharon Fritz, Rich Warrick, Kevin Barrett, Mary Schroeder and Cheryl Withrow. In their discussion, they drew on their personal experiences to offer suggestions on how to effectively use teen leaders as a resource in 4-H.

A discussion was held on the value and method of helping members to keep records on their 4-H projects and activities. A slide-tape set explained the thorough records needed fom any 4-H member applying for national awards.

Saturday was highlighted by the presentations by more than 20 experienced Lenawee 4-H project leaders who brought in displays and shared their ideas for teaching their project. Project moderators for the potpourri included:

Mrs. Eleanor Price, Britton—leathercrafts; Norman Bleas, County Extension Director—biking; Mrs. Jack Barrett, Britton—and Dean Jones, Clinton—woodworking; Dick Allen, Extension Agricultural agent—gardening and plant science; Tim Rinehart, Tecumseh—entomology and bees.

Others included: Jim Rundell, Tecumseh—photography; Charlene Church, Tecumseh—natural resources, ecology and conservations; Sharon Fritz, Tecumseh—performing arts; Carol Rinehart, Tecumseh—clothing and grooming.

Community club leaders also met with Sandy Willis, 4-H secretary, to review materials for club registration this fall. Dyle Henning, extension 4-H youth agent, then presented the leaders with suggestion for planning the monthly meeting programs of their clubs.

The Lenawee 4-H office has also announced that a Saturday afternoon evening workshop is being planned for all county teens on Nov. 20. Mary Miller is 4-H staff coordinator.

The 4-H Office has recently sent out a survey on future local workshop needs to county 4-H leaders.

Any Lenawee adult or teen insterested in attending future workshops or willing to suggest ideas for organizing them, is invited to contact the Cooperative Extension Service in the County Courthouse, 263-8831, ext. 333.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

Last week my family and I had a most enjoyable experience. The sophomore class of THS assembled their float in our garage. It was a real pleasure to see how hard these teenagers worked and how well they worked together. Of course much of the credit for the good organization goes to their adviser, Mrs. Dan VanValkenburg, who put in lots of time and hard work.

Even though the judges decided the float wasn't a winner, I feel the kids were real "winners" because of their politeness and well-mannered way they conducted themselves all week long.

Again I say "thanks" for an enjoyable week to the sophomores and especially to Mrs. Van Valkenburg.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Roger Williams

THS Girls Fly By Huron And Royals

The Tecumseh girls basketball squad flew by New Boston Huron and Blissfield this week with scores of 54-31 and 44-21 respectively.

In Wednesday's match against Huron, Grace Burns was top scorer with 18 points, while Debbie Steadly and Sandy MacGeorge each tossed in 10 points for Tecumseh. Tory Iffland chipped in eight points.

Tecumseh led that game 15-1 after the first quarter and carried that point edge or more through the rest of the game.

Tecumseh shot 45 percent from the floor and 33 percent from the foul line, while Huron shot 30 percent from the floor and 58 percent from the line. The Indian girls out rebounded New Boston by a wide margin.

Kathy Clapp was high scorer for Huron with 13 points.

In Tuesday night's match against Blissfield, Grace Burns and Tory Iffland tied for high point honors with 12 each. Sandy MacGeorge added seven.

Tecumseh had one of their better nights Tuesday, as they shot 51 percent from the floor and 30 percent from the foul line. Blissfield shot 20 percent from the floor and 33 percent from the line. The Indian girls out rebounded Blissfield 44-21.

As with the Huron game, Tecumseh jumped off to a fast start and held a healthy lead throughout the game.

High scorer for Blissfield was Sue Niemi with 10 points.

The two wins put the girls record at 6-2 and 2-0 in the league.

Coach Nelson expressed her opinion that although the girls league record is 2-0 and they are playing well, they aren't playing up to their full potential. At least, she states she has not seen it yet and "they're a better team than what they've shown."

Her main concern is Grosse Ile, and with that game fast approaching, the Indians must be ready.

Girls play Flat Rock Wednesday, today, here, and at Bedford Monday.

Total scoring by quarters for the two games includes:

Tecumseh	15	13	16	10—54
Huron	1	8	12	10—31
Tecumseh	10	13	12	9—44
Blissfield	2	6	4	9—21

Britton Tories Spoil Aggies' Homecoming

The Britton Tories traveled to Sand Creek and spoiled the Aggies' Homecoming last Friday night with a 32-7 victory.

The Tories took the opening kickoff and marched 68 yards in 11 plays with Jeff Osterhout scoring the touchdown on a seven-yard run. Rudy Montalvo ran over the extra point to make the score 8-0.

Sand Creek came right back and put together a 54-yard drive with Pat McIntyre passing to Dave Wilt nine yards for the score. Neil Herriman kicked the extra point to make the score 8-7.

Late in the first quarter, Terry Daykin recovered an Aggie fumble on the Aggie 19-yard line. On the next play Tim Kurowicki went 19 yards for the touchdown. Montalvo again ran over the extra points

In the second quarter following a short Sand Creek punt the Tories put together a 39-yard drive with Osterhout sprinting 18 yards for the score. Montalvo again ran over the extra point to make the halftime score 24-7.

Britton's last touchdown of the evening came in the third quarter on a nine play 58-yard drive with Kurowicki getting the score on an eight-yard run. Steve Crittenden ran in the extra point.

Sand Creek had 202 yards total offense for the evening. The Aggies had 129 yards rushing and quarterbacks Pat McIntyre and Doug McMunn were eight of 24 passing for 73 yards.

The Tories rolled up 311 yards total offense with 301 coming on the ground. Tim Kurowicki had 136 yards in 19 carries and Rudy Montalvo and Jeff Osterhout had 67 and 59 yards respectively. Quarterback Randy Smith was three for six passing for 10 yards.

Bill Lutz, Osterhout and Lon Wagenschutz led the Tory defense with 18, 15 and 11 tackles respectively.

Britton is 2-2 and 2-1 in conference action.

The Tories travel to Ann Arbor St. Thomas next Saturday night to take on the highly regarded Fighting Irish.

FLOATS TIE — Junior float (above) tied with the senior effort for the top Homecoming award last Friday.

Grid Team Defeated

The Clinton Junior Varsity football team was defeated by the Morenci Bulldogs last Thursday 26-12.

Clinton's second half performance, in which 12 points were scored, was led by the running and passing of quarterback Kip Davis.

Defensive standouts were Terry Keith and Rudy Weirich. This week Clinton travels to Onsted.

Girls Beat Manchester

Clinton's girls basketball squad was beaten last Tuesday by Morenci 47 to 45. Clinton started off with a full court press and exploded to a 19 to 10 first quarter lead.

During the second and third quarters the girls suffered through their worst two quarters of basketball this year.

With four minutes left in the game and trailing by 11 points, 44 to 33, Ruth King sparked the Redskins and with 35 seconds left were behind by only two points but couldn't tie the score.

The Redskins defeated Manchester 52 to 40 Thursday to raise their season record to 7-2 overall and 4-1 in the LCAA.

After the first quarter Clinton opened up an eight to 10 point lead and maintained it throughout the game.

Sue Richter led the Redskins with 21 points and 11 rebounds, JoAnn Grossman played her best game ever scoring 12 points and getting 12 rebounds.

The junior varsity won 27-22 over Morenci but lost 45-26 to Manchester.

THS Gridders Can't Stop The Rams

Although the Indians had hopes of maintaining an undefeated grid record, they fell to a fired-up Flat Rock squad 20-6 Friday night.

The Indians were rated seventh in the state among Class B schools while Flat Rock was fourth in Class C. Both ratings were part of the Associated Press poll.

The Rams claimed the only score in the first half, while Tecumseh was held scoreless.

The Indians came out strong in the second half with quarterback Dave Bohannon scoring on a three yard run. The point-after kick was blocked.

In the final quarter, the Rams scored twice running in the extra points after one touchdown but failing on the run after the other.

Tecumseh had 105 yards rushing compared to 186 for Flat Rock. Jeff Anderson was the leading rusher for the Indians with 71 yards on 21 carries.

The Indians completed two of seven passes for 15 yards while Flat Rock's Gene Richards completed four of six for 49 yards.

The Rams had 14 first downs to seven for the Indians.

The loss dropped Tecumseh's record to 2-1 in the Huron League. They are tied with Carlson for second place in the League. Flat Rock and Airport are tied for first with 3-0 records each.

The junior varsity won their contest over the Rams 24-6.

The Indians travel to Monroe Catholic Central Friday night.

Two second half touchdowns Friday night gave Morenci a 13-6 victory over the Clinton Redskins.

Clinton took a 6-0 lead on its second play from scrimmage when Terry Higgins raced 63 yards for a touchdown on the option. The rest of the first half was a defensive struggle played between the 30-yard lines.

Morenci used two Clinton turnovers to post its second half touchdown. The Bulldogs first score came after a fumbled punt with Bruce Shaffer recovering for Morenci. Ben Laser capped a 50-yard drive by going over from the four. Big plays in the drive were a 15-yard run by Steve Ledesma and a 15-yard pass to Doug Hughes.

Morenci's final score came late in the game with a pass interception by Ledesma. Rendel carried the final 14 yards.

Clinton had 194 yards rushing. Higgins picked up 145 yards in 17 carries to lead the Redskins. Redskins quarterback, Phil Erickson, hit three of nine passes for 19 yards.

TP Musical Performance Starts Oct. 29

The Players' version of "Calamity Jane" will musically create a segment from the lives of two historic people; James Butler "Wild Bill" Hickok, and Martha Jane Canary, known as "Calamity Jane." The fast-moving, sometimes tender songs are woven into the story such and become an essential part, not just an addition.

Calamity Jane will be performed by the Tecumseh Players at the Glass Room of the Community Center Oct. 29, 30 and 31 and Nov. 5 and 6. All performances are at 8 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling 456-7121.

Providing the musical accompaniment is Tecumseh's Betty Flanders at the piano, with Pattie Kenney on the drums.

In all, there are 14 musical numbers, featuring solos and duets from the main characters, and highlighted by the chorus, who comprise the Deadwood citizenry.

Favorite songs from the show include "Black Hills of Dakota" and "Windy City." But best known is probably "Secret Love," made popular by Doris Day, who was "Calamity" in the original film.

JET INJECTOR MAKES SHOT PAINLESS

Flu Clinics Start Friday at Center

Swine flu innoculations for Tecumseh and Lenawee County will go ahead as scheduled this week. The clinics were temporarily suspended last week due to the deaths of elderly people after having their innoculations.

Health officials stated that the innoculation itself did not cause the deaths.

Mary Hanson, director of the county program, reports that all Lenawee County clinics will be set up so that elderly persons may sit down while waiting for their injections. Sitting down will reduce the stress their hearts may be under.

Clinics are scheduled for Friday, Oct. 22, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Community Center, and Sunday, Oct. 24, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Tecumseh High School and Patterson School.

Clinton Clinic will be Oct. 21 in the Middle School Library from 9 a.m. to noon and one in the high school Oct. 24 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Make-up clinics will be Oct. 31 at these Adrian Schools: McKinley, Mitchener, Alexander, Lincoln and Drager Middle School from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Monovalent and bivalent vaccine will be available at all clinics. The bivalent vaccine is a shot for both Swine Flu and A-Victoria Flu, a milder strain. Bivalent vaccine will be given to high risk patients (18 and older with heart condition, asthma, etc.) and people 60 and older. This high risk population was selected to receive the bivalent shot because not all manufacturers could supply it for the entire population.

The vaccine will neither give you the flu nor cause you to give it to others. The vaccine used in the United States and many other nations uses viruses that have been killed. This vaccine is made from influenza virus grown in fertile hen's eggs. The virus infects the developing chick embryo and is released into the surrounding egg fluids. The fluids are then harvested and a chemical, formaldehyde, is added to kill the virus. These fluids are subjected to further concentration and purfication steps.

Persons with a fever, or who have had another immunization recently should wait two weeks before getting a swine flu shot. Information on children's immunizations will be forthcoming.

Glaser Refutes Charges

Following letter was received Wednesday from Kenneth B. Glaser, Jr., judge of Probate Court, refuting an advertisement carried in several county publications.

Gentlemen:

I enclose a copy of a newspaper advertisement that appears in the October 19, 1976 edition of a county publication. As it relates to me it is obviously a falsehood and I expect to take appropriate legal action on it. I am writing all other newspapers to suggest that they submit it to their attorneys before they publish it.

The true facts are a matter of record and are as follows:

I obviously have not quit as Probate Judge. I still am Probate Judge and will continue to be such until my term expires on January 1, 1977.

In 1953 I was appointed Assistant Prosecuting Attorney under Prosecutor Paul Betz to serve at the pleasure of the Prosecutor, as all assistant prosecutors do. In February 1956 I told him that I was going to run for the Prosecutors job and he demanded my resignation.

In the 1956 election I was successful and elected as Prosecutor. At that time the term was 2 years. I fully completed two terms in that office and went into private practice.

In 1968 I ran for District Judge and was elected. I sold my practice and my building to my partner and took office.

In 1970 Judge Maurice Spear was retiring as Probate Judge. I ran unopposed and was elected and am still serving in that job and will do so until the end of my term. I, of course, could not retain the job of District Judge also.

Any of these facts can be readily determined by the public record except the 1956 assistant prosecutor matter, and that can be found in the Adrian Daily Telegram in February 1956.

I have asked my secretary to call all newspapers today and inform them regarding the advertisement. If you have already printed it and are unable to withdraw, I will be satisfied as to your good-faith if you print a copy of this letter prominently in your newspaper before the November 2 election.

Thank you.

Yours very truly,
Kenneth B. Glaser, Jr.

Board Adopts Record Budget

by Frank Weir

Tecumseh school board members approved a record setting 1976-77 budget of $5,244,248 for the school district Monday night.

That sum represents a 10.5 percent increase over last year's expenditures of $4,744,190 and is approximately $250,000 over the 1975-76 budget.

Grand total revenue is expected to be $5,462,897. Subtracting the estimated expenditures, it leaves excess revenue in the amount of $218,649.

The largest chunk of the budget, earmarked for instructional appropriations, amounts to $3,632,350 or 69.26 percent of the budget. That category includes salaries for teachers, supportive personnel and utilities.

Major sources of revenue will come from local property tax, $2,330,867, and state aid, $1,831,789.

Other top expenditures include administration, $162,053; transportation, $281,302; county special education transportation, $152,094, and fixed charges, $884,592.

Transportation costs are reimbursable from county and state funds.

Part of the reason for the budget increase is a drastic jump in insurance costs, Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley said. "Like the private sector, we have been bombarded with tremendous inflation in insurance. This has been a significant factor the last two fiscal years."

As an example, Cooley cited the district's commercial umbrella coverage which includes liability. It jumped 205 percent over last year. Workmen's compensation premium is up 133 percent, building and contents insurance is up 60 percent. Other coverages have also risen.

In addition, teachers salaries have increased 6 percent which, Cooley said, "is in line with" salary increases in other districts.

Board member William Macbeth voiced his concern over the rise in insurance costs and suggested that the district's contract with the present carrier be dropped and other bids accepted. Cooley stated that "I will do my best to find another carrier."

Board member James Records informed the board that about half of Michigan's liability carriers won't write umbrella coverage.

The approved budget also allows for a $100,000 state aid reduction. School officials can only estimate this figure.

Regulation Is Passed

Tecumseh School Board voted Monday night to add a paragraph to the high school student's handbook code of conduct, giving the Board the power to suspend or expell a student "guilty of gross misdemeanor or persistent disobedience..."

The addition grew out of an incident at the high school where a student was selling tablets to other students. When officials had the substance analysed, it was learned that the pills were sugar tablets, not an illegal drug.

Because of this, officials were unable to discipline the student since the legal power to do as was not implied in the student's code of conduct.

The new paragraph will allow officials to include the offense under "gross misdemeanor of persistent disobedience."

Council OKs Halloween for 'Treating'

Halloween treating hours for youngsters in the city of Tecumseh will be 6-8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30. Start and finish will be signaled by the fire siren.

Although Halloween night is Sunday, Council designated Saturday as the night for treating.

Police Chief Merlin Mowery said the Tecumseh-Britton-Clinton CB'ers will assist with patrol.

Children are asked to observe rules of safety when crossing streets; drivers are asked to be aware of children out at night. Parents are encouraged to accompany small children.

Parties are planned by the Tecumseh Recreation Department for pre-schoolers through junior high school.

With the exception of the Junior High dance at the Community Center Thursday, Oct. 28, all are costume parties and prizes will be awarded for various types of costumes.

The junior high dance will be from 7:30 to 9:45 p.m. E-Z Chicago Band of Toledo will provide music. Small admission fee will be charged.

Other parties are:

Oct. 28, K-third grade at Patterson school from 6:30-7:45 p.m. and fourth grade through sixth grade at Tecumseh Acres school the same time.

Pre-schoolers will have a party at the Community Center, Friday, Oct. 29 from 1:30-3 p.m.

Lot Prices at Cemetery Are Raised

Costs for cemetery lots were raised by Tecumseh City Council Monday night. The increase was the only one in council's recent memory.

New charges for lots are $150 for an adult lot for a resident, $250 for adult non-resident; $60 for infant or ashes, $100 for infant or ashes non-resident. Two-thirds of the sale price will be put toward the perpetual care of the lot.

Previous charges were $60 for adult lot and $15 for infant lot and for ashes, resident or non-resident. Perpetual care received only one-third sale price.

"Resident" means a resident of the city of Tecumseh, at the time of sale.

New charges for grave openings are $150 for adult, Monday through Friday and $200 on Saturday. Opening for infants or ashes is $60 Monday through Friday and $100 on Saturday.

Council's objective was to raise the price enough to cover maintenance costs, which are primarily for labor. Cemetery budget is $44,000. Interest from perpetual funds now does not cover the budget.

Council agreed to the new charges after a long debate about how much to raise the prices and how soon.

Council based its choice on a median charge from a survey of other city cemetery charges. Tecumseh was, as one council member put it, "too long the lowest."

City manager Cal Zorn presented that survey to Council over a year ago. A committee was selected three months ago to make a proposal. Council discussed annual review of cemetery charges

Many Expected at Saturday's Town Meeting

By KATHY BROWN

October 23. October 23. October 23.

For the last two months the area media, steering committee and sponsors have been hammering away to remind area residents that this Saturday, Oct. 23 is the date for the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting '76.

In honor of the 60 sponsors, the steering committee, group leaders and many who have worked so long and hard, Tecumseh's Mayor Harold Easton signed a proclamation urging families in the area to attend TM '76.

Town Meeting '76 will be conducted at the Tecumseh High School, Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Welcome with coffee and donuts will be at 8-9 a.m.

Anyone who lives or works in Tecumseh or any area resident who has an interest in Tecumseh's future is welcome to attend. Admission is free. A festive lunch will be included. A special program for children preschool age to sixth grade is planned. Older students may participate with parents.

Town meeting '76 is being held to help shape Tecumseh's future and recreate community action. One single day is devoted to developing practical proposals for the town's future. Goal of the program is to challenge participants, build self-confidence in the community and a sense of responsibility and hope.

Obviously it would be impossible to plan such an event for an anticipated 400 or more participants at TM '76 without the help of many. Much of the materials were either donated or sold at cost by concerned local people. Other financial contributions were made but donations of time by businesses and organizations have meant as much to the successful planning of TM '76.

Saturday will be composed of three basic sessions. First a morning workshop to identify the basic challenges by analyzing the desired goals of the community and the econonic, political or social constraints which prevent the community from achieving its desired goals.

Each person will have a TM workbook to spark the discussions. Discussion leaders will moderate the sessions to give all a chance to speak.

Second session in the afternoon will be a workshop to develop practical proposals to meet the challenges in the community. A new story, song and symbol of Tecumseh's heritage will be developed by the group.

Final session will be the plenary to hear workshop reports. Each participant will be able to take home a copy of the Town Meeting Report containing the challenges, proposals, story and symbol.

Town Meeting '76 is a national Bicentennial program sponsored locally in cooperation with the Institute of Cultural Affairs. The ICA is a non-profit research, demonstrating and training group.

ICA supports and conducts the local town meeting by furnishing representatives for each discussion group. ICA also assists with training of local leaders, and provides each participant with a workbook.

Tecumseh City Council was one of the first sponsors of TM '76 because it views the town meeting as an excellent opportunity to give citizens a chance to speak up about some of the concerns of the community.

See related stories on youth program, sponsors, group leaders and steering committee on pages 2 and 11.

NANCY NEWLIN, MD, WITH CONSOLE AT LEFT AND TRANSDUCER AT RIGHT

Offers New Technique

By KENT DOWNING

Nancy Newlin, MD, has opened her practice here in the office building at 304 E. Chicago with an entirely new piece of medical equipment, called diagnostic ultrasound.

In principal, Dr. Newlin operates a machine that uses sound waves to locate internal organs, cysts, and tumors that have been left up solely to the detection of x-rays in the past.

The idea for such a machine first came from the sonar experiments of WW I and WW II, but the technique has been applied to human medicine only in the past 15 years.

The machine in the doctor's office was developed only three years ago, and was perfected to its present usefulness within the last year and a half.

In effect, the transducer, at right in the photo, sends frequency sound waves into the body of the patient. The sound is then reflected over the different surfaces within the human system.

As the echos return to the console, at left in the photo, they are shown on a television screen and can be recorded by a polaroid camera. The screen produces a black and white picture with eight different shades of gray, and until a year and a half ago, only two shades were visible on such a screen.

The process has one outstanding advantage over x-ray. It produces no harmful rays. It is also a totally noninvasive technique. Injections and drinking fluids are unnecessary.

Most certainly, the technique can be used for pregnant women. And here the process may be used to detect the eye of the fetus and position of the placenta. The number of infants within the mother can also be determined with no biological danger.

The machine can also detect tumors and cysts within body organs, gall stones, cardiac valve problems, aortic aneurysms, and other disorders within the body.

Tecumseh is the only location of such a machine in this area. Until now, the closest diagnostic ultrasound machines were in Ann Arbor and Toledo.

Dr. Newlin is a U of M undergraduate and received her MD degree from Washington University in St. Louis, She has practiced radiology since 1966 and is presently practicing at University hospital in Ann Arbor, as well as at her office here.

Dr. Nancy Newlin is the wife of attorney Henry Newlin, who practices in the same office building at 304 E. Chicago.

Head Drive

Two Tecumseh Products executives, Robert Robinson and Harry Hans, will head the 1976 Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation drive, Kenneth Crause, Foundation president, announces.

Robinson, vice president of the Foundation board, will be chairman of the campaign and Hans, vice-chairman.

Plans are being made for division heads - to be announced next week - and for the organizational breakfast, also scheduled for next week.

Tecumseh's drive will start immediately after the breakfast, officials report.

TM '76 Is Grass Roots!

Some doubts have been expressed by people in the community that TM '76 will be operated by the "status quo" leaders instead of being a grass roots meeting. On the contrary, TM '76 is specifically for those individuals who feel their voice is never heard.

"This is an opportunity for people who feel that way to come and air their concerns, for those who talk behind the scenes...opportunity to get out in front," exnlained Roger Proctor, TM coordinator.

"The only reason why it will be the same people at TM '76 is because it will be those same people who don't come," Proctor stated.

Dynamics of the group sessions are planned to enable everyone to speak out. Group leaders are to moderate the discussions, help others express opinions and not impose their own opinions. As leadership team leader Donna Roe-Flynn pointed out, not one of the 10 discussion leaders are in government.

They are: Patsy Eby, Donna Crudder, Henry Newlin, the Rev. David Fox, Cal Poppink, Gary Lovett, Donna Roe-Flynn, Clarence Lacny, Rodney Turner and Lynne Wikle.

Leaders were given six hours of intense training by the Institute for Cultural Affairs.

What happens after TM '76? Proctor explained that the Steering Committee will become a Follow-up Committee with monthly meetings anticipated.

"The value of TM '76 will be expressed in how much we as a follow up committee do with proposals. If we want it to be a continuing thing, we have to follow-up with concrete evidence.

"It is impossible to make promises on all proposals, but if we can do (work) on some, then this will be more than if the day had not been held at all," Proctor concluded.

Steering Committee for Town Meeting '76 includes Roger Proctor, chairman; Douglas Bird, practics committee with Mary Mammosser; Laurie Foust and Barbara Myers, enablement team; Edwin Walters, promotion team with Todd Cornell; Barbara Kruger, entertainment; and Donna Roe-Flynn, leadership team.

Henry Newlin, the Rev. David Fox, Mary Bowers, Clarence Lacny, Ray Russell, Nancy Nichols, DeeJay Rinehart, Carol McClure and Mary Lou Dangler have all assisted the steering committee.

Dr. Robert Murray and Kathi Johnstone will be emcees for the day.

EARLY DEVIL'S DELIGHT—An unknown number of devils were busy from 1 to 2:30 Sunday morning throwing stolen A&P pumpkins out of their station wagon. After covering the town with the smashed pumpkins, they reportedly had a pumpkin fight in the A&P lot, pictured above. Estimates run as high as 300 pumpkins destroyed in the incident. Police report the investigation still remains open, as they do have a number of suspects in the incident.

Complaints Reported, One Rifle Is Stolen

Police investigated seven complaint reports this week, including one report of a stolen rifle from a downtown store.

Oct. 13 - D.J. Martin told police that his father, Donald Martin was working on the roof of the Gambles store when he noticed a man running from the store with a rifle in hand. Upon checking, there had been no recent gun purchases.

Martin turned the subjects car license number over to police. They are still trying to locate the owner of that car.

Earlier in the day, at 2:30 a.m., Paldo Ybarra Jr., 27, of Adrian was arrested along with Vallentine Villarreal, 23, Adrian. The two were observed driving left of center on M-50 and were stopped on S. Occidental. After police found open cans in the car, the couple was arrested for open intoxicants.

Oct. 14 - Frank Martinez, 41, of Clinton was arrested for littering and consuming on a public highway. Police were dispatched to the 600 block of S. Occidental when two male suspects were reported using loud, vulgar language in the area.

Martinez was cursing when police arrived, and drank beer in front of the local officer. He then threw the can over his shoulder when he was arrested.

Oct. 15 - Dave Purkey, 215 S. Evans, told police that three females got out of their car near his home and busted beer bottles on the road before disappearing on foot.

Andrew C. Waid, 20, of Adrian was arrested for not appearing in court. Police saw Waid come out of the alley across from Wrong Way Pub and travel through the alley, behind the 100 W. Chicago block. When stopped, a file revealed that Waid was wanted on a bench warrant.

Oct. 16 - Douglas J. Knight, 19, 501 Russell, was arrested for littering. Knight was stopped by police at the 100 block of W. Pottawatamie when his car was making noise. After being cited, Knight reportedly tore the ticket up and threw it on the ground. He was then arrested for littering.

Helen Hanson, Clinton, told police that she merely bumped a parking meter in the city parking lot off of S. Pearl when the pole fell over.

Car Crash Kills Three Local Youth

We as concerned citizens, challenge you, the uninformed public, to continue reading the words in this space. We feel that too much emphasis is placed upon people reading articles concerned with murder, rape, dope, crime, sex, etc... Isn't it too bad that people's attention is sooner drawn to gory headlines than to good happenings in our community? We feel that the good things people do should be recognized also.

In this column, we, the youth of the Tecumseh Methodist church, will report about Good happenings and Good people in and around the Tecumseh area. In our first article, we talked to Mrs. Irene Baran about the Tecumseh Service Club. The club consists of eleven members. Mrs. Baran is one of those members. The Club started in 1932, getting support from the Civic Organizations and concerned citizens of Tecumseh. In 1950, the club was involved in the Community Fund Agency.

The Club is a group of volunteers that give emergency assistance to families of the Tecumseh School System. Mrs. Baran and other members receive calls from the schools or concerned neighbors, and go to investigate the calls. The help that they give to the families includes medical attention and clothes, when these things are needed.

Sometimes older citizens call in need of medical attention, but the basic concern of the Service Club is children. At Thanksgiving, food baskets are distributed and at Christmas, toys are given to the children. The club serves about 40-60 families and about 130-140 children each year.

The members receive no pay for all the things that they do, but Mrs. Baran said, "The wonderful feeling you get and the smiles on the childrens' faces is pay enough."

Thank you, Mrs. Baran, you and the others are doing a terrific job! If you know these people or even if you don't, express your appreciation for the great job that they do. Any contributions to the club would be greatly appreciated, and you may contact Mrs. Baran or Mrs. Opal Dickenson. If you know about good people or happenings, contact Jim Curth at 423-7351, or Roger Proctor at 423-5813 or contact the Methodist youth. Be sure to read next week's column entitled "We Believe In People"

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Ground Beef is a great budget stretcher and can be prepared in a variety of delicious ways. This week I tried two new main dish recipes using ground beef and they were both really good.

This first recipe changed a basic meatloaf into a special company dish. We really enjoyed it.

DOUBLE CHEESE MEATROLL

1½ pounds ground beef
1 egg
¾ cup cracker crumbs
½ cup chopped onion
2 (8 ounce) cans Hunt's tomato sauce with cheese
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups shredded Mozzarella or Cheddar cheese

Combine ground beef, egg, cracker crumbs, onion, one-third cup tomato sauce with cheese, and seasonings; mix well. Shape into flat rectangle (10x12 inches) on waxed paper. Sprinkle on cheese leaving a 1 inch margin all around. Roll like a jelly roll; press ends to seal. Bake in shallow pan at 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Remove excess fat. Pour on remaining sauce with cheese and bake an additional 15 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

This quick and easy taco casserole from Dawn Harper made a delicious main meal.

TACO CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
1 medium onion, chopped
1 small can tomatoes
1 can whole corn, drained ripe olives, sliced
1 cup cheddar cheese
1 cup Mozzarella cheese
Parmesan cheese

Brown ground beef and onion. Add tomatoes and drained corn and simmer. Place a layer of corn tortillas in a casserole dish. Cover with half of the meat mixture. Top with sliced olives and sprinkle with half of cheese.

Repeat layers starting with the tortillas and ending with the cheese. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until cheese melts. Remove from oven and top with shredded lettuce and diced tomatoes, if desired.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Halloween night is actually on Sunday night, Oct. 31, but the change was necessary to avoid other conflicting activities on the weekend.

"Trick or Treat" begins at 6 p.m., when the fire siren blows, and children may continue, at their parents' discretion, until the fire siren blows again at 7:30 p.m.

At that time they should proceed directly to the school all purpose room for costume judging and refreshment.

Prizes for the funnies, most original, and prettiest (or handsomest) costume in each group of boys and girls from pre-school to seventh grade plus. The prizes are: first, silver dollar; second, 50 cents; and third, 25 cents.

Lemonade and donuts will be served after the costumes are judged.

UNICEF Trick or Treating will take place simultaneously with the regular trick or treating. Those children working for UNICEF will be equipped with name tags and orange cardboard collection boxes from UNICEF.

Money for UNICEF's work is voluntarily donated by over 100 governments, private citizens, and groups. The Children's Fund does not share in the United Nations budget. The board base of participation in UNICEF—from coins in a Trick or Treat box to a government contribution—is one of its strengths.

Co-chairmen for this year's UNICEF program is Mrs. Geri Gilbert and Mrs. Judy Kelly.

Circle Learns of Past Quakers

The Frances DeVol Missionary Circle of the Tecumseh Friends Church was challenged with the history of early Quaker Women's Vision at the Oct. 6 meeting.

Naomi Sallows, president, led the business session. Mrs. Robert Comfort gave devotions from Acts II 14-21; her theme was "Give Me a Vision."

Mrs. Henry King presented the program, "The Vision of Friends Women, Then and Now." Several members gave life sketches of the earliest Quaker Missionaries. They were persecuted and many were martyrs for their faith. The Quaker Women Missionaries of today were reviewed.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

THE WREN AND I.

It was quite unusual but late in the afternoon, two Thursdays ago, I enjoyed a most exciting bird adventure and could share it with no one. Dad was napping, Mom was in the kitchen but a shout loud enough for her to hear would have frightened the little guy away, and Gertie T. had gone home.

So there I was, all by myself when this tiny mite of a bird landed on the near-my-window feeder. Please believe me, I enjoyed him enough for everybody. After all, he was my first winter wren!

All day we had been 'bothered' by birds. The trees seemed almost alive with activity — Mom noticed it in the back yard and Gertie T. and I kept trying to decide about the trees along the creek bank. Just who exactly was flitting from branch to branch, carefully letting us see there were all sorts of comings and goings but being even more careful to duck out of sight behind a leaf as soon as our eyes were beginning to focus?

Quite definitely warblers were on the move, the sunny warm fall days find large flocks of them diligently searching for and finding the fuel-food necessary for the arduous migratory flights.

However, to pin specific name tags on these characters is practically an impossibility. I have often said that when the Peterson field guide calls them confusing fall warblers it is grossly understating the situation.

In addition to some 'confusing fall warblers' we were reasonably sure that a few of the birds were kinglets. Size and shape made them stand out.

Therefore when my attention was caught by the tiny bundle of brown feathers landing in the middle of the near-my-window feeder the first thought was a kinglet.

No — this little guy was much too dark underneath to be a kinglet and he completely lacked the white wing markings that both the golden crowned and the ruby crowned have.

There were no stripes on his head as the golden crowned kinglets have and no white eye ring to designate him as a ruby crowned.

What I saw was an incredibly small bird, dark brown all over, with a cuddly round body and a short blunt tail. This tail was not only held up straight, it was actually pushed somewhat forward at a ridiculous angle.

And even though I was wearing reading glasses I could see that my bird had a bill much more wren-like than that of any kinglet or warbler.

He was not curious about any of the goodies on the feeder but spent the minute or so he was there staring intently at the window and rhythmically weaving back and forth. Was he hypnotizing himself or me?

No seriously, there seemed to be no reason for his visit to the feeder. When he left I wasted no time in shouting to Mom. And wonder of wonders, not one but two bird books confirmed exactly who our visitor was. Without a doubt he was a winter wren. He looked exactly as he should have.

Oh, most color plates show him with a lighter breast than I saw but remember, this was a later afternoon visit. The dark brown barring or striping that the books talk about and show was not all that evident either — however, I was wearing reading glasses which do great things for books but are not that 'sharp' elsewhere.

Winter wrens are interesting little characters, no more than three and a fourth inches long.

Apparently we are in an overlap area, the northern edge of their winter territory and the southern edge of their summer breeding range.

Theoretically they should be year round birds but they are shy, secretive, and fond of thick underbrush and woodsy areas. This was our first really good visit by, or perhaps with, one of these tiny characters, hopefully it will not be the last.

I do not know whether he was traveling with the warblers and kinglets or not; however, the few remaining flocks of these migrators that fly our way will be scrutinized carefully. How great it would be to see more winter wrens!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I feel the Tecumseh Herald was inadequate in its reporting of the '76 Homecoming at THS. This letter will deal with three specific areas.

First and foremost is the lack of complete coverage of the '76 floats. As stated in the Herald, on October 14, the Junior and Senior floats tied for first place. But only the Junior float was pictured. Let us assume that there may be a tie in a school board election. Undoubtably, the two candidates pictures would be featured in the Herald. Why is it then that the Senior float was not placed in the Herald also?

I was also dissatisfied with the wording used under the picture. It read, "Junior float tied with the Senior effort for the top Homecoming award last Friday." The word "EFFORT" made the Senior float seem unworthy of receiving first place.

There are a number of people in Tecumseh who are unable to attend the parade or the football game but are still very interested in seeing the floats.

This is the final purpose of the letter and I would like to make a suggestion that may eliminate some future problems regarding the Homecoming coverage. Next year why not put all four pictures of the floats in the paper?

Each class worked extremely hard to produce a winning float, and yet only the Junior Class was recognized. All the floats this year were of very high standards and each class should be proud of their accomplishments. The hard work of all the students at THS should be rewarded by putting the float pictures in the Herald.

Please consider my suggestion!

Respectfully,
Florence M. Rapin
Student

(Editor's Note: I agree with your letter, but we had problems photographing the senior float. Two photographers at parade developed their negatives after the parade and discovered senior float pictures did not turn out well. They took more pictures of float at game, and again the float was not photographic. We did not purposely omit the senior float.)

To the Editor:

Some good almost always comes out of an unfortunate experience.

I was shopping in Kroger's Saturday afternoon and standing in a long line like everyone else. There was a mother with a young baby in her arms, standing in front of me.

A cashier opened up the register next to our line and motioned for me to come ahead. I told the mother to go ahead and I followed her when I saw this woman from a few lines over, literally run her cart towards us and force herself between the mother and me.

The mother told her that I had been waiting in line behind her, But the woman only muttered.

My nine year old son was with me and he told me the woman was cheating and I should tell her to get out. I told him we had to live with all kinds of people. He took my hand and said he was glad I was his mother.

This was an ugly experience that turned into a beautiful one. We are all examples for children and they certainly do watch us all.

CLUB TAKES "GARDEN" PATH—Tecumseh Town and Country Garden Club president Barbara Schrader, center, gives a hand to Jack Wolf, assistant curator of the Hidden Lake Gardens in Tipton, as he erects the sign designating the Rock Garden restoration project the club has worked on for one year. Giving the nod is Anneliese Marvar, co-chairman of the restoration project.

New Sign Enhances Garden

A new sign designating the restoration efforts of the Town and Country Garden Club was erected at the Hidden Lake Gardens Rock Garden last Wednesday in Tipton.

Within the short span of a year, the club of only 22 members has managed to remove large sections of overgrown shrubbery and replace them with well-kept areas planted with labeled seedlings, grown by the club during the winter season.

Many of these plantings are unique alpine specimens which are not available for public viewing elsewhere. They should please any rock garden enthusiast.

Keeping the rock garden as natural as possible has been a primary goal of the restoration. For example, the club used wood chips rather than other materials to construct pathways through the Rock Garden. Project is estimated to require another four years of work to complete the 7,500 square foot garden.

The restoration is being accomplished under the guidance of Dr. Fred W. Freeman, curator of Hidden Lake Gardens with the aid of Jack Wolf, assistant curator and Jack Wikle, education specialist.

The project has been a practical learning experience for the members and a helping hand for the Gardens to create an enjoyable scene for the many yearly visitors to the Gardens, said president Barbara Scharader.

Entertainment Set for Young Attending

Young persons who attend Town Meeting '76 with their parents will be anything but bored. Co-chairmen Barbara Myers and Laurie Foust of the TM enablement team have lined up several hours of entertainment and entertaining speakers.

Program for youth will be held 9-4:30 p.m. in the Tecumseh High School gym, which will be sectioned off by a sliding door into a meeting area for younger and older children.

For preschool youngsters, the Girl Scouts and their leaders have planned recreation and arts and crafts. A color television has been donated by Lawson's TV so Saturday morning cartoons need not be missed.

Children from grades one through three and grades four through six will be entertained in their respective age groups by four speakers: representatives from the Tecumseh fire department, police, public library and an emergency medical technician. Each person will speak 15 minutes and invite questions. Children will learn something useful as well as be entertained.

Seventh grade students and older are encouraged to participate in TM '76 sessions with the adults.

Movies from the Lenawee County Library will present transportation from the present to the future, particularly mass transportation.

In keeping with the TM theme for community planning, older children will be able to construct a model for the city of Tecumseh in which they would like to live. Materials were supplied by the Tecumseh Plywood and Tecumseh Corrugated Box. Younger children will draw their impressions of a model Tecumseh and their experiences of the day.

Group sing-a-long will be led by teenage guitarists.

The lunch for everyone will be served from 12-1:30 p.m. Although the children and adults will be served in separate areas, parents may join their children if they so desire. Other adults can continue their discussion over lunch.

Menu will include hot sandwiches and relish tray, desserts and beverages, some donated from all over town. Donuts, coffee and juice will be served to all in the morning.

Entertainment for children, too and planned recreation though the schools is also being arranged for noon time.

The Jaycee and VFW Auxiliaries along with interested individuals will compose the manpower directing youth activities and the lunch. Additional volunteers are welcome and may volunteer by contacting Laurie Foust at 423-8185 or Barb Myers at 423-2762.

Potluck, Meeting

The Tecumseh Music Club held its annual international potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Donald Bush. Mrs. Charles Randolph was co-hostess to the 15 members and four guests present.

Mrs. Richard Broniman presided over the business meeting. Main topic was the upcoming concert Nov. 14 at the Tecumseh United Methodist Church. Matthew Mischakoff, guitarist and Genia Hollander, flutist will be featured at the 3:30 p.m. Sunday performance. Tickets are available from members and Flanders Music Store.

Mrs. Bush and daughter, Sarah opened the program with two piano duets, "Home on the Range" and "Song of the Wind." Remainder of the program was "Crusade for Strings" with a violin quartet composed of Mrs. Joyce Ferguson, Mrs. James McDougall, Mrs. Edwin Walters and Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Oberlin.

Mrs. McDougall, soloist performed "Petit Air Varie, Op. 89, No. 4" by Dancla and Mrs. Wilson, soloist, performed "Sonatina, Op 137, No. 1" for violin and piano, by Schubert, Mrs. Oberlin accompanied both.

Organize Teen Job Placement Service

A job placement service for Tecumseh High School students was organized by Tecumseh High School Guidance Office. Students are now available for part-time jobs or any type of odd jobs around the house or a business.

Idea of the program explained director Ronald Spagnoli, guidance counselor, is to offer part-time employment to students during the school year. This is an extension of a similiar program called "Job for Teens", now conducted by the Jaycee Auxiliary, which offers summertime work for teens.

"This program is designed to provide a service to the community and to develop job responsibility in high school students." Spagnoli explained. "No job is too small," he added and urged people to call 423-2167 and ask for the guidance office.

Examples of jobs students can do are babysitting, yardwork, painting, car washing, unpacking and marking merchandise, housework, ironing, snow shoveling or anything else to be done either on a one time or continuing basis.

Jobs must be after school employment or on weekends. Any one offering a job for a teen may call the high school at 423-2167 and ask for the guidance office.

Callers interested in hiring a student will be asked to give name, address, phone number, type of work and hours involved in doing the work.

These propsective employers will be given the name and phone number of one to three students looking for that type of work, or at the employer's request, the director may send a student to a home to do the job. Pay is negotiated between employer and student. Employer pays the student directly.

When the job is done, employers will be called and asked whether or not the student's work was satisfactory.

TCC Organizes, OKs Assessment

Three new directors — Ed Schwartz, Ken McElroy and Wendell Disbrow — were elected to the board of the Tecumseh Country Club last week.

At the organizational meeting, Fred Randall was elected president; Gary Jahner, vice president; Bob Thompson, secretary, and Mr. McElroy, treasurer.

Membership also approved a special assessment to cover costs of a new sewer and water line and some electrical work.

Organize Teen Job Placement Service

A job placement service for Tecumseh High School students was organized by Tecumseh High School Guidance Office. Students are now available for part-time jobs or any type of odd jobs around the house or a business.

Idea of the program explained director Ronald Spagnoli, guidance counselor, is to offer part-time employment to students during the school year. This is an extension of a similiar program called "Job for Teens", now conducted by the Jaycee Auxiliary, which offers summertime work for teens.

"This program is designed to provide a service to the community and to develop job responsibility in high school students," Spagnoli explained. "No job is too small," he added and urged people to call 423-2167 and ask for the guidance office.

Examples of jobs students can do are babysitting, yardwork, painting, car washing, unpacking and marking merchandise, housework, ironing, snow shoveling or anything else to be done either on a one time or continuing basis.

Jobs must be after school employment or on weekends. Any one offering a job for a teen may call the high school at 423-2167 and ask for the guidance office.

Callers interested in hiring a student will be asked to give name, address, phone number, type of work and hours involved in doing the work.

These propsective employers will be given the name and phone number of one to three students looking for that type of work, or at the employer's request, the director may send a student to a home to do the job. Pay is negotiated between employer and student. Employer pays the student directly.

When the job is done, employers will be called and asked whether or not the student's work was satisfactory.

Tecumseh Precincts, Voting Locations

Two Candidates for Commissioner

Most of Tecumseh will vote next Tuesday for either Nancy Nichols, incumbent, or Royal Welch, for County Commissioner from District 6.

Nichols, a Democrat, upset the late Fay Whelan two years ago and is completing her first term. Welch is a Republican and a former city councilman.

Only area in the city not involved is Precinct 2, west and northwest section of Tecumseh as shown on the map at the left.

NANCY NICHOLS

ROYAL WELCH

Resume of County, Township Races and Candidates

DISTRICT 6 COUNTY COMMISSIONER

ROYAL E. WELCH

Royal E. Welch, 704 River Acres Drive, is Republican candidate for District 6 county commissioner. He is a life-long resident of Lenawee County.

Welch is a local drycleaner in business 25 years in Tecumseh. He is area director of the Michigan Institute of Laundering and Drycleaning. He served two terms as Tecumseh city councilman and was past president of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

"My experience as a city councilman taught me that it is easy to spend other people's money and to soon believe that tax money is inexhaustible. My rule of thumb will always be, if the money came out of my pocket personally, would I vote to spend it," Welch stated.

"Many people do not realize the importance of the party in county government," he stated, "County government is run by committee and in Lenawee County the Republicans have controlled committee assignment since 1934."

"The present commissioner is a Democrat and has little input in committee organization. On the whole the Republicans have performed well in running the county over the past years and will continue to organize the county even after the next election because only seven Democrats are running through out the county and if they all were to win, the Republicans would still be the majority," Welch concluded.

NANCY J. NICHOLS

Nancy J. Nichols, 216 N. Oneida St. is the Democratic candidate for district 6 county commissioner.

She is a licensed real estate salesman and registered emergency medical technician.

Elected in 1974 to succeed Fay Whelan, Nichols has served one term as County Commissioner. Her board assignments in 1975 included the Equalization, Judicial and Social Services committees and the Mental Health and County Health boards.

In 1976 she also served the Ways and Means Committee, Human Services as chairman, Parks and Recreation as secretary, and the tri-county Substance Abuse Commission as chairman. She is chairman of the County Health Board.

Since Sept. 1 she is acting director-health officer for the Lenawee County Health Department until the director's return from medical leave.

Nichols is a founding member of the Human Services Committee, a bi-partisan effort by the County Commissioners to gain local control and input with the three state departments of Public Health, Mental Health and the Department of Social Services.

The county's human services concept emphasizes local control through a cooperative effort with state and local, private and semi-private agencies, Nichols explained.

Nichols stated: "The human services concept would provide better services for the dollar expended, while tailoring services to meet needs of the people. The state views this as a unique approach to human services because of the bi-partisan effort and strong local desire for local control."

Regarding a court building she said: "It is sensible to consider the location of a second Circuit Court, but if the money is not allocated through federal public work funds, then we will have to consider the feasibility of fitting it into our existing properties." She does not favor additional taxes because of the current economy.

RAYMOND R. JACKSON

Raymond R. Jackson, Democratic candidate for District 3 county commissioner is seeking reelection. He is a life long resident of Franklin Township.

Jackson was employed at Tecumseh Products Co. since 1952 and is also a real estate salesman in Tecumseh.

Jackson served on the county Building and Grounds, Equalization, and Drains Committees as well as the County Planning Commission and the County Library Board.

Jackson said that he looks at the county government as a business and feels that appropriations should be planned to deliver services efficiently.

Toward a more efficient government, he said he favored the county's use of a computer system for accounting and the hiring of a personnel director as an important change in county management.

He believes any new county buildings should be built to include the future departmental growth and the suggestions of the Region II 10 year building survey for the county government should be considered. He feels a court complex would enable people to find county offices more easily.

He said he has been active in promoting more openness and accountability in county government and invites the public to attend County Board Meetings.

RONALD BROWN

Ronald Brown of Cambridge Township is the Republican candidate for district 3 county commissioner.

A retired self-employed dairy farmer, he lived in Lenawee County all his life. He has served the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors as a Cambridge Township supervisor for 14 years and in 1970 was county board chairman. He also served the Ways and Means Committee, Drain Committee, Maurice Spear Campus and jail committees.

Brown said he was urged to seek reelection by his friends throughout the district. He feels that the county government is in "good shape." He stated that law enforcement, the courts and an addition to the county library are important priorities.

(Editor's note: See page 8 for District 5 candidates, James C. Fowler and Stanley Gibbard.)

ERNEST H. OLIVER

Ernest H. Oliver-D, 201 Maple, Tecumseh, is a candidate for Lenawee County Drain Commissioner.

Oliver was magistrate for district and manager of the Tecumseh Secretary of State's Office the past six years. He is also a licensed real estate broker.

Oliver has lived most of his life in Lenawee County. He was graduated from Tecumseh High School. He feels that his business experience will be an asset in office "since actual management is like a business office."

"In a democracy we need opposition," he said about his candidacy. "The office has been inthe same party for 16 years."

Oliver's goal is to make the office "more accessible to the people in the county, more than it is now." He also said that he'd like to see Loch Erin "straightened out."

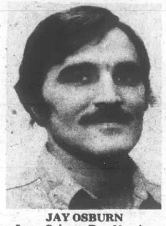
Richard Platt-R, 49, owns a centennial farm in Franklin Township. He has served eight years as Franklin's supervisor since his appointment and re-election to three terms. He also served as township trustee.

A graduate of Adrian High School, he attended Michigan State University. He was past master of the Grange, past chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and past trustee of the Tipton Community Church.

Because he has lived his life in the township he feels he understands the problems. He cited several projects he would like to see finished: a mini-park for the township, an outgrowth of the Bicentennial committee; and long range recreation planning by a parks and recreations committee. These will depend on the shape of township budget, he added.

He also cited the township sewer study and implementation of the planning commission and board of appeals as important projects in the township.

Platt became a certified assessor and said this is a saving for the township.



JAY OSBURN

Jay Osburn-D, 30, is a licensed builder and is self-employed. He also owns a 200 acre farm.

A resident of the Township for eight years, Osburn feels that he represents a cross-section of interests in the township, "not just the farmer." Because he owns a farm, he said he also understands the farmer's concern.

He was graduated from Tecumseh High School and attended Northwood and Jackson Junior College.

He is presently attending assessor's school at his own expense at Vo-Tech in Adrian.

He said township roads are a priority and that "Jobs should be followed through once started."

He stated he encourages an open door to everyone to air their views. "I've always been a good listener."

RAISIN TRUSTEE

EUGENE VAUGHN

Eugene Vaughn, R 55, is supervisor at the Tecumseh Products Co. He has lived in the township 24 years. He has served on the Raisin Township Planning Commission since his appointment in 1972.

Vaughn said that he is interested in the future of the Township which includes betterment of its roads and elimination of spot zoning, which he feels the planning commission is achieving.

He definitely wants to stop the waste of time at board meetings and said it should work efficiently.

EUGENE VAUGHN

He is interested in giving direct answers to people with questions whenever possible, allowing for adequate board discussions. In general he feels the board is a good one and is concerned.

DAVID W. IRWIN

David W. Irwin-D, 37, is a tool and die maker for Tecumseh Products Co. He is married, has three children and has lived in the township for the past 10 years.

He was graduated from Adrian High School and spent four years in the U.S. Navy and had four years of related instruction at Jackson Community College while taking apprenticeship.

He was a member of the township volunteer Fire Department for eight years.

Irwin feels "the board needs some younger people concerned about those things happening in the township."

Irwin believes township board meetings should be kept "strictly for business and not a social hour." "More people would attend if they knew they would be talking about township business."

DAVID IRWIN

Irwin believes no more than one member of a family, (i.e. spouse, other relative) at a time should be allowed to serve township government in an elected or appointed office.

He also stated that the law should be changed so that appointments to vacated seats go to the candidate with the next highest number of votes. This would be more democratic than appointment by the board, he concluded.

"We Believe In People"

Yes, we do believe in people! If you missed our column last week, that is all the more reason to read this week's information. If you did read the previous column, did you thank Mrs. Baran or Mrs. Dickinson for helping people in our community?

This week's column deals with the Crisis Walk-In Center, or Call Someone Concerned. This organization is made up of volunteers who are trained to work with people and deal with their problems. In order to work at the Center, a volunteer is required to attend 80 hours of training. This training instructs the volunteers to handle calls dealing with family problems, loneliness, pregnancy, mental or emotional problems, jobs, suicides, and many others. After they have completed this training, they must attend at least one training session per month in order to remain an active member.

Volunteers man the phones 24 hours a day, and the Walk-In Center is open nightly, 7 days a week (12 noon to 12 midnight). The volunteers usually work four shifts a month, with two people working each shift.

The calls and visits made to the Center are confidential; the information never leaves the office, they never call the police without the caller's permission except to save a life.

The Center is equipped to handle any problem, and works on a referral system. The first purpose of these people is to listen to a caller's problems. If just talking it out doesn't help, the referral system is used to inform them of agencies or people where help for their problem is available.

There are several people from Tecumseh who do volunteer work at the Center in Adrian. These people are: Chuck Sullivan, Shan Chatters, Bill Grover, Edie Holmes, Sally Records, and Pam Felton.

All members of Call Someone Concerned believe that by extending a helping hand in a crisis, by caring about our fellow man, and by being concerned with what happens to people, we can make the world a better place.

The Crisis Walk-In Center is located at 155 N. Main, Adrian, Michigan. The phone number is 263-6737.

The quote for the week is "You can't live a perfect day without doing something for someone who cannot repay you."

This new series of positive news "We Believe In People" is presented to you in cooperation with the Youth of the Tecumseh Methodist Church and Proctor Funeral Home, Tecumseh.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD ROYAL

Surprise 25th

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Royal, 203 N. Democrat, were honored at a surprise 25th anniversary party Saturday night at Peerless Gear Union Hall, Clinton.

The event was arranged by their children, Mrs. Paul Pinter, Mrs. Santos Lopez, A.B. Paul Royal at Lackland AFB, Texas; and Sherri, Joe, Jennifer and Dawn at home.

Richard Royal and Jackie Wright were married at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Ypsilanti, Oct. 28, 1951 and lived in Tecumseh for the past nine years. Mr. Royal is with the Tecumseh Police Department.

There were 120 guests present for the buffet dinner and dance. The honored couple received many gifts.

Among the guests were his father, Clayton Royal and her mother, Mrs. Janet Thompson.

Nuptial vows were recited by Lorraine Maves and Wesley Exelby before the Rev. Kenneth Strack in Grace Lutheran Church, Saturday evening, Oct. 23.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Maves, 9384 Newburg Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Exelby, Britton.

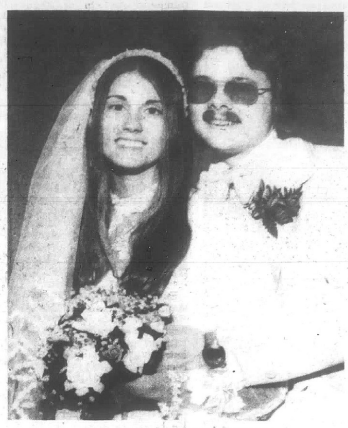
Allan Ballenberger was the organist. William Dusseau was the soloist and Char Randolph played the flute.

Altar arrangements were of gladioli and peach sweetheart roses. Aisle candelabra and peach bows decorated the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of white polyester knit and Venice lace. The fitted bodice had a high collar, a sheer yoke with a set-in medallion and long fitted sleeves cuffed in lace. Venice lace decorated the A-line skirt and chapel train. She wore a matching mantilla and carried a cascade of gardenias, peach sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Maid of honor, Cherie Moll wore a dark peach halter dress with matching cape, contrasted with light peach lace and buttons. A matching peach flower decorated her white hat, and she carried a peach rose with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Amy Durkin, Karen Maves, cousin of bride, Neenah, Wisc.; Mrs. Robert Coury, and Mrs. Robert Miller. They all wore light peach halter dresses with matching capes, trimmed in contrasting dark peach lace. Their bouquets were a single peach rose and baby's breath.



MR. and MRS. WESLEY EXELBY

Flower girl was Holly Stinebaugh of Saginaw.

Ring bearer was Danny Ehlert, of Toledo, Ohio, cousin of groom.

Best man was Dan Exelby of Britton, brother of groom. Ushers were Kirk and Ben Maves, brothers of the bride, Robert Coury and Kevin John, of Milan, cousin of groom.

Reception at Blissfield American Legion Hall was attended by 350 guests.

Connie Bater, Jan Strohl and Vicki Felbaum assisted at the reception.

Groom is a 1972 graduate of Britton-Macon High School and is employed at Meyers Industries of Tecumseh.

Rehearsal dinner was held at Leutheuser's, Saline, hosted by the groom's parents.

Upon their return from a week in Florida the couple will reside at 9103 N. Union St.

Mr. and Mrs. James Linden were honored at a family gathering Oct. 24 in celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary. James A. Linden and Dorothy R. Gebauer were married Oct. 27, 1936 in Caro. She was graduated from the Stonier Graduate School of Banking, Rutgers University, New Jersey.

Married, she has lived in Tecumseh since 1950.

Mrs. Bowers was elected in 1974 and has served one term on City Council. She is a member of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, Town Meeting '76 steering committee and Tecumseh Community Fund Professional Drive Chairman.

Mrs. Bowers cited her banking experience with the public and the personally "invaluable experience" as a councilmember as her qualifications. "I will continue to always try and listen to people and give them an answer," she said.

DR. CARLTON COOK

Dr. Carlton Cook, 50, a physician has lived in Tecumseh the past 23 years. Married, he has six children.

He was graduated from Michigan State University and the University of Michigan Medical School.

Cook served Tecumseh Planning Commission eight years and eight years on city council, elected first in 1966. He has held the office of mayor pro-tem. Church choir and building committee are his activities in the First Presbyterian Church. He has also been active in local theatre, including the Tecumseh Players.

Cook said he feels council needs experience. He said he is concerned about the city's future because his own family is settling here. He is "firmly convinced a combination of residential and business" above downtown stores would help curb vandalism. He supports concept of a community auditorium and is anxious to see industrial development and growth in an orderly fashion.

WILLIAM FROWNFELDER

William Frownfelder, 51, is office manager of Ace Drill Corp., Adrian. Married, he has four children.

He was graduated from Adrian High School and Bowling Green State University and is a veteran of the U.S. Army Corps.

Frownfelder is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church, past master of the Tecumseh Masonic Lodge, former member of the Tecumseh Planning commission, Boy Scout Badge Counselor and member of the Financial Planning Executives.

Frownfelder said his desire is to "bring a good balance of education and practical business experience" to the office. "In visiting communities throughout the U.S. I have personally observed new approaches to city problems which could be beneficial to Tecumseh." He thinks Town Meeting and an advisory board to aid city council should be implemented.

JAMES H. PALMER

James H. Palmer, 34, is co-owner of Gaston's Jewelry. He is employed at the Tecumseh Fisher Body plant as production supervisor.

A Tecumseh resident for 16 years, Palmer is married and has three children. They are members of the First Baptist Church in Tecumseh.

He participated in the Volunteer Probation Program under the County Probate Court and was active in the Tecumseh Jaycees.

CARL D. SCHMIDT

Carl D. Schmidt, 35, is a production worker at Fisher Body, Tecumseh. A life long resident of the city, he said he seeks a career as a public servant because he feels "local government puts one in touch with the real concerns and wants of the public."

"My main qualification would then be that I have a desire to serve the community on a humanistic level. Not that efficient government and the human touch are not compatiable but the latter often suffers in achieving the former," Schmidt said.

ROBERT L. TAYLOR

Robert L. Taylor, 32, is employed at Ford Motor Co., Ypsilanti Plant as a methods and systems analyst.

Married, he has three children and he has resided in Tecumseh since 1965. He was graduated from Adrian High School and served in the U.S. Air Force four years.

Taylor's "number one priority is to listen to what people are saying. If an issue was settled five years ago, was it really settled? Times change." To promote communication he suggests council agendas be published before a meeting. He complimented the current recreation programs but suggested more for youth activity during week nights.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

I have carefully read the report of the Town Hall Meeting '76. I find it very disappointing.

To me this report seems to be putting the blame for the apathy of a lot of citizens upon some mythical group called "the leadership."

As a former city councilman and long time observer of local affairs, I am compelled to make this statement: In the arena (as they state) of City Government, Banks, Industry, churches and service organizations, the City of Tecumseh is far above average.

No one has more concern and interest and puts in more time than Mayor Easton. Councilwoman Mary Bowers spent untold hours helping to organize the town meeting.

Where can we find fault with our churches our service clubs? If our industry leaders have "given" us too much, it's because they have an unusual civic interest and pride.

As a small business man and member of the Tecumseh area industrial committee, I can assure you that our bank is a leader in helping the community.

What causes citizens to be apathetic? One reason may be that our actual leadership is too good and people feel that they do not need to get involved.

Another could be the changing American life style, the average family moves every five years. They do not develop grass roots. If things run smoothly they are reluctant to become involved.

Certainly there are some good suggestions and ideas that came out of the town meeting and the meeting should be continued.

What's the answer? I don't know, but I'm certain that presenting a negative attitude and trying to place a non-existant blame is not the answer.

MARV ESCH
Republican-U.S. Senate

DAVE STOCKMAN
Republican-U.S. House of Representatives

MARV ESCH and DAVE STOCKMAN have worked together for five years in the U.S. House of Representatives. They are committed to performance, not costly promises . . . common sense solutions, not more grandiose Federal schemes and experiments . . . they owe nothing to the special interest groups and will speak out strongly and independently for the average taxpayer. . . they will fight to put you back in the saddle of government rather than saddle you with more government . . . MARV ESCH and DAVE STOCKMAN will make a Washington team of which the 4th District can be proud . . . LET'S SEND OUR BEST!

MORE JOBS, LESS INFLATION — Uncle Sam cannot spend us into prosperity . . . only into national bankruptcy. MARV and DAVE firmly support a balanced Federal budget . . . it would mean less inflation, more consumer purchasing power and more private sector employment . . . it would also mean less Federal borrowing, lower interest rates, and more job-creating capital for small businesses, farmers and home-buyers.

MORE INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM, LESS BUREAUCRACY AND CONTROLS — America is being tied in knots by bureaucratic edicts and red tape . . . already there are 60,000 pages of Federal regulations which reach into every nook and cranny of the economy . . . one standard even specifies the number of knotholes permissible in a wooden ladder! MARV and DAVE will lead an unrelenting effort to drastically reduce Federal controls and red tape.

SECURITY FOR OUR HOMES AND NEIGHBORHOODS — The Federal courts and bureaucracies have been more concerned with "social engineering" on behalf of a few than with protecting the rights of the majority. MARV and DAVE support tough Congressional action to stop court-ordered busing and excessive rights and protections for criminal defendants.

WORKFARE, NOT GIVEAWAYS — America was built on sweat and individual effort, but indiscriminate government giveaways are crushing the incentive to work and destroying individual responsibility. MARV and DAVE will fight to clean-up the welfare mess and put employable people back to work.

ABOUT MARV ESCH . . .
In today's Senate there are over 20 millionaires and over 70 lawyers. ESCH is neither. The son of a coal miner, he worked his way through the University of Michigan (where he earned his Ph.D.) by working on an assembly line and as a letter carrier, and as a grinder in a plant. As MARV says: "If you've gotten up at 6 A.M. to work in a plant, then you know what work is all about . . ." MARV taught at Wayne State and then the U of M, before his five terms in Congress from the suburban Detroit-Ann Arbor District. He will truly be a Republican Senator for the working men and women in Michigan. MARV is a doer with a record of accomplishment in shaping legislation in the areas of manpower training, energy development and fiscal reform.

ABOUT DAVE STOCKMAN . . .
DAVE grew up on a small family farm in Berrien County and learned the value of hard work during long days in the fields. Although he started his education in a one-room country school, he was bright and determined and finished at Harvard. In 1970, DAVE went to Washington and started at the bottom, but within two years he was promoted to one of the top Republican staff positions of Capitol Hill. Since then, DAVE has worked hard and long to master the Congressional process and become well versed on the vast array of issues confronting the nation. At age 29, DAVE already has an outstanding record of achievement and will serve the 4th District with distinction and accomplishment.

Paid for and authorized by the Esch in '76 Committee, George Thorne, Treasurer, and the Stockman for Congress Committee, Murray C. Campbell, Treasurer.

Duo Rococo Concert Planned for Nov. 14

The Tecumseh Methodist Church on Bishop Reed Dr. off Brown St. will be the setting for the Sunday, Nov. 14, 3:30 p.m. concert featuring the Duo Rococo, Matthew Mischakoff, classical guitarist, and his wife, Genia Hollander, flutist, presented by the Tecumseh Music Club.

Mischakoff, son of Mischa Mischakoff, received his early training in violin and piano and began his guitar training with Joe Fava, continuing in Italy with Alirio Diaz upon graduation from high school.

From 1964-1972 he attended the University of Michigan where he participated in numerous recitals and concerts. Recent performances include benefit concerts with members of the Detroit Symphony and a solo performance with the Center Symphony.

He has received further training from Mischa Mischakoff, Juan Mercadal, and Manuel Lopez-Ramos.

Currently he is affiliated with the University of Michigan as a guitar teacher and is proprietor of the Ann Arbor Music Guild in Ann Arbor as well as carrying on his dental practice in Clinton with Dr. Richard Dixon.

Genia Hollander began her musical training with her father, pianist Arthur Hollander. At age 10, she became interested in the flute, studying with Harvey Johnson. In 1963, she was chosen as first flutist in the New York State Music Festival.

Ms. Hollander received a bachelor of music degree from Ithaca College-School of Music, where she studied with David Berman and Shaul Benmeir. As part of the commencement services, she participated in a duet with Metropolitan Opera singer, Roberta Peters.

She received further performance training from Nelson Hauenstein, Samuel Baron, and Donald Peck.

In recent years, she has performed recitals in New York, Florida, and Michigan. Locally, she has played with several orchestras including the Center Symphony and Women's Symphony. She is currently teaching privately in her home in Saline and is affiliated with three colleges in the area.

When Judah was asked about his joining the Israeli Security Force, he in turn asked if they knew he was a coward, lazy and shiftless. These were not commendable traits for a spy but C.A. Haddad's book MOROCCAN is witty, timely and exciting reading.

A new science fiction, DARK SIDE OF THE SUN by Terry Pratchett, describes a robot assassin on the trail of Dom Sabalos. How could such an assassin miss? What protected Dom in his search for the other world which he knew lay on the dark side of the sun?

After a lifetime of travel in the world of jazz, Nat Hentoff has written JAZZ IS. In it are reflections on jazz as a way of living, as a way of making a living and as a way of lashing out at life.

Seven frightful slayings and the police were without a clue. These murders rocked a Michigan community and made neighbor suspect neighbor. This is the true story of the search for the murderer, who when found was tried and convicted for only one. MICHIGAN MURDERS, by Edward Keyes.

One of the most romantic love stories the world has witnessed, was that of Princess Grace and Prince Rainier. Now you too can read about their romance in a new book by Gwen Robyns. Borrow "Princess Grace," there may be some other biographies of interest.

THE WORLD BEFORE by Ruth Montgomery tells of the richness of previous civilizations that has only been hinted at before. The Spirit Guides have disclosed many things to Ms. Montgomery and now scientists are confirming them.

When Courtney Marsh's adoptive parents died, she began the long search for her real family. Her only clue was a GOLDEN UNICORN that she had worn as a necklace for many years. Her search led her into danger and she almost lost her life. This is Phyllis Whitney's latest novel.

A great deal has been written about the man who invented the telephone, but little has been said about the first man to tap one. As Art Buchwald points out in his new book WASHINGTON IS LEAKING, everyone in law enforcement knows the telephone is useless unless you Can find out what the people on each end of the line are saying. You'll enjoy finding out when and why the first telephone tap took place. To do so, just visit the public library and borrow this book.

New babies pose problems for their young brothers and sisters. Children often feel jealous of the attention showered upon the baby and ignored by their parents. The following picture books help children cope with the arrival of a new baby.

WE ARE HAVING A BABY by Viki Holland is a true story from a four-year-old's point of view. Large photographs accent Dana Pratt's unique story of the arrival of her baby brother. Children and adults alike will enjoy the manner in which Dana's parents help her deal with her reactions of expectation, bewilderment, rejection and love.

In Eloise Greenfield's SHE COME BRINGING ME THAT BABY GIRL, Kevin isn't very happy with his baby sister, especially since he wanted a baby brother! His sister has ugly wrinkles, cries too loudly and gets loads of presents. But when Mama lets him hold the baby and explains how her big brother took care of her when she was little, Kevin feels proud to be a big brother.

In PEGGY'S NEW BROTHER by Eleanor Schick, Peggy would rather have a dog than a new baby brother! Peter can't do anything at all and yet the grown-ups give him all their attention. When she tries to help her mother take care of Peter, she just gets in the way. When Peggy discovers a unique way of keeping Peter happy, she decides having a baby brother isn't so bad after all!

A BABY SISTER FOR FRANCES by Russell Hoban is a pure delight! Frances the furry badger is fed up with her parents' preoccupation with her new sister Gloria. So she decides to runaway to the dining room table. As Frances nibbles on her chocolate cookies, her parents comment on how much they miss Frances and how much Gloria is going to need a big sister. Parents and children will love this story for it is filled with warmth, tenderness and an understanding of a realistic problem.

Our Election Recommendations

General. On the general candidates, pull the REPUBLICAN lever for a straight ticket. Reason: Although not everything about Republicans is good, nor everything about Democrats, bad -- the fact remains that the Republicans stand more for individual initiative and Freedom; and the Democrats for greater Governmental paternalism and spending. VOTE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN.

COURTS. Court of Appeals: Beasley. Supreme Court: Swallow, Lindemer and Ryan. Reason: Have been reliably told they are well qualified.

PROPOSITIONS. (Vote: Yes, No, Yes, No).

A — Bottles. Good arguments both sides. But we think the deposit deal should be tried. Vote: Yes.

B — Senatorial Age. Who wants an 18-year old Senator? I wouldn't let an 18-year old run my house – why should we let him run the State? Vote: No.

C — Tax Limitation. Probably more important than who gets elected President We must put a limit on what the State spends. Vote: Yes . . . emphatically.

D — Increase income tax rates. No, a thousand times, No! Who wants an unlimited, graduated Income Tax – except the people who won't pay it? No! No! No!

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH — THAT'S THE WAY WE SEE IT.

This Financial Report has been audited by the accounting firm of Gross & Ludwig CPA, Adrian, Michigan:

Prepared and submitted by:
H. Eugene Cooley,
Assistant Superintendent of Schools

During the period covered by this report, July 1, 1975 through June 30, 1976, a total of 3665 full-time pupils were enrolled, with another 32 full time equivalency in Adult Education. To serve these pupils the District employed a staff holding valid teaching certificates. The total amount paid for student instruction was $3,109,322.00. The number of full time equated certificated employees totaled 169. The ratio of 3665 pupils to employees holding a valid Michigan Teaching Certificate was 21.7 during the 1975-76 school year. The actual pupil-teacher ratio was 1 to 23.3.

Minimum and maximum teachers salaries were as follows:

DEGREE	MINIMUM	MAXIMUM
Bachelor of Arts	$ 9,900.00	$16,127.00
Master of Arts	10,915.00	17,780.00
MA plus 15 Semester Hours	11,460.00	18,602.00
Specialist Degree	12,033.00	19,602.00

The District operated 144 classrooms in eight buildings during the school year.

To the best of my knowledge and belief this report accurately reflects the financial status of the Tecumseh Public School District for the fiscal year 1975-76, rule 340, 351 of the General School Laws and the State Board of Education.

Treater Safety Tips

Young "treaters" who will be collecting treats this Halloween should wear painted faces instead of masks that obscure vision, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Auto Club recommends makeup as an alternative to a face mask to highlight costumes. This will help children see clearly when crossing streets.

Since black is a difficult color for motorists to see, parents should make sure darkly costumed youngsters wear white-sheeted ponchos or reflective tape over their outfits and carry a brightly colored treat bag.

Children also should be cautioned to cross only at corners and to look both ways before crossing streets. Parents should escort youngsters whenever possible.

Motorists can help make this a safer Halloween by minimizing driving between 6 and 8 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 30 when Tecumseh children will be out for Halloween treating.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

ANOTHER NEWCOMER

It is almost unheard of, it just never happens -- oops, Marda remembers your resolve to never say never -- but anyway, it is most unusual for me to have two weeks in a row when I can talk about new birds. Yet, today I am in that very, very happy position. The other morning another new bird dropped in for a short visit and, again wonders never seem to cease, he showed off wonderfully on the near-my-window feeder.

He was around most of the morning and posed quite a mystery for a while. However, when he finally hopped to the middle of the feeder and Gertie and I checked the bird books it was easy to eliminate first one possibility, then another. Our bird was a hermit thrush. And believe me, it is still a thrill to simply say those two words, hermit thrush!

It happened on one of those mornings that simply had to be exciting. The weather was great, sunny and warm; the window pictures were beautiful, the fall color about at its peak and the sky a clear October blue. As had happened for the past week or so Mom and Gertie T. were chasing cedar waxwings. The extra bonus this day was the first wave of juncos. At least they were keeping me busy and I thought they were going to be the birds of the day. Suddenly there was something in the one yew beneath the west-facing window. I had a quick look at a brown head and back, then it was gone.

I called Gertie T. but the bird really had gone. There was not time to be disappointed because immediately a tiny kinglet hopped into view. there are two bushes beneath this window and, although supposedly the same, the one is large and thick whereas the other — well, to be perfectly honest, the other poor little yew is quite skimpy and straggly. It is this one though that produces a few red berries and is open enough so that we usually have reasonably good views of any birds perching in it. Thus we quickly knew who the kinglet was and enjoyed the few moments he spent on one of the small branches.

Suddenly a branch bowed down, obviously another bird had flown into the bush and, judging from the way the limb moved, we assumed the newcomer was much larger than the mite of a kinglet. Even before we could wish he would hop into view there he was! My bird again. This time Gertie T. saw him too and we shared a quick look at a white ringed eye and the light, heavily speckled breast. In an instant he was gone and we dove into the bird books. And how nice, most of the books we wanted were already out and stacked on the table.

Wow, good gracious, zounds, and all sorts of other exclamations the bird hopped on the feeder and just stood there. He cocked his head, flicked his tail once or twice and very obligingly made sure that Gertie T. and I were properly impressed. He was a handsome fellow. He was standing in bright sunlight and truly, we could not have wished for anything better.

After such a good look it just seemed that we should be able to open any bird book and find our visitor. As usual we checked the Audubon guide first and the Peterson guide next. Both were slightly disappointing. Oh, we made the identification all right but in the Audubon book the color plate showed his back to be too dark and too much the same color, the picture in the other book was dreadful.

Well, perhaps not dreadful but it certainly is not good. In the text, under similar species, the fox sparrow is mentioned but our bird definitely did not have a sparrow type bill nor was the breast marked like the sparrow's. Faith was restored when we checked the National Geographic's bird book. Its picture of a hermit thrush could easily have used our bird for a model.

In addition to such identifying marks as the eye ring, the spotted breast, and the thrush-like bill, it also shows the white bib under that bill and the not so subtle coloring on the bird's back. The brown back which quite noticeably shades into a rusty tail. A most exciting mornir visitor!

Sixth Graders Elect Class President

Sixth graders in Richard Billington's class at Herrick park will participate in the democratic election process and elect a class president.

The election is a result of the recent presentation of Siena Heights Drama-In-Education program "Election '76 - Your Vote Counts" that Herrick's fourth, fifth and sixth graders participated in. The classes were made aware of the political systems and issues facing America in Election '76.

The sixth grade class conducted a lively debate after the drama presentation. Importance of voting was discussed and it was concluded that voting is an important privilege in our democratic society.

Following up in the election vein, Kevin Burchett, a cross-age tutor from Tecumseh High School, presented a history and analysis of the electoral college in our election system.

A highlight of this activity was an actual popular vote taken by the class. The vote demonstrated that a candidate could win the popular vote by a majority and still lose the election in the electoral college vote.

The class then held nominations for class president. After a lunchtime of politicing, some candidates withdrew their names, and Rick Hoffmann and Mickey Hyatt were selected as nominees. Acceptance and campaign speeches, posters on lockers and in the halls have followed all week.

Oct. 20 the candidates faced a panel of questioners and before an audience of classmates and parents.

The class will elect its president later this week.

Library Election File

As election day approaches, do you find yourself uninformed about the candidates and issues? Tecumseh Public Library's election file may help resolve your problem.

The election file consists of newspaper articles clipped over the past several months, sample ballots and voters' guides compiled by the League of Women Voters. This material is now available at the library's information desk for study in the library or overnight checkout.

An effort to secure unbiased information about all candidates and proposals has been made.

Library hours are 1 to 9 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

Welcome Wagon Discusses Energy

Kenneth L. Chichester, district manager of Consumers Power Co. was the guest speaker at Welcome Wagon Club's general meeting, Oct. 21. The topic for the evening was "The Energy Crisis and Conservation for Domestic Users."

Chichester stated that historically, gas has been cheap and the largest increases in the utility bills have come in the last few years due to many factors; the company is caught in inflation - construction, labor and operation costs are all up. There are national impacts such as meeting the Environmental Protective Agency's requirements, there are local impacts such as secondary treatment of sewage and there are state impacts in taxes.

What people once considered luxuries are now considered necessities and people have become lax in regard to conserving energy sold. Chichester stressed the wise use of energy not only to save money but to reserve a vital resource.

A question and answer session followed.

Refreshments were served. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Anthony Ferraro and Mrs. Harry Winzeler. The doorprize, a Halloween witch made by the craft group, was won by Mrs. James Anderson.

BRITTON — Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ruhl Sr. returned home the past weekend from a three week vacation trip through the Western and Southwestern United States.

They first stopped in Loveland, Colo. to visit their son and family, Lester Ruhls Jr. and son, Lee. They visited the Big Thompson Canyon area which was devastated by flood. They found things there slowly coming back to normal.

The Britton couple drifted down through New Mexico and the Navajo Country. In Arizona they stopped to see the Grand Canyon at the south rim. Drifting further south, they stopped in "Tombstone" visited the "boothill" cemetery and passed through the gate of the O.K. Corral to stand on the spot of the famous shoot-out.

After a visit in Mexico, they picked up their son, Wayne at Phoenix airport. He stayed overnight with his parents, but had to catch an early plane home for Florida.

The senior Ruhls said they'd gladly trade the weather here for the balmy weather of Arizona.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

If you are planning a Halloween party this week or looking for a special treat for your family, I have some delicious suggestions for you.

Who could resist a taffy pull? This recipe is easy to prepare, inexpensive, and really good. It is as much fun to pull the taffy as it is good to eat. My grandmother made lots of memories by making this for us each year when she visited.

KARO SYRUP TAFFY

2 cups sugar
1 cup dark Karo syrup
½ cup hot water
2 tablespoons vinegar

Combine all ingredients and boil to soft crack stage (280 degrees), stirring occassionally. (Soft crack stage is reached when hot syrup dropped into cold water separates into threads which are hard but not brittle.)

Remove from heat and add 2 tablespoons vanilla or other flavoring. Pour onto several buttered plates to cool. When cool enough to handle, butter hands and pull until white and glossy, about 10 minutes. Pull into long strips and cut in pieces.

Caramel popcorn is another favorite for this time of year. This recipe was easy and delicious.

CARAMEL POPCORN

2 cups brown sugar
½ cup water
½ cup butter
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Boil ingredients together to soft crack stage (280 degrees) stirring occasionally. Pour over 4 quarts popped corn. Mix lightly until evenly coated. Enjoy warm or cold.

If you enjoy caramel apples on a stick, you will like this caramel apple pie recipe from Kathy Brown. It is good.

CARAMEL APPLE PIE

28 light caramels
1 small can evaporated milk
3 cups sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter
¼ cup oil
1 egg
¾ cup water
1/3 cup chopped walnuts
3 cans apple pie filling.

Melt caramels with milk over boiling water, stirring occasionally. Keep hot. Sift flour, sugar and salt into mixing bowl. Cut in butter. Combine egg, oil, and water and blend well. Add to dry ingredients and mix well. Form into ball and roll out on 17 x 12 inch of foil to 1 inch of edges. Place on 15 x 10 inch cookie sheet. Fill with apple filling, drizzle caramel over apples, and sprinkle with nuts. Bake 30-35 minutes at 375 degrees.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

A quotation found on the wall of the high school at the Town Meeting in Tecumseh last Saturday has stuck in my mind probably because of the important topic this week. "The fate of liberty and democracy are finally entrusted to the hands of the American people" George Washington 1791.

Ninety percent of registered voters in Macon Township have voted in presidential elections in the past. This is a number we all can be proud of. Keep up the good work, get out and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 2. Remember you vote at the township hall on Welch Rd. between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Your vote does count!

A day well spent was at the Tecumseh Town Meeting '76 last Saturday. People shared their thoughts and dreams, ideas, concerns and solutions to problems of the Tecumseh area. The seeds of realizing these goals were planted, and will soon be breaking through. The Macon area joins in saying the motto adopted at the end of the day, Roll on Tecumseh, Roll on!

A young woman familiar to Macon returned to her hometown area Saturday as a staff member of the Institute for Cultural Affairs which helped conduct Town Meeting '76. Victoria Corl is the daughter of the Rev. Corl, a former minister at the Macon Methodist Church. Victoria resides with her family in Madison Heights and became involved with the institute as a member of their volunteer staff. The staff visits many cities and towns helping set up Town Meeting '76.

Mrs. Ahlene Connors celebrated a birthday last week, three days in a row. Wednesday dinner with her son, Pat and wife, Sharon, Thursday in Tecumseh at the home of her son, Mike and wife, Pam and Friday in Adrian with her daughter, Mary Connors.

Carl and Evelyn Hawkins have returned from 1½ weeks in the Upper Peninsula near Manistique and Thompsons Creek. Carl went Coho fishing and although he didn't catch any, he did come home with some nice rainbow trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moore spent two weeks in Rockville, Ind. They attended the 20th annual Covered Bridge Festival. Some 35 covered bridges in the county are visited either by car or bus. The Moores parked their camper right in town, since camping is allowed many places. Mr. Moore helped in the preparation of bean soup and reports 3,100 lbs. of beans were used. On the way home they visited Mrs. Moore's sister in Indianapolis and her daughter in Muncie, Ind. where they celebrated her grandson's sixth birthday.

The combined Blue Bird groups of Sharon Mohr and Donna Oliver had a surprise party last week. The honored guests were the group's adopted grandma and grandpa, Clarence and Margaret Hall. They all met at Mohr's house and went over to the Kosky home on Hack Rd. When grandma and grandpa came in were they surprised! Cake and soft drinks were served and the Halls received a pillow embroidered with all the girls' names on it.

The Macon Historical Society danced Saturday night in Otto and Irene Miller's garage. Dancing, both round and square, was enjoyed plus many fun games. A potluck lunch was served later in the evening, by both members and guests.

Plans for the Halloween party at the Macon United Methodist Church have been completed and this year it will be from 1-3 on Saturday, Oct. 30 at the church. All Macon area children are invited. There will be refreshments and games. Prizes will be awarded for costumes in two age groups, preschool to grade 2 and grade 3 and up. Treating will then follow in the evening on Saturday.

The annual Macon Methodist Church bazaar and smorgasbord supper was the biggest and best they have ever had with a record breaking crowd. But when the biscuits for the chicken were made from scratch and hot from the oven what can you expect?

A highlight of the day was the quilt made by the Faith Circle. The ladies decided at their May meeting to make it. Each of the about 18 members made squares. Mrs. Celestine Riddell chose and arranged the squares and Mrs. Lina Kuder sewed the quilt together. Several "quilt working bees" followed at the church involving circle members. A feature of the quilt was the corner block designed and appliqued by Mrs. Riddell.

Sealed bids were taken on the quilt and the lucky winner of the heirloom was Roma Fogelsong of Tecumseh.

The Faith Circle will meet Nov. 4 at the home of Mary Lou Moore. Mrs. Delia Hill will have the program.

ROCK GARDEN DISPLAY — The Town and Country Garden Club has depicted their Hidden Lake Garden project in a library exhibit. Barbara Schrader, left, garden club member, and Deborah Harris, librarian, inspect the exhibit.

Garden Exhibit at Library

The recent efforts of the Town and Country Garden Club to restore the Hidden Lake Gardens' Rock Garden are depicted in a current exhibit at the Tecumseh Public Library.

The display will be available for viewing through October 30th.

The exhibit traces the history of the Rock Garden from its construction in 1933 to present day. Of particular interest are the photographs of the rocks being placed in the garden. Contrary to the impression a visitor to the gardens receives, the entire rock ledge is man-made, each stone being placed there under the direction of Harry Fee.

Mr. Fee's purpose was "to revitalize and maintain a demonstrative rock garden at Hidden Lake Gardens for the benefit and education of the public."

Other highlights of the display are photographs taken of the Rock Garden in the 1940's before it fell into disrepair. These pictures were obtained from Ms. Magdalena Saling of Tecumseh.

Aside from the actual reconstruction, the club is attempting to piece together a history of the Rock Garden. Anyone having information about or pictures of the early garden is asked to contact Mrs. Philip Marcotte, project co-chairman, at 263-2379 or Hidden Lake Gardens.

Donations toward the $4,000 restoration may be sent to Mrs. David Schneider, 5046 Raisin Center Highway.

Communications, Language and Life Style Told

Communications, Language and Life style was the program presented by Mrs. Judy Wilson to the October meeting of Xi Delta Gamma. Mrs. Gerry Greene was hostess.

President Mrs. Robert Martie discussed the plays for a Thanksgiving basket for the needy family. Members were reminded to bring canned goods to the next meeting.

Mrs. Chris Pellow and Judy Wilson served refreshments.

Mrs. Tom Walters will hostess the November meeting at her home.

Voice OF THE HERALD

Our Voting Opinions

Next Tuesday's ballot is crowded with candidates and proposals, so be patient unless you vote a straight ticket - Republican or Democrat. We will take more time at the polls, and hopefully help elect candidates and pass or defeat issues that will be before us.

The Herald supports President Gerald Ford. Not that he will excel in office, but who is more realistic. Carter simply promises too much, and if he fulfilled a tenth of his promises, who's going to pay for them - and with our tax dollars!

Marv Esch has been a frequent visitor in Tecumseh while a Congressman. We also know that a former opponent, a Democrat, has spoken highly of him. Don Reigle has done little or nothing as a Congressman, therefore why expect more from him as a Senator. Esch gets our vote, by a landslide.

We expect Harvey Koselka to win in Lenawee County as prosecutor but many Republicans here have been disillusioned with him in the past - and recent past. Bud Crudder probably does not have countywide support to win, but could surprise the incumbent if enough Republicans fail to vote a straight ticket and cross over.

Like Crudder, Ernie Oliver does not have enough Democrats backing him—plus Republicans - to defeat Don Mitchell for Drain Commissioner, unless there's enough disgruntled county residents, voting for both Republicans and Democrats.

A tight race is expected in the 6th district for County Commissioner. We've heard a number of Commissioners supporting incumbent Nancy Nichols, a Democrat, now serving her first term and reportedly doing a good job. She's opposed by Royal Welch, a former city councilman, who likewise was considered a good councilman. Nichols defeated the late Fay Whelan, a staunch Republican, the last time. The race is probably even.

On the non-partisan section of the ballot, former Tecumsehite Yale Kerby, a THS graduate, is being opposed by Blissfield's Ken Glaser. We lean towards Kerby, despite a poorly organized supporting campaign. Being well known here, Kerby may run into trouble elsewhere in the county, especially Adrian and the Blissfield areas. He'll need strong support here.

As for the candidates for Council, we can't help but endorse two of the incumbents, Mary Bowers and Dr. Carlton Cook. A third incumbent, Jim Palmer, undoubtedly has the community in his best interests and may well be elected on that alone.

A number of qualified candidates are running, and voters may well know more about them than we do - John Seay, Jay Tressler, William Frownfelder, Marten Vegter, Carl Schmidt and Robert Taylor.

Seay, Tressler, Vegter, Schmidt and Taylor have expressed their desires to serve the community and all have some qualifications to be considered. We have no choice.

As for the proposals:

We are for the ban against non-returnable bottles and cans in Proposal A. There must be a way to quit littering. If it were not for the littering, there would be no proposal. We are voting yes.

Passage of Proposal B would allow 18-year-olds to run for office. We're against it. We made them adults at age 18. Why? We gave them the "privilege" of drinking at age 18 - and they've abused it. We gave them the right to vote at 18 - few vote and many do not even bother to register.

Proposal C is questionable, but we're voting for it. A limit on all state taxes could well force the burden of additional taxation back to the local level. Example, cutting back state funds for the schools could force the schools to ask - and probably lose - local tax payers for more operating funds.

If we pass Proposal D, we might just as well hand the state legislators our check books. Of all the proposals on the ballot, this is the most ridiculous and the one which should soundly be defeated. Vote no.

TWO HUNDRED CARED — Participants in the Oct. 23 Town Meeting '76 at THS worked steadfastly all day to come up with suggestions to bridge the communication gaps in the Tecumseh Area. At left, Dr. Robert Murray, emcee, compliments the audience. Below, citizens of all ages, all professions consider methods to fulfill their hopes and dreams. The Herald will feature their proposals in future issues.

Indians Whip Jets, 34-6

Tecumseh's grid squad washed over the Airport Jets Friday night 34-6.

The victory leaves the Indians with a 4-1 league record, second only to Flat Rock which posts a 5-0 mark.

Tecumseh was the first to register a score after Jeff Hans went two yards in the first quarter. John Egbert kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter, Indian quarterback Dave Bohannon connected with Lyndon Hughes for 21 yards and a touchdown. Egbert again made the extra point.

Airport made its only score in the second frame, a 70-yard pass play.

In the third quarter, Egbert ran 27 yards for the score and kicked the extra point and Hans again went two yards. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

The final score of the game came on a four-yard run by Jeff Robideau.

Golfers Win Huron Crown But Finish 6th at State

After easily winning the Huron League meet and championship Wednesday, Tecumseh's golf squad ran into trouble at the state match Saturday finishing sixth.

Okemos—a team the Indians beat by nine strokes in the regional—won the state Class B title with a 331 score. The Indians came in with a 343, their worst score of the season.

Tecumseh finished second last year after losing to Jackson Western in a play-off. Western tied with Grosse Ile for the 15th spot this year.

Doug Jacobs was low man for the Indians with an 82. John Gibson had an 83, Scott Macbeth 85 and Keith Bauman 93.

Things were graphically different in the Huron League meet last Wednesday in Monroe. The Indians fired a scoring 303 to outdistance any competitor.

In contrast to their score in the state meet, that 303 was the team's best 18-hole score ever. By virtue of the strong showing—and Grosse Ile's poor one—the Indians won the Huron League championship. Before the match, Grosse Ile led the league.

Monroe CC was second in the match at 324, Huron was third at 325, Grosse Ile finished fourth at 332, Carlson had 339, Airport 345 and Jefferson 359.

It was the third year in a row that the Indians have won the league title. Every Tecumseh player at the match was named to the All-League first team, the first time that has happened.

Junior Dave Graf was medalist with a 73. Jacobs was tied for third overall with a 76 while three Tecumseh players tied for fifth at 77 including Macbeth, Bauman and Steve Lynch. John Gibson, shot a 78.

Tecumseh ended with a 9-3 dual meet record, 5-1 in the league before the league meet.

Graduating seniors include Jacobs, Gibson, Macbeth, Lynch and Steve Hunter.

Clinton Juniors Win Race

Clinton's cross country squad finished its dual meet season with a three-way win last Thursday. The team also made a strong showing at the Manchester Invitational on Saturday.

The Redskins ran against Pittsford and Jonesville at Jonesville last Thursday. Clinton defeated Jonesville 15-46 and Pittsford 15-48.

Mike Risner and Jerry Cline paced the team with a tie for the first spot in a new course record time of 16:38. Wally Pike was third at 17:05, which was also under the old record. Chris Wojtowicz and Mark Prichard tied for fourth to give the Skins a clean sweep of the five spots.

Devin Schindler was ninth, John Dotson 10th, Matt Peters 12th and Dave Dagastino 15th out of 20 runners.

The Skins finished its dual meet season with a 10-2 record.

Clinton made a strong showing at the Manchester Invitational Saturday. The meet is scored by student class. Three runners in a class compose a team.

The Skins won the junior class race with a total 14 points. Junior Risner tied his school record time of 15:51 in finishing second. Pike was eighth at 16:28 and Wojtowicz was 14th at 17:00.

Dotson was 18th, and Dagastino 39th.

Clinton placed second in the sophomore race to East Jackson. The Redskins had 35 points to East Jackson's 30. Prichard was seventh at 16:44, Peters ninth at 17:04, and Schindler 19th at 17:37. All three times were the fastest of the season.

Clinton won a trophy and five individual medals for the day.

The team participated in the LCAA League meet Wednesday at Hudson.

THS Harriers End Dual Meet Season

Tecumseh's cross country squad ended its dual meet season with a 17-40 win over Carlson last Thursday. At the Huron League meet Tuesday, the Indians came up with a fifth place finish.

They also finished fifth in the league combining their dual meet record of 3-4 and their performance in the league meet.

Brian Banda and Kent Norris tied for first place in the Carlson meet with a 17:23 time. Jesse Castorena was third at 17:25, Jim Harris was fourth at 17:28 and Dave Bilkie was seventh at 17:58.

In the league meet, Tecumseh finished fifth with 123 points. New Boston Huron won the meet with 48 points. Jefferson finished last.

Harris was 21st in the league meet at 17:03. Norris was 24th, Banda 25th, Castorena 26th and Bilkie 27th.

The Indians enter regional competition this Saturday at Sharp Park in Jackson. The meet begins at 11 a.m.

Tories Raise Record

Britton's girls basketball squad won two games last week. The victories raised the girls' league record to 5-3.

The Tories traveled to Whiteford on Tuesday winning easily 58-45. Genene Bruce led the scoring with 20 points.

The junior varsity also won 27-25 with Patty Armstrong scoring eight points.

Britton hosted Summerfield on Thursday and won the contest 29-21 holding the Bulldogs to just five points in the first half.

Dawn Bush led the Britton scorers with 10 points.

The contest was at St. Mary's and the final tally was 41-39.

Tori Iffland was high scorer for Tecumseh with 10 points, followed by Debbie Steadley with nine, Grace Burns eight, Robin Isom six, Sandy MacGeorge four and Gloria Fosbender two.

The Indians now post a 9-3 overall record and are 3-1 in the Huron League.

The team travels to Airport on Wednesday of this week hosting Grosse Ile next Wednesday.

Tories Tied for 1st

The Britton-Macon Tories gained a share of first place in the Tri-County Conference last Friday night by defeating arch-rival Deerfield 20-12.

Deerfield scored on their first possession marching 53 yards with Jack Iott scoring on a 21-yard run. The extra point kick failed and the Minutemen led 6-0.

On their next possession the Minutemen marched down to the Tory one-yard line, but the Britton defense held.

The Tory offense took over and went 99-yards to score with Randy Smith passing 36 yards to Mark Willaert for the score. Tim Kurowicki ran over the extra point and Britton led 8-6.

Deerfield fumbled on their next possession in the second quarter and the Tories went 24-yards to score with Rudy Montalvo scoring on a 16-yard run. The extra point failed and Britton led 14-6.

Don Benham recovered another Minuteman fumble late in the second quarter and Kurowicki dashed 41 yards on the Tories third play to make the halftime score 20-6.

With eight minutes left in the game Deerfield marched 76-yards with Randy Keller scoring from the one to make the final score 20-12.

Mark Willaert intercepted a pass on Deerfield's last possession and the Tories ran out the clock to win the game.

The Minutemen racked up 260 yards rushing but were 0-7 passing. Jack Iott led the rushing attack with 104 yards. Mark Mathias led the Deerfield defense.

The Tories racked up 232 yards rushing. Rudy Montalvo and Tim Kurowicki rushed for 107 and 92 yards respectively. Quarterback Randy Smith completed five of 10 passes for 106 yards with Mark Willaert making all five receptions.

Lon Wagenschutz led the Tory defense with nine solo tackles and 14 assists for a total of 23 tackles including three quarterback sacks. Sophomore Jeff Osterhout and Dennis Kimerer chipped in with 15 and 12 tackles respectively.

The Tories are now 3-3 overall and 3-1 in league action which puts them in a three way tie for first place with Deerfield and Summerfield. The Tories host the Madison Trojans this Friday night in the final home game of the season.

Pumpkin 'Fun' Leads to Three Arrests

Police have arrested three suspects in connection with the 300 smashed A&P pumpkins the night of Oct. 17.

Arrested were James Groover, 502 Outer Dr., Robert P. Webb, 704 Ternes, and Douglas W. Schneider, of Adrian. Schneider appeared before Judge Kerby Monday. He was sentenced to 30 days and fined $165 plus costs.

The incident reportedly occurred between one and five a.m. when the three drove around town in a station wagon, throwing numerous pumpkins onto the roadways. They then had a pumpkin "fight" in the A&P parking lot.

A resume of other police reports includes:

Oct. 28 - Cynthia Opelt, principal at Patterson Elementary, called police and reported a breaking and entering at the school.

Somebody reportedly broke into a rear window with a screwdriver or similar object. Nothing was missing, but two windows were broken, files were pried open and one office was thoroughly rummaged.

The case remains open as police did take a number of fingerprints and are looking for suspects in the case.

Oct. 31 - Bryon Salters and John Keller, 11281 Ford Rd., reported stolen CB's from the St. Elizabeth parking lot. The Salters auto was opened with a coat hanger, while the Keller vehicle's window had been pried open. Both units were valued at $100.

Michael J. Hierholzer, 26, of Clinton, and Mark T. Cheever, 19, of 125 Park were arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Hierholzer was weaving into the opposite lane on S. Evans when he was arrested. Cheever was stopped on W. Pottawatamie after he reportedly kept driving on the wrong side of the road, and almost weaved into an approaching auto.

Nov. 1 - Bennett Ambulance reported malicious destruction to an ambulance at 507 N. Union. Halloween pranksters apparently broke a wiper arm and motor on the vehicle.

Larry Smith, manager of Clark 100 Station on W. Chicago told police that $76 was missing from the safe there. A worker there reportedly placed the money in the safe for the night, but the money was gone in the morning.

Nov. 2 - Joseph E. Hendershot, 54, was charged with open intoxicants in the car when he was stopped on N. Evans. Hendershot reportedly darted abarply to the side when stopped. He told police he just got out of work in Saline, and did stop for a couple drinks, but that he swerved because a squirrel jumped out in front of his auto.

Nancy Nichols was re-elected County Commissioner for District 6, which comprises most of Tecumseh. She turned back challenger, Roy Welch by a vote 1,119 to 895.

INCUMBENTS, TRESSLER ON COUNCIL

Carter, Riegle Win Top Races

Democrats won the White House, Michigan's senatorial seat and a number of other top offices Tuesday in tight races across the country.

In Lenawee County, however, the GOP continued to dominate offices, although Nancy Nichols (D) won re-election against Royal Welch for County Commissioner from District 6 in Tecumseh.

Three Council incumbents - Mary Bowers, Dr. Carlton Cook and James Palmer - won re-election. Jay Tressler won the fourth seat in a race that involved a total of nine candidates.

Cook captured the most votes, 1,567, with Bowers just behind, 1,508.

In the race for judge of a new Circuit Court for the county, Kenneth Glaser defeated Yale Leland Kerby, 15,738 to 9,464.

Tecumseh backed all eventual winners except in the presidential and senatorial races. Ford received 1,561 votes here to Carter's 1,182, and Marvin Esch collected 1,435 votes to Donald Riegle's 1,204 for the U.S. Senate.

Local voters also went along with the state by passing Proposal A, 1,674 to 770, for using returnable containers; defeating Proposal B, 1,519 to 358, which would have allowed 18-year-olds to hold state offices; defeating Proposal C, 1,341 to 1,050, which would have limited all state taxes; and defeating Proposal D, 1,924 to 454, which proposed a graduated income tax.

Turnout of voters Tuesday marked the largest number ever to go to the polls here with 3,087 ballots cast. It erased the 1972 record of 3,024. There are 4,270 registered voters in the city.

Over 72 percent voted. Breakdown by precincts is, Pct. 1, 666 out of 943 voted; Pct. 2, 732 of 1,104; Pct. 3, 619 of 932; and Pct. 4, 789 of 1,291.

Clerk Vera Gardner also reports 281 absentee votes.

Health Study Monitoring 300 Families Relative to Flu

By FRANK WEIR

Medical researchers from the University of Michigan have chosen Tecumseh for a community health study relative to the swine flu immunization program.

The Tecumseh Community Health Study Center is located north of town on Tecumseh-Clinton Road.

The researchers are part of the University's Department of Epidemiology and have been conducting various health studies in Tecumseh since the late 1950's.

According to Nelson Meade, administrative manager for the department of epidemiology which is part of the school of public health, 1,000 Tecumseh individuals in 300 families will participate. All were selected randomly by dwelling unit.

The families are contacted weekly by telephone and report any illness. If an illness does exist, researchers hope to determine whether it is a flu-like illness.

Residents with flu symptoms will report to the project's clinic where blood and throat samples will be taken. Over time project workers hope to observe antibody changes in response to "infectious agents" in the community.

If swine flu appears here, the U of M researchers will be among the first to know. They will then monitor the impact of the illness on Tecumseh and evaluate the effect of the vaccine over a long term.

The project is headed by Dr. Arnold S. Monto of the University. Monto worked on earlier projects in Tecumseh involving various respiratory studies since 1965.

In the words of Meade, the long term goal of Monto's studies are to "contribute to the knowldge that virologists and epidemiologists need to develop respiratory disease vaccine" Meade went on to say that the goal of public health is prevention.

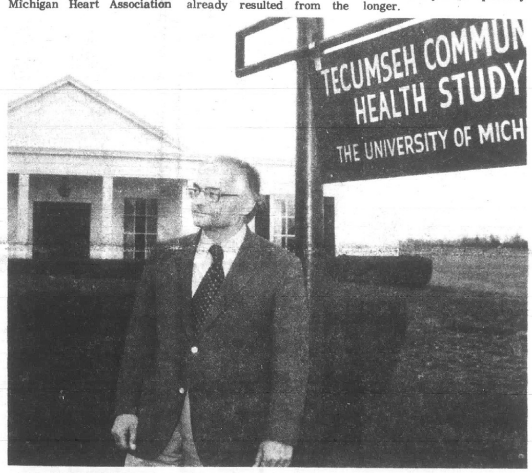
Researchers also hope to learn more about how flu spreads in a community and within families in that community.

Tecumseh was chosen for the initial health studies in the late 1950's, according to Meade, because researchers wanted a community "that was clearly definable with a rural area that was part of the community."" In addition, the area is close to the University and is characteristic of the country as a whole.

Eight employees are staffing the clinic for the flu research. Funding is supplied to the University from the National Institute of Health, Michigan Lung Association, Michigan Heart Association and other sources.

Over 150 scientific papers of a technical nature have already resulted from the various U of M studies here.

The swine flu study will last for at least a year and possibly longer.



FLU STUDY BEGINNING — A health study, relative to the swine flu, is underway in Tecumseh. Close to 300 families from the area will participate in the U of M study. Above, Nelson Meade, from U of M, stands in front of the local headquarters.

Circulate Recall Petitions

BRITTON — Recall petitions were circulated in the Village of Britton to recall Henry Mastie, presently the village council president.

County Clerk Patricia Johnston said she has accepted them as part of her duties as Clerk, but told the Herald under the advice of her attorney, she would make no further comment.

She indicated however that if the petitions were considered in order there would be a period of time during which an election could be held.

Mastie a councilman, was elected Britton's village president at the Sept. 20 village council meeting by "a majority vote," as was reported to the Herald.

Mastie succeeded Stewart Niblack who resigned Aug. 16. Elmer Bryan, another Britton councilman, served as mayor pro-tem in the interim.

Mastie examined the petitions at the county court house Wednesday. He said he will protest the recall. He stated that many of the petitioners never attended a council meeting.

Neither Mastie nor village clerk, Dorothy Hindes could be reached for further comment before press time.

TP Income is Record; OK $1.25 Dividend

In its quarterly report to shareholders Wednesday, Tecumseh Products set an all time record for net income during the first nine months of 1976 and a near record for sales.

Consolidated net sales were $445,430,645, compared to $286,852,573 for the first nine months in 1975, and net income of $23,929,979 versus $11,292,099 for the same period a year ago.

Board of directors have declared an extra dividend of $1.25 per share in addition to the regular fourth quarter dividend of 50c per share.

Sales and earnings are expected to continue strong in the final quarter.

Appoint Kish to City Board

John Kish of 406 Seminole was appointed by Council Monday to fill the unexpired term of J.W. Meadows on the city board of appeals.

Kish was one of three citizens who responded to the city's ad in the Tecumseh Herald for volunteers to serve on the city's policy boards.

Other two who volunteered and may be called upon for duty on other boards are June Stone, 1400 Fox Run and Arthur R. Neibarger, 1414 Southwick Dr.

Fisher Donates $12,060 to Fund

With the local Community Fund drive just getting underway, a big step towards reaching the $79,950 goal has been taken with the announcement that $12,060 will be contributed here by Fisher Body Plant.

William J. Polk, plant manager, reports that pledges from plant and salaried employees plus a corporation gift total $56,005 for the United Way, with $43,945 for the Lenawee County United Fund and $12,060 for the Tecumseh Fund.

Plant co-chairmen for the drive were Harry A. Keller, supervisor for labor relations, and Robert Marlatt, chairman, Local 1341, UAW.

The 1976-77 pledge by Fisher employees represents a new plant record, which had previously been set in 1969 when the combined pledge was $43,645.

Last year, Tecumseh received approximately $10,800 from the Fisher Body Plant.

Directors OK Century Club

Donors of $100 or more to the Tecumseh Community Fund Donation will again be recognized this year through the "Century Club," a plan approved last year and one that again was approved recently by directors of the Foundation.

Individuals and businesses who contribute $100 or more will receive public recognition by being listed each week as "Century Club" members in The Herald.

Such recognition also will be given to any individual pledging $100 or more through a pay roll deduction plan.

Purpose of the "Century Club" is to stimulate contributions to the Tecumseh drive, which has a goal this year of $79,950.

Names of individuals and businesses will be printed during the week following receipt of their donations. A complete list of members will be printed after the Fund drive is completed.

Lighted Courts Look Promising

Tecumseh's application for funds to construct four lighted tennis courts and improved facilities at Satterthwaite Park look promising, Tecumseh City Council learned Monday night.

City manager Cal Zorn told Council the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has informed the city its pre-application for Land and Water Conservation funds has been given "high priority." A complete application is due Dec. 15. This coming week, city officials will attend an instruction meeting to learn how to complete the paperwork.

City's plan for park facelift will also include a shelter and expanded picnic facilities. Expected cost is $83,000. Funding is on a 50-50 basis from 1977 state funds.

To the Editor:

The Herald is to be commended for its coverage of our many local candidates in the October 28 issue. Providing this information is an extremely important and useful service, especially since the candidates we elect will exert a very direct influence on us. How nice to be able to go to the polls armed with some knowledge of their qualifications and opinions!

I also read with interest the Herald's endorsements. Here it seemed that in order to say something about every race, very little of substance was said about any. Perhaps the next time only local races could be discussed or more space allotted so that reasons for endorsements could be explained in some depth.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

Last night I attended the Halloween "party", for the Kindergarten through third grade, with my daughter. The party lasted one hour and fifteen minutes. It took a whole hour for the "costume judging" and the results were never announced.

During the judging the children were expected to be still and quiet with nothing to do. As a result they were bored and fidgety and began poking and teasing each other. At the end of the judging, while some children were still on the state, the gym was plunged into darkness. The children began to scream and the only thing I could think was: "I hope no one falls off the stage in a panic in the dark!" Fortunately, no one did.

After that we rushed through some cartoons. Before the reel was over the time ran out, so the children had to line up for a quick treat of cider and doughnuts much of which got spilled on the floor.

I would like to conclude with the overheard comments from children at the party: "This is no party!" and "A party is suppose to be fun, with games and stuff." What a terrible, disorganized farce it all was.

Very disappointed

Prospective Builder Questions Policies

Questions about inequities in the city's policy on charges for extending sanitary sewer and water were raised by a prospective builder, Jack Lynch at Monday night's city council meeting.

Lynch wants to build on the north side of Brown, the second lot west of the corner of Brown at Spring Sts. Since water and sewer lines stop near the east edge of the corner property owner's lot, Lynch found out he will have to pay $3,577 to extend the lines across the 150 ft. lot before they reach his property for hook-up.

Lynch protested the additional cost to extend the lines and asked why the previous developer did not pay for the extension to the end of the west property line.

City officials replied that the agreement was made with the subdivider years ago, previous to the city's new regulations.

As a result, each problem case must be considered separately and dealt with as fairly as possible, officials stated.

Council may consider a special assessment district to resolve the matter.

Big Boy Franchise Coming to Town?

Pending a decision by Tecumseh Township at its Nov. 9 board meeting, the city of Tecumseh may be moving its refurbished welcome sign west to annex an acre of property planned for development of an Elias Brother Big Boy franchise.

Township board will meet at 8 p.m. at supervisor James H. Tonneberger's home.

Monday night, three local men, Gene Tuckey, Joe Mannino and Earl Baldwin presented a plan for annexation to the Tecumseh City Council.

Property in question is on the south side of M-50, 165 ft. wide by 300 ft. deep and is presently farm land owned by Bob McKee. The men are working on a purchase agreement.

Project will then depend on rezoning by the city.

Tuckey, who was part owner in a Ypsilanti Big Boy, is expected to manage the restaurant.

Fire, Police Protection Mill Passes, Barely

By a slim margin Tuesday, voters in Tecumseh Township passed a millage proposal to levy one mill on themselves for fire and police protection.

Vote was 257 "yes" and 224 "no". This raises the township millage to two mills. Township received the first mill through the county treasury. This is the first time the township has needed to raise its millage.

Township officials put the question to voters because costs of fire protection and anticipated need for police protection, purchased from the city of Tecumseh, have increased because of the city's own cost increases.

Eleven Arrested for Liquor Violation

Police arrested eleven high school students in the early morning Oct. 30 for liquor violations. Two other juveniles were involved concerning curfew violations.

Six of the 11 arrested were juveniles and the police have petitioned probate court for the alleged minor in possession violations. The other five involved were Clinton and Tecumseh High School students. All were arrested for having open beer in the car.

The incident took place at the corner of Spring and Brown Sts. Those arrested were stopped in cars and apparently some were involved with a party in the area.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Hard to believe that it is already the first week of November and time to start thinking about the coming holidays.

I have a special request this week. I am looking for holiday recipes, your family's favorite salads, desserts, Christmas cookies, or favorite ways to prepare left over turkey. Please send them to me at 1207 Russell Road, or call 423-4848, and we can share them with the readers. Hope to hear from you.

In keeping with the season, this week I have a carrot bread and two pumpkin recipes.

PUMPKIN NUT BREAD
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup (or 1 small can) pumpkin
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup softened butter
1 cup chopped nut meats

Sift together first six ingredients. Combine pumpkin, sugar, milk and eggs in mixing bowl. Add dry ingredients and butter, mix until blended. Stir in nuts. Spread in 9x5x3 in loaf pan. Bake 325 degrees for 45-55 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 1 loaf.

Note: Try baking quick-breads in smaller loaf pans or in well washed, well greased tin cans.

Jean Dellecese gave me this recipe for pumpkin cookies.

PUMPKIN COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon ginger
2½ cups flour
2 eggs
1½ cups pumpkin

1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
¾ cup oil
1 cup grated carrots

Sift together dry ingredients. Set aside. Beat eggs adding sugar gradually until thick. Add oil gradually, beating until well combined. Add sifted dry ingredients. Blend until smooth. Add grated carrots and chopped nuts. Bake in 9x5x3 inch loaf pan at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes.

Celebrate Mission Week

November 6 and 7 Mission Weekend will be celebrated by the members of Grace Lutheran Church in Tecumseh. The annual event will focus on some phase of the mission program of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, of which the congregation is a member.

This year the theme will be the missions in Puerto Rico. Present at the congregational dinner on Saturday at 6 p.m. will be Pastor Robert Meister, who spent a year vicaring in Puerto Rico. Calamity Jane Is 'Dynamite'

By KATHY BROWN

What comes wrapped up in a small package and goes off with a bang?

Dynamite and Kathi Johnstone who stars as the hot headed, hard to handle legendary frontier woman of the Dakota Territory. Kathi sings and portrays the spitfire well. Her shining moment is "Secret Love," a solo at the climax of the play.

Offering a contrast to Calam's unladylike ways is John Westol who portrays a sophisticated and steady Wild Bill Hickok. Although Calamity's masculine antics dominate the plot, the two leads share the stage well, offering a perfect example of teamwork for the audience's enjoyment.

Becky Scoviac as Katie Brown gives a charming and polished performance. She plays Calam's rival for the attentions of Lt. Danny Gilmartin, played by Hank Schade. Schade could be more expressive in speaking his part. He excells in the cabin scene when the two couples "pair up" for the town ball.

Susan played by Marcy Prettyman and Francis Fryer played by Kim Swift make a good team as the supporting actors in the play's romantic plot. Kim dishes up a real surprise for the Deadwood saloon audience when he portrays Frances Fryer to placate Bill Vaught, who plays Susan's fretful innkeeper uncle "Henry 'Millie' Miller." As the saying goes, the show must go on.

Many of the character actors in the cast do a good job. There are a few unsung heros too, without whom the play could not manage.

Sandy Swift, wardrobe mistress, Linda Baaske, Becky Eidson, Rhonda, Rhora, Cindy Welch and Gloria Stringer, the "tech crew," and Skip Johnstone lighting.

Cooperation of crew is obvious in the scene "A Woman's Touch" in which the two female leads must rearrange the cabin with props positioned across the stage.

Final performances of the Tecumseh Players' Calamity Jane are Nov. 5 and 6 at the Glass Room.

Through My Window

MORE ABOUT THRUSHES AND WRENS

I should have known that such interesting and exciting birds as the hermit thrush and the winter wren would not be content with just a single article. They deserve more. And after reading what was said last week and the week before about my first meetings with these newcomers there is still much to be said.

The hermit thrush, for example, is one of Mother Nature's better efforts in the field of camouflage. When Gertie T. and I saw him proudly standing in the middle of the near-my-window feeder, this 6½ to 7½ inch bird was richly colored. I can well imagine that in his more normal surroundings those same well defined colors would almost cause him to disappear.

His brown back and dark spotted light breast would be hard to see against the background of fallen leaves or thick underbrush. This is where he spends most of his time, scratching for all sorts of wriggly and crawly things which are the mainstay of his spring and summer diet.

In the fall and winter the hermit thrush becomes more a vegetarian and thus he was apparently attracted to the pitifully few berries on the bush by the window.

The one thing that all our books agree upon is the beauty of the hermit thrush's song. Not only do they agree but most of the space devoted to the bird is given to enthusiastic ravings. "The sweetest singer of his family" is a typical comment. Haunting, ethereal, flutelike, pure, and so on and so forth.

Finally curiosity won out and a record of bird songs was put on the stereo. The books were right, the hermit thrush does indeed have an exquisite song. Next spring we must remember to listen for it.

Apparently this serenader is most active at dawn and dusk; day breaks so early in the spring that I'll not promise anything but certainly the long and lovely twilights could only be made that much more precious by the beautiful serenade of this bird who some authors call the American nightingale.

The books are only slightly less enthusiastic about the song of the winter wren but the record failed us. It did not have the exuberant and bubbling "succession of tinkling warblers and trills" that, according to the National Geographic book, characterizes this wren's song.

My goodness though the words used to praise the song are every bit as extravagant as those used for the hermit thrush. Enchanting, long, lovely, beautiful, melodious. And one author calls this little bird secretive, fond of deep dark woodlands, and then goes on to explain that its song, when heard in these quiet haunts, "bursts upon your ears". After all this I shall have to go further in the records.

Last Sunday, so late it was practically dark, a winter wren paid us another visit. Again I could not make Mom hear, a shout loud enough to be heard above the clatter of the typewriter would have certainly leaked through the storm windows and frightened the little guy. Besides, I was so surprised to see him out so late that I just might not have had a voice with which to shout.

Usually cardinals are the last visitors to the feeder and they had long gone. However, there was absolutely no doubt in my mind that the tiny dark brown bird, who lit on the feeder, scurried across the flat tray, then jumped down into the yew, was a winter wren. There was simply nothing else it could be.

The wren family is a large one and I was rather surprised to find that its only representative in Europe and Asia is this little four inch winter wren. And whereas we usually think of wrens nesting in man-made houses or old woodpecker holes or a mailbox, the winter wren prefers to tuck her bulky nest into the tangled roots of a fallen tree or under the edge of a log.

The hermit thrush is also a ground nester. I had to chuckle though at what she considers to be the perfect, interior decorator right, lining for her nest. Porcupine hair. Now I realize porcupines have fur or hair in addition to their quills – it is just whoever thinks about it? Marda, on that note it is time to leave winter wrens and hermit thrushes, next week's article will be about completely different birds. (Hopefully ones who do not use porcupine hairs in their nests.)

SHAWNEE MARCHERS WAIT "IN THE WINGS" AT FOOTBALL GAME.

Shawnee Marchers Stepping Higher as 65 Perform at Football Halftimes

By KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh students in the Shawnee Marchers are stepping higher and marching taller this football season. And in case you haven't noticed, they're also sounding great.

Who are the Shawnee Marchers anyway?

Actually, they are the 55 members of the senior varsity band and 10 selected members of the junior varsity band which compose a unit that is performing at football halftime shows and in local parades.

The difference between the Shawnee Marchers, which originated this summer, and the volunteer marching band of a year ago is that the marchers are a corps style unit. The ultimate goal of the Shawnee Marchers is "field competition," as for drum and bugle corps, rather than marching band contests.

Jimmie Rice, director of the group explains that this new style the students are practicing requires integration of music and visual presentation. But as in any other performance, "The A-Number 1 priority is first grade music. Everything they do must enhance the music," Rice elaborated.

For example, accents in the music are usually emphasized with loud playing and strong, obvious motion in the color guard and band. The flag corps is used to help bring out the music instead of performing a side show, distracting the audience from the music.

Rice explains the marching step as a glide. "The idea is to present an attitude of proud finesse and to keep the musical instrument from bouncing around on the player's lips," which distorts the music. "All in all, the corps style is musical, disciplined and a colorful style of marching."

But the changes have not come without any sacrifices, particularly by the students and parents. Biggest effort for both has come financially. New uniforms, the Indian tunics with matching striped trousers and headband, were purchased for summer parades and competition. School Board cooperated with an advance, but $1,000 is still owed and must be raised by the Band Boosters.

Students attended band camp at Alma and must cover some of the expense out of pocket, even though fund raising activities paid for most.

"As school budgets get tighter and tighter our opportunities for transport through the schools get less and less," Rice pointed out.

Students also spend more time in rehearsals. Before each game and major performance, a two-hour rehearsal is required in addition to practices held during the regular seventh hour class.

In addition to their regular class period, junior varsity students who are in the Shawnee Marchers schedule their seventh hour as their study hour and rehearse with the varsity band.

This past summer, the students learned how demanding this new venture is. A performance at the Michigan State Fair parade was cancelled because only 37 of 65 members showed up for the two-hour rehearsal, the first since band camp earlier in the season.

"No way do you go before 80,000 people with only half of your people practiced," Rice stated flatly.

Because he "stuck to his guns," because of letters to the editor and students applying peer pressure, "People are understanding now this group demands unity and participation all the time," and not "come when you feel like it."

Rice said because "students have been eager to know what's the next step. . .I feel I'm just keeping pace."

Educational experiences for students, in addition to the "number one" goal of being able to play music well, are the ability to organize, the experience of being dedicated. "This makes sense of marching," Rice explained.

"These students are the hardest working ever. I think that (the discipline) is paying off. Compliments we got at Clinton's parade were above and beyond any we have ever gotten before." Rice exudes with pride for the Shawnee Marchers. As the students, administration and parents respond with cooperation and the public with more enthusiasm for "Tecumseh's band," the group develops into a reason for school and city pride.

November 7-13 Is Nurse Week

Nurses are important partners in the health care team but perhaps not recognized as often as they should be. November 7-13 is Michigan Nurse Week, and an excellent opportunity to take a closer look at this health profession.

Herrick Memorial Hospital employs 50 nurses.

Theme for the week is "Nursing Care Is Everywhere" and it's true the year around.

Nursing is a people centered profession and includes care, counsel and treatment of the physically ill, mentally handicapped, the injured and the infirm. It also focuses on prevention and helping patients gain independence from disabilities or chronic disease.

Nurses provide a wide range of health care services:

Direct physical and emotional care to the ill and injured; teach and counsel the well and sick about health; coordinate and administer patient care services; assist other health worker, (i.e. physicians in implementation of their treatment plans.) and primary health care, screening and assessment of the health of children and youth.

Nurses perform a variety of functions other than patient contact care:

They teach and supervise less skilled personnel and students in nursing. They assist in the implementation of public health programs, such as immunizations and family planning services. They plan and evaluate the delivery systems in health care. They assist insurance carriers in evaluating how health facilities and services are being used. They engage in research to expand knowledge and improve the quality and cost effectiveness of nursing and health care.

Dividend Increase Is 50 Percent

A dividend of 30 cents per common share declared by the board of directors of The Budd Co. This is an increase of 50 percent over the 20-percent share paid in each of the previous three quarters of this year.

The board also declared a regular dividend of $1.25 on the $5 preferred shares of the company.

Both the common and preferred dividends are payable December 1, 1976 to shareholders of record at the close of business November 15, 1976.

BOOK MARK

News from the Tecumseh Library.

A pendant bearing a golden unicorn leads Courtney Marsh to a murder committed 25 years before. Her findings could only lead the murderer to act again. Phyllis Whitney's new book THE GOLDEN UNICORN is another "goodie" in the long list of suspense stories that she has written.

THE BRIGHTWOOD EXPEDITION by Kay McDonald: first, a historical novel and second a love story, focuses on Mariette Brightwood; her encounters with love, fear, loneliness and Indian savagery. It is also the story of the settling of the Oregon Territory and of Ross Chestnut, a man of strength and mystery.

A moving novel about the confrontation between a mother and her daughter is AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF MY MOTHER, by Rosellen Brown. Of the mistakes the mother has made, the one most troubling to her is her daughter. When the daughter returns home after an eight year absence, she brings a daughter of her own, born out of wedlock. This child is the center of a new struggle between the two women.

Many have probably known men like Bull Meecham, "The Great Santini." He is the epitome of the Marine officer, as tough at home as at the base. Differences of opinion are not tolerated. The attempts of his oldest child, Ben, to stand up for his mother or sister are met with contempt. Ben is a born athlete so his father's fierce drive is concentrated on him. Pat Conroy has written of Ben's struggle to be himself and break the mold his father has made for him.

PLAGUE SHIP. These were frightening words in ancient times and can be just as terrible in modern times. This is the theme of Frank Slaughter's new book and it makes one realize the courage of the men who fight the epidemics now and always - the doctors.

Readers of books by J.R.R. Tolkein or Richard Adams will enjoy the BLUE HAWK by Peter Dickinson. It is the story of Tron, a novice priest, who has spent his entire life in blind obedience to the major priests who serve the gods - until the day that he stole the Blue Hawk, thereby dooming himself to exile and the king to death.

Things were dull in Apeland - Margaret, 1000 lb. gorilla, mourns her dead mate. Men working on the foundations of a new subdivision are mosquito bitten, hot and bored. Margaret provides the excitement when she escapes from her cage and flees into the steaming forest. Readers will find APELAND by Paul Allen, a different kind of book.

A handful of high school students are selected to live in a utopian community where they are taught that rational methods will solve all human problems, even war and poverty. Into this perfect community comes a rebel who shatters this illusion. THE 400 EELS OF SIGMUND FREUD was written by A.G. Mojtabai.

It was 1943 and Kathie was not yet 17 when she met a young pilot who introduced her to the war and to airfields, bombs and other pilots. DISTANT SUMMER by Sarah Patterson is a tender, delightful love story.

BOUND FOR THE PROMISED LAND by Richard Marius. This is a family chronicle of a trip to California in 1850 - brother fighting brother, hostile Indians and disillusioned settlers who were heading back east. It tells the story of the Great American dream of the times and of both those who made it and those who didn't.

People who take their dogs on vacation with them and then "forget" and abandon them at the summer resort, should read this chilling book by David Fisher. THE PACK is a ferocious band of abandoned dogs who are forced to eat anything (or anyone) they can find.

St. Peter's Bazaar

CAN'T REACH HIM...

They call him a problem child. "Can't reach him," say some. "He won't respond," echo others. Young as he is, he's already been in trouble with the police.

Why? There are lots of words, lots of phrases, to describe youngsters like this. The papers are full of them every day. There are lots of excuses given — for him, and for society. Are they valid?

This boy has parents. Why can't they reach him? Is it, perhaps, because they can't really reach themselves? Because they've never found themselves?

Self-discovery takes courage. It doesn't come easily. It takes help. It demands faith. The starting point for a quest of this kind is in the Church. This boy needs the Church. So do his parents. So, for that matter, do we all!

Car Rolls Over Driver Critical

CLINTON — Randall W. Decker, 24, of Ann Arbor remains at University Hospital in critical condition from injuries received in an accident, Saturday at 7 p.m.

Decker was driving alone in a pickup east on US-12, west of Neblo Rd. when he ran off the right side of the road while rounding a curve. When he came back onto the road he slid sideways across the road and rolled over, down the embankment on the north side, according to witnesses. Road was slippery due to rain.

Clinton State Police investigated and Clinton Firemen assisted at the scene.

At 7:45 p.m., a second mishap occurred when an eastbound automobile, driven by Harold Calhoun of Clinton, rounded the curve, then stopped for a fireman signalling at the scene of the first accident.

The Calhoun car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Martin Krisch, 50 of Garden City.

Both vehicles received slight damage, but there were no injuries. No summons were issued.

Mrs. Allen Recognized for Service

CLINTON — Mrs. Frank Allen was given special recognition at the morning worship service at Clinton United Methodist Church, Sunday.

Alta Allen, who has played the piano and organ at the church for more than 30 years, was praised for her lifetime of service to others in the sermon by the Rev. James Rupert.

The occasion also honored her birthday, and the choir sang a birthday greeting to her.

Mrs. Forrest Swift, who had made the arrangements for the recognition service, pinned a corsage on her, and a boutonniere on Mr. Allen.

Mrs. Wesley Proctor read a poem she had written for the occasion, "To Alta Our Dear."

Mrs. Allen's daughter, Mrs. Robert Pollock of Decatur, played the piano accompaniment, as granddaughter, Laura Pollock sang.

Several other relatives were in attendance and greeted Mrs. Allen at the coffee hour after the service.

"Look at those flames!"

Have your heating system checked for faults and hazards. It may avoid a serious fire. Check that hot pipes do not pass near combustibles. Remove rubbish that might catch fire. Fire prevention can save lives, as well as property losses.

Encourages Self Reliance

CLINTON — Missionary assistance programs conducted by the churches are accomplishing considerable good among the needy people of the world Douglas Schneider told members of the United Church of Christ Sunday.

Schneider spoke at the morning service and after a noon family dinner he showed slides of the rural community where he and his wife served as agricultural missionaries in India until 1974.

He contrasted the eight cents cost per $100 of operation for church mission programs to the $3 cost of administering government foreign relief programs.

The Indian people were encouraged to learn to read and write their language before they were given help in building their own brick wells.

Often the learning only took six months and the family then were shown how to build the 35 ft. wells at a cost of $25, which could retain enough water during the four months of monsoon rains to supply the family with water for household and gardens year around.

The local Indian people were also helped to construct 75 small reservoirs to irrigate their quarter-acre ground plots, which then could produce three abundant crops yearly.

Some 200,000 bushels of grain, supplied by Church World Service, was "earned" by the Indian people who worked to construct the first road connecting their village with the nearest road 10 miles away through the bamboo jungle.

Mr. Schneider explained that such incentive projects have given the people more self-reliance and have helped them to a lasting independence.

During the afternoon, donations to the Harvest Auction raised over $400 for missions.

Charles Steffens and Steve Bowman served as auctioneers and Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Steffens and Mrs. Robert King served as clerks.

Bicentennial Journey

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — Many of us having heard and read so much about Southern hospitality are inclined to think that Northern people were less hospitable. True, some people were more hospitable than others. It was not because of their financial status but often it was their nature.

Prior to automobiles coming into common use, many rural families in Southern Michigan were noted for their hospitality.

Some may question why it was true then and not so much now. During those days the main ways to travel were by horse and buggy or walk. When it became meal time they would be some distance from home or town. The slow means of travel made it unwise to drive or walk home or to an eating place.

If a salesman or agent happened to be at farm near meal time, the farmer usually asked the individual to tie his horse and come to the house to eat with the family.

Busy as the farm wife was, she somehow managed to have sufficient food prepared to feed an extra person. The meal may not have been fancy, but at least it was wholesome and nutritious.

In the horse and buggy days, radios and televisions were not to be found in rural homes and farmers welcomed a chance to talk with an outsider and learn many interesting bits of news.

During the same era, relatives and friends did not wait for an invitation to dinner or be a guest for a short time. When they felt the urge to see a friend or relative they came, often without notifying anyone in advance. Families were usually glad to see each other and the hosts made the guests welcome.

Those early farm homes had no freezers or refrigerators and people were not in the habit of rushing to a store when supplies were low. Ready mixes and pre-packaged foods were unknown. By necessity most housewives were resourceful and used her culinary skills to prepare a satisfying meal with the meager items on hand.

Families seemed more neighborly. They visited each other fairly often and became better acquainted. While the adults discussed crops, politics, news, and the weather, the children played games. Taffy pulls were enjoyed. Sometimes the host family served fried cakes (homemade) and sweet cider. At other times popcorn and apples were enjoyed.

When a new family moved into the neighborhood, it was customary for residents to call on them within a few days to welcome them to the community and get acquainted.

In recent years, people move into a community, live there several months, and move away without a single neighbor stopping by to chat for a few minutes. Are we anti-social? We need not be nosy. Perhaps a short friendly call might brighten the new-comers day and promote better community relationship.

Hospitality need not cost anything but can bring such rich rewards in friendship. Couldn't many gain by being a little more hospitable? Isn't it worth trying?

Football Caravan

BRITTON — A car caravan will be leaving the school parking lot Friday for the Britton-Summerfield football game at Summerfield.

This is an important game as Britton-Summerfield and Deerfield are tied for first place.

As many cars as possible are urged to participate in the caravan.

Class Meets

BRITTON — The Baraca Philathea Class of the Congregational Christian Church met Sunday evening at the home of Lillian Bottorff with 18 members and guests for a potluck dinner.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Frances Eberhardt and a prayer for the day was given by the Rev. David Hawk.

Halloween games were the diversion of the evening.

Next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt, with a dollar gift exchange.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

"Rain, rain go away" echoed in Macon last Saturday as the witches and goblins began getting dressed. About the only people it didn't really seem to bother was that Michigan football team not far from us in Ann Arbor.

Later Saturday evening the children found many treats in the Macon area. A highlight again had to be at the Macon grocery where Roger and Nancy Ross gave all the kids a generous treat. Nancy traditionally dresses in a witch costume.

Jackie Swanston's hayride was cancelled until next weekend, a disappointed Jackie and her mom will look forward to all the preliminaries again next week. Her sisters, Heather and Mindy were the only happy members in the house as they went off to their party at the Planks' on the Ridge Rd. The Macon Church party had 51 children. Games were played, refreshments served and costumes judged.

Respective winners were for pre-school through second grade and third grade and older.

Prettiest, Christa Ellison, Paula Reel; funniest, Susan Ables, Debbie Hughes; most original, Jay Crittenden; Kelli Crittenden; scariest, Clark Griffin, Ann Csokasy.

Lois Hover hit a snag going to her sewing class last Thursday night. The snag was a doe estimated at weighing close to 200 lbs. It was crossing the Tecumseh-Macon Rd. between Grange Hall and Murphy Hwys. Lois did not get to her class, the '65 Plymouth didn't fare too well but the Hovers will be eating some nice venison this winter, and Lois is just fine.

Tom Swanston, father of Bill Swanston is a surgical patient in Saline Hospital.

Ed and Glayds Mueller are back from a three week vacation in Hernaco, Fla.

The Paul Hovers spent Sunday in Findlay, Ohio helping some 45 family members celebrate Paul's mom, Mrs. Helen Hover's 77th birthday.

Mrs. Larry (Mary Ann) Bush was a first prize winner in the county newspaper cook book contest.

Judee Williamson will take part in a Miniature Makers Workshop in Birmingham this weekend. Judee is finishing a room she was commissioned to do for a museum in Louisville, Ky.

The Macon Historical Society meeting will be Nov. 6 at the home of Herb and Marilyn Bagby. Co-hosts are Herb and Meredith Short. The program will be: "Bring something old" (and be prepared to talk about it). New members are always welcome.

Religious Survey Taken by Church

BRITTON — During October, 40 members of Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Ridge Road participated in various ways in a religious canvas of the area surrounding the church. In an area bounded by Ford (west), Arkona (north) Dennison (east) and M-50 (south) there are about 1,000 dwellings and 3,500 people. This is basically within a radius of about five miles from the church.

Of 875 homes actually canvassed, 661 were home. Information was gathered about the name, address, church affiliation and how many were in the home. Then each family was asked to characterize their pattern of worship as, 1. regular, 2. on and off, 3. seldom, 4. not at all.

This includes the towns of Macon (Methodist Church), Ridgeway (Nazarene and Baptist churches), Britton (Methodist, Baptist, and Congregational churches), Cone, Mooreville, and Emmanuel Lutheran Church, located at what formerly was known as Lake Ridge, three miles northeast of Britton. Many people belong to a denomination but attend in another town.

This information will be helpful as the congregation seeks to fulfill its basic tasks of ministry with the community.

The Rev. Thomas Trapp is pastor of the church.

Study Group Holds Meeting

BRITTON — A lesson on "Health and Safety" was presented Oct. 28 for 12 members of the L. & M Extension study group at the home of Mrs. Mae Willis.

Lesson on "Health" was given by Mrs. Paul Bailey and Mrs. Erma Brown presented the lesson on "Safety".

A luncheon of various salads and breads was enjoyed by the club members.

Roll call on "Halloween experiences when a child" brought many amusing experiences to light as members told of their various experiences.

Members brought many interesting articles to the meeting which they had made from scraps around the house.

It was voted to help a needy family in the village, and members were asked to bring non-perishable items for this cause at the home of Mrs. Theo Willis.

Completes Intensive Training for Appraising

Mary Lou Dangler has successfully completed an intensive full time resident training seminar in diamond appraisal.

The course was under the direction of the Gemological Institute of America. Twenty other leading jewelers from the Midwest attended.

Mary Lou is one of the owners of Gaston's Jewelry in Tecumseh.

Voice OF THE HERALD

What good did Town Meeting do?

People had an opportunity to speak openly with 200 concerned citizens. They took a big step in accepting individual responsibility for Tecumseh's future. They realized Tecumseh is not an island. The emphasis on the area meeting indicated Tecumseh's shift from "provincialism" toward municipal cooperation.

The TM proposals show desire for better communication with all age groups, with city government, local business and industry, the agricultural community, townships and even state government.

Participants realized they should expect more information from their local newspaper besides club news.

The gifts from benefactors were appreciated, but TM participants were awakened to the need for self-determination. They feel community action will emerge from apathy if people work more closely to build new community resources such as a theater.

As one participant remarked, "It is not what others have done to us, but what we have allowed others to do."

But unless people work together, nudge their neighbors into action and speak out to the town's leadership, the TM proposals will not be taken seriously and change will not come. The result will be more frustration for the community and its leadership.

Many opportunities now exist in the community through which TM proposals can be enacted. Ironically, people seem unaware of them.

For example, on Nov. 2 everyone had a chance to vote and either endorse or reject the present leadership.

Council, school board, planning commission, historic district study committee and County Board of Commissioners meetings are open to the public. Why not attend?

Jobs for Teens and the new job placement service for teens through the Tecumseh High School guidance office are opportunities for everyone to help find jobs for youth. Support the Band Boosters, 4-H, Scouts and other youth groups and keep youth busy.

The parent drop-in center, on the verge of abandonment, is an excellent opportunity for people of all ages to get together and discuss the direction of youth.

Senior citizens in Tecumseh have a unique choice of social activities and services offered by the recreation department and the Lenawee Council on Aging. Volunteers are welcome to deliver LCOA meals for the homebound elderly. Concerned about the elderly? Drop by and talk to them about their needs.

Build local business by shopping locally whenever possible. Contribute to the Community Fund. Remember your local dollars work for local people through local agencies.

Be the eyes and ears for the police force. Show youngsters how to respect the law and its officers.

Write representatives to support reform which will benefit business in the community. Write a letter to the editor to criticize or praise a local situation.

The litany of opportunities goes on.

Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. in the Tecumseh Public Library, a follow-up committee will organize to implement TM proposals.

Will you be there?

Tecumseh Excells at Youth Convention

By Kathy Brown

What motivates a student to spend every night in a library for six weeks preparing for a political debate? Or be in school at 6:30 a.m. sharp for a review of parliamentary procedure?

That is the seriousness with which 82 delegates from Tecumseh High School have prepared their political strategy for the Fifth Lenawee County Youth Convention at Adrian College Monday.

About 521 delegates representing the 14 schools in the county convened at Dawson Auditorium for the mock political convention.

Rodney Turner of Tecumseh was 1976 convention chairman. Lynne Wikle was Tecumseh delegation co-chairman for the resolution and rules committees. Both were group leaders for Town Meeting '76 along with Gary Lovett, teacher.

Bill Cook was Tecumseh's delegation chairman and Pam Ely was delegation co-chairman for the mock election and convention election committees.

The convention idea originated with Gary Lovett and Jody Kahle, both social science instructors at THS. After the 1972 conventions, they were shocked to find their students had no awareness about political convention procedure.

"Monday they experienced all the pressures and tensions similar to the ones the Democrats and Republicans experienced this summer," explained Jody Kahle, an Adrian College graduate.

Students began early with a preliminary bargaining session, adopted rules and selected convention officers. During the day, delegates attended various committee meetings and discussed positions on resolutions and candidates.

Delegates also prepared a platform statement from the resolutions and presented it at the evening convention. Issues were debated and voted upon. Students elected a chairperson and parliamentarian for the 1977 convention.

Jo Ann Schroeder from Britton-Macon High School was elected 1977 chairman and Mark Phelan from Tecumseh High School was elected parliamentarian, second highest office.

"We built a reputation for quality candidates. We deliver what we say will do and stand behind it whether we win or lose," Lovett said of the Tecumseh delegations.

"Being honest and straightforward when you make bargains or deals and keeping your word is important in politics and very important as far as we're concerned," Lovett emphasized. The teachers stress that students "show character" and "accept winning or losing equally well."

Local sponsors of the Girl's and Boys' State programs credit the youth convention and the Tecumseh teachers for the students' political awareness and accomplishments in the state wide programs.

The program is immensely popular with Tecumseh students, perhaps because there is no debate team. A waiting list forms the first week of class in September. Students are screened by a selection committee of peers and teachers. Students complete the planning.

Tecumseh's feeder system is responsible for its effectiveness over the years. Freshmen and sophomores are selected to learn while experienced juniors and skilled seniors dominate the convention delegates.

During the convention, advisors remain on the sidelines ready to answer questions, but the students make the decisions.

"Usually when one observes a national Democratic or Republican convention, and is not involved, impressions formed about what is or isn't happening are usually wrong. The best way to teach is by doing," summarized Kahle.

The convention has the approval of local politicians and principals and local Democrat and Republican parties contribute to its finance.

Participates in NATO Exercise

Navy Fireman Apprentice James M. Marion, son of Mrs. Belva Bates of 1325 Southwestern, participated in the NATO exercise "Display Determination" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate USS Koelsch, deployed with the U.S. Sixth Fleet. His command joined with naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise which included convoy operations, amphibious assault landings and anti-submarine warfare maneuvers.

The primary objective of the exercise was to train NATO naval forces in combined sea operations, to refine NATO procedures and ensure that operational plans were current.

A former student of Tecumseh High School, Marion joined the Navy in November 1975.

All materials for the bazaar should be delivered Nov. 15 for the bazaar at the Beecher St. plant.

Plans will be completed for the employee Christmas party to be held at the plant this year.

Tories Shut Out Trojans, Retain Share of 1st Place

The Britton-Macon Tories defeated the Madison Trojans 20-0 Friday to maintain their share of first place in the Tri-County Conference and set up their battle this Friday night with the Summerfield Bulldogs for at least a share of the league crown.

The Tories took the opening kickoff and marched 58 yards for a touchdown in nine plays with Rudy Montalvo scoring on a 15-yard run. The extra point run failed and the Tories led 6-0.

In the second quarter Tory linebacker Bill Lutz intercepted a Madison pass on the Britton 30 yard line and raced upfield 50 yards where he fumbled the ball, but it was picked up by teammate Mark Gilmore who carried it in the final 20 yards for the touchdown. Jeff Osterhout ran over the two point conversion to make the halftime score 14-0.

Following a Madison punt in the third quarter the Tories marched 49 yards for the final score of the evening with Montalvo scoring on a one-yard run. The conversion run failed.

Madison had only 66 yards in total offense for the evening. They gained 18 yards rushing and quarterback Dale Roback passed for 48 yards with three interceptions.

The Tories had 256 yards in the total offense all on the ground. Rudy Montalvo gained 101 yards in 20 attempts and Tim Kurowicki added 84 yards in 14 carries.

Mark Willaert, playing his first game at quarterback for the injured Randy Smith, was 0-1 passing.

Lon Wagenschutz again led the Tory defense with 12 solo tackles and four assists including three quarterback sacks for a total of 16 tackles. Bill Lutz had nine solos and six assists for 15 tackles and one interception. Phil Loesch picked off two interceptions for the Tories.

Britton is 4-3 overall and 4-1 in conference action. They are tied with Deerfield and Summerfield for first place. The Tories play Summerfield this Friday for at least a share of the conference title.

The Redskin defense recorded it's first shut-out of the season holding Grass Lake to 128 total yards, sacked the the quarterback seven times, and caused five turnovers.

Indians Face Maples in Annual Showdown

Can the Indians put four quarters of football together? They've played several games with a couple of good quarters, but that will not be good enough Friday night.

Rival Adrian, once beaten and that loss to undefeated and state ranked Ypsilanti, hosts Tecumseh, also 7-1 for the season, in a finale that annually attracts the biggest crowd and most interest in the county.

Coach Pat Connors has an excellent team this season - at least for two quarters of a game. Only in a loss to Flat Rock did the Indians fail to generate any real enthusiasm - and that lost cost Tecumseh a claim to the Huron League title.

Adrian has outmuscled several worthy opponents enroute to their best season in many years, and last week relied on a strong ground game to edge Jackson Parkside, 13-7. The Maples will be the favorites.

Weather has often been a factor in the game and one that can't be overlooked again. The two teams have slugged it out in snow, rain and sleet and once in a while on a beautiful fall evening. If the weather is bad, it could be advantageous for the Maples, a bigger but perhaps not quite as quick a team as the Indians.

In the series between the two rivals, dating back to late 1950's, Tecumseh has won seven, lost eleven and tied once. Last year, Adrian was a heavy favorite but struggled to an 18-7 victory after the Indians had closed the gap to 12-7 in the third period.

And that Adrian club was about on par with this year's club which has posted a 7-1 mark.

Although Connors will have a large number of outstanding players returning next fall, he will also see a sizeable number ending their prep careers against Adrian.

HONOR RAISIN OFFICIAL — James Mitchell, a Raisin Township official for the past 39 years and who will retire Nov. 20, will be honored Nov. 21 at an open house from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the Town Hall on Occidental Hwy. A lifelong Republican, he first took office in 1937 as township clerk, and in 1943 at the urging of John Calhoun, a staunch Democrat, he ran for the supervisor post. He's been a strong and influential county figure since. Public is invited to the open house, particularly citizens of the township and those who worked with the supervisor during his years as both township and county officials.

Board Fails To Release Big Boy Site

Another setback was suffered Tuesday night by backers here of a Big Boy restaurant franchise when Tecumseh Township Board failed to release approximately one acre for annexation to the city.

A motion by Al Merz, township clerk, to release the property, adjacent to Les Dallas, Inc. auto agency, failed to obtain a second from any board member. Site measures about one acre, 165 feet on M-50 by 300 feet deep.

Proposal for release and annexation was discussed for nearly an hour at the board's meeting, held in supervisor James Tonneberger's residence on Newburg Rd.

The board voiced objections, as did two township residents, over piece-meal annexation of township property by the city.

Tonneberger suggested to the backers - Gene Tuckey, Joe Manineo and Earl Baldwin - that they ask City Council for sewer and water utilities without annexation.

Baldwin said Wednesday morning they expect to attend Monday night's Council session, along with their attorney, Henry Newlin, and ask for the utilities.

Newlin, who also is Tecumseh Township attorney, spoke in favor of releasing the property to the city and attended the meeting with backers of the Big Boy restaurant.

The township clerk said he was surprised at the board's opposition and was not aware of it until the meeting. This fall the board released a portion of the Tecumseh Country Club property - including the club house and pro shop - for the same city utilities.

At that time Country Club officials were told that utilities would be made available if the property were annexed.

Members of the board, besides Merz and Tonneberger, are Helen Sharpe, treasurer, and trustees, Larry Eaton and John Boyce, who did not seek re-election earlier this month and who will be replaced Nov. 20 by Fred Long.

In other action, the board accepted the resignation of Norris Kopka as building inspector. He has held this position for many years. Resignation will be effective Jan. 1st.

Junior High Open House on Nov. 17

Tecumseh Junior High School is sponsoring an open house for parents at 7:30 p.m., next Wednesday, Nov. 17.

A miniature school day is being planned. Parents will follow a typical schedule of their child's classes. In each class a brief explanation of the course content will take the place of the usual assignments and discussion.

Following the last period, refreshments will be served in room 403 and opportunities for informal talks with the teachers will be possible.

The junior high school staff anticipates the usual high parent interest and attendance.

Arrangements for the event are being made by the Junior High School Open House Committee, Mrs. Georgia VanKirk and Edward Oxley.

Fire Destroys House Here

The home of Isabel Flores, 611 S. Pearl St., was completely destroyed by fire last Friday evening.

According to fire officials, the blaze was the result of a space heater. Firemen were dispatched at 9 p.m. and returned three hours later.

No one was home at the time.

The home was judged a complete loss and was not insured.

TECUMSEH POLICE WERE BUSY

13 on Report: 6 Arrested, B&E, Vehicles Stolen, Vandalism

Police were busy this week investigating 13 complaints. Six individuals were arrested, two autos were stolen, one B&E was reported and two incidents involving cement blocks thrown at property.

A resume includes:

Nov. 3 - Mrs. Glenn Schleicher, 4508 Macon Rd., reported an auto had struck and destroyed her mailbox.

Nov. 4 - Fredrick M. Bartlett Jr., 19, of 233 Maple, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor after he was stopped in the 700 block of W. Pottawatamie. His car was weaving on that street and exceeding the speed limit when officers stopped him.

Bartlett reportedly resisted arrest, biting and kicking the officers. He was taken to court the same day, fined $50 and costs or 20 days.

Ray Martin, Macon Rd., was picked up on a bench warrent after failing to pay a fine and costs from District Court. He was reportedly fined $65 again including costs, and given five days.

Nov. 5 - Eugene K. Lathrop, 21, of 2970 Kaiser Rd., was arrested on a bench warrent out of Second District Court for contempt of court. He was picked up at the Clark gas station.

Nov. 6 - Rogelio Trevino, 24, of Adrian, was arrested for possession of marijuana. Police found him asleep in a vehicle parked at the St. Elizabeth Church drive with the lights on.

After being advised he was under arrest for drunk and disorderly, a check revealed he had a quantity of marijuana on him. He was then arrested for possession.

Kathy Hartley, 504 Sutton Rd., reported her auto stolen from the front drive during the night. It was found later in a ditch at 2260 Munger Rd.

Don Purkey, 525 N. Occidental, resident about a mile from 2260 Munger, then reported a stolen pickup at 8:45 a.m. He told police that the truck was stolen out of his garage although two watch dogs were present.

It was found in an old gravel pit at the rear of Tecumseh Acres School. The vandals tore up a lawn with the truck before they became stuck. The truck was scratched in several places, a mirror broken off and drivers' door was damaged.

Nov. 7 - Robert L. Sterling, 18, of 5000 Burt St., was arrested at 12:15 a.m. for drunk and disorderly. Police reportedly chased Sterling down the alley between Eagles and the American Legion before catching him.

Bradford C. Brown, 22, was observed crossing W. Chicago near Maiden Ln. at 3:16 a.m., when police arrested him for drunk and disorderly.

Nov. 8 - Mrs. Beatrice Mills, 610 Sutton St., reported malicious destruction when she discovered seven sections of her picket fence had been damaged.

Nov. 9 - Ray Lovett, manager of Northern Propane Gas, reported malicious destruction there when he found vandals had thrown a cement block through a front window.

Alice Schneider, 115 S. Union, told police someone in a moving vehicle threw a cement block against her parked auto. Her auto was parked at 301 W. Shawnee.

Keith Gilbert, 223 S. Pearl, reported a breaking and entering at Charlie's. The new business at 119 S. Evans is owned by Charles Chapman.

Two machines were broken into and $70 was taken in change. Numerous bricks were removed from an inside wall, plywood was removed from a south window and from a garage at the rear of the building. The double door in front was apparently kicked in.

Police do have a suspect in the case as witnesses saw a blue pickup leave the lot at the time of the B&E.

PC Approves Industrial Plat

Planning Commission approved the city's 58-acre industrial site plat Tuesday night, subdividing it into 20 industrial lots.

The area, bordering E. Russell Rd. on the south, also has a small residential section included as a buffer zone to the east.

Although the parcel has been subdivided into 20 lots, any industry requiring more than one lot may obtain additional lot or lots, city officials say.

Necessary papers already have been filed with the government to acquire assistance in constructing a paved U-shaped drive off E. Russell. Street will include curb and gutter.

Six Accidents

Police investigated six accidents this past week. One involved a bicyclist who was taken to Herrick Hospital. He was not seriously hurt.

Twelve year old Paul D. Haggar, 714 Seneca was struck while bicycling Thursday just after dark. Police report he was heading north on the one way, southbound Evans St. without lights when struck.

Douglas R. Beasley, 29, 202 Iroquois, was traveling west on Logan when he struck the bike.

In other police reports:

Nov. 2 — Valerie D. Bartenslager of Britton told pollie she parked across from the Party Shop and returned to find an unknown auto had backed out of the store and struck her auto.

Nov. 4 — Frankie Herrell, 18, 215 S. Maumee, was driving east on Chicago when he was struck by Opal F. Miller, 61, or Ridgeway. Miller pulled into traffic from the Kroger parking lot.

Nov. 5 — Harry V. Newton, 35, of 166 Pleasant Dr., was cited for failure to yield when he stopped at an intersection, checked for traffic, and then pulled in front of Donald J. Martin, 36, 9823 Dillingham Ct.

Jose Cardenas, 24, of Adrian was southbound on Occidental when he struck an auto parked along the curb. The parked auto belonged to Andrea G. Kurtz of Clinton.

Nov. 8 — Dean Kirkland, 30, of Clinton told police he was following another auto on W. Chicago when the car in front stopped to turn. Kirkland pulled into the right lane to pass when he hit another auto driven by Darryl J. Dunbar, 16, 216 W. Logan.

School Movies Are Big Hits for Youngsters

Two all-time great movies played recently at the Tipton and Sutton elementary schools.

"Guess Who's Coming to Lunch" played at Tipton and "Gone with the Shark" premiered at Sutton elementary.

Tom Sura, principal of the two schools, shot the two, 25 minute films. They featured papier-mache sharks made by the students.

In each case, each school had shark drills and then the shark "attacks" the playground. The children are rounded up and herded off to an unknown hideout. Each grade attempts to rid the school of the beast unsuccessfully.

In the end, the nonviolent movie has a happy ending when the shark gets its wish. It becomes a noon supervisor at Tipton and the new principal at Sutton.

Each school child and his parents were able to view the finished product.

OH NO!—Actually Sutton sixth graders Mike Barnhart and Jim Smith only supply the motor power for Sutton's 15 foot shark. Fifth graders Tammy McMahon and Deanna Doty seem to believe the boys are supplying a meal for the papier-mache fish. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

On Retirement Planning

How well we enjoy retirement may be related directly to how well we plan for it.

Here are a few thoughts to assist you in your planning.

1. Determine how much annual income you'll need is a good start. Be realistic.
2. Project current assets and income sources now. Calculate your today's net worth.
3. Decide whether or not you'll have an "income gap" at your expected retirement age . . . whether your required income is more than your estimate you'll actually have.
4. If there is a "gap", plan how to close it before retirement age.
5. Think about what you want to do at retirement. Your 40 hours a week on a job will be past history. With what will you fill these new-found hours?

Parachutests Mark Milestone

Over 900 first time students have jumped this year at the Parachuting Service of Tecumseh, located at Al Meyers Airport. Harold Lange, instructor and owner, expects that the number will reach 1,000 before the year's end, due to good weather.

This surpasses the 1974 record of 800 first time student jumps.

Parachuting Service is believed to have the third highest jumping record in the United States this year.

Lange who has been in the business for 14 years has personally taught 4,000 first time students. Students come from many area universities and colleges including: the Universities of Toledo, Michigan, and Bowling Green and Eastern Michigan Universities, Adrian, Hillsdale and Albion Colleges and Jackson, Washtenaw and Monroe community colleges.

Lange said this is the most active club in Michigan with 5,000 jumps this year.

Thanksgiving, Easter, 4th of July, New Year's Eve, Christmas and even a birthday were all celebrated last week at the Carl Bartel's home on the Clinton-Macon Rd. Mrs. Carl (Roberta) Bartels four sisters, Mrs. Georgia Ina Lynch, Mrs. Athalie Moore, Mrs. Billie Coon all from Oklahoma, and Mrs. Pauline Chafin of Texas decided to get together and drive to Michigan where the five sisters would all be together under the same roof for the first time in 43 years.

Each one of the girls took care of a day during the visit doing the planning and cooking for the day.

Thursday was Thanksgiving complete with a full course turkey dinner. Friday morning found an Easter brunch complete with colored eggs, Friday afternoon moved on to a 4th of July celebration and combination birthday party. Appropriate decorations were hung and in the evening Carl's miniature cannon was shot outside. Saturday was New Year's Eve complete with paper hats, horns and all the other festivities.

Sunday was Christmas complete with stockings hung by the chimney with care, stockings quickly made by one of the ladies. A ceramic Christmas tree was lighted and a gift exchange (a very funny one) took place. Even mother nature cooperated and the snow came down outside on "Christmas day".

The happy group left early Monday morning to go home but what memories they will hold for all the days to come! Others taking part in some of the fun were, Bartel's daughter and husband, Dick and Carolyn Baker and family, Col. and Mrs. Wallace Cox and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Englehart and Ralph Englehart.

Tecumsehite's Play to Debut

by KATHY BROWN

A new play by former Tecumsehite Nancy Hamilton Raymond will debut at the Francoeur Theater Nov. 19, 20 and 21 at 8 p.m. on the Siena Heights College Campus.

Entitled "Let's Do It the Civilized Way," the adult comedy is about the playwright's views of the "funny side" of women's liberation.

Proceeds from the performances will start a scholarship fund for Siena Heights drama students in memorial for John Raymond, her late husband.

Glenn Crane will direct the play and Robert Soller is technical director; both are well known in area theater.

Local residents cast in the play are Peg Frownfelder as Phoebe, the mother-in-law; Jan Sura as "Sophie," a feminist attorney and Betty Flanders as "Mrs. Broom, an old, stuffy philanthropist and gossip."

Setting is an upper-class townhouse apartment. Gossip is one of the themes. Wilma, the wife, is a weak person who yearns to be liberated and blames her failure in business on her husband, George. The mother-in-law represents the guardian of old values and tries to keep the marriage together using common sense in a didactic and humourous way.

A triangle develops when June, a sophistocate and Sophie, a successful married attorney pursue George.

Although her poetry is "serious" Raymond's first play is a comedy. She wrote it in seven months, in between her duties as owner of an adult foster care home in Adrian. She is only a sophomore in English at Siena but the play represents graduate level work. The college has taken the play serious enough to cancel another.

Raymond has attended two writers' conferences at Cranbrook Academy of Arts and Sciences via scholarships and has had her poetry published.

A Greek by nationality, she said she is fascinated by the English language and uses word play to enhance the farce.

"Greeks are very much for theater," she explained her background. "I've been exposed to that all my life...that is my Greek life. (In the play) I have made the women look ugly and funny and in the end, they are not as pretentious as they appear to be at first."

Her late husband, whom she says was a major influence, was active in the Tecumseh Players years ago.

Betty Flanders will interview Raymond on Tecumseh Spotlight Nov. 17.

Judge Kerby Is Speaker at Club

Judge Yale Kerby brought a little wit and wisdom of campaigning to the Nov. 1 meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club at the home of Louise Lott. Mrs. Kerby was also a guest.

He explained the functions of District Court and explained the court system of Michigan. He told of his experiences as Circuit Court Judge in Detroit. He described his work with habitual alcoholics, with drug prevention program and the Traffic Safety School and probation referral system in Lenawee County.

Two bound volumes on Johann Sebastian Bach by Philipp Spitta were presented to the library in memory of Mrs. Ralph Comfort and Marion Whelan by the club.

Pumpkin pie was served by Elizabeth Hayden and Ralph Comfort.

Chapter 51 OES Meets

Worthy matron Lucinda Hand opened her first meeting of Tecumseh Chapter 51 OES with a poem entitled "Autumn Leaves."

The Lenawee-Monroe County officers who were introduced and welcomed were: Wilmer Kiser first vice president; Mary Lou Moore, secretary. Mother advisor Carolyn Baker of Adrian Assembly of Rainbow 44 was also welcomed.

The worthy matron gave a report on grand chapter and announced that Owosso Chapter 127 had been selected as Tecumseh's sister chapter.

BOOK MARK
News from the Tecumseh Library.

Many good new novels are on hand for your reading pleasure at Tecumseh Public Library. The following selection includes adventure, mystery, suspense and new novels about the lives and problems of several remarkable women characters.

GAME IN DIAMONDS Is a new romantic mystery by an old favorite, Elizabeth Cadell. A rich young man engaged to a flamboyant but absent fiancee, a young music student, and a large English estate with a puzzling archaelogical mystery on its grounds are the major elements in this pleasing novel, which is one of Cadell's best.

MERIDIAN, by Alice Walker, takes the reader to a different setting - the world of a young black woman, a deserted teenage mother, who must find her way in a hostile world. She does so, in a novel written with great tenderness and insight.

HALF A MARRIAGE, by Violet Weingarten, is a novel about a classic situation - the middle-aged woman, happily married, whose husband leaves her for a younger woman. Weingarten describes with great insight, Jane's moods and experiences as she suffers and grows.

Another new novel about marriage is GIRLS TURN WIVES, by Norma Klein. In this story, two friends, former classmates at Barnard, choose to live alone in New York City. They are polar opposites: Hannah is an easygoing, home-oriented mother of three, and Jess is a career-oriented, teacher and writer, a perfectionist, married at 29. Their experiences change them and their marriages. Klein is the author of SUNSHINE and many novels for children and young adults.

THE DINOSAUR BRIEF by Ruth Moore, is a story of survival. Determined to leave the confusion of the city, Will McCarren and his six children, now motherless, have an adventuresome time as they take over a deserted island off the coast of Maine.

A novel about the search for meaning in old age is THE SPECTATOR BIRD by Wallace Stegner. Joe Alston is a 70-year-old literary agent who has retired in California. His parents and son long dead, his career helping to advance the talents of others, he feels rootless, isolated from himself and other people. The novel concerns his memories of a trip to Denmark, his mother's birthplace, where he felt more involved with life.

THE STAR SPANGLED CONTRACT is a novel by Jim Garrison, well known as the New Orleans District Attorney who investigated the assassination of John F. Kennedy. It concerns Colin McFerrin, a former undercover agent who tries to save the President from assassination by people within his own government.

Two Schools Get New Flags

Carroll Conklin and the VFW Hall-Slater Post No. 4187 made sure that Old Glory waves proudly in Tecumseh during 1976. Three flags were presented to schools recently.

Herrick Park and Patterson schools received each one this past week. Earlier this fall, a flag was presented to Maurice Spears Campus.

The VFW sells United States and Michigan flags. Profits from sales go into a flag fund which helps to pay for the flags presented to schools in the Tecumseh School District.

Test Scores Concern Board

CLINTON — Low math scores of Clinton's seventh graders, reported in a Michigan Department of Education assessment test, was discussed at Monday's meeting of the school board.

The test showed that only 47.4 per cent of seventh graders achieved between 75 and 100 per cent of the objectives on the test.

While considering what can be done to remedy the situation, Supt. Richard Wegner noted that at one time reading scores were too low, but have risen with the instituting of a remedial reading program.

Board will discuss the low math scores more after officials have had more time to study them.

A separate athletic budget, as mandated by state law, was studied.

Difference between gate receipts and athletic expenditures will have to be transferred from the general fund budget to the athletic budget.

Board accepted the resignation of Lila Conklin from the Middle School office staff, as she is moving to Florida with her husband Clarence Conklin. Mrs. David Pratt was hired to fill that position.

Tenure was granted to Thomas Mueller and Nancy VanMatre.

Approval was voted for the purchase of "Spaceship Earth Physical Science" textbooks for the high school science department.

Supt. Wegner reported on the track project which is completed. Less than $5,000 is owed on the track.

Used school merchandise is still being sold and will be advertised again.

Mike Howe has resigned from his basketball coaching assignment. If there are no teachers interested or qualified in the system, it may be necessary to hire someone from outside the school system.

This first salad recipe from Sharon VanBrunt is quick, easy, and very good.

PISTACHIO SALAD

1 (20-oz.) can crushed pineapple
1 package instant pistachio pudding
2 cups prepared Dream Whip
1½ cups miniature marshmallows
½ cups cup chopped nuts
½ cup maraschino cherries (chopped)

Combine pineapple and its juice with dry pistachio pudding; mix well. Fold in prepared Dream Whip, marshmallows, nuts and cherries. Chill and serve. (This makes a red and green salad, so it would be pretty for Christmas, too.)

Joanne Zubke, from Adrian, gave me this cottage cheese salad recipe. It is her family's favorite salad and sounds delicious.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

1 (3 oz. lime jello
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold liquid
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1 cup cottage cheese
1/3 cup mayonnaise
1 cup whipped cream

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain pineapple reserving juice. Add cold water to juice to make 1 cup liquid; add to gelatin. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in rest of ingredients and chill.

Thanksgiving table would not be complete without candied sweet potatoes or yams. Here is a new version that we enjoy.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

2 (1 pound) cans sweet potatoes or yams
¼ cup margarine
½ cup brown sugar
1 (16 oz.) can crushed pineapple
¼ cup milk.
2 cups miniature marshmallow

Cook yams until heated thoroughly; then drain. Mash yams with fork and add milk, margarine, and brown sugar. Fold in drained crushed pineapple. Place in greased 1½ quart casserole dish. Top with marshmallows and bake in 350 degree oven for 30-40 minutes. Serve hot.

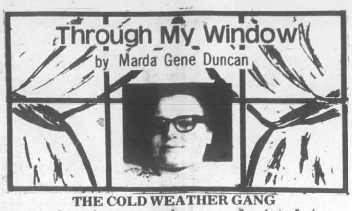
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



THE COLD WEATHER GANG

Speaking from a purely personal point of view the cold weather months are the best for my kind of bird watching. Oh, every season has its own particular brand of excitement -- spring means migration and courtship, summer is full of baby birds, and fall has the spectacular colors which cancel the loneliness left by the birds as they return south. However, when the temperatures drop and the winds blow cold and raw, then the winter birds are forced to come to the feeder. Super bird watching.

Not too many mornings ago we were 'treated' to a near perfect preview of what will be coming in the not too distant future. It was a cold morning and everything in the outside world were heavily coated with pebbly white frost. Brrrr.

By the time breakfast was over and I was sitting up, with my bed pulled down in front of the west facing window, some of the frost was gone but enough remained so that my window picture still looked shivery and cold. Almost immediately the parade of birds began.

The freeloaders were hungry and fortunately they knew where breakfast was served. The guest list was not a complete roster of winter visitors but it certainly was more cold weatherish then it would have been several months ago.

I'll not try to keep them in order for they were coming and going constantly. A few stayed and ate but the general order was grab and run. The bluejays were the largest of the morning visitors and the chickadees the smallest, eleven inches as against five inches.

It is rather handy to keep these measurements in mind, it sometimes helps in estimating the size of other birds.

On this particular morning our frosty neighborhood had four bluejays in residence. Their colors were so bright — these birds have many shadings of blue but two are dominant, the blue of the head and back is one shade, whereas the tail and wings have little square 'windows' that are a much brighter, almost iridescent blue.

But for clean and new looking feathers nothing could top the six inch long downy woodpecker, The black and white on his back were sparkling and the little red spot, jauntily worn on the back of his head, identified his sex.

The cardinals did not come in pairs of course, that must wait until next spring. All told though there were four who came for breakfast — one female was gorgeously colored while the other was so young that her bill was still on the darkish side. As for the two gentlemen, both were brilliantly handsome.

The tiny chickadees, with their black caps and pretty gray and white body coloring, seemed almost beside themselves with excitement. The crisp cold weather was much to their liking and they were much more interested in darting from tree to feeder than actually settling down to a tasty breakfast of sunflower seeds.

Drapper and natty titmice were almost as active as the chickadees. These little guys (six inches), their soft gray feathers always in place, are one of the mainstays at a winter birdfeeder. And with their perky topknots and shiney black eyes, they are most welcome.

The upside down nuthatch population was on the low side, only one pair. Hopefully that number will be at least doubled soon.

Finally there were the juncos. The men folk of this family seem extra colorful this year, their head and backs are extremely black and their fronts a rich gray-cream, but oh my, some of the ladies are the most non-descript nothings ever. One especially is such an all over drabbish gray that were it not for her little head and her white outer tail feathers she would be a mystery.

When the weather really gets bad the bird feeders will host other birds of course; however, the ones listed above are a good sampling of the winter's best customers.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

We wish to thank every person who was involved in any way in the recent Swine-like Flu Immunization Clinics. There were so many groups and individuals who were involved that it would be impossible for us to thank each of you individually.

Many people contributed of their time and effort far and above what would normally be expected of them. Some worked at their own jobs at night and then came to help with the clinics during the day. Many served all day several days during the clinic hours.

We have knowledge of at least 3,410 volunteers who worked in the clinics throughout the county plus personnel from the following groups: Sheriff's Department, Fire Department Emergency Medical Technicians, Ambulances, REACT and Legionaires 40 & 8.

The total number of man hours expended by all persons who volunteered has been estimated at approximately 25,614 during the two weeks of clinics from October 18 - 31. There were 28,793 people who received vaccine in this county for a rate of 53 percent of the eligible adult population.

This has been truly a community effort. The Lenawee County Health Department could not possibly have accomplished the program placed upon them without a total volunteer community effort. The citizens of Lenawee County have performed in an outstanding manner.

We thank each and every one of you from the bottom of our hearts.

Sincerely,
Mary Hanson, R.N.

Tories Beat Bulldogs, Crowned League Champs

The Britton-Macon Tories won their second Tri-County league football championship in three years by beating Summerfield Friday night 22-7.

The Britton victory, coupled with Deerfield's loss to Whitmore Lake, gave the Tories the outright title. The Tories ended with a 5-1 league record while Deerfield and Summerfield post 4-2 marks. All three teams were tied for first place before Friday night's action.

The Bulldogs came out strong marching 28 yards in five plays finally scoring on an 18-yard run. They made the extra point but that was their last score of the contest.

The Tories used a persistent ground attack led by backs Rudy Montalvo and Tim Kurowicki to overwhelm their opponents.

Britton's first scoring drive was 75 yards with Montalvo going two yards for the score. The Tories held Summerfield and took over on their own 35 yard line driving 65 yards in seven plays for the score. Montalvo scored from one yard out and ran over the extra points making the score 14-7.

The Bulldogs fumbled in the third quarter and Britton's Jon Hintz recovered on the Tory 17 yard line. The team went 83 yards in 20 plays with Montalvo scoring on a one yard run. He again ran over the extra points making the final score 22-7.

Britton held Summerfield to 128 yards rushing. The Bulldogs were 0-2 passing.

The Tories grabbed 339 yards total offense all on the ground. They did not throw a single pass. Montalvo was the leading ground gainer with 206 yards on 42 carries. Kurowicki was next in line with 102 yards on 19 carries.

Bill Lutz led the Tory defense with six solo tackles and four assists. Steve Crittenden had eight tackles while Lon Wagenschutz and Randy Smith added seven tackles each. Smith also had a pass interception.

Head Coach Randy Salisbury said of the big victory, "It was a total team effort by all 38 young men on our football team."

The Tories closeout their season with a contest against North Adams this Friday.

Indians Are 2nd In Huron League

Tecumseh's grid squad completed its league season with an easy 21-0 shut-out of Carlson Friday night.

The victory leaves the Indians with a 6-1 league record and a 7-1 overall record. The single loss was to Flat Rock. The Indians finished in second place in the Huron League.

Tecumseh completes its season this Friday meeting Adrian in the annual rivalry.

Against Carlson Friday, the Indians capitalized on their opponent's mistakes. Carlson fumbled a total of five times and lost the ball each time to the hustling Indian defense.

The evening started slowly with both teams unable to mount an effective drive during the first half.

Carlson fumbled the kickoff opening the third quarter and Indian Dave Bohannon recovered on the 33. Kevin Eggleston drove the final yard for the first score of the game. Jeff Robideau made the kick.

In the fourth quarter, it was John Silberhorn's turn to come up with a Carlson fumble. This time it was on the Carlson 46 yard line. After eight plays, Jeff Anderson went two yards for the score and Robideau again kicked the extra point.

Indian quarterback Jeff Hans made the final score running 16 yards. The touchdown was set up by Tim Belcher who recovered yet another Carlson fumble on Tecumseh's own 29 yard line. John Egbert kicked the extra point.

Egbert and Jim Neill also recovered Carlson fumbles.

Jeff Anderson led the rushing once again for Tecumseh gaining 124 of Tecumseh's 261 rushing yards in 20 carries. Jeff Hans had 63 yards in 11 carries.

Hans also completed five of 10 passes for 46 yards losing one to an interception.

Carlson had 108 yards on the ground and 69 through the air on six of 13 passes. Carlson allowed two interceptions. Eggleston and Bohannon picked off the two Carlson passes.

The Indians had 12 first downs to nine for the opposition.

Dan Tilton led the Indian defense with 11 tackles while Bohannon had eight.

Tecumseh completes the grid season this Friday when the team travels to Adrian.

Girls Stretch Streak to 8

The Clinton girls basketball team won both of its games last week running their winning streak to eight in a row and their overall record to 14-2.

Tuesday night Britton invaded Clinton and the Redskins led by 11 at the end of the first quarter 18 to 7. Clinton maintained this lead until the fourth quarter when Britton closed the gap to 44 to 39.

At this point Sue Richter, Ruth King and Margaret Campbell each scored two free throws and Britton was outscored 15 to 2 during the final four minutes of the game. The final score was Clinton 59, Britton 41. Sue Richter led with 13 points and Karen Busch added 10 points. Clinton's JV's won 27 to 25.

The Hudson Tigers traveled to Redskin country on Thursday with revenge in mind. Clinton beat them in overtime earlier this season.

The score was very close until just before halftime when Clinton used its press to score three baskets and grab a lead of 25 to 16.

The final score was 46 for Clinton and 39 for Hudson.

"O.k. defense and rebounding were the keys to us winning this game", said Clinton coach Bob King.

Council OKs Utilities for Township Restaurant

Before a full audience of city and township residents Monday night, Tecumseh City Council unanimously approved the extension of city sewer and water to a Big Boy restaurant.

The franchise development is planned for approximately one acre of land in Tecumseh Township, adjacent to the west city limits, south of M-50.

Three local developers, Gene Tuckey, Joe Mannino and Earl Baldwin, agreed to pay all construction costs and agreed to be assessed by the city for the difference between current township and city millages.

Township permission and state highway approval must be received before plans proceed.

City officials considered Monday's decision a fair and equitable one.

Mayor Harold Easton told The Tecumseh Herald Tuesday that the city plans to meet with township officials to consider an equitable method to handle future requests relative to development.

Tecumseh Township board members failed last week to support a motion to release the property in question to the city for annexation. It objected to "piecemeal annexation" by the city. A few weeks earlier, it did release 14 acres, including the Tecumseh Country Club buildings, to the city so the club could get sewer and water services.

Monday night the local developers returned to Council and proposed to pay the entire costs of the sewer and water construction and maintenance. The developer's attorney, Henry Newlin, argued that "the services could be maintained at absolutely no cost" to city taxpayers. But, Council disagreed.

"You have to consider taxpayers have already invested millions of dollars into a sewage system" said Mayor Easton. "We do have to be fair to those citizens who have already paid."

"That's the real rub right there," agreed Councilman Carlton Cook.

Tecumseh Township trustee Larrie Eaton offered his ideas:

"Our main objection is being piecemealed to death. We're not objecting to a Big Boy. They happen to be on the chopping block. We're half a township to start. . .and a quarter without the city. A couple of years down the road we aren't going to be anything."

"There has got to be some way for the township and city to agree on extending these services. That's the future growth of this area," Eaton concluded.

Precidents were also discussed Monday. "These are all special cases, and they're all being thrown back at us." said Councilman Cook.

At least seven such cases were discussed Monday. General Motors Fisher Body Division has city sewer. It paid for construction and pays an annual assessment for a portion of the sewage treatment facility that is uses.

Tecumseh Friends Church has city water and in exchange, granted the city an easement. The church paid for hook-up. Jehovah's Witnesses also have city water and paid for construction. Both are in Tecumseh Township and since churches do not pay taxes, annexation was not a major concern to the city.

Dr. Harold Ocamb's residence on Occidental Hwy. has city sewer and water. In this situation the owner paid an assessment on the property frontage within city limits. House is actually inside the township.

Health study building and a small industry located next to it have city water. City extended services at request of then township supervisor, Arthur Eaton. All construction costs were paid.

A property on the corner of Tonneberger Dr. and Newburg Rd., formerly known as the "Maves property," was given sewer in order for a city easement. In the above cases, a rate and a half is paid for city water. The Big Boy development will pay the city rate because of the Council's agreement.

Big Boy would also have city police protection. Fire protection would continue to be provided by the township through its agreement with the city.

Franchise developers estimate that first year's gross sales could be $400,000. As many as 25 full-time and 10 part-time employees could be hired by the restaurant.

Pass Resolution Creating New Top City Position

Tecumseh Council adopted a proposal Monday night to create a new position in city government, that of director of community developement.

The proposal represents six months work of the Tecumseh Citizens Industrial Development Study Committee, known as the "Committee of 10". Council appointed representatives from the city and business in July to come up with ideas to attract industry.

The director of community development would be responsible for all aspects of community and industrial development. Although the director's prime job will be commercial and industrial development, the Committee of 10 decided to expand the scope of the director's role to include social and cultural development, because it viewed good housing, recreational facilities and communications as necessary to industrial progress. Other duties may also be assigned.

To this end, the director may work with agencies for federal grants and with any city official, city policy board or organization in an advisory capacity. The director may also promote the city on a full-time basis within the local community and to industrial developers.

Lack of a visible group or individual to promote the city and tendency of present industry to expand in other cities or regions were the major reasons given by the committee for the creation of the new job.

The city charter allows Council to create new administrative positions through resolution. The director of community development would report to the city manager as all city employees do. Backers of the proposal said the job would not diminish the duties of the city manager.

Another benefit of the new job is that it will distribute some new duties, not outlined by the charter, that have been performed by the city manager.

Salary suggested for the director was $20,500 maximum. In a presentation Monday, Committee of 10 member Jay Tressler and chaiman Henry Newlin suggested the salary could be partially recovered through federal grants, as has been done in other communities. Also, tax revenue from new industry could help the job pay for itself. In this way, the job is unique and a positive return for investment, they said. The director's salary could be included in the new budget for July 1977-78.

Qualifications for the job would be a "master or bachelor degree from an accredited college or university and experience in community and industrial development."

Council voted 5-1 in favor of the proposal. Councilman Ray Puffer cast the dissenting vote. Councilman Aden Mead was absent from the meeting.

"I'd like to take a little time to think this over," Puffer stated. "The goods are stacked against me. . .I feel pressured."

Although Council received a copy of the five-page proposal at its last meeting, Councilman Puffer indicated to the Herald that he felt Monday's discussion brought more information Council should consider.

Mayor Harold Easton did not agree with the qualifications and stated the person should be "experienced in public administration."

Chairman Newlin explained the qualifications were left open since a person with a "proven track record, irrespective of degree," might be the most desirable candidate.

Councilman Carlton Cook felt the director should be responsible to Council and not the city manager. "It just seems to me that he has a lot to do with policy, and it just seems to me he should be directed from here (Council) and not Cal's office (Cal Zorn, city manager), no matter who fills it."

"I think with any department, you've let me know how you feel policy wise," Zorn responded.

Responding to a question from the audience if the director's duties would change with the economic climate, Zorn said, ". . .if we don't have that flexibility, we're stymied here."

Another area of disagreement was the selection process. Tressler suggested that a screening committee of two representatives from the Committee of 10, two from council and the city manager screen applicants.

This was not in the original proposal Council voted on.

"I can't vote for this as long as this provision is in it," Mayor Easton said. He said that the city manager and council should select the director. "Council should have strong influence," he stated.

Newlin and Tressler stated that the committee did not intend to usurp Council's authority but be included in the decision process.

Councilman James Palmer, a member of the Committee of HALF WAY TO GOAL — Doug Dillon strips red tape on the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation feather at the United Savings Bank, showing the public that the present drive is over half way towards the $79,950 goal. Present for the occasion were Bob Robinson, drive chairman; Marten Vegter, secretary-treasurer of the Foundation, and Mary Bowers, head of professional division.

Over $40,000

Although the drive has passed the half-way mark relative to the $79,950 goal, the next couple weeks will probably determine whether the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation campaign will reach or top the goal.

Robert Robinson, drive chairman, reported Wednesday morning that actual donations and pledges now exceed $40,000, and the campaign in the industrial division is "looking good."

At a meeting last Friday, division heads reported progress in the drive, but only Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent and division head for the schools, predicted that his division would reach or top its goal.

Commercial division is lagging far behind and may not even match last year's total contribution of $6,400. This year's goal is $12,500.

Many businesses have promised to mail their donations in, and hopefully this will enable the division to at least reach the midway point.

Contributions may be picked up - call The Herald, 423-2174 - or dropped off at the Herrick Park Office of United Savings Bank, or mailed to the Fund, Box 142, Tecumseh, Mich.

Committees for TM Plans

Committees were established to follow-up on three Town Meeting proposals voted most important by over 25 citizens at a meeting Nov. 9 at Tecumseh Public Library.

The three proposals which received the most votes for immediate action were 1.) to establish a permanent Town Meeting action committee. 2.) to improve communication between The Tecumseh Herald and the public and 3.) explore ideas for a community activity center.

These and other proposals for improving life in Tecumseh were formulated by 200 area residents at the Town Meeting Oct. 23.

The Town Meeting action committee will function as a citizen's committee for implementing the proposals. William Frownfelder, Roger Proctor and Martin Vegter are in charge of setting up the committee and they hope to involve many citizens.

Deborah Harris is in charge of a committee to find ways to improve citizen input into The Tecumseh Herald, as well as provide and encourage feedback from the public so The Herald staff will know what the public wants.

Marge Steiner organized a committee to investigate possibilities for a Tecumseh activity center. The committee will consider what kind of facilities such a center should have and whether these needs can be met by adapting existing structures or constructing a new building.

Participants in the Nov. 9 meeting all attended the Oct. 23 Town Meeting. They signed a sheet so they could be contacted for follow up work.

Over half those who signed the sheet attended the follow up meeting. Seventeen others called Roger Proctor, coordinator and expressed continuing interest in the follow-up project.

The follow-up meeting was organized by Roger Proctor and conducted by Lynn and Mary Broughton, representatives of the Institute for Cultural Affairs. ICA is a nonprofit organization which helps communities plan and conduct town meetings.

Upcoming meetings of the Tecumseh Town Meeting action committee and other committees will be publicized to give other interested citizens a chance to participate.

ROGER PROCTOR

The role of the Clergy at Time of Death

In attempting to console the bereaved, the clergyman can sometimes find himself in seemingly a conflict with the facts of death, as observed by the bereaved.

Statements by a father to his five-year-old child such as "Now mummy's gone to Heaven" are too complex and yet too simple for the child to accept--especially when the child has seen the tears and expressions of grief of family and friends.

The minister can be of great assistance in defining the DIFFERENCES between physical (body of the deceased) and the soul (spirit of the deceased). It can be far healthier emotionally to allow the minister (priest or rabbi) to help the family of the deceased as they work openly through their grief than to permit their sadness to be repressed or concealed. The clergymen have been trained to assist in times of stress. Their experiences--drawn from real life-and-death situations--can be invaluable. The many sources of comfort and aid to which they have access may be most beneficial. They are anxious, moreover, to serve their congregations in these hours of grief-counselling.

This is one of a series of brief articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions in private or publicly.

Monday, Darrell L. Duttachek, 27, 705 Russell Sq., was traveling in the middle lane on N. Evans at Chicago. He started to make a left turn and struck an auto driven by Carolyn J. Williams, 35, of Tipton.

Saturday, Frances A. Toth, 26, 507 Russell, was cited for improper backing when she backed out of her drive. She told police she did not see an approaching westbound vehicle on Russell. Douglas J. Knight, 19, 501 Russell, could not avoid the accident.

Pvt. Hugh T. Ford Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Ford Sr., of 202 N. Maumee, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. A former student of Tecumseh High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1976.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY

Oh, how many times I have ranted and raved about English sparrows and starlings. They are such noisy, quarrelsome, bossy characters and when they overrun the bird feeders and dominate the yard it is discouraging to say the least.

There are a few reports which claim that the English sparrow is settling down and, in fact, the population may even be declining; however, the hordes of starlings continue to increase and in the process are ousting native birds from their rightful food supplies and living habitat.

And what really hurts is that these starlings and sparrows should not be here in the first place — they are alien birds who were intentionally brought into the country.

But before pursuing that thought too far there is the other side of the coin to consider. An article crossed my reading table not too long ago that made a point not often mentioned. Just as some imports into this country have proved disastrous so too have some of our exports been looked upon with something less than favor.

In the late 1800's, 10 eastern gray squirrels were sent to England. We find nothing wrong with gray squirrels but today the English are far from happy with the present.

Apparently the original group discovered the environment much to their liking, they have multiplied and multiplied until now the unchecked population explosion is doing excessive damage to the beech trees.

Gray squirrels are also accused of displacing England's native red squirrels. I suppose that it is a matter of national pride, of not wanting to lose a national species because of an upstart of an import but my goodness, if their red squirrels are like ours, imagine bemoaning the loss!

Another good idea that backfired was trying to establish muskrat farming in Czechoslovakia. The theory was to expand the fur growing industry. Unfortunately some muskrats escaped and, having few natural predators to keep their population in check, have become a serious problem.

These little animals are burrowers and diggers. In countries where dykes are important muskrats are definitely unwanted. And, in addition to undermining the dykes, they are also accused of doing much damage to railroad beds.

Birds and animals are not the only things to cause havoc when introduced into an unnatural environment. Fish create great problems too and again the traffic is two ways. The large mouth black bass, a super game fish in this country, was splashed into Guatemala's Lake Atitlan. Another disaster.

The fish not only thrived but its voracious appetite is posing a serious threat to the giant pied-billed grebe. It seems that this bird is extremely rare and one of the few places it nests is around this particular lake. Unfortunately the fish are eating so many young flightless grebes that the survival of the species is seriously threatened.

Equally troublesome are some of the fish which are now taking hold in Florida. Apparently the walking catfish and the little 'meat eating' fish from South America were originally brought in for the aquarium trade.

Whether accidently released or intentionally dumped when the market for them declined is really a moot question — the fact remains is that both are thriving and causing great concern.

We cannot even look at the devastating Dutch Elm disease carrier, the wood beetle, or the gypsy moth, who is equally destructive, without considering the potato beetle and the tiny American vine aphid.

One is a scourge to the potato crop and the latter almost wiped out the finest vineyards. Neither our bugs nor their bugs were intentionally allowed to cross borders — what matters is that they did and the results have been hideously troublesome to all concerned.

The picture is not completely black though. Consider the west coast salmon that have found such a happy home in Lake Michigan and the ring necked pheasant, both have been successful transplants. As with most things there is good to counterbalance the bad.

From now on I hope that when an invasion of starlings or English sparrows causes me to mutter, I will at least try to remember that they are only a small part of a much larger picture. And turn about is fair play — isn't it?

SQUIRRELLY STORY — Olive Ruettinger recently reported a mysterious build up of cones at the bases of three Australian pine trees in her yard. All the cones were still green and closed. Someone -- or something -- was piling them neatly. A quick check with Hidden Lake Gardens revealed that red squirrells are the probable culprits. They pile the cones to be eaten late in winter. The strange behavior may mean a long winter, unfortunately. (Photo by Frank Weir)

You Are What You Eat

By SHIRLEY WEEKLEY

With Thanksgiving just one week away, I received some special requests for traditional Thanksgiving recipes. With the help of other readers, I am happy to be able to fill them.

One reader was looking for a cranberry-apple salad mold. I have not tried this yet, but this recipe from Jean Delleceese sounds delicious.

CRANBERRY SALAD MOLD

1 quart raw cranberries
2 medium apples
1½ cup sugar
2 packages (3 ounce each) raspberry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 cup chopped nuts

Grind cranberries and apples together; Add sugar and let stand overnight. Next day, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add one cup chopped nuts and cranberry apple mixture. Put in mold or loaf pan and chill. If desired, serve on lettuce and top with ½ teaspoon salad dressing.

The second request was for an apple and sausage stuffing. Maxine Calhoun supplied this recipe. It sounds delicious and will be on my Thanksgiving menu.

APPLE SAUSAGE STUFFING

2 packages seasoned bread cubes
1 medium onion chopped
1 cup chopped celery
2 cups chopped apples
½ pound sausage (raw)
3 eggs (beaten)
¼ cup melted butter
1 cup boiling water

Crumble sausage and add to first four ingredients. Add eggs, butter and boiling water. Toss lightly. Will stuff a large (15 pound) turkey.

Here is a tip I received from a reader: Before stuffing the turkey, line the cavities of the turkey with a double layer of clean cheesecloth, then stuff with your favorite dressing. When the turkey is ready to serve, all the dressing can be removed easily from the turkey by pulling out the cheesecloth.

Almina Hunt gave me these suggestions for baking pies for diabetics.

To prepare any fruit pie, use your favorite recipe but replace the sugar with 1 cup unsweetened orange juice and 1 packet of artificial sweetener.

To prepare a pumpkin pie, again use your favorite recipe but use milk instead of cream, add one extra egg and replace sugar with one packet of artificial sweetener.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving.

Indian Girls Bow to Adrian Maples

Tecumseh's girls basketball squad lost to Adrian Monday night 38-30 to finish out regular season play.

The Indians enter district competition this Thursday night at Columbia Central against Willow Run.

Last week, Tecumseh easily slid by Carlson 65-20 and Ann Arbor St. Thomas 62-26.

But things went down hill when the Indians entered the Maples territory Monday night. Tecumseh trailed by a slim three points at the half, 18-15, but came up with just three points in the third quarter to 11 for Adrian.

Although Tecumseh outscored the Maples 12-9 in the final frame it wasn't enough.

Coach Diane Nelson was disappointed with the loss. "It was our worst game all year. I couldn't believe that we've played 16 games. We weren't hitting. Our floor game, offense and shooting killed us. Its not a good way to enter the tournaments."

The Indians connected on 21 percent of their shots from the floor and completed eight of 27 foul shots. Turnovers had to hurt as well. Tecumseh lost the ball 35 times to 12 for Adrian.

The Indians did hold a rebounding edge, 28-26 and Nelson felt the defense "played a pretty good game."

Nelson goes on to say that Willow Run is an improved team from last year when the Indians beat them handily 75-30.

Debbie Steadley was top scorer for Tecumseh against Adrian with nine points. Sandy MacGeorge had seven, Robin Isom five, Tori Iffland four, Grace Burns and Kris Underwood two and Janice Jahner 1.

The Indians ended regular season play with an 11-5 overall record and a 4-2 record in the Huron League. They finished in third place in the league behind Grosse Ile and St. Marys in a tightly contested league race.

Game time Thursday at Columbia Central is 7:30 p.m. A win there will put them into the finals Monday night at 7 p.m. at Columbia Central. The district winner will go on to the Stockbridge regional.

Score by quarters:

Basketball Scrimmage Saturday

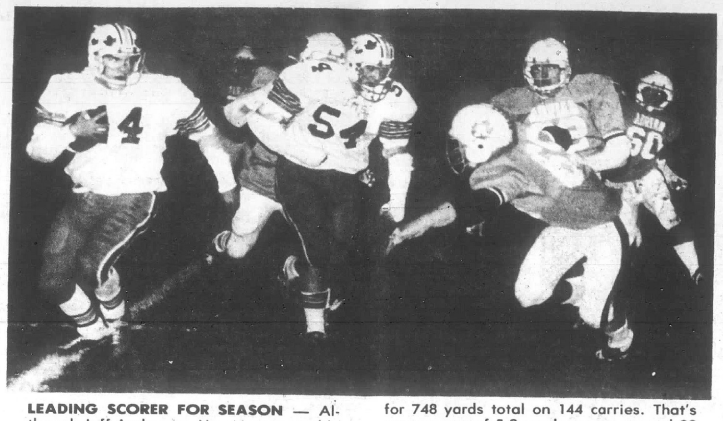
Tecumseh's basketball squad is gearing up for the start of its season Nov. 30.

This Saturday the team will hold the orange and white intersquad scrimmage at 10:01 a.m.

Next Wednesday, Nov. 24, the Indians travel to Ann Arbor Pioneer for a scrimmage at 3:30.

The public is welcome to attend.

Jim Curth is head basketball coach this season taking over the reins from Ron Spagnoli.



LEADING SCORER FOR SEASON — Although Jeff Anderson, No. 44, was unable to punch across the goal line against Adrian Friday, he played an outstanding season for the Indians. He led in scoring in the Huron League with nine touchdowns and rushed for 748 yards total on 144 carries. That's an average of 5.2 yards per carry and 83 yards per game. Above he rushes against the Maples while Jim Neill, No. 54 prepares to block. (Photos by Jim Lincoln)

Gridders End Season with Loss

Tecumseh completed its grid season on a despondent note Friday losing to rival Adrian 26-0.

The Maples dominated the evening holding the Indians to just 18 yards rushing and 60 yards through the air.

Several key turnovers by Tecumseh effectively crippled the Indians' scoring effort.

The Maple's first score came at 7:32 of the first quarter on a 36-yard pass play from quarterback Mark McNitt to fullback Rick Barber. The kick failed.

Near the end of the first quarter the Indians began a 10-play series, their most successful of the game. Tecumseh began at its own 25 yard line and marched to Adrian's three. On the second play of the second quarter, quarterback Jeff Hans lost the snap and Adrian took over.

The Tecumseh drive featured three big pass plays, a 42-yard pass to Lyndon Hughes and two nine-yard passes to John Egbert and John Anderson.

With almost four minutes left in the second quarter Adrain again scored but the run failed.

The Maples picked up 14 points in the third quarter. The first touchdown was a one yard run. Adrian's final score came when Mike Filter intercepted a Hans pass and went 26 yards for the touchdown.

Neither team mounted a scoring effort in the final frame.

The Maples came up with 152 yards rushing and 102 passing. McNitt completed seven of 10 passes for Adrian. The Maples had 15 first downs to three for the Indians.

Hans completed three of 10 passes allowing three interceptions.

Tecumseh fumbled four times and lost it three times while Adrian fumbled five times and lost the ball twice.

Jeff Anderson was the leading rusher for Tecumseh with 22 yards in 13 carries.

The Indians finished with a 7-2 record.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

The 1976 Tecumseh Indian football team came out to Macon last Thursday night for their final team supper and meeting. A chicken dinner (compliments of the Tecumseh Fan Club) was enjoyed at the Connors' home.

After eating, the coaches and boys had their special time to talk and share some thoughts and ideas. There is little doubt that the boys will leave this year with many memories and lasting friendships. Friday night they went to Adrian and in spite of the loss, a very successful year came to a close.

Pat and Sharon Connors went to Grand Rapids Saturday. They saw the upset victory of Grand Valley over No. 1 ranked Northern. Three former Tecumseh football players are members of the Grand Valley Team, Dan Gunder, Dennis Dermyer, and Dave Biscupski. Dan and Dennis saw a lot of defensive action

Bicentennial Journey

Flies, Flies, Flies

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — Until recent years general farming was practiced in many rural areas of Michigan. Most farms were self-sufficient. They produced grain, fruits, vegetables, poultry, and livestock.

Production of many of the farm products attracted numerous insects, especially flies. By fall, flies by the thousands became terrible pests. They swarmed about the barns and gathered on screen doors ready to invade the house every time a door was opened.

Home canning, especially when pickles, relishes, and catsup were being cooked in open kettles seemed to attract multitudes of flies that congregated on window and door screens.

To keep homes as free of flies as possible various devices were made and steps taken. Many housewives made fly chasers to hang by the side of the door.

The fly chasers were made of a length of broom handle about 30 inches in length and a large flour sack (50 pound size). The bottom was cut out of the sack. Then the sides of the sack were cut into strips about 1½ inches wide to within about seven inches of one end. The uncut end was wrapped around one end of the broom handle and tacked on securely. A cord was attached to the handle so the fly chaser could be hung by the door.

Bet many people recall sharing their mothers say, "Chase the flies away before you open the door."

Insect sprays, insecticides, pest strips, etc., were not available. Few homes had enclosed porches. Screens were not nearly as efficient as our modern ones. Some homes had neither door nor window screens. One could not help but wonder how the occupants managed with flies so numerous.

About 1920, sticky fly paper (Tangle-foot) was used to try to control the fly population. Sticky fly paper consisted of two sheets of fairly heavy paper coated with a sticky, syrupy substance that attracted flies.

When purchased the two sheets faced each other. They were pulled apart and either laid on a flat surface or tacked onto a screen door.

Flies were attracted to the sticky surface and their feet and sometimes wings became entangled in the sticky coating and they were caught.

Later fly ribbons were used. The ribbons fitted into a cardboard cylinder and when pulled out formed a strip of paper about two inches wide and 30 inches long. The narrow strip was coated on both sides with the same preparation as sticky fly paper and caught flies in the same way. The fly strips were suspended from rafters or ceilings.

At one time a fly powder was available. All rooms in the house were darkened except one. Flies left the darkened rooms and gathered in the light one. When the majority of flies had gathered in the one room the insect powder was blown about the room. Within a few minutes the flies lay still and had to be swept up and burned. Most of the flies were gone but the powder was a mess to clean up.

After fly powder had been on the market a short time, some people purchased a liquid fly spray to get rid of the pests. It was an improvement but left an oily residue which was not desirable.

When chilly fall weather came, flies gathered in enormous numbers under porch roofs and on screens. Early the next morning housewives swept the flies down then put them in newspaper and burned them, getting rid of countless pests.

With the change to grain farming and the discontinuance of livestock production, few breeding places for flies exist.

Insect pest strips and the handy fly swatter have done much to control the flies. What a relief to be rid of the nasty pests.

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED

*Last November, Adrian Paint & Supply, bought out a major Mich. dealer, who was forclosed, brought the carpet stock to the fairgrounds, and sold tons of carpet in 3 weeks.

*Since that time, the public has been demanding a similar sale, which couldn't be obtained until now, when we found an overstocked Southern carpet broker, who was willing to sacrifice their mammouth stock of carpet obtained from bankrupt mills and dealers.

*Only Adrian Paint & Supply could bring you such a sale, only the giant W.T. Grant store could hold such a sale, and only under these circumstances could you save so much, on such beautiful broadloom carpet - so hurry!

The proposal also accomplished many of the recommendations offered by citizens at Town Meeting '76, Tressler added.

Although partial solutions were considered by the Committee of 10, the full-time director's job, a proposal submitted to the committee by Tressler, was considered the most effective and unanimously adopted with some modifications.

Members of the Committee of 10 appointed by Council in July were: planning commissioners Jay Tressler and Tim Tietsema, councilman Jim Palmer, city manager Cal Zorn, Ray Oliver of Jiffy Plastics, Earl Mason of United Savings Bank, Chuck Hottinger of Goedert Realty, Henry Newlin, attorney, later elected chairman, Morgan Ford of Tecumseh Products and Paul Dangler of Gaston's.

THE FIRST DOLLAR EARNED

Today Donald arrived. Not at the zenith of success. Just at the threshold of opportunity. He made his first dollar . . . and put it where it will keep on working for his future.

Up to now Donald has depended on an allowance. That means living on money given. Now Donald will be moving toward financial independence. That means living on what you have earned.

Spiritually we arrive the same way. Our parents, if they are wise and caring parents, give us faith. They bring us to church. They encourage our Christian growth. They set moral standards in an atmosphere of religious conviction.

On the day that we do arrive . . . we begin providing for our spiritual needs voluntarily! Only then are we ready to be spiritually independent. That means living by the faith you have gained.

Ultimately we have to make our own decisions about our principles and convictions. There is no substitute for early religious training in preparing for that day.

MORE INFORMATION, COMMUNICATION ASKED

200 Propose Community's Future

By Kathy Brown

Participants at the Tecumseh Area Town Meeting '76 (TM '76) on Oct. 23 said they want to have more information about business and politics, more communication at all levels in the community and more participation by the individual in decision making and building the community's future.

All the challenges and proposals are in the TM report, now available at the Tecumseh Public Library.

Were the challenges and proposals made at TM '76 representative of the entire group there?

As one participant remarked at the day's end, he "found that the concerns of the individual turned out to be the concerns of others."

Here's why:

The meeting was organized so the 200 participants were divided into four "Guilds" that worked independently during the first session. When the groups reconvened at lunch, they were surprised that the issues raised were similar in theme. In the afternoon, these written challenges were sorted into one of three "arenas", economic, political or cultural. One guild was selected to formulate "proposals" or solutions, for the challenges in one of the three "arenas". Guild four had a special assignment to write the new community story, design an emblem and write a song.

Here is a summary of what those proposals were:

Shared funding with townships for commonly used services and facilities, support of diversified industrial development and more information about local government were the basic themes of the economic proposals presented by Guild one.

Guild one proposed to:

1) invite outlying townships to share in funding, in proportion to use, for facilities such as a "theatre, youth activities, transportation for senior citizens and a new swimming area." "Everyone has a part to play in this Tecumseh Area," said the guild.

2). Create more employment opportunities with the industrial development committee and lower business operating costs in Michigan; and also to locally create a "good atmosphere (through) law abiding citizens, good schools, good town government and good housing."

3.)Stimulate interest and awareness through guest editorials in the Tecumseh Herald and televised council meetings on Channel 5 (cable TV).

The common themes in each of the political proposals were awareness of and input into the political system through grass roots meetings and information and action committees.

Guild two proposed to:

1.) Create a "Citizens's Action Committee" to survey community desires "i.e. growth, new form of government, status quo, through voluntary leadership; and to secure the additional manpower to complete and report the results to governmental units."

2.) Create "neighborhood rap sessions" to discuss common concerns and how to deal with them. A committee would organize area sessions, recruit neighbors, discover concerns and form action groups.

3.) Form a "grass roots public information committee" to reflect the needs of the people to city government through organized meetings "following government authorization."

4.) Recruit "new, qualified candidates for public office through door-to-door campaigning, neighborhood coffees, news media and speakers at local service organizations."

Cultural proposals reflected the need for more communication at all age levels and need for a place to meet.

Guild three proposed to:

1.) Establish a committee to investigate a community activity center for theatrics, meetings, luncheons and other activities and "sell the project to the people" with city and civic group support.

2.) Communicate with people through "inter-age group meetings" to obtain respect for others.

3.) Continue Tecumseh Area Town Meeting to promote better family and community relationships, through a planning committee, study, input and advertised activities.

4.) Promote family togetherness through a weekly family night, a class in better parenting, adopted grandparents and youth activity centers created from old buildings refurbished by families.

$1.5 MILLION ADDITION — New construction at Tecumseh High School is nearing completion, but it may be another month before students start using the facilities. Construction and new drive off N. Maumee St. gives THS an improved look.

Foundation Contributions over $50,000

Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation drive officials were optimistic Wednesday morning that the goal of $79,950 will be reached this year.

This optimism has occurred in just the past week or two.

Robert Robinson, drive chairman, says recent contributions and pledges have pushed the current donation total to over $50,000, or approximately 70% of the goal.

He says initial reports from industry indicate a "good drive." The industrial division annually makes up over half of the monies raised.

Gene Cooley, head of the school drive, says teachers and employees there have again topped their goal of $3,350.

Other division drives are not completed, but chairmen of these divisions generallly reported a good response. Although many businesses, for example, have yet to contribute, either through the mails or direct solicitation, the commercial division should easily pass last year's mark of $6,400.

While the current report is encouraging, officials are quick to point out that donations must continue to be collected by the Foundation — or the drive will fall short.

Checks, payable to the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, may be sent to Box 142, Tecumseh, or dropped off at the Herrick Park Office of the United Savings Bank with its manager, Mary Bowers.

Residents or businesses, who were either missed or have yet to contribute and wish to do so now, may simply call The Herald, 423-2174, and their donations will be picked up at their convenience.

May Delay Opening Until January

Outward appearances — finished exterior construction, new drive way and landscaping — would indicate that the new $1.5 million addition to Tecumseh High School is completed.

Not so, Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, reports.

Some final interior work must be completed before the addition is ready for the students. And, unless this work is completed within the next 10 days or so, the addition may not be opened to the students until after Christmas vacation, Cooley explains.

Drive off N. Maumee St. already is being used as is a remodeled section of the old building for administrative offices. Drive will also comprise limited parking for visitors during the school day.

When finished the addition will provide THS with a much larger cafeteria, two music rooms or teaching stations, four general purpose classrooms, art classroom with two teaching stations and a large foyer and new main entrance to the school. Library room also was enlarged by about 500 square feet.

Construction began last March, at which time officials here were hopeful that at least part of the addition would be available shortly after the 1976-77 term started. Delays, usually in equipment, occurred and prolonged the opening.

St. Elizabeth Will Host Union Service

The Annual Tecumseh Area Union Thanksgiving service will be held Wednesday, Nov. 24 at 8 p.m. at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

Participants will be host pastor, Fr. Vincent Howard and the Rev. Laszlo Gero, pastor of Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, who will bring the message.

Lay participants are Ray Dollison of the First Presbyterian Church; Mrs. William Goodrich, lay assistant at the United Methodist Church and Dr. Robert Murray from St. Elizabeth Church.

The Rev. Kenneth Boyd, pastor of the First Baptist Church and president of the Tecumseh Area Ministerial Association, will give the benediction.

The free will offering to be taken will be used to assist in the work among the migrant workers in Lenawee County.

St. Elizabeth's Church and the Ministerial Association invite the community to attend the Union Thanksgiving Service.

Seniors Plan Annual Bazaar

Tecumseh Senior Citizens will have their Second Annual Bazaar Dec. 3 and 4 at the Community Center.

Friday the bazaar is open from noon to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Arts and crafts and baked goods will be sold. Coffee and homemade pie and cake will be available by the piece.

HOLIDAY BALL DRAWS NEAR — Annual Herrick Hospital Auxiliary Ball, a major fund raising event, will be held Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Tecumseh Country Club. Reservations may still be made with Harriet Desmet. Pat Schmidt and Jan Snyder work here on table decorations for the dance, a social highlight for Tecumseh.

Elementary Co-ed Phys Ed Questioned

Tecumseh School Board discussed the effects of title IX legislation on the district at Monday night's meeting.

Board member Todd Herrick had expressed concern at earlier meetings relative to the requirement that elementary physical education classes be co-ed by July earlier this year.

Elementary students have only a thirty-minute class and are unable to shower after the activity.

Herrick was concerned that the requirements are forced on the districts without consultation as to the problems. He said, "This is some bureaucrat that says, well, this sounds like a good idea."

Supt. Robert Duhan and Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley told the board that there were no exceptions and there was no way that separate phys. ed classes could continue to meet. If the district wants to continue to receive federal funds, it must comply.

Gerald Fox, physical education instructor at Tecumseh Acres and Tipton, said, "I don't feel girls should be taught that much aggression in the third, fourth and fifth grades. A little girl shouldn't be ridiculed because she's in there with a bigger boy."

Fox went on to say, "Girls and boys who are not aggressive are in trouble in a game situation."

But Vic Lawson, instructor at Herrick Park and Sutton schools, was pleased with the co-ed classes. "Its worked out real well. A lot of the girls can hold their own, and even do a little better."

All the instructors, including Delores Colson at Ridgeway and Patterson, agreed that a half hour is too short and that the students need to take showers.

The high school must be in compliance with the HEW guidelines by 1978. Cooley confided that compliance will be easier in the high school because facilities and current programs, instructional and extra-curricular, are better balanced.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

WE BELIEVE IN PEOPLE

Our good news column this week deals with the Volunteer Services Program in Adrian. The program is directed by Tom Jacobs and works under the Probate Court, Juvenile Division. The volunteers in the program work on a one-to-one basis with juveniles. They try to help them find out why they are in trouble and help them to stay out of trouble in the future.

There are three types of volunteers in the program. The first of these types is called a Truant Volunteer. The job of the Truant Volunteer is to work with the schools in dealing with kids who repeatedly skip school or cut classes. The kids voluntarily meet with the Truant volunteer who tries to find out such things as why the person is missing school or cutting certain classes, and then tries to get the person to attend school on a more regular basis.

The second type of Volunteer is called a Volunteer Probation Officer. The court urges any juvenile who has a first offense or a minor offense to see a Volunteer Probation Officer. Although this is strongly urged by the court, it is not required of the juvenile. The volunteer works on an informal basis with the teens and tries to prevent any further crimes. He may do this in a diversional way by giving the teen the attention he or she is lacking.

The third type of volunteer is called a Volunteer in Probation. This volunteer works under a regular Probation Officer, acting as a friend and companion to the juvenile and tries to help him or her successfully through the probationary period.

All three types of Volunteers spend a few hours a week talking and working with kids, and the two may develop a friendly relationship through participation in informal activities. The volunteer doesn't represent an authority such as: The court (and judge), parents, or the regular probation officer, but is a companion that the teens may talk freely to, without worrying about what is said.

In order to be a volunteer, an adult must get an application from Tom Jacobs. He or she must be of good moral standing, have references, and a clean arrest and conviction record. After filing an application, the applicant may have a personal interview with Mr. Jacobs. If he feels that the person is suitable, responsible, and could provide guidance, the prospective volunteer goes through three evenings of training. Once the training is completed, the volunteer needs only to wait for an assignment.

Our slogan for the week is: "A Child will seldom go wrong if one adult truly loves them."

This new series of positive news "We Believe In People" is brought to you in cooperation with the Tecumseh Methodist youth and Proctor Funeral Home, Tecumseh.

Early Fire Damages Donald Steiner Home

The Donald Steiner home, 1403 West Haven, received extensive damage to a rear wall early Friday morning from a fire originating from an outside incinerator.

The incinerator apparently overheated to the sheathing and studs, catching the wall on fire between the fireplace and outside incinerator despite fire protective brick.

Firemen responded to the call at 7:20 a.m. and left an hour and a half later. They were forced to tear the outside siding off and pry the brick away to put the smoldering blaze out.

Because the siding had to be removed, the fire then flared up again at 9:30 when a large amount of oxygen was able to reach the fire.

The lack of oxygen had apparently kept the fire from blazing up during the night as residents of the home did smell, but could not see, smoke that evening.

Service Club To Distribute Mittens, Caps

"House in Bloom" won't help the Mitten Tree at the Herrick Park bank branch, only the donations of warm winter wear from the people who read this story can help the tree "Blossom."

For the past few years, the branch office of the United Savings Bank has been the home of the Mitten Tree.

All gifts of clothing, whether hand or ready made, are distributed by the Tecumseh Service Club to needy families right in Tecumseh. Last year 70 "Christmas boxes" were distributed at the holidays.

This year however, public interest in the mitten project seems to be waning.

"We usually wait until a few are brought in before we put the tree up," told Mary Bowers, branch manager. "Last year we even had a permanent tree made. Its been sitting in the basement.

"Some people are going to be very disappointed," she said.

The Tecumseh Service Club assists Tecumseh families all year around. Referrals are made by the schools, churches and others.

Anyone willing to offer time, a service or donation to the Service Club's effort may contact Mrs. John Baran.

Take DAT Test

Tecumseh High School sophomores took the Differential Aptitude Test (DAT) this week, administered by the Tecumseh High School Guidance Department.

The DAT, a battery of eight different tests, attempts to measure the capacity of the student to perform many different kinds of tasks such as understanding word concepts, numerical relationships and the ability to perceive relationships in abstract figure patterns.

The test results are used by the counselors along with other information to help students to explore vocations.

Each student receives his test results from his counselor. The student and counselor in conference discuss the meaning of the results and examine the student's performance profile.

A copy of the profile is given to the student and he is encouraged to share the results with his parents.

Parents having questions may call or visit the high school guidance office.

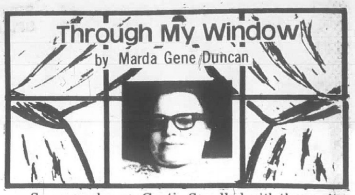
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



Some weeks ago Gertie S. called with the exciting news that two cock pheasants were strutting across her back yard. Since they were headed east and that is our direction from her, it hardly needs saying that for the next hour or so our window watching was extra vigilant.

Unfortunately the birds must have run into a detour or were sidetracked because they never got this far. But just to know such gorgeous creatures were in the neighborhood was a thrill. If they showed up once perhaps they would again.

And they did — about 10 days later there was another shout of, "Pheasants!" This time Mom and Dad were the lucky people but the pheasants they saw were not the handsome males. The two hens were in the road in front of the house and something must have spooked them for just as Mom pointed them out to Dad they exploded into flight and disappeared.

Explode is about the only word to use when talking about a pheasant 'launching itself into the air'. These are comparatively large heavy birds and I am fully convinced that part of their defense mechanism is this loud startling takeoff.

Anyone who has walked fields and either accidentally or intentionally kicked up one of these birds knows what I mean. I always marveled at hunters who did not use dogs but simply walked through promising pheasant terrain and flushed the birds.

With a swish and a whirl and often a loud laughing cackle a pheasant flies up from practically beneath one's foot and how in the world are wits collected and composure regained in time to bring a gun up to the shoulder, aim and fire?

But getting back to 'our' pheasants. Not many days ago Gertie T. and I had a chance to ooh and aah. I just happened to look out in time to spot a hen sneaking along the other side of the small ravine in back of the white end-of-the-street barrier.

So perfectly did her lovely shades of browns, tans, black, and creams blend with the background that, had she not been moving, I probably would not have seen her.

Being a cooperative lady, she hopped up and stood near the end of a fallen log just as Gertie T. rushed to the window to look.

Later that same day Gertie T. was in the kitchen making tea and there, sailing over Dorothy U's. house, was the pheasant.

Thanks again,

To the Editor:

In previous issues I have seen how the reporting of deer hunting has been accompanied by a photograph of a hunter's dead deer. My feelings are that other news items could make better use of pictures in ways that would not offend the feelings of others.

Don't misunderstand my beliefs. I'm not against the sport of deer hunting or the reporting of a hunter's accomplishment. I am against local newspapers publishing photographs of a hunter's dead trophy as a means of reporting news of this sport.

If it is felt necessary to publish such photographs in reporting the news of this sport, why not print pictures of serious injury or particular horrified deaths of humans in sports. After all, it is in the reporting of a sport, isn't it?

Sincerely,
Catherine M. Hartung

To the Editor:

Nursing Home Is Described

CLINTON — The operation of the Evangelical Nursing Home at Saline was explained by its director, the Rev. Hartman at a meeting of the Women's Fellowship in the United Church of Christ, Thursday evening.

Although the UCC sponsored facility is only three years old, it has already reached capacity with 154 beds filled and there is a year of waiting for admission.

Priorities for admission are: a member of the United Church of Christ; a patient at Saline Hospital, and order of succession on the waiting list.

The nursing home is already considering expansion plans and may be able to increase by 100 beds, with a building program in the spring.

The facility which has been called one of the five best in the state, has the unique advantage of sharing facilities with the Saline General Hospital. By sharing joint maintenance, accounting, pharmacy and physical therapy helps to keep costs at a minimum.

Over 100 volunteer women from area churches help to provide many extra services for patients.

At the meeting which followed, members voted $30 toward the cost of the film for the nursing home's film library.

Mrs. Wesley Maki presided and presented devotions.

Plans were made for the Jan. 27 meeting to be a noon soup luncheon and sewing meeting. Mrs. Floyd O'Dell and Mrs. Hugh McGill will be in charge of the luncheon.

Anyone having completed articles for the bazaar may leave them at the church for display in the Fitzpatrick Realty window.

Mrs. Charles Steffens and Mrs. Fred Miller served refreshments to the 18 members attending.

A highlight of the evening was the display of several handmade quilts made by Mrs. Donald Thomas and several keepsake family quilts brought in by other members.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Happy Thanksgiving! Hope you have a happy and safe holiday with your families.

Are you faced with all that left over turkey the day after? Here are some suggestions for "recycling" it.

Cold turkey sandwiches are a favorite. For hot sandwiches, dice turkey into gravy, heat, and serve over bread or biscuits. For a quick casserole, layer turkey with leftover dressing and gravy and bake.

For a new taste treat try this recipe from Kathy Brown. It is easy to prepare and the condiments add a festive touch.

CURRY

2 tablespoons oil
2 large onions
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped apple (optional)
½ cup celery (optional)
1 tablespoon curry powder
2 cups gravy or consumme
3 to 4 cups cooked turkey

Cook onions, celery, and apples in oil until tender. Blend in flour, sugar, salt and curry powder. Add gravy and cubed meat, heat thoroughly but do not boil. Season with salt and pepper. Serve over fluffy rice and sprinkle with condiments.

Place a variety (at least 5) in small bowls around curry. Each person spoons curry over rice and sprinkle over top choice of garnishes.

Suggestions for condiments: mandarin oranges, coconut, chopped hard boiled egg, spanish peanuts, raisins, crisp bacon crumbled, onion rings, nutmeats, green pepper.

Note: any chopped cooked meat or poultry or fish can be substituted for the turkey.

I found this second recipe in the Tecumseh- Jaycees Auxiliary cookbook. It was submitted by Millie Miller.

WILD RICE TURKEY DISH

1 (10½ ounce) can cream of chicken soup
1 (6 ounce) package long grain and wild rice mix
3 cups cubed turkey
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup onion
1 (5 ounce) can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 (3 ounce) can chopped mushrooms, drained
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1½ cup buttered bread crumbs, (optional)

Cook rice according to package directions. Blend in soy sauce. Add next 6 ingredients and 1 cup water. Mix well and turn into 3 quart casserole. Sprinkle buttered crumbs on top. Bake 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serves 8.

Happy holiday and see you next week.

You Told Us

By Kathy Brown

"Thank you, God for Everything. . .and help us to remember that the Key to Life and Living is to make each prayer a prayer of thanks and everyday Thanksgiving." Helen Steiner Rice.

Thursday, Nov. 25 is Thanksgiving Day 1976. Each of us has many blessings to give thanks for.

During this Bicentennial Thanksgiving, the city of Tecumseh has many resources and people to be thankful for, too, but primarily for the renewed civic interest that seems to have been generated after Town Meeting '76. Evidence of this are the follow-up committees, progress of the industrial development Committee of 10 and the interest of City Council to make fair decisions and involve more citizens in the decision making processes.

Tecumseh seems to be "rolling on" with its wheels turned to the course of new achievements.

Tories Open with Victory

In Class D tournament action Thursday, Nov. 18, the Britton girls' basketball team defeated Madison, 54-26. After a slow first quarter, the Tory girls finally got their offenses rolling, going into the locker room at half time with a 24-19 lead.

An aggressive defense in the third quarter which forced many Madison turnovers quickly built up the Britton lead, while holding Madison to only 7 points in the second half.

In further tournament action the Tory girls faced Deerfield Monday night at Madison, with the winner of that game competing in the finals Wednesday night at 8 p.m.

The Tory girls finished Tri-County Conference play with a 8-4 record which gave them second place in the league standings. Whitmore Lake finished in the conference, boasting an undefeated record before running into the Tory defense at their second match-up of the season. Britton won 38-32.

Dawn Bush, senior forward, was selected to the Tri-County Conference first team. The leading scorer on the team with a season total of 236 points, Dawn was also a top defensive player, with 50 steals during the season and 73 defensive rebounds.

Genene Bruce, selected to the second all-conference team, was Britton's top rebounder, controlling the boards 153 times. Scoring 150 points, Genene, a junior forward, was the second highest scorer on the team.

Sue Hawkins, senior guard and a top defensive player, was the leading free throw shooter with 61 percent from the foul line.

Other starters for the Tory girls were junior Pam Dusseau, who played at the guard position, and Janelle Schultz, junior forward. Also rotating into the starting line-up was Lori Monagin, senior forward, who has the highest shooting percentage from the floor and second highest from the free throw line.

Clinton Redskins Advance

Clinton's girls basketball squad advanced to the District finals by defeating Manchester 52-19 last week and Addison Saturday 52-28.

The two victories raises the Redskins' season record to 18-2 with 12 straight victories. The finals were held at Napoleon Tuesday night.

Against Manchester, the girls jumped to a 14-0 lead and at the end of three quarters the score was 44-6. The Redskin offense made 37 percent of their shots from the field.

Sue Richter led in scoring with 15 points followed by Karen Busch with 14.

The Skins again jumped to a sizeable lead, 15-2 after the first quarter against Addison. Midway through the third quarter, the Redskins led 39-15 and coasted to the win.

Sue Richter played one of her best games scoring 20 points. JoAnn Grossman and Margaret Campbell combined for 25 rebounds.

THS Girls Lose Finale, 30-29

Tecumseh's girls basketball squad lost a one-point decision to Columbia Central Monday night in the finals of the District Tournament.

Final tally was 30-29 and the Indians were eliminated from further tourney play. But Tecumseh can boast that they have won three of the four district tournaments held.

The Indians swamped a weak Willow Run team 45-19 last Thursday to earn a berth in Monday night's finals.

Against Columbia Central, Tecumseh trailed 17-11 at the half. Each team earned nine points in the third frame while the Indians outscored Columbia Central 9-4 in the final frame.

Central was unable to dump a basket the last 4:34 of the game but the Indians couldn't overcome an eight-point deficit. Tecumseh connected on 21 percent of its shots from the field in the first half and 30 percent in the second half.

From the line, the Indians were good for 52 percent of their attempts.

Tecumseh outrebounded Central 30-19 but lost 31 turnovers to the oppositions' 20 turnovers.

Debbie Steadley led in scoring Monday night with ten points. Grace Burns and Tori Iffland had four, Gloria Fosbender two and Sandy MacGeorge one.

Coach Diane Nelson said of the loss, "If you can't put the ball in the basket, you can't win the game. We got the shots but we just couldn't find the basket. We did have the opportunities. I feel we played the better defensive game."

The Indians ended the season with an 11-6 record. The team will lose two seniors, Tori Iffland and Kris Underwood.

The Indians were never challenged by Willow Run holding them to just five points for the entire first half scoring 27 for themselves.

Tecumseh scored 18 in the second half to 14 for Willow Run.

Tori Iffland led the Indians in scoring that night with 13. Debbie Steadley had nine, Janice Jahner eight, Robin Isom four, Kris Underwood three, and Grace Burns, Sandy MacGeorge, Gloria Fosbender and Cheryl Bihlmeyer all with two.

CHRISTMAS TAB ENCLOSED

Ready for Season

Christmas shopping has already started in Tecumseh and with this issue of The Herald, a special advertising section is enclosed for local and area shoppers.

December is annually the biggest month of the year for business, and 17 shops here are advertising some of their merchandise in the Chamber of Commerce tab section.

The Herald planned to list Christmas shopping hours for the merchants, thinking that most shops would be open the same hours. Such was not the case.

Special shopping hours are reported in the advertisements, in both the tabloid section and regular section of the paper.

Foundation's Drive Near $79,950 Goal

One of the most successful drives ever held for the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation is winding up and will officially end here Dec. 10th.

Robert Robinson, drive chairman, reports contributions and pledges have now topped $70,000. He and division chairmen expressed optimism Tuesday morning that the campaign's goal for $79,950 would be reached — and probably exceeded before next week's deadline.

Most divisions are reporting gains over last year. Once again the major contribution is the Tecumseh Products where incomplete returns show the company and employees giving approximately $36,000.

Gene Cooley reports the school solicitation has been completed with a total donation of $3,577, more than $150 over last year's $3,418.

Contributions will continue to be sought, and drive officials are counting on many donors — who have given in the past but not yet this year — to come through in the next week.

Donations may be sent to the Foundation, Box 142, Tecumseh, or dropped off at the Herrick Park Office of the United Savings Bank. Any business missed in the solicitation may mail its contribution or call The Herald, 423-2174, and the donation will be picked up.

All checks should be made payable to the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation. Small or large gifts are appreciated by the Foundation, which recognizes publicly those who contribute $100 or more.

Sizeable donations are made by some who request their names be withheld. A complete list of the Century Club members — now over 100 — will be published in the Dec. 16th issue of The Herald.

Youth, 18, Is Arrested for B&E, Stealing Pickup

Eighteen-year-old Ino Dennis Banda, 1101 Shady Lane, will face examination next Monday on charges of breaking and entering and theft of a vehicle.

The Tecumseh youth was arrested Tuesday after local police learned of his possible involvement. He's being held under $20,000 bond on the B&E charge, and $10,000 bond on auto theft.

Banda is being charged with breaking and entering of Charlies on S. Evans St. on Nov. 10th, and stealing a pickup from Donald Dowling, 4728 Gilbert Hwy., Adrian, on Nov. 25th.

Approximately $70 was taken at Charlies, where two pinball machines also sustained damages.

Dowling's vehicle was taken from a Tecumseh street and later found in a gravel pit off Raisin Center Hwy.

Adrian police also reportedly have charges pending against Banda.

Five Banks Are Involved in Check Writing Spree

A Marshall man was scheduled in District Court Wednesday on charges of writing checks that involved a total of five different banks.

John Martin Carroll, 34, was released on personal recognizance after being arrested Tuesday on a complaint from the United Savings Bank.

According to the Tecumseh police report, Carroll opened checking accounts at various banks and then wrote checks in excess of his deposits. Checks to cover checks apparently were written without sufficient funds.

United Savings Bank of Tecumseh is victim of a $4,300 check, although the bank holds his original deposit of $100, reducing the amount to $4,200. A Jackson bank was listed as holding a worthless $200 check.

Police here say Carroll has made restitution to all of the banks except here in Tecumseh.

Other banks involved are at Coldwater, Marshall and Charlotte.

Also during the past week, police investigated:

Vandalism at Lamb's Pharmacy where a rock was thrown through a rear door window.

Entry into an apartment off Burt St. at the Tecumseh Country Club. William Powell, owner, says a door jam was broken to gain entry. No loss is reported, except approximate $50 in damages.

A breaking and entering at Tecumseh Acres school, where entry was made through a restroom window. A classroom window was later broken and some damages were reported in the restroom.

Seek Residents for Appointments

The Lenawee County Board of Commissioners will consider the appointment of county residents to openings on various county policy and planning boards at the Dec. 8 meeting.

These appointments are normally selected at the January meeting.

Appointments are for one to six years, depending on the board. Meetings are usually monthly. County residents interested in serving on any of the following boards may contact their county commissioner.

For District 6, (all of Tecumseh except precinct 2,) Nancy Nichols is county commissioner.

Martin Halley is commissioner for District 5, (precinct 2 of Tecumseh, Clinton and Tecumseh Townships and part of Franklin Township). Raymond Jackson-D is commissioner for District 3, all of Franklin, except east of Wisner and west of M-50, Cambridge and Rome Townships.

Halley, who retires from the board, and Jackson, turned out of office in the recent election, will be replaced by Stanley Gibbard and Ronald Brown, respectively on Jan. 1.

A resume of the county board openings is:

Veteran Affairs Board, four members, three-year terms; two openings: one opening is a one-year term for a Vietnam War veteran; second opening is a three-year term for a World War II veteran. Board deals with any veteran problems including, burial, allotments, and services.

Planning Commission, nine members, three-year terms; three openings. Commission deals with all aspects of county planning.

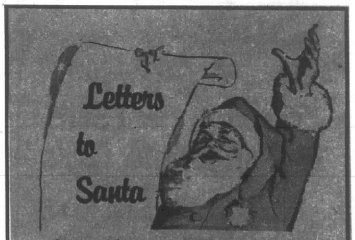
Taxes Coming Friday

Winter tax statements will be in the mail Friday for city property owners with a total tax collection figure of over $1.5 million, Vera Gardner, city clerk, announced.

Figure is approximately $200,000 less than last year since business inventories are no longer being taxed. A state business tax has replaced the tax on inventories.

The winter statements, far larger than the summer tax, are for the schools and county.

Payment deadline is Feb. 14th.



Letters from youngsters to Santa Claus, who will arrive here officially on Dec. 11, should be received no later than Monday, Dec. 13, for publication in The Herald.

These letters will be printed in the Dec. 16th and 21st issue of the paper.

Santa's arrival here next week is again being sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

City Police Investigate 6 Accidents

Tecumseh streets were rather safe the past week with only six accidents investigated by the police.

A resume is:

Nov. 24 - Henry R. Thompson, 36, of 6004 E. Monroe Rd., was charged with improper passing on Burt St. after colliding with Evelyn D. Lefevre, 65, of 117 Burt. Mrs. Lefevre was turning into a private drive at the time.

Nov. 25 - Steven A. Quigley, 25, of 219 E. Cummins, was cited for improper backing. He backed into a parked car owned by Cherie L. Frear, 26, of 808 Waskins Dr. on S. Maumee St.

Nov. 26 - Susan G. McElroy, 22, of 1020 Red Mill Dr., ran into the rear of a car driven by Dorothy M. Strzesinki, 56, Britton, on N. Evans. The Britton auto was making a turn when the accident occurred. Miss McElroy told police that a turn signal was not given.

Nov. 27 - Marilyn J. Ramey, 24, Ypsilanti, struck and killed a deer on M-50 near Rogers Hwy.

Nov. 27 - Walda J. Maynard, 17, of 1005 Murray Dr., backed into a car parked by Gerald Carpenter, 20, of 111 Hiawatha. Mishap occurred on Cairns St.

Nov. 28 - Michael J. Keys, 17, of 2817 Coachlite and Scott Lask, 21, LeVilla Trailer Court, collided headon on W. Logan St. Police say both were driving left of center.

Britton Council President Replies to Recall Plan

The Herald has received the following rebuttal statement from Henry Mastie, village council president, regarding an effort to recall him:

My actions, since becoming village president, have always been in the best interests of Britton. Any temporary inefficiencies in village administration resulted from the abrupt resignation of the clerk and mismanagement by the prior administration.

My specific response to the charges contained in the Recall Petition is as follows:

1. Those council minutes referred to were false and did not reflect the actual vote on the question, therefore they were not approved.
2. After the clerk quit, there was no one available to pay these people.
3. Efforts were immediately made to employ a new clerk to register voters, the only delay being to bond the new clerk, as required by law.
4. The attorney was present only after state requirements regarding the parade route were not followed.
5. No village ordinances have ever been printed or published.
6. The grant requested was signed as president, upon recommendation of the engineer.
7. I've only spoken to prior mismanagement. If that took much time, then it was due to prior mismanagement.
8. The elected official (clerk) who left, did so for reasons other than my actions.

New Look In Downtown for Season

Downtown Tecumseh will take on a new look this year for the holiday season when small lights will be used to trim the trees in planters on the sidewalks.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says the lights will be installed in all planters before the weekend, and the lights will be both day and night.

Merchants have already attractively decorated the planters with green boughs and red ruscus.

Multi-colored lights will not be strung across the boulevard as in the past, but some holiday decorations will be installed on poles as usual.

How Do You Celebrate Holidays?

In these few weeks before Christmas, The Tecumseh Herald wants to focus on the celebration of the season as observed by area residents.

How do you deck your halls for the holidays?

Have you a family tradition? i.e. family creche, tree trimming party, etc. Please share it with us.

Anything new or unique this holiday at your house, church, school or office? Give us a call so we can feature it, 423-2174.

Tecumseh's School Board Nov. 22 heard a report by Tecumseh curriculum consultant, Wayne Kaiser, concerning the annual State of Michigan educational assessment tests.

The tests were given to Tecumseh fourth and seventh graders this year.

The best area, according to Kaiser, was fourth grade math where more than 65 percent of the pupils passed the 30 objectives.

Each objective has five questions. If a student answered four of the five questions correctly he passed the objective.

Students had some trouble with the fourth grade reading objectives. They had difficulty with three areas: choosing the best summary of a selection, matching quotations from a story with speakers, and choosing the most appropriate conclusion for a study.

Seventh grade math showed some improvement but Kaiser added, "fractions and decimals are still problem areas."

Seventh grade reading made some "good" gains, according to Kaiser, but a problem area is choosing selections alike in ideas expressed.

Kaiser went on to say that principals and teachers were given the results and are planning instructional changes.

He was quick to add that parents may go over their child's results by calling the building principal and making an appointment.

To Attend Seminar

The Tecumseh Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a semi-annual Bible seminar on Dec. 11, 12 at their assembly hall in Holt.

According to Joseph Anderson, presiding minister, about 120 witnesses from the Tecumseh area will attend.

Two days of discussions will highlight applying Bible principles in daily living. A baptism service will be Sunday morning and the main address will be at 2 p.m. Sunday, entitled "Keep Seeking God's Kingdom."

Eleven other nearby congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses will assemble with the Tecumseh congregation at the Convention. Attendance is expected to reach 1600.

SAME WINDOW, SAME CREEK, DIFFERENT VIEW

As has been said so often before, when my bed is pulled down and twisted around into its usual daytime position, I am in front of the west window and looking up the creek. When Gertie T. puts up the card table and gets the typewriter in place, she too is in front of the west window and looking up the creek. It would logically follow that we see the same things — usually we do, but not always.

The other afternoon was an extreme example. Fortunately our chore for a couple of hours was letter writing. Important, but I am always guilty of being easily distracted by outside action and letter writing is one of the things which, when interrupted, does not cause a guilty conscience.

It is not that people come after birds, it is just that letter writing can be done later and perhaps the birds will not be back again. At least that is my salve if the conscience should nag.

As too often happens, this afternoon the letter writing was again postponed. The yews beneath the west facing window and the feeding stations were full of juncos. This truly is our year for these little characters.

The black hooded males and the gray garbed females were so hungry they paid attention to nothing else. From food tray, to bushes, back to the feeders, with an occasional side trip to the creek or one of the nearby trees — that was the pattern of the action. I was thoroughly enjoying it. It was fun to watch the surprisingly thin legs and feet scratch for the tastiest tidbits on the banquet boards, fun to watch the little round-headed birds cuddle down into the protection of the yews and nap in the bright sunshine, and it was fun to watch the birds when they flew away and flashed their white outer tail feathers. I was perfectly happy.

Meanwhile Gertie T. was twisting and turning, having all sorts of problems trying to figure out what was happening at the creek's edge.

A few trees and bushes are even today still stubbornly hanging on to their shriveled and dried leaves and on this particular day these leaves were giving Gertie T. extra worry.

From her muttering I almost felt that she was considering them a personal insult. Finally she got the binoculars. Then her muttering turned to exclamations.

According to her, the other side of the creek bank was absolutely alive. Cedar waxwings were bathing. After splashing and dunking they would fly to the nearby weeds, shake off the 'loose' water, and preen their soft feathers into place. The bright yellow bands at the ends of their tails were splendid. Gertie T. was having a great time.

I was watching juncos. Occasionally an up-side-down nuthatch came by too. To her questions could I only reply, "No."

Gradually the bathing became an expanded affair. Gertie T. said that cardinals were wading in too. All this was happening on the far side of the creek and was I sure I couldn't see what was going on?

I continued to watch juncos.

Finally Gertie T. announced that some of the birds were flying across the creek. She could see them go and she could also see some sort of bird action along the southern edge. The leaves, however, were obscuring the view and there was just no way she could see exactly who was there. Surely my view was better —

It certainly was. Gertie T.'s cedar waxwings and cardinals might have been flying across the creek but they were certainly not landing. I had a good look at who was bathing on my side. Starlings. I went back to watching juncos.

The engagement of Beth Ann Simonis to Bill Charles Maddock is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Skip Freeman 714 River Acres Dr. and Floyd Simonis of Saline. The bride elect is a 1975 graduate of Tecumseh High School. Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Patricia Maddock of Saline and the late Robert Maddock. He is a 1975 graduate of Saline High School. A Jan. 22, 1977 wedding is planned at the First Baptist Church of Ypsilanti.

Report on Improvements

School Board members heard a report on improvements in the high school guidance office Nov. 22.

Various suggestions for improvements in the guidance office were suggested by a University of Michigan guidance expert last year.

Tecumseh's guidance office has started small group counseling and guidance, thanks to the new addition and the extra space provided.

Guidance director John Pobuda told the Board that groups of four to seven students with common problems help each other under the direction of a counselor. Common problems might be excessive absenteeism or difficulties in a particular class.

In a separate presentation, curriculum consultant Wayne Kaiser advised the Board on progress of the career education program.

A steering committee was appointed a year ago and have established the following goals: self awareness, career awareness exploration, career decision making, career planning and placement.

The committee is making a needs assessment survey involving the fifth, seventh and ninth grades. The results of the survey will assist teachers and administration in the area of career education.

'Love Loaves' Are Broken

The highlight of Sunday's Thanksgiving service, Nov. 21, at First United Presbyterian Church came when more than 50 "love loaves" were broken by members of Wee Kirk, spilling hundreds of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and bills.

The love loaf project was initiated by the church, eight weeks ago, as a means to help feed starving proples the world over. The love loaves were small containers in the shape of a loaf of bread.

Seventy-two families had taken the love loaf containers and placed them on their dinner tables as prayer reminders of the project and members of the family were encouraged to contribute coins toward hunger relief.

Sunday's breaking ceremony yielded over $650. The church will spend 60 percent to The Presbyterians National Priority Emphasis Hunger Program and 40 percent will be spent to World Vision International, originator of the love loaf project.

Coordinators, Dee Jay Rinehart, Mrs. Gwen Cox, Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, and Mrs. Stanley Kruse, kept the people aware of needs through a hunger banquet, which was a substantial but meager meal, films, quizes and minute reports each Sunday.

"It gave our church families a new awareness of world needs as well as an opportunity to do something about it. It costs world vision only $15 to feed a hungry family of five for a month and our own denomination sees that 90 cents of every dollar goes directly to the cause, so we have a feeling that we have done something important," says Mrs. Kruse. "We may try again in the spring."

School Board Sets New Tuition Rates

At the Nov. 22 School Board meeting, members set new tuition rates.

Asst. Superintendent Gene Cooley confided to the board that there were no tuition students in the district at this time. School officials discourage tuition students, Cooley said, and generally it is the district's policy to accept senior tuition students only.

New rates are $295.87 for elementary students and $344.32 from grade seven through 12.

Supt. Robert Duhan stated that there is a possibility the rate will be much higher next year.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

The Macon Church bulletin for December carries a poem by an anonymous writer. As we are all getting busy with pre-Christmas activity, I would like to pass along its message.

A child showed his dad a long Christmas list. Dad looked it over and told the child what he left out:

"And so I scanned my list again

And said, 'Oh, that's not true.'

But daddy said 'His name's not there—

That Friend who died for you.'

And then I clearly understood

'Twas Jesus that he meant,

For Him who should come first of all

I hadn't planned a cent."

The December meeting of the Macon Historical Society is Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. at the Hack Road home of Tom and Sue Kosky. Bring a favorite "goodie" to exchange. Program will be "The Spirit of Christmas Past." New members are welcome.

Bicentennial Journey

Caught by Pickets

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — When most people see or hear the word pickets they immediately envision men or women stationed by a labor union near a factory or business place where there is a strike in progress to try to prevent employees from working or customers from buying.

Many of the senior citizens think of pickets as pointed stakes or pegs driven into the ground to make a fence.

At one time picket fences were common in southern Michigan, not only on farms but also in villages and towns.

Those picket fences were made of boards about three inches wide, one-half inch thick, and approximately four feet long.

The upper end of the picket was cut to form a point. The pickets were woven with strands of wire and secured to fence posts set about one rod apart.

Picket fences on farms were used to keep livestock from straying from one field to another and possibly getting lost or destroying a field crop or ruining the garden.

In villages, picket fences were also used to protect property, keep animals and pets confined, and provide a safe place for youngsters to play. In those days most villagers kept a family cow, some chickens, and one or two horses.

In more recent years, picket fences have been used on farms to build portable corn cribs for storage of ear corn. A few farmers used short lengths of picket fence as a temporary fence to provide a place to graze a few sheep for a short time.

During the winter time, rolls of picket fence are erected in areas where snow usually drifts and blocks the roads.

Several years ago many of our neighnors had fields enclosed with picket fences. One neighbor had a brother-in-law who lived at his home. The brother-in-law had one bad habit. He didn't have enough control of his thirst for intoxicating beverages. At that time, Lenawee County was termed dry. (That is the sale of intoxicating beverages was not permitted in the county), but they could be purchased in Monroe County not far away.

Late Saturday afternoon, whether permitting the brother-in-law and some of his associates would be seen starting for Dundee to satisfy their thirst, returning late at night and sometimes not until Sunday morning.

The brother-in-law knew his sister greatly opposed his drinking, and to avoid her wrath, he tried to stay out of her sight until he had become sober.

One Sunday forenoon, when returning from his weekend visit to Dundee, he attempted to go across the fields to the barn hoping to keep from being seen until he had slept until he was sober.

To reach the barn it was necessary to go over a picket fence. Getting over a picket fence was a difficult feat for a sober person.

The man being under the influence of liquor was unsuccessful in getting over the fence and caught the seat of his trousers on the sharp pointed pickets. There he dangled struggling to free himself, feet not touching the ground.

Finally the seat of his trousers could not stand the strain and gave way, letting him fall to the ground. Getting back onto his feet he staggered to the back of the barn to sober up.

Wonder what the man's sister said when she discovered the hole in the trousers?

CHS Alumni Needs Funds

CLINTON — A last ditch effort is being made by the Clinton High School Alumni Association committee to save the annual event from extinction for lack of funds to operate the annual banquet reunion project.

A Christmas bake sale will be held Dec. 11 from 9 a.m. at State Savings Bank in Clinton. All alumni of CHS are asked to donate to this sale.

Donations of money or back dues may also be sent to Carol VanDuesen, 638 Jackson St., R2 Clinton, Mich. 49236. Dues are only $1 per year.

The Association which has survived almost 100 years has fallen on hard times as fewer members of the more recently graduated classes take an active interest, and those who do not attend fail to send in their dues.

For a successful event banquet plans must be advertised and the cost of postage for announcements must be provided somehow.

Fund Drive Near Goal

CLINTON — Despite a late start Clinton United Fund drive has raised $9,783, more than three-fourths of the $12,000 goal.

Last year's fund raised about $8,000.

The Fund Board was gratified by the generous response of area residents who mailed in their donations.

Donations may still be mailed to Clinton United Fund, Clinton, Mich. 49236.

Saline Ford Motor Co. employees made a generous increase in their donations this year. Also increased were the corporate gifts of Budd Co. and Peerless Gear Division.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

11:00 p.m. — I have just returned from St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor where my grandfather was admitted earlier in the day. He was given excellent, prompt and courteous care.

On to the reason for this letter — He was taken from his home in Tecumseh by ambulance to Herrick Memorial Hospital. Upon arrival he was taken care of by a staff of only nurses. He needed a doctor. Oh yes, one did arrive over ½ hour later. The doctor, however, was very competent with a diagnosis and immediately ordered a transfer to St. Joseph Hospital — but a doctor should be on call from a hospital corridor not a family room at home.

As with many ambulatory cases a ½-hour wait in an emergency room could be fatal.

This is not our first encounter with Herrick Memorial - my husband after being treated for a "sprained" hand went to St. Joseph's and was told the hand was broke in three places.

Our son was also taken to Herrick Memorial emergency room. Their diagnosis "he has the sniffles". Less than 2 hours later taken to the University Hospital with breathing difficulties. Their diagnosis - "acute bronchitus."

Something should be done about the medical services in Tecumseh. The facilities are there but must be properly and adequately manned 24-hours a day to operate effectively.

A short story, in conclusion: Our dog was hit by a car. I called the vet and he met my husband, with the dog, at his office door. I think it is time a human being is met at a hospital door by a competent doctor.

Thank-you

Would You Know Him?

What was he really like? We know him as the General of the Army! We revere him as our first President! We honor him as Father of his Country! But let's look on him as just an outstanding man.

And what would he think of us, now that the country he founded is celebrating its two hundredth birthday?

The changes, when you pit them against the vast span of history have been monumental. Would he, could he, join today's club? Or would he merely scowl in disapproval, and turn away?

It would be interesting to find out, fascinating to have known George Washington. And, had we lived when he did, there would have been one place where we surely would have met him.

In church.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

With the coming season such a busy time, I started baking holiday cookies early in December and freeze them. By Christmas time, I have a nice variety of cookies to serve my holiday guests and to enjoy ourselves. Here are two of our favorites.

This easy cookie recipe from Jane Hiatt of Adrian, makes several dozen small, delicious cookies.

SNOWBALLS

¾ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups flour
2 cups finely grated nuts
powdered sugar

In large bowl, beat butter and sugar with electric mixer, until creamy. Beat in egg and vanilla and continue until fluffy. Add flour and salt and mix well. Add nuts and stir. Shape into 2/3 inch balls. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets for 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Cookies will be almost white. Cool slightly, then roll in powdered sugar. Makes about nine dozen cookies.

This sugar cookie is my children's all time favorite. They like to help me make and decorate them. The cookies are thin and crisp.

SUGAR COOKIES

½ cup soft shortening (half butter)
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon flavoring (vanilla or lemon)
1¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix together shortening, sugar and egg. Stir in milk and flavoring. Sift together and stir in flour, baking powder and salt. Chill dough. Roll thin (1/16 inch). Cut into desired shapes. Place on lightly greased baking sheet, and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in 425 degree oven for 5-7 minutes until delicately browned. Makes 5 dozen 2½ inch cookies. When cool, spread with icing and decorate as desired.

In the next few weeks before Christmas, I would like to print a variety of Christmas cookies and candies. To share your family favorites, call 423-4848.

INDIAN PROGRAM — Members of Mrs. T. C Roekle's kindergarten class at Tecumseh Acre held an Indian program last Wednesday. Students made their own Indian and pilgrim costumes and learned poems and songs as part of an Indian unit study. Many parents attended the program.

Booster Doses To Begin

Booster doses of swine flu vaccine will be made available to persons ages 18-24, the Lenawee County Health Department has announced, in a series of inoculation clinics to begin Dec. 2.

The clinics are also open to all other adults who did not receive a swine flu vaccination during October, said, Lenawee project manager, Mary Hanson.

The second series of vaccinations, she said, are the result of a decision by the Michigan Department of Public Health and the Center for Disease Conrol in Atlanta, Ga.

In the case of Lenawee County an estimated 12,272 persons ages 18-24 would be affected.

Volunteers who worked in earlier clinics are requested to contact Mrs. Hanson to staff the clinics being formed. A tentative listing of clinics includes:

Dec. 2 and 3: clinics at the Lenawee Health Department office in the court house annex building in Adrian, from 8-11:30 a.m. and 12:30-4:30 p.m.

Dec. 13-16: clinics at the Adrian Mall, 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and again on Dec. 17 from 3-8 p.m. at that location.

Dec. 15: clinics at Morenci High School, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m., and Tecumseh United Methodist Church, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Dec. 16: Lenawee Health Dept., 8-11:30 a.m., 12:30-4:30 p.m.

Dec. 17: Blissfield High School, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Further information on volunteering for staffing the swine flu clinics is available by calling Mrs. Hanson at 263-8831 ext. 316.

Vo-Tech Hosts First 'Dialogue'

The first Youth-Business Dialogue was held Nov. 18 at the Lenawee Vo-Tec Arrangements were made by the Adrian Area Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Career Education Planning District (CEPD) No. 45 director, James R. Brown, and Elaine Elliott, Career Education Curriculum Coordinator.

After the initial briefing, the students, teachers and business people divided into groups, to participate in discussions. They were: Profit; Community Participation; Government regulations; Career and Jobs.

In a wrap-up to close the sessions six persons gave summations. Rod Turner, a student from Tecumseh, told of the Career and Jobs session. He said that nobody owes anyone a job because of race, sex, age or being a member of a minority group or any other reason. Getting a job is based on having a skill. The applicant must be qualified. He felt the group didn't talk enough about interviews and resumes. The subject of firing was eluded.

Scott Hill, a student of Tecumseh, was with the group talking about Profit. They talked about large companies and how the margin of profit is not as large as most people thought it was. It is important to repeat the same kind of meetings each year, Scott said.

ROGERS HIGHWAY LANDMARK NOW IDLE

Family Brick, Tile Tradition Progresses to Plastic Process

To a stranger passing by, the brick rotundas may conjure visions of a past civilization. Today the familiar landmarks are a reminder of industrial growth and progress.

The kilns of Comfort Brick and Tile on Rogers Hwy. have been cold since last November when the family business, owned by the Comforts since 1859, converted from manufacturing of clay to plastic drain tile.

Will all the kilns be torn down?

Ralph Comfort chuckled at the question, probably asked more often than any other of late.

"There's no real reason to necessarily tear them all down. . .but something not in use would deteriorate rapidly." He explained that moisture and weather would affect the kilns when not in use.

Although no longer manufactured by Comfort Brick and Tile, clay drain tile from other manufacturers is still sold by the local firm. "It is still liked by a lot of people," Comfort told.

Production of the plastic tile began in 1971 with one line operating to make the 4 inch core tube. This year 4, 5, 6 and 8 inch plastic tile is now produced in continuous lengths that are cut as needed. Pellets of polyethylene resin are melted, the tile is extruded and corrugated.

Comfort said there is no evidence so far that plastic tile won't last as long as clay, but the corrugation gives the plastic tile its remarkable strength.

The light weight makes it easier to lay with high speed tile laying machines. This is the major advantage of the plastic tile.

Some of the latest tile laying machines operate with a laser beam that speeds the surveying process, automatically adjusts the depth of the tile and improves the accuracy of the job. Under certain conditions, it is estimated the tile can be laid 80-90 feet per minute.

In contrast, some senior citizens may recall hand laying tile as their after school job.

The Comfort family business is now operated by Ralph and his son, Gordon. It was started in 1859 by Ralph's grandfather, Elwood, with the production of clay products.

Brick was first manufactured on the original plant site on the west side of Rogers Hwy., across from the present plant. A valley remains there now. Surface clay from the premises was used and the bricks were hand fired. Back then it was strictly a summertime proposition since they didn't have the heat for winter operation.

An uncle, William, and Ralph's father, Albert, then followed as leaders in the business. Ralph joined as a young man in 1934.

In early years, the old process "may have been more interesting, but it was also more work," said Comfort. The kilns, reconstructed in part since 1938, were fired by wood and later hand shoveled coal before gas came into use about 15 years ago. Now gas has doubled in price and "the efficiency of gas firing is not suitable," told Comfort.

Ralph Comfort's home across from the plant was built by his grandfather with the family product.

On a personal note, Ralph Comfort celebrated his 74th birthday anniversary on Nov. 15. He is an avid Tecumseh Indian fan, enjoys golf and bowling, and is a member of the Friends Church and the long time Wit and Wisdom Club.

Story by Kathy Brown

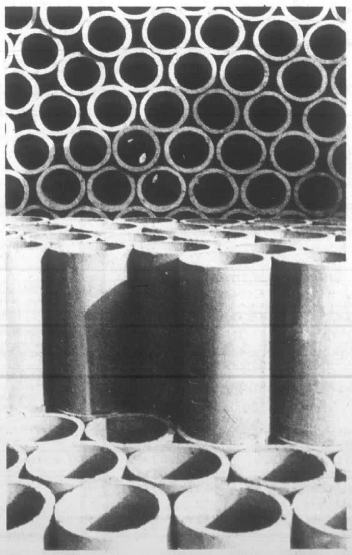
CONTINUOUS LENGTHS—Plastic tile is produced in continuous lengths that can be cut as needed. Here the plastic product is stacked in the foreground with the clay tile in the background. Four, five, six and eight inch core tube is manufactured at Comfort Brick and Tile.

FAMILY INDUSTRY CHANGES PROCESS—Ralph Comfort, well known business leader in the Tecumseh Area poses before one of the nearly 40 year old kilns that have been a landmark of Comfort Brick and Tile on Rogers Hwy. Since November, the kilns have not been used for production of clay tile. Polyethylene resin is now used to manufacture plastic drain tile by an extruding and corrugated molding process. New process produces a lighter weight product easier to move, faster to lay. The plastic tile is considered as durable as clay because it is corrugated.



CLAY TILE STOCK— This stockpile makes an interesting subject for an abstract photograph. Clay tile is still sold and still preferred by some. Production of clay products began in 1859 when Elwood Comfort, Ralph's grandfather founded the business.

If you are fascinated by the concept of self-contained and independent living on your own bit of land, you may want to read THE AUTONOMOUS HOUSE: DESIGN AND PLANNING FOR SELF-SUFFICIENCY, by Brenda and Robert Vale.

The authors, architects who have designed solar collectors and several autonomous houses, have written a guide for lay people who want to design and build self-serviced houses. Chapters deal with topics such as solar energy, wind power, recycling wastes and storing heat. In summary, the last chapter presents a designed for an autonomous house.

SOLAR HOMES AND SUN HEATING, by George Daniels contains more than 10 different systems of solar heating for lay people who want to explore the possibilities for their own homes. There are step-by-step directions for do-it-yourselfers, as well as tips on where to find professional advice.

Home buyers often overlook a potentially liveable house because it is old or deteriorating. Often these houses can be salvaged or remodeled with a savings for the homeowner.

NEW LIFE FOR OLD DWELLINGS, a U.S. Department of Agriculture publication, shows the prospective homeowner how to evaluate the soundness of such houses and how to rehabilitate older buildings.

MINI AND TRAIL BIKES AND HOW TO BUILD THEM YOURSELF was written by James C. Sparks. Based on practical experience, the book first explains how to build a basic mini-bike, starting with a discarded bicycle frame. Similarly, directions are given for building two basic trail bikes from older parts. There are also details about the opprating principles and conntruction of mini and trail bike parts.

If you own a chinchilla, bee bee parrot, opossum, armadillo or other unusual animal, you may want to read A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO IMPRACTICAL PETS, by Emil Dolensek and Barbara Burn. The authors divide the animal kingdom into Easy Pets, Difficult Pets, and Impossible Pets, including endangered and dangerous animals in the last category. They also offer tips on how to acquire and care for these pets.

Lancaster County's Amish

By Kathy Brown

"Vilkom" is a word you see and hear wherever you travel in Lancaster County, Pa., the land of the Pennsylvania Dutch, the Amish Country. Although Pennsylvania no longer has the largest Amish population (Ohio is now first due to the increasing commercialism and urbanization), the friendliness of the traditional welcome is still manifest in the Pennsylvania people, young and old.

Lancaster County, Pa. was the natural setting for the reunion of the Charles Brown family. Mike and Kathy Brown and the John Brown Family of Michigan attended. The people and the weather treated us like VIP's, as visitors in Pennsylvania are known this Bicentennial year.

The unusual mixture of past and present in Lancaster's architecture was appreciated. The downtown blocks are composed of townhouses representing several periods of history: colonial taverns stand beside more eclectic styles of architecture such as Queen Anne. A well-preserved patch of green is the only lawn between home and street as the homes are built right up to the sidewalks.

An excellent orientation was given at the Mennonite Visitors Center on Lincoln Hwy. or Route 30, three miles east of Lancaster. Free information is available on the finest restaurants, accomodations and entertainment. A film, shown every half-hour, introduced the visitors to the Mennonite life. The center and service is free of charge.

The unusual in custom and costume was witnessed. Saturday night an Amish courting buggy was seen parked underneath a mercury vapor lamp post in a suburban mall parking lot. Sunday up to 40 courting buggies and family carriages were seen parked around a farmhouse where Amish families hold services. When headed home, children play peek-a-boo from the carriages.

Fast food restaurants abound, but to "get to know what good is" a restaurant that offers Pennsylvania Dutch cooking was selected. The Mennonites operate some of the best. That big meal was eaten earlier in the day and we walked it off at the National Wax Museum of Lancaster County. It offers an entertaining introduction to the general history of Lancaster County.

The Amish Farm Museum, which we also toured, was probably one of the first of its kind in the area; it offers interesting artifacts and is more authentic than the newer "museums" or "villages" which are amusement parks.

With patience and a map of Amish Country, we made a scenic car tour of our own taking in two of the 35 remaining "covered bridges," each over 100-years old, a 124-year old grist mill still used as a feed mill, and several small towns with quaint names such as Strasburg, Paradise, Intercourse, Bird-in-Hand and Landis Valley.

Landis Valley has an exhibit no one should miss. Michigan did not have anything of this caliber until restoration began on the Walker Tavern. The Pennsylvania Farm Museum in Landis Valley was preserved by the two Landis brothers. The family farm house, a barn and some eight other transplanted historic buildings (including a printer's saddle maker's and tinsmith's shop, general store, school house, toll house, fire station and settler's cabin), compose this "planned" village which is maintained by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

Wherever we went, we found the people hospitable and sincere, the scenery inviting, the food delightful. We know that Lancaster County, Pa. will "Vilkom" us again.

Tories Open Friday

Britton's varsity basketball squad opens its season this Friday with a league battle hosting Whiteford.

The Tories would like to improve over the losing season they endured last year, finishing at the bottom in the Tri-County League.

Britton has six lettermen returning from last year including seniors Bill Lutz, Jim Frayer, Mark Willaert, and Lon Wagenschutz. Returning junior lettermen are Randy Smith and Phil Loesch.

Filling out the roster are juniors Jeff Bearinger, Jon Hintz, John Marks, Mark Gilmore and Bob Sanders. Greg Fanslau is the lone freshman on the team and there are no sophomores.

Coach Jim Swiegart is starting his third year as mentor of the Tories. Swigart expects the squads quickness to be an asset "The kids are working hard on defense and rebounding. The shooting will come along as the season progresses. The key for our season is how well we play defense. The players work together well and work hard.

"I don't think we will have any single standout. All the kids are equal."

Sweigart sees Deerfield, Whitefordand Madison to be strong in the Tri-County League. Last year's champ, Ann Arbor St. Thomas is no longer in the league.

Mark Lewis is coaching the junior varsity squad and assisting Sweigart.

Besides Friday night's opening game, Britton will square off against Pittsford next Tuesday.

Britton Ousted

Britton's girls basketball team was ousted from further tournament play when the squad bowed to Grass Lake, 40-30, in the girls' basketball district finals at Madison High School on Wednesday, last week.

Britton hit 47 percent of its shots in the first half trailing by one point, 17-16 at the half. The Grass Lake Warriors pressed the Tories the entire game, allowing only 18 shots the first half.

Britton was able to shoot more after the rest period, but their shooting grew colder in the third quarter. They scored only five points.

Meanwhile, Grass Lake was captializing on Britton's turnovers and put the game away with 13 more points. Scoring in the final quarter was evenly matched, but the Warriors had built up too much of a lead for the Tories to overcome.

Leading the Tory offense during the game was Genene Bruce with 13 points and Lori Monagin with 11.

Bantams Victorious

In weekend play, the Tecumseh Recreation Department's hockey teams skated to a loss and a victory.

In the opener, the Tomahawk Squirts lost in a close game 3-1 against Rems Flyers. Lone goal for the Tomahawks was made by Steve Eardley and assist went to Dan Lynch. Next game for the Squirts is Saturday, December 4, at 8 a.m.

In the second game, the league leading Tomahawks Bantams skated to their fourth victory defeating Keegan Steel 7-5. Mark VanBuren received a hat trick with three goals, Fred Sandburg had two, Steve Doncouse and Doug James each put one in the nets.

Assists on goals went to Martin Henry four, Tim Eardley three and Jack Christ one.

Next game for the Bantams is Saturday, December 4, at 12 noon. All games are played at Tam-O-Shanter Sports Center, Sylvania, Ohio.

Banquet Is Dec. 6

Tecumseh High School sports banquet for track, cross country, girls basketball, golf team and cheerleaders will be Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. at the Tecumseh High School cafeteria. Dinner is potluck and families are to bring a meat dish and another dish to pass. Rolls and beverage will be furnished.

CHS Basketball Squad Falls to Sand Creek Aggies, 62-51

Clinton's varsity basketball quad began its season last riday with a 62-51 loss to and Creek.

Key turnovers and cold hooting made the difference. enior Tim Sharpe turned in a strong performance with 15 oints, eight rebounds, three teals and five assists. Bob anture led with 16 rebounds.

Coach Dave Arnold — starting his third year with the Redskins — has high hopes for improving on last season's rocky 1-19 season. The Skins tied with Manchester for last place in the LCAA.

But that was last season.

Arnold confides that both he and the squad have, "a good healthy attitude." He goes on to say, "We're optimistic. We will give people a battle in the league."

The Redskins have just two lettermen returning from last year, co-captains Tim Sharpe and Mike Risner. Sharpe is a senior forward and Risner a junior guard. Other starters include Roger LaSovage, senior guard, Bob Santure, junior guard, and Jeff Voorhees, junior center.

Finishing out the lineup are guards Phil Erickson, senior, and juniors Bill Zimmerman and Richard Brown; forwards Wally Pike and Gary Henry both juniors; and center David Tallman, senior.

Arnold looks to Addison, Hudson and Morenci to be the LCAA teams to beat. Hudson won the league last season.

Arnold feels the overall speed of the team is greatly improved and he plans a fast breaking offensive game. "This team is a little more relaxed than other teams in the past. They also have confidence in the outside shot. And this is the most hustling bunch of players ever."

Timing is a weak spot for the team, Arnold states. And players have to work on inside shots. "The inside players have taken their height for granted (at the junior varsity level). They've got to work on inside shots at the varsity level."

Arnold concludes that the junior varsity squad, coached by Jim Pittman, should be league contenders this season. The same group, as freshmen, lost only one game.

The Skins open league play by hosting Manchester this Friday night. The game will be Parents Night. Next Tuesday they travel to meet Waldron.

CHS Girls Win Districts

The Redskins girls basketball squad won the district tournament played at Napoleon High School on Tuesday of last week by edging out Napoleon in overtime 40 to 36.

Both teams were very tight at the start with Clinton grabbing a 7-5 lead at the end of the first quarter. The girls stretched their lead to 17-13 at halftime thanks to Sue Richter's six points.

Clinton's advantage grew to seven by the end of the third period, 27 to 20. Napoleon scored nine straight points while holding Clinton scoreless during the first six minutes of the fourth quarter.

A basket by Ruth King broke the ice and tied the score 29 to 29 with two minutes to go.

Two free throws by Karen Busch gave the Redskins a two-point lead but Napoleon scored the next four points to lead 33 to 31. With just 11 seconds left in regulation time Clinton's JoAnn Grossman made two pressure packed free throws to send the game into overtime.

Grossman made two more free throws and Richter made three more to give Clinton a lead it held until the end of the game.

Defense and rebounding plus some clutch free throws were the keys to this district championship said Clinton Coach Bob King.

Coach King praised Cathy Gibson who had 12 steals, Karen Busch who played excellent defense, Sue Richter who scored 15 points and JoAnn Grossman who hauled down 13 rebounds.

It was the girls' 13th straight victory and raised their season record to 19 and 2.

Regional play will begin this Thursday at Napoleon High School. Clinton plays Olivet at 6:30 p.m. The finals will be on Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Indian Cagers Stung by Saline Hornets in Season Opener

The 1976 edition of Tecumseh varsity basketball opened its season with a loss to Saline Tuesday night.

Final tally was 71-59.

The Indians came out cold in the first quarter hitting only one of 12 field goal attempts and scoring a total of five for the frame.

The Hornets chipped in 12 markers in the first frame adding 19 to Tecumseh's 15 points in the second quarter.

The Indians slowed down again in the third quarter scoring 10 points but came alive in the final stanza putting in 29 points. Saline scored 21 and 19 points in the second half.

Tecumseh completed 19 of 47 shots from the field and 21 of 31 from the line. In that last quarter they dumped nine of 17 shots for 52 percent.

Dan Maves led in scoring for the Indians hitting six field goals for 12 points. Dave Bilkie was next in line with four field goals and three of five foul shots for an 11-point total.

Mike McGuire led Saline with 26 points.

Tecumseh had 53 rebounds with Maves grabbing 18.

The Indians award individual players with credit for "110 percent effort" on specific plays during the game. Dave Bilkie received two such credits while Dan Maves and Bret DesErmia each received one.

Jim Curth is oeginning his first year as head coach of the Indians and he wasn't entirely pleased with the opening effort. "We didn't play very well. The first three quarters we were flat as a [illegible]n. We are inexperienced. Jeff Hans (one of two returning lettermen) went home sick from school earlier in the day and scored only two points. But we scored 29 in the last quarter. We were down 22 in the fourth quarter but cut their lead to just 10 with 2:50 to go."

Tecumseh lost five seniors last year when the Indians advanced to the quarterfinals losing to the eventual state champs, Flint Beecher. Those graduated include three year lettermen Bruce Hughes, Ken Biscupski and Brad Sisson and two year lettermen Jeff Schafer and Linvel Lisenbee.

Starting for Tecumseh this year are guards Dave Bilkie and Dave Bohannon, forwards Jeff Hans and Dan Maves and center Lyndon Hughes. Bohannon and Hans are the only two returning lettermen this year.

Filling out the roster are guards Doug Bohannon, Ben Maves and Richard Cangley, forwards Tim Mayers, Bret DesErmia and centers Gary Allen, and Bruce Phenicie.

Jim Curth is a Tecumseh graduate who has taught and coached at Tecumseh for 10 years. He states that inexperience and a lack of height are the Indians' weaknesses but the team is enthusiastic. "We're working hard. We'll be running, fast-breaking, pressing, making all the second effort we can. We want to make people in the community proud of the way we represent them."

The Indians open their league season by hosting Flat Rock this Friday.

THS JV's Score Win over Saline

Tecumseh's junior varsity basketball squad opened its season with a tight 59-53 win over the Saline Hornets Tuesday night.

The Indians trailed 29-22 at the half but put it together in the third quarter scoring 15 points and holding Saline to six markers.

Tecumseh held on in the final stanza scoring 22 points to 18 for Saline.

Leading rebounders included John Ely and Mark Creswell while Greg Borton and John Faulkner were tough on defense according to Coach Carl Novak.

Athletes Honored

Britton-Macon High School held its fall sports program Tuesday night with several athletes receiving awards.

Mark Lewis opened the program by introducing the junior varsity football team which compiled a 1-5 record this year.

Coach Randy Salisbury introduced the varsity team which ended the season with a 5-4 record, 5-1 in the league. The Tories won the Tri-County League Championship and players were given their league championship medals and letters by Salisbury.

Five individual football awards were presented. Mark Willaert was named outstanding offensive lineman; Rudy Montalvo was named outstanding offensive back; Lon Wagenschutz was named outstanding defensive lineman and Steve Crittenden was named outstanding defensive back.

Bill Lutz, offensive guard and middle linebacker, was named most valuable player.

Randy Smith and Jon Hintz were selected as co-captains for next year's squad.

Candy Salisbury introduced her junior varsity and varsity cheerleaders while Diane Matuszak introduced the junior varsity girls basketball team which compiled a 12-3 record.

Peggy Raeburn closed out the program by introducing the varsity girls basketball squad and presenting awards. The team ended the season with an 11-7 record.

Lori Monigan received best field goal percentage honors; Sue Hawkins received best free throw percentage honors; Genene Bruce was named leading rebounder, Meg Moore was named most improved player and Dawn Bush was named most valuable player.

Hunter Hits Ace

Steven Hunter of Tecumseh, is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of scoring a hole-in-one at the Whiffletree Hill Golf course recently.

Hunter's ace qualified him for the 15th annual Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drambuie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland.

The winner will be announced early next year.

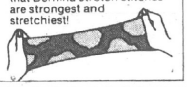
She'll love Bernina

99 out of 100 women choose BERNINA stretch stitches over • Singer • Elna • Pfaff • Viking

Try this stretch test

We give you free test swatches. Sew them yourself, then stretch and compare them. You'll prove that Bernina stretch stitches are strongest and stretchiest!



An independent testing organization recently asked 100 women to sew stretch stitches with the top machines of five leading manufacturers.

Then each woman stretched the stitches, trying to pop them. The only stitches that didn't pop were from Bernina.

Finally, each woman was asked which machine she would choose to sew a lightweight polyester jumpsuit.

99 out of 100 women picked Bernina. Come in, see the versatile Bernina. It's Swiss precision crafted for long-lasting enjoyment.

Clear Way for $41,800

All legal work was completed by Council Monday evening to obtain a government grant of $41,800 for construction of four tennis courts.

Cost of the four courts has been estimated at $83,600, with the grant to pay half the costs.

If the grant is approved, the four, lighted tennis courts will be built at Satterthwaite Park, next to the Community Center. Tecumseh only has four other courts, all very busy in the spring and summer.

City Appoints New Planner

Robert L. Taylor, Tecumseh resident for the past three years and a methods and system analyst for Ford Motor Co., Ypsilanti, was appointed to the Planning Commission on Monday night by Council.

He will fill the unexpired term of Carl Lamb, pharmacist who recently sold Lamb's Rexall Pharmacy to Harvey Schmidt, and who is now relocating in Venice, Fla.

Service Held for Retired Official

Services were held Saturday afternoon at the Purse Funeral Home for Merrick E. Dibble, 70, former county and Franklin Township official.

He apparently suffered a heart attack last Wednesday afternoon while cleaning the sidewalk of snow in front of his home at 1304 Westhaven Blvd. Although fairly active, he had been in failing health for the past few years.

Mr. Dibble, a lifelong resident of the Tipton area and a Tecumseh resident for the past six years, served as Register of Deeds for Lenawee County from 1964 to 1973, when he retired.

Previously, he was treasurer for 12 years for Franklin Township, and from 1961 to 1964 he served the township as its supervisor.

He farmed for 39 years in the Tipton area and was a lifelong member of the Tipton Community Church and Tipton Grange. He was a 50-year member of the Tipton Knights of the Pythias and a former member of the Adrian Exchange Club.

He was born in Franklin Township on June 22, 1906, the son of Lawrence and Elva (Billington) Dibble. On Nov. 4, 1931, he was married to the former Shirley Wilson in Adrian by the Rev. W.E. Grove of Tipton.

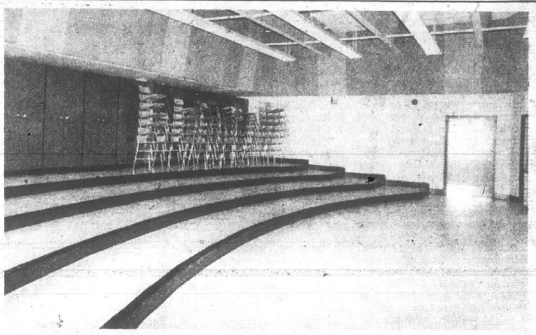
This past month on Nov. 5 Mr. and Mrs. Dibble observed their 45th wedding anniversary at a family gathering.

Survivors include his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Mary Lou) Sunderland of Tecumseh and Mrs. Roger (Patricia) Borton of Fayette, Ohio, and four grandchildren.

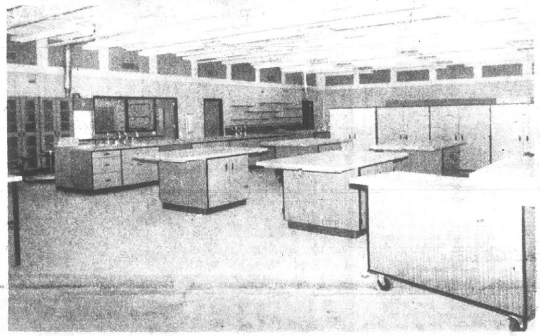
His parents and a sister preceded him in death.

The Rev. Max Bailey officiated at the services, and burial was in the Tipton Cemetery.

MERRICK DIBBLE



SOUGHT FOR YEARS — Vocal music teachers in Tecumseh pleaded over 20 years for a tier-floor music room for high school choral groups. Its here at last as seen in photo above.



NEW DEPARTMENT — A two-teaching station was incorporated in the new art department in the $1.5 addition at THS. This picture shows student work benches with cutting board tops and large counter-sink area.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES — Old ag section at THS was remodeled for administrative offices, including counseling department. Principal Clarence Lacny here recently moved into his new quarters. Offices were originally on the second floor. Area through window is the high school court yard. (Photos by Cortland Hunt)

Inspection To Delay Opening HS Addition

Although students at Tecumseh High School will not start using the new $1.5 addition there until after the holidays, the 25,100-square-foot construction is for all practical purposes completed.

A little hardware here and there and a couple missing doors are all that remains.

School officials anticipated opening the new section next Monday, Supt. Robert Duhan reports, but a fire marshall inspection will not be made until next week. Instead of opening the addition for just a few days before Christmas, officials have decided to wait until classes resume in January.

At that time some 180 students now attending morning and afternoon classes at St. Elizabeth will now be accommodated at THS.

Students undoubtedly will appreciate the new addition - halls are nearly four feet wider for less congestion between classes, a tiered-floor classroom for vocal music, modern art department, carpeted classrooms and a modern, efficient cafeteria that will easily serve 800 students or more at lunch time.

Although the student body numbers just under 1,200 many in the past have not eaten at the cafeteria.

'76 DRIVE BEST EVER

$85,000 — over Goal

Most successful drive ever held for the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation will end Friday with total contributions probably exceeding $85,000.

Robert Robinson, drive chairman, reported Tuesday that donations were almost to that mark, well over the $79,950 goal. Response from donors this year means that more monies than ever before will stay in Tecumseh.

The Foundation could well have over $13,000 from this year's drive alone to fund or help fund community projects. Most of the money raised is given to charities, but part does stay in the community for residents here.

All division chairmen report increases over a year ago, and in most cases each division reports record contributions.

The industrial division alone, for example is contributing over $50,000 to the Foundation, Robinson reports. This is a record amount.

Next week The Herald will print a complete breakdown of the drive's success — a financial report of each division, plus a complete list of donors who contributed $100 or more and who have been listed in recent issues of The Herald. as Century Club members.

Mastie Recall Probe Is Futile

In an attempt to identify the reasons for recall charges against Henry Mastie, Britton village council president, and to determine whether or not they are true, The Tecumseh Herald attended a press conference called by Mastie at the C&C Cafe on Dec. 5.

Meeting then proceeded to the home of village clerk, Mrs. Dorothy Hindes. Minutes of the Britton Village Council meetings and other records were made available to the press for examination.

Since that meeting, the Herald has interviewed other officials and residents in Britton. To date, there is no conclusive evidence whether or not Mastie is guilty as charged.

Prime reason for this is that concerned citizens of Britton have not come forward to state for the record the specific reasons for the charges, including dates and witnesses to alleged acts of misconduct.

Through their lawyer, Clarke Baldwin, the concerned citizens refused a public debate Dec. 15 at Mastie's invitation issued last Thursday through the media. Story is on Britton page this week.

Furthermore, village officials and residents interviewed so far by the Herald do not seem to know if the village has a procedural document that spells out separation of powers of village president and council. Therefore there is no known record of precedent to determine whether Mastie overstepped his authority, or neglected his responsibilities.

A former Britton village official told the Herald "The things that they are accusing him for are not even the things the mayor handles."

Charges that he monopolizes council meetings and holds up business are even more difficult to determine since truth of the charges is subjective. One village resident, who identifies as a concerned citizen, said that Mastie has been "mild" at meetings since the recall started.

A village council member said "I can work with Henry or I can work with Elmer Bryan." Bryan was mayor pro-tem before Mastie was elected.

Others who don't want to take sides told the Herald they feel it is hard to get Mastie to recognize people in the audience during council meetings, and that some issues are discussed too long.

From conversations with village residents and officials, the Herald has learned the recall has stemmed from personality conflicts.

Longer Hours for Shoppers

Although some Tecumseh merchants started special Christmas shopping hours a week or so ago, practically all businesses will be open evenings and longer hours starting Monday, Dec. 13th.

Several shops also will start staying open Sunday afternoons, beginning this Sunday, Dec. 12th.

Council approved free off-street parking for the merchants, starting next Wednesday, Dec. 15th. Metered parking, however, will continue in effect except for the city parking lots.

Slick Streets Are Blamed in Accidents

Snowy, icy streets claimed a part in eight of the 13 accidents reported to Tecumseh police this week. Dec. 1 was a particularly hazardous day as road conditions were slippery for the first time this winter.

A resume of accidents includes:

Dec. 1 - Linda K. Glenn, 29, 811 Outer Dr., was making a right onto Brown St. from N. Union when she was hit from behind. Carolyn M. Bollinger, 41, of 611 W. Chicago was unable to stop because of slippery conditions.

Nelson Calligan, 22, of Hillsdale told police he could not stop on W. Chicago when he slid into an auto driven by Cassie Lovett, 40, of 302½ S. Adrian.

Larry D. Henry, 19, 136 E. Chicago, and a witness told police that a neighbor failed to stop for a sign at the corner of Cairns and Sunset. Henry was forced to jump the curb and hit a guy wire to avoid striking the auto.

Elbert L. Lambert, 30, 1103 Murray Dr., and Mary L. Sunderland, 40, of 414 Seminole collided in the Westhaven Dr. roadway. Sunderland reportedly exited through the wrong lane because the rescue truck was blocking the proper exit.

Kimberly S. Merritt, of Red Mill Dr., was heading south on Red Mill when an approaching vehicle was driving left of center. Merritt slid into a mailbox at 806 Red Mill after braking.

Ernest F. Gove, 75, 208 N. Oneida, opened his left door in front of another auto being driven into the Party Shop parking lot. Lucille V. Conklin, 55, of 16301 Staib Rd., was driving the other car.

Dec. 2 - Hector Sanchez, 17, of Britton and Christine A. Fliss, 31, of 505 Sutton backed into each other in the A&P parking lot.

Tears: Our Natural Safety Valve

At the loss of a loved one, the most natural release for one's emotions is an expression of grief: crying.

Tears are therapeutic in more ways than many of us may realize. They give us an emotional outlet and provide us with an immediate and natural physical action we can perform; one that occupies our being completely.

An emotional outlet

Getting it all out -- letting all of the building and pent-up feelings of grief explode in a burst of tears -- may be one of the most effective ways of coming to grips with the immediate situation following the death of a loved one. At the realization that the loved one is gone, tears may come easily for both adult and child. And this is good. Children may even be encouraged to let out their feelings of grief by crying. Most do not need the extra encouragement since it is so natural to weep in sorrow. Yet society has somehow built up barriers and taboos against expressing grief through crying.

Men can cry too!

There are no laws that restrict men from using this means of expressing their grief. It is not unmasculine to cry at the death of a loved one or a dear friend. Giving expression to the grief and sorrow in no way diminishes or compromises an individual's manliness.

It is a misconception that "big boys" shouldn't cry . . . a carry-over from childhood chidings of "Don't cry. It doesn't hurt that much." Recent generations have been raised in the old school of "the stiff upper lip" and "grin and bear it." But if there is a hurt, then the pain should be recognized and duly noted -- in this case, through tears. After all, that's what tears are all about!

Your questions and comments on these subjects and others to follow are most welcome -- in private or publicly through this column.

Library Presents Double Feature

The Tecumseh Public Library offers you a Christmas bonus with this month's Family Flicks!

A double feature starring "Brian's Song" and "Planet of the Apes" will be shown in the meeting room on Dec. 11.

Because of the length of both features, Family Flicks will begin an hour early. "Brian's Song" will be shown from 1-2:30 p.m.

"Planet of the Apes" will be shown from 2:45 p.m. to approximately 5 p.m. The library suggests family pillows to enjoy a holiday treat.

Map Presented at Public Library

James Beardsley has presented the Tecumseh Area Historical Society with a reproduction of a rare map of Tecumseh. The map is displayed at Tecumseh Public Library.

Drawn in 1868 by A. Ruger, the map is a detailed "aerial view" of the city, encompassing Adrian St. on the west, Wyandotte on the east, Brown on the north and Cummins on the south.

The map depicts individual houses, businesses, schools and churches.

Beardsley received the original map from Beth Satterthwaite, whose father, J. Newton Satterthwaite, collected and saved material about Tecumseh for many years.

The engagement of Elaine Marie Aebersold to Charles Arthur Warner is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Aebersold of Britton. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Warner of Tipton. The bride-elect is a 1973 Tecumseh High School grad employed at Uarco in Adrian. Mr. Warner is a 1973 Clinton High School graduate and is employed by Redman Construction Co. A spring 1977 wedding is planned.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

VICTORY AND DEFEAT

When one has both arousing victory and a crushing defeat to report, it certainly should be permissable to dwell on the success story first, shouldn't it? After all, good things before bad and all that sort of thing.

However, before this gets completely out of hand perhaps I should calm down and tone down a few words. A rousing victory trinslates into a bird identification and the crushing defeat—well, you have guessed it, it refers to a bird I did not identify. Win some, lose some. I still believe good things should come first.

For several weeks there was a different bird occassionally visiting the near-my-window feeders. There was nothing terribly distinctive about him, nor, as far as that goes, anything too exciting either.

Sparrow size and sparrow color he was usually just dismissed with a careless remark about being some sort of a sparrow. So non-attention getting was he that I am sure his freeloading visits were much oftener than I realized.

Then came the day when I gave this newcomer a really good close up look. He obviously was a member of the sparrow clan but my goodness, exactly which member?

He was a pretty little thing and certainly did not deserve the quick uncaring brush-off he had been getting. His striped breast made me immediately think of a song sparrow but there was no stick-pin. Even before realizing this lack, a song sparrow was ruled out because the stripes this little guy wore were far too faint and indistinct.

His back and wings were a rich chestnut brown with definite and dark verticle stripes across his shoulders and two white bars on each wing. His tail was just a sparrowish tail. Neither was there anything noteworthy about his legs, feet, bill or eyes. However, under his bill was a neat white bib and his head was quite striped. With these features in mind I started through the bird books.

Hooray and hallelujah! The "Audubon Bird Guide" has five and a half pages of color plates showing various sparrows. Eight, 10, 12 birds per page. Oh, so many different sparrows! In the pictures they do not look so difficult to identify but from experience I know better.

Birds are not as careful about their appearance as are the people who draw the pictures for these books—head stripes may not be as perfect, a stick-pin might be slightly off center, and a wing or tail bar could be partially obscured by some ragged feathers.

But for once, bird and book agreed. At the top of plate 43, the first bird in the upper right hand corner was the one who had been visiting the near-my-window feeder. An immature white-throated sparrow. How lovely!

Now I suppose there is nothing to do but continue on to the last part of the article's title. Just as I was feeling cocky about my young white-throat the telephone rang and with it came the start of the crushing defeat.

Actually I do not know why this particular bit of non-success is so bothersome. It is often difficult to identify a bird from someone else's description—we all see things differently.

The gentleman who called explained that he and his wife were completely baffled by two birds who had been around for some time. Larger than robins, sort of gray in color with slightly darker wings. As I was beginning to think mourning dove, he went on to say that they did not look anything like the mourning doves in his bird book.

My apologies, I have still not come up with any name. It is most frustrating to have strange visitors and not be able to find out who they are. I feel for the gentleman who called. It is also frustrating to not have an idea of where to start looking for a bird—thus my defeat.

Chapter Gets New Members

Mary Forgacs, Judy Rudolph and Janet Matthews joined the Iota Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, at its meeting Wednesday at the home of Judy VanOrsdol.

Maurice McIntosh showed the members his inlaid art, lamps, plaques, pins and bowls he had made from wood.

The Christmas party is at the home of Becky Grant, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. The theme is Holiday From Other Lands. Each member is to bring a dish from a different country, and a gift for her secret sister and husband.

Ginger Miekle was surprised with a baby shower following the meeting.

Next meeting is Jan. 5 at the home of Judy Elwartowski, with Beck Grant as co-hostess.

Proctor Recently Named to Eye Bank Personnel

Roger L. Proctor of Tecumseh recently became part of a growing volunteer group of trained personnel who are on call to help the Michigan Eye Bank collect the tissue needed to restore sight to persons blinded by diseases and injuries of the cornea.

Proctor was certified by Wayne State University School of Medicine as a trained enucleator. He is qualified to surgically remove eyes pledged by deceased donors for medical use.

The Michigan Eye Bank is sponsored by the Lions Clubs of Michigan as part of their sight restoration program which includes Leader Dog, Welcome Home for the Blind and other services.

The Lions provide funds for the Eye Bank and conduct donor drives to encourage people to pledge their eyes to the Eye Bank.

During the last fiscal year the Michigan Eye Bank provided corneal tissue for 253 transplant operations.

No patient was charged for any of the services associated with the obtaining and processing of tissue for transplantation although it cost the Michigan Eye Bank approximately $200 per eye.

Enucleation is a procedure not generally covered in the regular medical school curriculum. Many physicians have never performed an enucleation, but successful corneal transplants depend upon prompt removal of the eyes after the donor's death.

Therefore the service of trained volunteers like Proctor working through a system of Eye Bank substations are essential to the Eye Bank program.

Under Michigan House Bill No. 4468 which was adopted in 1974 as part of the Anatomical Gift Act, non-physicians including nurses, dentists, operating room technicians, morticians, physicians assistants, and para-medics can be trained as enucleators.

Proctor is a mortician employed by Proctor Funeral Home Inc.

Foster Homes Urgently Needed

An urgent appeal is being made by the Probate Court of Lenawee County for foster homes for children who have been removed from their own home because of abuse, neglect or behavior problems which relate to home, school and-or community.

The foster home is an alternative to be considered in providing temporary care when a child's home is not able to meet his needs and problems. A child may need a foster home for a few weeks, a few months or years.

These young people are placed in homes where it seems there is a good chance that they and the family will accept and enjoy each other. Occasionally the adjustment is not good and the foster parents ask that other arrangements be made.

"Foster children need security, love, guidance and above all they need to be accepted," the Court stated in a news release. "Foster parents provide special care to a child who is not their own, but a child they can accept as a member of their family. They do [illegible] and hope that through their love and concern they will grow into good citizens."

Foster parents receive payment for room and board, the Court covers payments for school and clothing needs.

Every foster child has a caseworker who visits him on a weekly basis. He, along with the foster home coordinator, provides supportive help to foster parents. They are available on a 24-hour emergency telephone service.

"If you know foster parents who are licensed through Probate Court, talk with them about the rewards of fostering," suggested the Court. You may also call Sister Ann at 263-8831 for further information and no obligation.

Students Discuss World Problems

Seven students represented this area at the recent COSMOS International Weekend held at Alma College in Alma.

COSMOS was sponsored by the State YMCA of Michigan for Michigan high school students and foreign exchange to meet and communicate on world problems.

Selected to represent Tecumseh High School were Ingrid Kracht, Germany; Lesley Clark, Per Jansson, Sweden; Jorge Anaya, Mexico; Edwardo Hernandez, Colombia and Arthur Snyder.

A film festival was held to give the students background on the countries represented; an exercise explained the world food crisis.

Students were given the opportunity to create their own version of Utopia during a portion of the program called the "Cosmic Culture."

Students from all over the world shared their background with the group at the Cultural Fair. American and International disc jockeys were involved with the dance on Saturday evening.

To teach cooperation, the students were involved in an egg sale to raise money for YMCA world service. An international worship service was held Sunday.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — The Macon area has been transformed into a winter wonderland over the past week. The stately old trees that line many of the rural roads add a magnificant touch of beauty to the entire scene. As you drive into Macon the store windows look inviting with its warm holiday decorations complete with an old-fashioned Christmas tree strung with popcorn.

Last Saturday night at 6:30 p.m. the church bells announced the start of the annual Boarsheaf dinner. As soon as the nearly 70 people were seated Wilma and Ed Clark entered carrying the papiermache boarshead followed by two trumpeters, Max Morden Jr. and Tammy Rhoades leading the choir into the dining room.

The festive dinner followed and then an evening of singing. The conclusion found Mrs. Bernard Tucker at the organ accompanying her brother Ed Clark who sang. Here Comes Santa Claus and Santa himself did come in passing out candy to all the kids ending a nice evening.

Linda Phillips is new [illegible] the Macon Historical Society which met Dec. 4. Other new officers are vice-president, Don Oswald; secretary, Sue Kosky; treasurer, Otto Miller.

Bob Bush, retiring president, was given a round of applause for the year of his leadership. New members Jim and Joyce Conrad were welcomed into the group. Games were played and many homemade goodies shared.

Sitting around the old potbelly stove in the Kosky home, with Christmas decorations already in evidence you did indeed feel you had slipped back in time to a "Christmas past." Tom and Sue have done much hard work on their Hack Rd. home.

The January meeting will be with Larry and Mary Ann Bush on Pennington Rd. Prof. David Lewis will speak on Ford Country. New members and guests are invited.

Mrs. Paul Hover will soon be getting out the old Christmas tree stand with a series of eight lights built into it. It was made of cast aluminum and originally comes from an uncle's family. It was built to hold a 25 ft. tree.

Needless to say it will hold an average size tree at the Hovers which will be decorated with ornaments her dad hung on his tree as a child plus many handimade ones acquired over the years some being made by the children. The family Christmas plans include the eve at home and the day with Paul's mom in Findlay, Ohio.

The Macon Camp Fire girls group with Lois Hover, leader, and assisted by Sherry Hover and Catherine Harsh went roller skating last Wednesday night. The group of eight girls meet at the Hover home each Monday and are sponsored again by the Macon Women's club with Mrs. Lucille Hill as their representative. Besides working on Christmas projects the girls are presently involved in the candy sale.

Wrestling season began for Tecumseh High School this past week and definitely touches the Macon area. This is the 10th year for the sport and for Pat Connors as the head coach. He is assisted by Dan Howlett.

Macon boys on the team are, Kelly and Kevin Williamson, Tom and Steve Chatters, John Clark and Stewart Williamson. You will be picking up little bits and pieces about wrestling in my column just as you did about football as this sport "holds a soft spot in my heart" also.

The boys deserve a big hand and your support.

To the Editor,

I wanted to explain a little of the background as to why Britton is in the mess it is now in concerning its president.

Hank Mastie is using mismanagement of the previous administration as his excuse for every misdeed he is doing. He was a part of that administration! Why did he not do something then if there was mismanagement! I state there was none! It is his scapegoat.

We are where we're at today because of the heavy-handed control of one or two persons using the power of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh. The bank asked Mr. Niblack to resign as the village president, feeling it could cause a conflict of interest.

Mr. Niblack was serving as village president when he was appointed Britton branch manager. While serving as manager he was encouraged to run for re-election this spring. Then five months later they forced him to choose which position he was to keep.

[illegible]ing the trouble the resignation caused, three of us went to see the bank officers wanting to know why the bank could justify asking a branch manager to resign a public office in our village while encouraging and endorsing a bank vice president, Mary Bowers, to run again for the Tecumseh council.

Through two unsatisfactory visits, we never were given a good reason why one should be allowed to serve and the other asked to resign.

We were told that the board felt it was in the banks best interest for Mr. Niblack to resign. When confronted with the knowledge that it had not been brought before the board, Mr. Downing then stated that the problem arose between board meetings, and a board member felt the resignation was best for the bank. This is a Democracy?

We also were informed that some people might remove their money from the bank if Mr. Niblack remained as village president. My conjecture is that it is someone richer than I am that they were worried about. They would not tell us the board member, who does not even live in the village of Britton, that made the decision for six or seven hundred people that do.

I am for the recall election so the people can voice their opinion against Hank Mastie continuing his control over a position that never should have been forced to be vacated; Then we can hold an election for a new President!

[illegible] you,

A Concerned Citizen
Phyllis Below

(Editor's Note: Several years there was statewide concern over the legality of bank officers serving on councils, school boards and other similar bodies. Reason being that banks transact loans and serve as depositories for funds. One can debate the advantages and disadvantages of having bank officials on elected community boards or organizations.)

Council Meets, Ends Services

BRITTON — Britton Village Council unanimously decided Monday night that no private services would be given to a private drive on Wells St.

According to the minutes of the meeting, clerk was authorized "to send a letter to Stewart Niblack stating that service on the road leading to his property will be discontinued until such time as the road is brought up to date." Road is not asphalt.

President Henry Mastie reported to council Monday that he instructed village employees that no private services were to be given. He said he reported his action to council and stated he felt the alternate was to bill the owner for services or "leave as such."

Motion was made by Jerry Dicks, supported by Bert Wade to discontinue the services.

Council refused the $200 check from Farm Bureau insurance for damages to the siding of the council chambers. Council has a $100 deductable. Council wants repairs made in lieu of money.

A permit for building a storage shed for equipment was granted to Dwayne Dunbar. John Young, building inspector would not grant permit until council decided setback for the building. Code was not spelled out in records given him. Council set the requirements.

President Mastie conveyed the recommendation of the building inspector that no building occupy more than 30 percent of any property.

Citizens Refuse Public Debate

BRITTON — Last Thursday, Henry Mastie called for a public debate Dec. 15 with the concerned citizens of Britton who are seeking his recall.

That some day, the concerned citizens issued a refusal and statement through their attorney, Clarke Baldwin of Adrian.

Mastie's challenge to the concerned citizens read:

"Who are these concerned citizens group recalling me? Do they lack the tenacity to meet with me and the news media (The Herald, Blade and Telegram) and the good citizens of Britton at a public meeting Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. at village Council rooms to discuss the issues as presented and more?"

The reply from the citizens read:

"The committee of concerned citizens of Britton have stated in their petition the reasons recalling Henry Mastie. Mr. Mastie has replied to the committee's assertions of misconduct. The statement of each side will be listed on the recall ballot. The committee does not feel that [illegible] the village of Britton nor its citizenry would benefit by protracted argument over its assertions, either through news media coverage or by way of public debate."

Attorney Baldwin stated that the citizens wanted to retain their anonymity. "They don't want to get on a soapbox," he told The Herald. "The committee refuses any type of public confrontation.

Baldwin said that some members of the concerned citizens committee were afraid the meeting would turn into a "shouting match...as other meetings have."

Mastie's response to the refusal was: "They're afraid to show their colors. They're trying something against me and don't give me a chance to reply."

Asked whether he started a "shouting match at any meeting Mastie replied:

"I haven't shouted at anyone any more than they've shouted at me. I have continually kept after Council to take care of things. They wouldn't inform me."

Asked if he ever used vulgar language at council meetings Mastie replied: "Hell or damn...if you call that vulgar. I haven't said anymore than anyone else has. There has been vulgar language used by every member of Council."

'Deck the Halls'

By Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON — A visit to the Charles Helgren home at 102 Litchfield, Clinton, is like a step backward in time to the turn of the century.

Appropriately, members of the Historical Society of Clinton toured the home and held their Christmas party there Dec. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Helgren moved from Detroit and purchased the house in 1970. Since then they have accomplished the remodeling mostly with their own monumental amount of hard labor.

Charles Helgren is a retiree from Budd Co., where he had worked 35 years.

Mrs. Helgren notes that he "just didn't want to be idle."

She recalls that when her daughter, already a rural Clinton resident, brought them to see the vacant house, it was a hot summer day, and the doors were wide open.

Another couple ahead of them took one look at the crumbled plaster, and bare light bulbs dangling inside, and never even went inside the door.

One of the Helgrens first efforts was to remove the old varnish and some paint from all the natural oak woodwork in the 10-room house, then refinish it. It took an estimated 55 gallons of stripper to do this.

Ceilings, which had been lowered in a remodeling by earlier tentants, were removed and the original high ceilings restored.

Newly laid and sanded maple floors came from the 1905 Clinton High School building, torn down in recent years.

Daughter Jennifer Retke and her husband Fred, a local farmer, have helped all along with the remodeling. She noted that they spent some 560 hours just pulling nails from the old flooring and cleaning the grooves so it would fit perfectly when laid.

Wainscoting from enclosed stairways in the old Clinton school have been stripped and used to face all new kitchen cupboards.

Former cupboards (not the original ones) have been moved to the basement and will be used in a canning kitchen there. Original brick floors, rock walls and two cisterns are still down there and Mr. Helgren's much-used work bench.

Mrs. Helgren is active in the Hookrafters Guild and will have space in the five-room basement for two carpet looms.

When ceilings were lowered in years past, the ornamental daisy designed caps above each door frame were cut off.

Luckily, the early builder had placed matching wood trims on the inside of each closet door, and upstairs doorways, too, enough to replace them in the downstairs rooms.

Original, huge, sliding doors still slide perfectly between the rooms, where Dr. Iler once had his offices.

Seven of the intricately carved oak stair posts had to be replaced on the winding stairway.

There's five rooms on the second floor and an unfinished attic large enough for a five room apartment—"with the best view in Clinton" Mrs. Helgren said.

Attic is sheathed in the hemlock and once held a large water tank to service the household.

A lifetime collection of period furniture fills the house and imaginative use of decorative antique accessories have created a comfortable homey setting. Lovely ironstone pieces and carnival glass grace shelves and tables throughout the house.

House was built about 1890 by David Woodard, who owned a plow factory on the Brown St. site of the present Clinton Collision Co., and he also owned an orchard outside of town.

Because of homes like this in Clinton, Historical Society is seeking to focus attention on their historical value and encourage their preservation.

OLD MADE NEW— Holiday fragrance of baking cookies fills the Helgren kitchen where oak wainscoting from Clinton's old school building has been fashioned into practical new cupboards.

Village Given Two Buildings

CLINTON — Two former Clinton Engines buildings, located at W. Franklin and Railroad Sts., which have been vacant for several years, have been deeded at no cost to the Village of Clinton, council members learned at Monday's meeting.

Buildings have been boarded up when vandalism caused complaints.

Conveyance of deed was from Computer Based Data Systems, Inc., a companion company of Clinton Engines, which had vacated them several years ago, when the company moved to Iowa.

Valuation of deeded property was not announced, however, buildings are considered in sound condition.

A parking lot located across the street from the newly acquired buildings has been purchased by the Village for $6,500.

Use of the buildings has not been determined at this time.

First Baby for Lawrences

CLINTON — A son was born Dec. 2 at Bixby Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lawrence. Named Christopher Lee, the baby weighed 6 lbs., 3¾ ozs.

He's a first baby for the Lawrences and a sixth grandson of Mrs. Roy Haft of the same address, Clinton-Macon Rd.

Paternal grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Lawrence of Manistee.

FIREPLACE FANCY — Ornately carved oak mantel, with lots of room for bric-a-brac, will again be enhanced with original brown-tone tiles found in the house, when completed by Mrs. Helgren. Same design tiles were used on fireplace in Smith-Kimball Community Center. This may be the only time Mr. and Mrs. Helgren were seen resting since they bought the house to remodel six years ago.

Council Honors Clerk

CLINTON — Clinton Village Council presented a plaque in appreciation of the 20 years of service by John Fox, who resigned as clerk this fall because of ill health.

In his response, Fox recalled the first meeting in 1955 at which he began his duties.

Members voted to use the new Federal Anti-Recession funds to pay the wages in the sewer department.

Since no one was present for the public hearing concerning the village park project, no action was taken on it.

Council voted to raise the electrical rates by one mill Dec. 15, due to the increased price of fuel oil. This raise represents the third raise this year previously in June, November.

A request for electricity for a house under construction, northwest of the village was considered and estimated charges for such service determined. Electrical service would be underground installation, and is outside the village limits.

Clinton already extends power to N. Adrian Hwy.

Rate would be: for the first 200 feet, the difference between overhead and underground installation; and the remainder of the cost would be determined by the actual cost of materials and labor. One-half of the cost would be payable in advance and the rest to be paid before electrical service is connected.

Because of the dates for the year end holidays, the village office will be closed Dec. 23 and 24 and also Dec. 30 and 31.

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

Christmas is a time for gift giving and what nicer things to give than things we make ourselves. For special people on your gift list, try a gift package filled with a variety of homemade candies and cookies.

These molasses cookies will be in all my gift packages. This recipe from Hilda Caterina makes a moist, chewy, delicious molasses cookies.

MOLASSES SUGAR COOKIES

1½ cup margarine
2 cups sugar
½ cup molasses
2 eggs
4 cups flour
3 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
½ cup jelly or jam.

Melt margarine in large mixing bowl over low heat. Cool. Add in order the sugar, molasses, and eggs. Beat well. Combine dry ingredients and add, mixing well. Chill dough for at least one hour.

Form into 1 inch balls. Dip into granulated sugar and place 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Make indentation with thumb and fill with 1/4 teaspoon jam or jelly. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10-12 minutes.

This is the first recipe I have seen for sugar cookies made with powdered sugar but these are delicious and melt in your mouth. This recipe is also from Hilda Caterina.

SUGAR COOKIES

1 cup margarine
1½ cup powdered sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Cream margarine and add powdered sugar, egg vanilla and almond extract. Mix well. Combine dry ingredients and add mixing well. Chill dough.

Divide dough in half. Roll ⅛ inch thick and cut in desired shapes. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake 7-8 minutes in 375 degree oven. Frost with buttercream icing and decorate as desired.

Keep Walks and Drives Snow Free

Tecumseh post office asked for residents' cooperation in keeping walks and drives snow free during the winter months. Mail will be returned to the post office if steps and walks are not cleared.

"Our letter carriers fear a disabling fall more than any other hazard," said postmaster Jack G. Metcalf, "We ask your cooperation in clearing snow...as soon as snow falls and in using salt or sand on ice-coated surfaces."

Metcalf said if steps and sidewalks are not cleared, "Your mail will be returned to the Post Office and you will have to stop at the office for the mail." Patrons must also inform the postmaster at that time if sidewalks and steps are now clear of ice and snow.

mirage

We had put the last bauble on the tree and hung the children's stockings by the mantel. We had even remembered our newly acquired kitten. Her catnip mouse was adorned with a red ribbon and a small gold bell.

Then suddenly I found myself staring at the wreath in the window. In the center of it, I could see the white church I'd gone to as a child. More often than not at Christmas there was snow on the ground when we went to the services, crisp and crunchy beneath our feet.

I blinked . . . and, when I looked again, the church was gone. But memory's message still remained. I turned to my husband. "There's something else to do," I told him, "if tomorrow is really to be Christmas."

THS Grapplers Open Season

Indian wrestlers dropped a close match to the Dundee grapplers last Thursday. They lost another squeaker Tuesday night against Saline, 34-30.

In the Dundee match, the Indians scored 25 points to Dundee's 38 without the help of defending league champion Kevin Eggleston.

Regular starters Ben Williams, Jack Bagby and Mat Barrett were also missing from the lineup. Bagby and Barrett did not make weight limitations.

Putting it simply, Connors stated that if one of his regular four that were out had pinned his man, Tecumseh could have lost the match by only one point.

If two of his regulars had won, the Indians would have taken the match.

Pinning their opponents for Tecumseh were John Southard at 105 and Eric Butzky at heavyweight. Mark Barrett at 126, Dan Yoder at 138, Dan DeHann at 155, and Dan Tilton at 165 won by decision.

In the match here against Saline Tuesday night, the Indians were leading 30-28 going into the final match. Saline's Doug Crosbie pinned Eric Butsky in 1:21 giving the Hornets the victory margin.

10 Lettermen Return, Wrestling Coach Hopeful

By Kent Downing

Tecumseh Indian wrestlers come off an impressive record last year, and head coach Pat Connors is not afraid to say that he expects much of the same from his wrestlers this year.

Last year the team was second in the league to New Boston Huron with a 5-2 record. They captured the Huron League Tournament.

This year the team boasts 10 returning lettermen, including two defending league champions. They are Dan Yoder at 132 pounds, and Kevin Eggleston, wrestling at 178.

Other impressive lettermen include Joe Castorena, 119, and Dan Tilton, 155, second in the league last year. Eric Butzky, heavy weight, was third.

Ben Williams, 112, and Mark Barrett, 126, were both fourth in their weight class in the league.

Other returning lettermen include Jack Bagby, Stewart Jones, and Brad Rhora.

In total, Coach Connors stated that he has "quite a few wrestlers back" and thus he is justified in expecting a good season, if not the Huron League championship. But as any good coach would, Connors warns that the league is far from in the bag, as New Boston is particularly tough.

Connors is counting on particularly good performances from Yoder, Eggleston, Tilton, Castorena, Williams, Barrett and Butzky.

And he has rounded out that core with two starting freshmen and five seniors and juniors.

Mat Barrett, 98, and John Southhard, 105 are the freshmen. Stewart Jones will be wrestling at 119, Steve Chatters at 132, Mark Johnston at 145, Dan DeHaan at 155, and Jim Neill at 191.

The Indians travel to the Huron Invitational Saturday and meet Chelsea here Tuesday. They wrestle Addison and Blissfield at Blissfield Thursday, with a final pre-Christmas tournament at Chelsea next Saturday.

All the pre-Christmas matches are non-league, and that, according to Coach Connors, is a good testing time for the wrestlers.

Variety of Classes Planned for Winter

Tecumseh recreation men's basketball will be starting Jan. 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. It will be held every Thursday for eight weeks at the junior high boy's gym. Fee is $1 per person per night.

The Recreation Department will also be sponsoring a new ladies dance and aerobic fitness program. These classes will be held in two sessions a week. One session will be twice a week in the morning and the other session will be held twice a week in the evening.

This class will be taught by Mrs. McAron, who is well versed in this unique, new exercise program for ladies.

More information on the class location, registration, and dates will be forthcoming.

Men's volleyball, ladies volleyball, and other recreation classes will resume with new sessions beginning in January, with dates to be announced.

A special note to anyone interested in starting a class: if you can provide at least 10 people that are interested in taking the class, contact the Recreation Department for further information.

BOOK MARK

News from the Tecumseh Library.

Tecumseh Public Library offers the following new books in the health field. They represent just a few which may be checked out free from the library.

THE PEOPLE'S PHARMACY is a guide to prescription drugs and over-the-counter medications. There are chapters on what drugs are, the hazards of taking certain combinations of drugs, how to save money on prescription drugs, and much more. Brand names are mentioned and compared.

A big difference between diabetes and other diseases is that the patient, more than the doctor, is deeply involved in his or her own care. in DIABETES EXPLAINED, Ira J. Laufer and Herbert Kadison present a layman's guide to diabetes. The authors describe the nature of the disease, problems and complications, diet and other therapy, and present an overview of recent research.

Hysterectomies are difficult to face, but there is a new book which will help women understand what the operation entails and what necessitates it. HYSTERECTOMY, by Nancy Nugent, also contains interviews with hysterectomy patients, who describe their decision to undergo surgery, postoperative problems, and their feelings about themselves afterward.

POST-MASTECTOMY, by Win Ann Winkler, is subtitles "A Personal Guide to Physical and Emotional Recovery." Special emphasis is placed on the psychological aspects and post-operative recovery.

In HEART ATTACK! Louis Levine describes the life style and warning symptoms which preceded his bout with serious heart disease. Although his family had a history of heart disease, Levine lived and worked at a hectic pace. Because he believed it "couldn't happen to him," he ignored the danger signals until it was nearly too late.

By the time he saw his doctor, he was in such poor physical condition an operation was impossible. He suffered a heart attack but survived to warn others to take care of themselves.

Should drugs rather than psychoanalysis, be used to treat some forms of depression? Yes, according to Dr. Ronald R. Fieve, author of MOODSWING: THE THIRD REVOLUTION IN PSYCHIATRY.

Twenty-million Americans suffer from depression and other mood disorders. Dr. Fieve believes many of these disorders have a chemical - not psychological - origin.

To back up his theories he presents many cases of manic depression which were concluded successfully after the patient was treated with lithium carbonate.

Williamsburg Slides Viewed

"Christmas in Williamsburg" was the slide presented by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berkley to members of the Wit and Wisdom Club last week.

The slides featured the decorations of colonial Christmases with the use of natural materials, such as magnolia leaves, apples, lemons, pineapples, berries and even cotton balls.

The Berkleys joined the club for its annual Christmas banquet at the First Baptist Church. A ham dinner was served to 31 members and guests by the church women.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Halley were hosts. The tables were decorated with red candles in crystal and fresh greens with red balls.

Winter Begins December 21

Winter solstice, when the sun reaches its southernmost point of the year, will occur at 12:36 p.m. Dec. 21.

This is the official beginning of winter.

Dec. 21 also will be the shortest day of the year – about 9 hours of daylight and 15 hours of darkness.

"From then on the days will begin to lengthen, and we'll be heading back to summer," says University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

"At this time of the year, the earth is actually closer to the sun then during the summer," says Losh.

But seasons depend on the tilt of the earth's axis, rather than the distance from the sun, she explained. "Even though we are closer to the sun in winter, the sun's rays hit us more obliquely, with less force. However, the fact that we are closer to the sun tends to make winters in the northern hemisphere a little milder.

"The sun and winner solstice are belived to bear a real relation to the date of Christmas," says Losh. "Most likely, this religious celebration was set to agree with the early pagan festival celebrating the promise of returning from the cold, bleak temperatures to warmer weather.

"An impressive symbol of the Chrismas season is the Northern Cross, Cygnus," she says. "It will move across the December sky from the zenith to the northwest, gradually assuming more and more of a vertical position.

"By Christmas Eve, the long bar of the cross will be upright against the sky."

Losh adds that Sirius, the "Star of the East" pointed to by the Three Wise Men, rises in the early evening around Christmas. The brightest star in the whole heavens, it is the principal star of Canis Major, the Dog of Orion.

"We are particularly favored with planets this Christmas month," notes Losh. "The brightest is Venus, so brilliant you can't miss it. It is visible in the southwestern sky for two to three hours after sunset.

"On Christmas Eve, Venus will be joined by the crescent moon, about seven degrees to the north," she says. "As soon as darkness comes on, Jupiter will show up in the northeastern sky and shine the while night through."

You Told Us

By Kathy Brown

Before Dec. 25 arrives and all the shopping is finished, many of us will probably pamper tired tootsies in an Epsom salts bath and sore tempers with a hot toddy. Can you imagine how we would manage to manuever in wheel chairs or if we were deaf?

Fortunately, there are people who understand these handicaps. With the cooperation of the school officials, aides and teachers, the students of Mrs. John Pobuda's orthepedic class made its annual Christmas shopping trip Nov. 30. The event is one anticipated by the students and included lunch out. Mrs. Pobuda is director of the orthopedic class headquarted in Tecumseh High School, for students of Lenawee County. Diane McLaurin is teacher for the deaf. Pat Rittenhouse is an aide, Dave Casaceli is student teacher. Marilyn Baaske also assisted.

The orthopedic class Christmas party is noon Dec. 21 at the school and class alumni are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton of Worthington, Ohio spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron. While here they visited his father, Tom Hamilton.

Mrs. Josephine Turk of Tecumseh is a great-grandmother. Rebecca Marie Sampson was born at Sinai Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Sampson of Detroit. The baby weighed 5 lbs. and 5½ oz. Grandparents are Mrs. Turk's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sampson of Dearborn.

Mandy VanNeste of 9716 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. was guest of honor at a birthday party Dec. 1 given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean VanNeste. Those attending Mandy's first birthday anniversary were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert VanNeste and Mr. and Mrs. Haroid Milosh. Others were Connie Furguson of Clinton, Judy Milosh, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Milosh of Blissfield, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Milosh, Nikki and Brandy of Adrian.

A decorated cake was served by Mrs. Dean VanNeste. Jamie, age 6, assisted Mandy in opening her gifts.

A highlight of the service will be a mid-program processional around the chapel by the choir.

HEATING SYSTEMS

BRITTON — With the advent of chilly days and frosty nights, homemakers plan for providing warmth and comfort for their families for the winter months.

As we prepare for the heating season, thoughts often revert to the early days of our country, and we compare the various types of heating systems that families have used since the early settlers established their homes in this area.

A source of fuel was no problem to those pioneers. Timber was abundant without cost. Many trees were deliberately felled to clear the land for farming. Think what those trees would be worth today.

Fireplaces provided warmth, a place to cook, and bake. They also furnished some light for the cabin. Some of those fireplaces were large enough to burn a huge piece of wood.

Heating stoves, such as were used during the early part of this century, conserved fuel and heated the homes a little more efficiently, and the women fortunate enough to own a cooking stove with reservoir and oven must have been proud.

Heating stoves were taken down (term used meaning dismantled, cleaned and stored during the summer months). The chimney where the stove pipe entered was cleaned and covered for the summer.

Most families were glad when the heating stoves had been stored. Dirt from fuel and ashes was eliminated and without the stoves in the house there would be more space to move about.

Occasionally a family removed the stove too early. A belated cold spell made the home so uncomfortable they regretted their haste.

The kitchen range was used daily, summer and winter, for cooking and baking. The heat in summer some days was almost unbearable. During the early fall and late spring months heat from the kitchen range was welcome. The family and friends used the kitchen as a family room.

Throughout the coldest months, large homes required the heat from three stoves: the range in the kitchen, Round Oak or Warm Morning in the dining room, and a hard coal burner in the living room.

The hard coal burner with its isinglass doors gave a cheery glow from the bright coals and an occasional flicker from the flames, providing pleasure to the occupants of the home and passers-by.

Hard coal was more expensive, but was cleaner and easier to handle. A hard coal stove gave a steadier heat and didn't have to be filled quite so often. Fuel had to be put in the other stoves more often. Both soft coal and coke were dirtier to handle.

Maintaining comfortable homes in winter was not an easy task. Fuel had to be carried in from the wood pile or wood shed building – a building about the size of a one car garage – and ashes had to be carried out daily – an unpleasant job when the wind was brisk.

Furnaces – hot, air, steam, or hot water were a big improvement over heating stoves in spite of the huge quantities of wood or coal needed.

Space heaters or furnaces burning oil or gas were still more convenient. There was no fuel to carry or shovel and no ashes to empty. Being controlled by a thermostat, room temperatures could be maintained more uniformly with a minimum of work for the homemaker.

Now that most houses are insulated, some double sided, porches enclosed, and equipped with double windows and storm doors, they are easier to heat. Most of the older homes were drafty and snow often drifted in around doors and windows. Finding snow on window sills and ice on the water pail was not rare.

Electric heat is found in some homes. It is clean and automatic.

Solar heat is being used in a few homes.

NO "OSCAR" FOR GEORGE KENNEDY WITHOUT CHIROPRACTIC CARE

Chiropractic has helped many stars to maintain good health in spite of strenuous, hectic schedules but in George Kennedy's case, chiropractic was the means which made possible his career as a topflight actor. Without adjustments, Kennedy would never have been able to participate in the 104 screen fights which led eventually to an Oscar for his portrayal in "Cool Hand Luke" and later to his own prime-time television series, "Sarge".

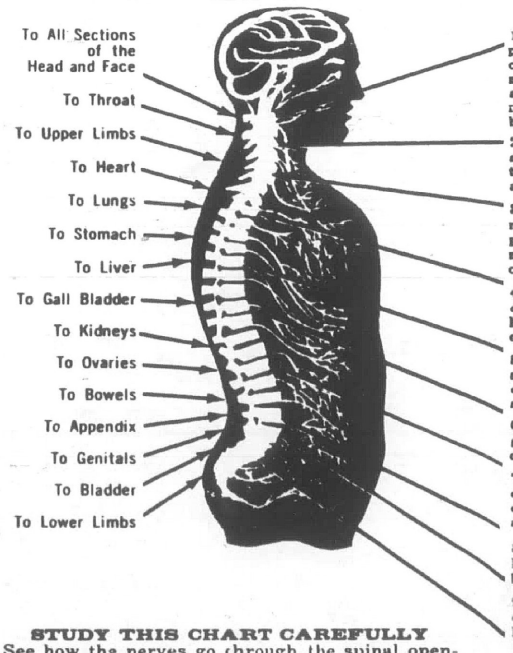
Kennedy, six-foot-four, 230 pounds and blond, entered the Army in 1942 at the age of 17. It was shortly afterwards that he suffered a back injury from a grenade. He was not incapacitated permanently but after sixteen years of service, he was told he must have an operation for spinal fusion or accept a medical discharge. Kennedy chose the latter.

His back injury continued to curtail his activities until he discovered chiropractic. Adustments gave him a new lease on life. After chiropractic assistance whenever a producer requested a big man for the hero to beat up, George Kennedy was called in as the patsy . . . or as in "Cool Hand Luke", he made pulp of the other actor. Either way, it was a fight.

After each such filming, it was necessary for Kennedy's chiropractor to adjust his back before he could continue with the next day's filming. Thanks to chiropractic, "the Big K" had to leave a picture only once – when shooting on location with no chiropractor available.

There can be no doubt, George Kennedy will be a big name in show business for years to come. With the help of his chiropractor, of course. A statement with which he would be the first to agree.

YOUR LIFELINE CHART



STUDY THIS CHART CAREFULLY
See how the nerves go through the spinal openings? Nerve pressure at one or more of these points may be the underlying CAUSE OF YOUR CONDITION!

1. A slight "pinching" of nerves at this point can cause headaches, some eye diseases, ear problems, insomnia, abnormal blood pressure, colds, hay fever, sinus trouble, nervousness, wry or stiff neck, some types of arthritis, colic in babies, glandular trouble, etc.
2. A nerve difficulty in this part of the spine can be the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulder and arms, goiter, nervous prostration, etc.
3. In this part of the spine, a "pinched" nerve can cause so-called bronchitis, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism and neuritis of the arms, shoulder, or hands, bursitis, etc.
4. A blocked nerve at this point can cause so-called nervous heart or fast heart, asthma, difficult breathing, bronchial congestion, etc.
5. Stomach and liver trouble, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, can be caused by pressure in this part of the spine.
6. Nerve pressure at this point can cause gall bladder problems, dyspepsia or gas of upper bowels, shingles, hiccups, etc.
7. Certain kidney problems or diseases, eruptions and other skin diseases can be caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal openings at this point.
8. Chiropractic adjustments here often helps such troubles as so-called lumbago, constipation, colitis, etc.
9. Nerve pressure at this point can cause bladder frequency, prostate problems, lower bowel and abdominal pains.
10. A slight slippage of one or both of the hip bones or the sacrum may cause so-called sciatica, leg or knee pains, and many other leg problems.

ARE CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS PAINFUL?

NO . . . Gentle spinal adjustments are painless. Chiropractors are specially trained to locate and correct displacement in the vertebrae with little or no discomfort. After spinal displacements are corrected the body will feel more active, giving you that healthy, happy feeling.

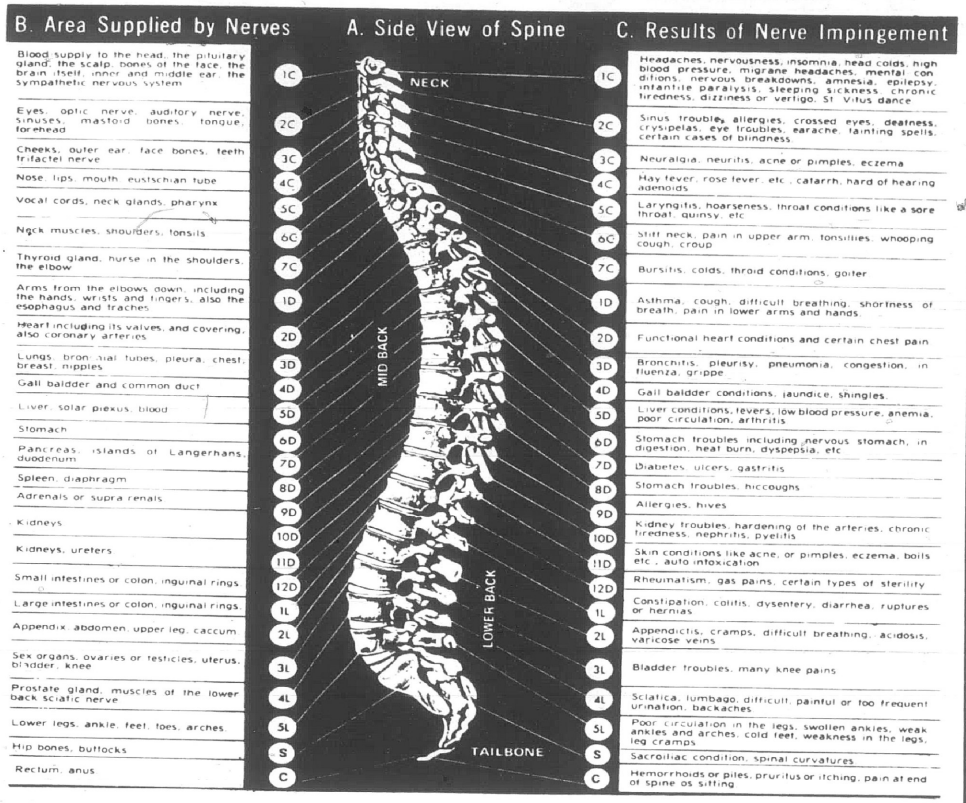
SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed.

The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and emit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.



SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. THAT FAILURE SHOULD NOT LEAD TO DISCOURAGEMENT, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

If your condition is not described in the above chart, contact your participating doctor for a consultation, examination and x-rays - if necessary. He will determine by his analysis of your spinal condition what you can expect from chiropractic care.

Remember, time is a friend to disease!

Q. For several years, I have had "sinus trouble." Medical doctors have given me shots, pills and inserted tubes in me. But it still remains. How can Chiropractic help me?

A. First, I suggest you allow a Doctor of Chiropractic to x-ray your neck and spine. He will analyze the pictures and show you certain vertebrae which are out of line. He will explain why they have caused your problem. Then he will adjust those bones for you and, I am sure you will feel better. Then it will be up to the "life-giving force" within you to normalize that area of your body. This approach to the restoration of your life and health should save you considerable time and money over the years.

Q. How soon should a child begin spinal adjustments?

A. Women should receive regular adjustments during pregnancy. This helps assure a healthy child. Immediately after birth a baby should be checked chiropractically.

Q. A medical doctor told me my arthritis condition couldn't be helped. I would have to live with it. Can a Doctor of Chiropractic help me?

A. Yes. Thousands of people who have had arthritis now enjoy good health because a Doctor of Chiropractic corrected the casue of their arthritis. The "life-giving force" within their body rejuvenated their cells and tissues. This caused new life to surge within them and, thus, the conditions that produced the arthritis was eliminated.

Q. My physician says my condition is "just nerves." Can a chiropractor help nerves?

A. Yes, many people are suffering needlessly from thousands of different conditions. It is popular to label conditions that do not respond to medications as "just nerves." It's shameful to deny people relief through chiropractic care because of deliberate prejudice. Everyone should receive regular chiropractic check-ups to stay healthy.

Headache, Numbness Disappeared

Thank God for the slogan hanging in my Chiropractor's office - "The Power that made the body heals the body."

My first knowledge of Chiropractic was not too good

But when I was 16 I was in a car accident. After this I began to have headaches, my eyes hurt and my arms were numb down to my fingers. Finally someone brought me to a Chiropractor - he found the cause and I began to get relief. In a few short weeks all my headaches and pain were gone!

After another accident and severe pain God led me to the CHIROPRACTOR. I now have an even greater understanding of Chiropractic because of the lectures that are given on Health and Life.

I hope everyone tries Chiropractic for their own Health.

Pain Gone After 8 Years

We would like to thank Chiropractic for the help it has given my wife and myself in the past 8 weeks.

For 8 years I've been going to the doctor's for my back pain and was in constant pain where I couldn't sit or stand without shooting pain. I was given pain pills for this with no relief.

Then I started going to you and I stopped using pills completely! And now I am able to sit, stand, and cross my legs without pain!

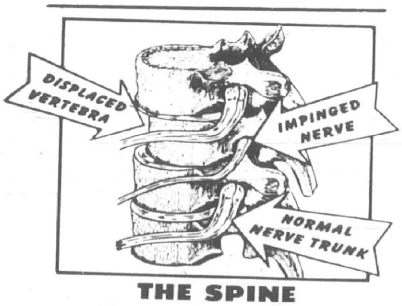
As for my wife, she had a whiplash and couldn't turn her head without pain. She's better now and no more pain!

You showed us where the problem was and proceeded to correct it. No other doctor's even told us what our problems were.

We thank you again—so very much and we recommend you for all our friends and relatives.

A Firm Believer in Chiropractic,

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Davis



THE SPINE

The spine is a remarkable organ. It is strong enough to support many hundreds of pounds. At the same time, it is elastic and flexible to enable movement in any direction. There are 24 movable segments or vertebrae in the spine. Between each segment is a soft cushion called a disc, which serves as a ball bearing and shock absorber.

Inside the spine is a tube which contains the spinal cord ,the life-line of the nervous system. Between each vertebra are a pair of nerve trunks which carry millions of individual nerve fibers to various parts of the body. If one or more of these spinal vertebra are displaced, delicate nerve fibers can become impinged and the vital organs can be affected resulting in disease.

CAMPAIGN TOPS $79,950 GOAL

$87,535 Sets Record for Foundation Drives

Tecumseh's 1976 Community Fund Foundation drive — its 17th since being founded in May 1959 — not only passed its $79,950 goal but set new marks in each division.

Robert Robinson, drive chairman, reports the campaign raised $87,535 in donations and pledges with each division raising more monies than ever before.

By surpassing the goal, the community will benefit by the difference raised and the goal, a sum of $7,585, and the amount of $8,000 which was originally allocated.

The Foundation, hoping for the allocation of $8,000 in the beginning, will now have $13,585 from this year's drive for community projects. Several members of the Foundation's board have expressed asking residents for possible projects that might be available from Foundation monies.

Tentative plans indicate a survey will be taken early next year with residents naming their preference of possible projects.

While just three of the divisions topped their individual goals, sizeable gains over preceding years were achieved. Divisions over their goals included industrial, schools and special gifts.

Major contributor was the Tecumseh Products, which provided over $32,000 of the industrial's total donation of $50,126.

Breakdown of the '76 drive by divisions and comparison to a year ago are:

	1976	1975
Industrial	$50,126.00	$43,173.00
Commercial	8,901.10	6,585.00
Professional	1,974.00	1,460.00
Schools	3,587.00	3,441.00
Residential	2,375.00	2,033.00
Public Employees	990.00	1,141.90
Special Gifts	19,430.00	19,000.00

Clubs Ring Bells for Kettle Drive

Members of the Tecumseh Kiwanis and Rotary will participate in the annual Salvation Army Kettle Drive in Tecumseh on Dec. 17 and 18.

Tecumseh Rotarians will assist Friday, Dec. 17. Ringing the familiar silver bells, the men will be stationed at the Herrick Park, Occidental and downtown business offices of the United Savings Bank and at the A&P and Kroger stores. Donations into the red kettles will be received for the needy who are serviced by the Salvation Army.

Tecumseh Kiwanis will assist in the drive Dec. 18 at the downtown area, the bank offices and Kroger.

Money collected is used to present food orders for needy families in the area at Christmas time. Families make application to the Army. Amount for the food orders depends on the number of people in the family. Families may use the food order to purchase for themselves whatever food they can use.

Salvation Army sponsored the second annual Christmas party for 50 Tecumseh area youth at St. Peter's Church on Tuesday night with the assistance of the Rotary and Kiwanis. Santa Claus made a visit and after the meal and program, toys, candy and fruit were distributed.

Visitation to nursing homes and other shut-ins in the country is another function of the Salvation Army.

70¢ Dividend from Bank

Board of directors of the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh, has declared a regular dividend of 35 cents per share plus, an extra dividend of 35 cents per share.

The dividend is payable January 2, to shareholders of record. Dec. 15.

Net income for 1976 will be in excess of $700,000 and could possibly be "our best year ever," states K.C. McElroy, president. "We feel confident of a 20 to 22 percent increase in net earnings over 1975."

Bloodmobile Here Dec. 22

A Bloodmobile will be at the Tecumseh Community Center Dec. 22 from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 65 is eligible.

Those who might hesitate in giving blood because they don't have time in the holiday rush should consider that the entire procedure does not even require an hour. It takes less than 10 minutes for the actual donation, said the American Red Cross Lenawee County Chapter.

When a donor gives blood, less than a pint—it is replaced quickly. A donor is eligible to donate every 56 days, but no more than five times a year.

Print Early Next 2 Weeks

The Herald will print early for the next two weeks, requiring early news and advertising copy.

The Dec. 23rd paper will be printed next Tuesday, on the newsstand in the afternoon and delivered to the post office for Wednesday morning delivery. The Dec. 30th paper also will be printed on Tuesday and handled the same way.

Cooperation from news sources and advertisers will be appreciated.

Presbyterian Christmas

The renovation project of the church's sanctuary and its still "unfinished look" has not hampered any plans for a Merry Christmas at the Presbyterian Church.

Several families gathered to decorate the sanctuary on Dec. 9. Even though only half of the stained glass windows were in place and there were no pews, the congregation held services in the sanctuary on Dec. 12. The windows, the poinsettias, wreaths and tree created a mood of awe."

The children of the Sunday School brought gifts on Dec. 12 which were given to the Tecumseh Service Club for use in Christmas giving. The children also decided a portion of their yearly offerings would be given to help others locally. A check for $300 was sent along with the gifts.

Man Arrested on 2 Counts

Richard K. Payton, 18, of 109 Van Buren, was arrested for two counts last Wednesday.

Police initially stopped him on Logan St. and found beer under the seat. Payton was reportedly highly intoxicated when police placed him under arrest for open intoxicants in the car.

After checking on the identification Payton initially gave them, police found it to be false. Police then found a warrant out on Payton for violation of probation and arrested him on the count also.

The meeting place for this Jan. 10 meeting will be announced.

BEST RESPONSE EVER — Herald readers came through and helped make the Mitten Tree at the Herrick Park office of the United Savings Bank the most successful to date. Alice Williams, RN from Herrick Hospital, poses before the tree with a sackful of winter wear that she made. She made dozens of items again this year but there have been more individual contributions than ever before, too. The clothing will be distributed by the Tecumseh Service Club in Christmas packages for needy families right in town. Senior citizens have volunteered to start in January for next year's tree if anyone is willing to donate yarn.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

I'm writing a letter because I didn't feel a "thank you" in your classified section was sufficient.

I was recently admitted to Herrick Hospital for surgery and spent ten (10) days there. During my stay, I think I had the most concerned, kindest, best and friendliest care I could possible have had.

I'm glad I was able to go to OUR hospital for my surgery; with a doctor like Dr. Cook and a staff like we have here!

THS CRAFT CLASS VISITED

Stumped? Students Have Some Ideas

BY KATHY BROWN

Stumped again about what to give someone as a Christmas gift? Maybe the projects done by Ann Fox's high school art students can give you some ideas.

The Crafts Class is working on Trapunto quilting sometimes known as the Italian method. Designs are either drawn on or shapes cut from fabric, stitched around and then stuffed for a 3-D effect. Iron on tape closes the back. Uses for the technique are limited only by imagination. Some in the class are working on wall hangings and Christmas stockings.

Stained glass ornaments and adornments were earlier projects this semester. Copper foil and leading techniques were practiced. Window decorations and a stained glass framed mirror were some examples of the useful projects.

The class also became acquainted with rug making. Pillow tops or wall hangings approximately two foot square were made. Instead of latch hooking the rugs, the students learned to weave with large needles so they could economize on materials.

Leather craft was another experiment this semester that proved to be successful. Stamping and tooling techniques were used on leather strips to design belts.

The design class learned the techniques of two dimentional string art, using nails and wire or thread to complete their original pictures.

The class also carved basswood forks and spoons for serving or decorating.

A popular teaching technique in this design class is finding a solution for a function. For example, one project was to design a room divider. Students were left to select any materials they desired. Results provided some interesting projects that utilized macrame, feathers, hub caps, cans, sections of removable wood.

Another function assignment was to design a light source. Cindy Torres came up with a string globe lamp made with string glued to a balloon. When the balloon is burst, the globe remains.

Debbie Rupert made lanterns from votive candles and pop cans. Ann Larrowe's project was a conversation piece — a stuffed animal snake was used as "lampshade" for a red light bulb from the snake's mouth.

Stephanie Sowers helped design a showcase for these projects entitled: "Easy to make Christmas gifts."

Mobile Home Is Damaged by Fire

CLINTON — A house trailer residence of Mrs. Martha Noonan at 11100 Murphy Hwy. was damaged considerably by fire, Friday night. She was not at home when the fire was discovered.

Clinton Fire Department was called to the scene at 6:39 p.m. when the blaze was noticed by a neighbor, David Heimerdinger.

Firemen hauled some 3,500 gallons of water to the fire, which they fought in extreme windy and cold conditions.

Fire damage was mainly confined to a bathroom and closet area, however the trailer received smoke damage throughout, and the intense heat melted the lighting fixtures.

Fire apparently started from electrical heat tape under the trailer and traveled up a vent tube.

Mrs. Noonan is staying with a brother, Ed Schmidt, who lives nearby.

Select Safe Toys

By Kathy Brown

A recent television commercial describes the problem some parents have at Christmas time — that is to find an indestructible toy to survive the weight of an elephant.

Seriously though, parents and relatives who buy the toys are the people responsible for the child's safety.

Jan Seitz, home economics assistant in the Family Living division of the Cooperative Extension gave some guidelines on how to select safe toys. She recently spoke at Tecumseh Public Library.

"If parents are buying a toy which has small pieces for an older child, they should consider the safety of younger children in the family, unless the buyer plans to supervise the play."

"Examine how toys are constructed. Don't buy toys because they are cheap. A lot of times the price is a concern. . .but then cheaper toys usually don't hold up." Seitz cautions to watch for sharp edges of metal or plastic. Plastic should be pliable, not sharp since broken pieces can be as dangerous as glass. Wood should be smooth.

A good toy is one that encourages the youngster to play creatively. "A toy that will do everything leaves little to the child's creative imagination. Look for toys that stimulate a child to more active play and enables him to use his imagination." said Ms. Seitz.

She suggested toys that require huge working surfaces, houses or blocks that can be built, a doll which doesn't talk so the child learns to talk for the doll.

"These are sometimes more appealing than a toy that does everything," she said.

Toys should be a learning experience and help the child develop and exercise his or her physical (large and small muscles), mental, sensory, social (learning to share) and emotional (taking care of a doll etc.) faculties, said Seitz.

How does anyone select a toy that is the "right age" for a child?

"That's when you have to know your own child. Get to know his own ability and interests by observing him. Play with him sometime. Toy manufacturers give age brackets as guides, but they don't know because each child is an individual."

Another part of toy safety is making sure that the child uses the toy properly. Let child use it first, then show him another way or safer way. Before you buy, think of the other possible uses for the toy, creative or dangerous. "Think of the ramifications. People aren't aware of what a toy does," Seitz added.

Toy appliances should have warning labels about thermal and electrical hazards, she told.

Finally, "People think the government should regulate toys. That's not entirely true. Parents should have more concern than the government. Parents buy the toys," Seitz concluded.

The Child Protection and Toy Safety Act of 1969, the Federal Hazardous Substance Act and the Federal Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety regulate toys and other articles intended for children's use.

Clinton Inn Is Historical Site

CLINTON — The site of the old Clinton Inn has finally been accepted by the State and is now listed on the State Historical Register. This report from marker chairman Lawrence Bailey to the Christmas meeting Dec. 7, of the Historical Society of Clinton culminates nine months of correspondence and effort.

After a few more months of research and writing and rewriting, the text for the large two-post marker with text on both sides, made possible by the generous donations of interested Clinton people, will replace the temporary marker on the site of the village office at present. The marker fund stands at approximately $700 now.

Some of the Christmas decorations put up by the Helgren's for the occasion were of particular interest to one of the Society's new members, Dr. Charles Lindquist of the Lenawee County Historical Museum, because of their age.

The Helgren's have graciously loaned several family antique decorations to the museum for the holidays.

For the program Mrs. Helgren explained all the things she and her husband, daughter, Jennifer Rettke, and son-in-law, Fred had done to make the home the comfortable and intriguing home it now is.

Homemade candy is fun to make, easy to do and the finished product is always delicious.

For perfect candy every time, follow the directions carefully, and use a candy thermometer to determine exact temperature. Homemade candy makes a welcome gift.

I prepared hard Christmas candy this year for the first time following this recipe from Lillian Luce. The candy is pretty when finished and tastes good. One batch makes about 4 cups of candy. candy.

HARD CHRISTMAS CANDY
3½ cups sugar
1 cup white Karo syrup
1 cup water

Boil to 300 degrees. Have ready cookie sheets covered with powdered sugar. Add 1 teaspoon oil flavoring (anise, sassafras, wintergreen, peppermint, clove and cinnamon are available at any drug store). Add food coloring. Pour on cookie sheets in a stream and cut while still warm. Make each batch a different color. If candy gets too hard to cut, it can be broken into pieces by rapping gently with handle of knife.

Peanut butter fudge is a favorite at Christmas or anytime, and this recipe is rich, creamy and delicious.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
4 cups white sugar
1 cup milk
1/3 cup white Karo
1 stick margarine
1 cup peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups chopped nuts (optional)

Boil to soft ball stage (240 degrees) first four ingredients. Remove from heat, add peanut butter, and vanilla. Do not stir in, let cool. When lukewarm, beat until thick, add nuts if desired. Pour into buttered 9x13 inch pan and mark into squares.

I have not tried this recipe yet but it sounds quick and easy.

CHEERFUL CHOCOLATES
2 cups round oat cereal
1 cup crisp rice cereal
1 cup walnuts
¾ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup sugar
1 (6 ounce) package chocolate chips

Combine cereal and nuts in bowl; set aside. Combine corn syrup and sugar in saucepan and bring to boil. Boil one minute. Remove from heat and add chocolate pieces, stirring until mixture is smooth. Pour over cereal mixture, and coat evenly. Pack into buttered 8 or 9 inch square pan. Chill about 15 minutes and cut into squares.

Organ Recital a Collector's Record

Marilyn Mason, chairman of the organ department at the University of Michigan, will play an organ recital at 4 p.m., Dec. 19, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tecumseh.

The recital is in conjunction with the release of a record of her performance on the church's von Beckerath organ, recorded in that church. Members of the church asked Dr. Mason to make the record as a church project for the bicentennial year.

She will play the recorded music, selected to be representative of a 200 year span of music by American composers, along with two Baroque period compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach.

The performance will be on the church's Rudolf von Beckerath instrument of Hamburg, Germany. It was built in 1964 and remains the only one of its kind in Michigan. It is a tracker action instrument, with three divisions, 14 stops and 20 ranks.

After the informal recital, the limited edition of records will be available for purchase. An "autograph party" is to follow at which Dr. Mason will sign the records in the church parish hall.

Dr. Mason has a lengthy list of musical credits to her honor, being a recitalist, teacher, judge and recorder. She has been associated with the University of Michigan for nearly 30 years, currently serving as the university organist in addition to her position as head of the Organ Department.

She was the first American woman to play in Westminster Abbey, the first woman organist to play in Latin America and the first American organist to play in Egypt.

As a contribution to her profession, she has commissioned over 30 works by contemporary American composers, each premiered by her.

Couple Plan To Expand Business in Spring

An expanding business in a growing city would have to be the phrase to describe George and Carol Parknowitz's store, Tecumseh Rental Center.

At least that will be the phrase to describe the shop if the couple get their way within the next couple of months. They've been in Tecumseh for only six months, and yet they plan to double their inventory by spring.

They already carry lawn and garden equipment, snow removal equipment, sewer cleaning and carpet installing equipment, and a number of other items.

And soon, the owners hope to have enough equipment for anyone to build their own home. They're counting on as much as $13,000 in purchases on their Phoenix buying trip.

In fact, the inventory will increase so much that the couple plan to be occupying the whole building by March 1, instead of sharing the lower half with Martinizing.

The couple moved to Tecumseh three years ago when they found the present location ideal at 112 S. Pearl and decided to live there as well as work out of the building.

That way, according to the new owners, they can provide 24 hour call service for emergencies.

When asked why they chose Tecumseh, they answered that their parents had a cottage in the Irish Hills and they always passed through the town. They "just liked it (the town)."

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

On the Mills-Macon Rd. across from the Eldridge place, familiar for its Ford history, pie socials, stands another one of Macon's lovely homes built in 1832. The home owned by David and Helen Squires has been restored to its nearly original state. Last Saturday night it was a sight to behold as a ½ mile stretch of the road, the drive leading up to it and the porch steps were lined with 235 candles welcoming 20 guests as they arrived for a Christmas party.

Helen Squires began buying votive size candles last September in preparation for her plan. As the time approached her husband, Dave and children, Mike and Peggy all joined in to help.

Two hundred and thirty-five small white paper sacks were folded back at the top, each was filled with 2 cups of sand and a votive candle. Sacks were then set about 20 feet apart on both sides of the road. Since guests were due at 7:30 p.m. Dave and the kids started lighting candles about 6 p.m., it took about 45 minutes to light them. What a sight as the people turned onto the road!

The candles were still burning as people left and reportedly did so until early in the morning.

The Sutton school teachers and staff enjoyed a Christmas open house at the home of Terrance and Nancy Griffin on the Ford Rd. last Saturday night. The Griffins hosted the event and Greg and Sue Allen were co-hosts.

An early family Christmas was held at the home of Carl and Evelyn Hawkins last Sunday. Gifts were exchanged and a ham dinner with Evelyn's pumpkin pie for dessert was featured. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Crittenden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stotler and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins and family, David Hawkins, Gertrude and John Hawkins were guests. The celebration was early because Judy and Larry will spend Christmas at Larry's mom's in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Traditional turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served at the Christmas celebration at Bernard and Pearl Tucker's home Sunday. The annual Camburn Christmas gathering was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Beulah Camburn. Max and Cathy Camburn and son, Greg of Grand Blanc, Mich. and Beulah hosted the potluck dinner. The Dean Joneses made their annual Christmas tree hunt with the Donald Phelans of Tecumseh Saturday. Luck was with them and each family found their "tree" within minutes - however they cheated a bit by using a chain saw to cut them rather than the "good old hand saw." Afterward the two families enjoyed a chili supper at the Phelans and relaxation in front of the warming fireplace.

On Sunday the Jones family attended the annual American Bohemian Club Christmas dinner party held at Mel's in Britton. As usual the buffet featured special recipes from Czechoslovakia topped off with mouth watering pastries. Santa visited with all the young members of the club and passed out gifts to them.

P.S. The Joneses and Phelans were lucky. The Connors were at the same Christmas tree farm on Sunday afternoon and looked quite a while before finding a tree that satisfied all. Of the thousands of trees I began to wonder if we would find one. The John Swanstons pulled in, found theirs right away and had it home and decorated before the Connors returned.

A small ensemble from the high school band will perform traditional Christmas music.

The high school chorus will again carol in the community during the week of Dec. 13. Every year the group carols for those people who are unable to get out. Many familiar Christmas carols will be sung.

School Lunches

By Thelma Youngleve

BRITTON — The lunches grandmother and grandfather carried to school when they were children were quite different from the school lunches of their grandchildren.

School lunches of long ago were carried in a round tin or enameled pail or a syrup pail having a lid that fitted quite snuggly.

Waxed paper, plastic wrap, foil, or sandwich bags had not come into use. School cafeterias and hot lunch program were unheard of. Mothers devised methods of packing lunches for their children.

Nearly all children walked to and from school, many two miles each way. Most of them got up early and helped with chores or household duties. Because of rising early and exercise in the open air, especially on crisp cold days, hearty appetites had been developed. In fact, some were hungry even before time for school to start, in spite of having eaten a filling breakfast of hot oatmeal, pancakes, or fried potatoes with bacon and eggs.

Some mothers made preparations for school lunches the evening before. Lunch pails were washed in hot soapy water, scalded with boiling water, and allowed to air. Then the pail was lined with a napkin, often a red and white or blue and white checkered cloth napkin made of the same material as the table cloths then in common use.

The average school lunch consisted of a slice or two of homemade bread spread with dairy butter and sometimes grape and crabapple jelly. Some mothers sprinkled brown sugar on the buttered bread. Often there was a jar of home canned fruit - peaches, pears, cherries or berries. In addition there might be be a piece of cake (made from scratch), a piece of pie, a cookie, or a tart. How many remember those delicious gooseberry tarts?

Some lunches included a hard-boiled egg with a small amount of salt and pepper wrapped in paper for seasoning the egg after the shell had been removed, and an apple from the home orchard. These were the old-fashioned varieties—sweet apples, Northern Spy or Snow Apple.

Lunches varied with the season. During the winter months after the butchering had been done, the lunch might contain a tender well-browned spare rib, or sandwiches made from a pat of sausage, tenderloin, or a slice of ham. Sometime sandwiches were made from head cheese, or liver sausage.

Since chicken was usually served for Sunday dinner, Monday's lunch often included a piece of fried chicken—drumstick, thigh, or wing. Sometimes a jar of gelatin and a piece of nut cake from the previous day was in the pail.

Not every child was fortunate enough to have a good lunch. The children from one family never had anything other than bread and butter and applesauce. Another boy's lunch always consisted of bread spread with mustard.

If some child had the misfortune to spill his lunch, other children willingly shared their lunch.

Children were instructed not to waste any food. If they had more than they cared to eat at noon they ate it on the way home or took it home to feed the cat or dog.

On nice days when the weather was warm, pupils and teacher selected a pleasant location out in the school yard, possibly under a shade tree, and sat on the ground in groups to eat their lunches. Those noon hours were enjoyable occasions.

Program depicted the Christmas story with junior and senior high students participating, with Bill Bailey reading the scripture.

Kindergarten through sixth sang carols. Adult choir also took part in choral reading.

A living Christmas tree was formed led by the Rev. Jack Roach and joined by various adults coming forward and telling how each keeps Christmas today. All had lighted candles and formed a Christmas tree.

Program was closed with "Birthday for Jesus" with a decorated birthday cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Nina Bower. Cake had 12 candles, each representing birthdays of members of the congregation, who came forward and gave an offering and had a candle lit. When all 12 months were represented and each had a lighted candle, Silent Night was sung by all.

The Rev. Roach gave the benediction and all assembled in the fellowship hall for refreshment and a time of fellowship.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

A WINTERY AND SNOWY MORNING

Pull up a comfortable chair, please help yourself to a piping hot cup of tea, and join me in some wintery morning birdwatching. How busy and hungry the freeloaders are at this time of year. And, although I do not want to sound like a PollyAnna, we three Duncans are enjoying the snow and cold for our first Michigan winter in three years. Everything is so exciting.

Last night a light sprinkling of snow 'cleaned up' the white blanket which fell several days ago, so the first order of business, after exclaiming how absolutely beautiful, is to fill the bird feeders.

The storm window having been left off one of the casement windows and a small dipper fastened to the end of a broomhandle makes this possible without venturing into the cold and snow.

The window is simply cranked open, the snow pushed from both feeders, a dipper full of scratch feed and sunflower seeds poured on each tray and breakfast is served.

Actually from tracks in the snow we know that the birds were up before we were. Undoubtedly the cardinals, bluejays and juncos were too impatient to wait for the sleepy headed Duncans.

These birds, or some of the other feathered free-loaders, have scratched through the fluffy white stuff and discovered a few tasty tidbits left from yesterday.

Oops, here comes our first customer and, fittingly enough since this year we seem to be hosting the largest flock ever, it is another male junco. A female flies in and lands on the other foodtray. This causes trouble — juncos are not overly friendly little characters and this morning they would apparently as soon squabble as eat.

During the junco fight a fat round-bodied song sparrow flies in for breakfast.

Although the sun is shining brightly, the temperature is low and all of the birds are fluffed up, looking about twice as big as they really are. Handsome Papa Cardinal is an example — he is on one of the small limbs of the nearby maple tree. He looks huge and the bright sunshine hitting his fat breast — well, it is a breath-taking sight. That he is sitting on a snow-covered limb only adds to the beauty.

A lovely female cardinal has just hopped from the yews to the feeding tray but her dreams of a quiet breakfast will not materalize. The male redbird will see to that and sure enough, he just swooped down. As he lit on the food-tray she left.

Bluejays and mourning doves are now beginning to congregate. The doves look as big as footballs and the bluejays are flighty. The smaller birds scurry away as both a dove and a jay come to check what is being offered for this morning's breakfast.

Unfortunately they both try the same tray and with a menacing lift of the wings the dove drives the bluejay away. Not far though, he will be back as soon as the coast is clear.

In the meantime two little bundles of black, gray and white feathers are flying from limb to limb and gradually working this way. A pair of Chick-a-dees.

And on the trunk of the creekbank mulberry tree I see a white-breasted nuthatch hanging upside down. These small birds will sneak in and grab sunflower seeds whenever they can. Sometimes challenging the larger birds seems almost as much fun as eating.

Who is this? A sparrow-size bird with a brick-red hat on the top of his head and a soft gray breast with a single stick-pin marking. A tree sparrow.

Do you see why I say that we three Duncans are enjoying this December? Busy and fun is the only way to describe these wintery and snowy mornings.

Family Attends Holt Seminar

Joseph Anderson and his family of the Tecumseh congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned from a weekend seminar in Holt, which 1,540 attended on Dec. 11 and 12.

Bible discourses and demonstrations were given. Sunday an address was given and 12 baptism candidates were immersed.

The Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses at Holt is used about 48 weeks out of the year for seminars for families.

Symbolizes Waiting for Christ

The early mailing dates have passed. The decorations have been put in place. Only eight shopping days left. Everybody's waiting for Christmas.

The Christian Church is experiencing a different kind of waiting. This is the season of Advent, a time of joyful anticipation when Christians concentrate on the three fold coming of Christ, his birthday in Bethlehem, his presence in the word and sacraments and his second coming.

The Bible has many examples of the "Waiting" theme, from the Prophets who waited for the Messiah in the Old Testament to the Apostles who waited for the Holy Spirit in the New Testament. Christians are different kinds of waiters. They "wait on" people rather than on things. Patience, trust and perservance are required to accomplish this. During the four weeks of Advent season, Christians try to become better "waiters". Preparation is emphasized through good works, prayer and penance.

Several Tecumseh churches use the Advent Wreath as a visual aid for this time of waiting.

The evergreen wreath is a symbol of hope, and the undending love of God. Four purple candles for patience and penance, represent the four weeks of Advent. They are lighted successively each week to remind of the growing light of salvation and the darkness without God. The third candle may be pink to symbolize the joy for the approaching end of the wait in darkness. On Christmas Eve, a white central candle is lighted to symbolize Christ.

The tradition of the Lutheran churches explains that each candle has a name. The first is the Prophet candle reminding Christians of the call to repent and to wait for the coming of the Messiah. The second candle is the Bethlehem candle, symbolic of the preparation for the Christ child. The third candle is the Shepherds candle and is lighted to typify the act of sharing Christ, as the shepherds shared the news of his birth. The fourth candle or Angels candle is symbolic of the final coming and the judgement.

Most of the Tecumseh churches using the wreath incorporate the lighting of the candle in the beginning of their worship services. Appropriate explanations or prayers are read.

The Advent Wreath may also be used in family devotions with each taking turns lighting the candles and reading the Scriptures.

The Advent Wreath had pagan origins and it was later adopted by the Christian Church. During the shortest days of the year, Scandinavians lighted candles on a wheel and prayed the god of light would turn the wheel of the earth's orbit to the sun again and lengthen the days.

Advent represents the world's darkness and Christ's birth when the light begins. The gropings of earlier peoples in darkness were filled by the Son of God. The symbolic practice of the Advent Wreath was adopted by Christians and spread to Central and Western Europe.

The first Christians who were accustomed to a celebration at that time of years, chose Dec. 25, the birthday party of the sun, earth's best friend, as the time to celebrate Jesus's birthday anniversary because he was the light of the world, just as the sun.

The First Baptist Church has an Advent Wreath with candles representing all the days of Advent. Each week a family, representative of the congregation, is asked to light the candles during the service. A commentary is given.

At the Methodist Church, a tall white Advent candle, decorated with symbols, stands in a wreath in the middle of the altar. It is lighted every Sunday during the service and an appropriate reading is given.

The Advent Wreath at St. Elizabeth's Church hangs to the right of the altar so that all may see it. It is lighted by the priest at all Masses as part of the entrance prayers.

The wreath at St. Peter's Episcopal Church is lighted before the congregation arrives. Families are encouraged to use the Advent Wreath during family devotions.

Grace Evangelical and Gloria Dei Lutheran Churches have the wreaths in the sanctuary as a decoration. Candles are lighted every Sunday with appropriate explanation.

At the Presbyterian Church, the Advent Wreath is utilized by the Sunday Classes and during the worship service.

ADVENT WREATH — Pastor Kenneth Strack of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church demonstrates the lighting of the Advent Wreath used in several Tecumseh churches as a visual reminder that Christ is the Light of the World.

Holiday Decorations Pose Fire Hazards

FRAN HILL

Tecumseh Fire Department Chief Wallace MacGeorge asked Tecumseh residents to be concerned about possible fire hazards in their homes during the holidays. "It would be nice if we could get through a Christmas without any major fires," he said.

Here are some safety tips:

Extinguish candles when you leave the room and turn off electrical lights when you leave home or retire for the evening.

If you have an artificial tree, make sure that it is fireproof. Keep away from heat source that could cause fire and a deadly gas.

If you use a real tree, select a firm, fresh one. Keep it in a bowl of water and make sure to keep up the level as long as the tree is used.

A tinder dry pine tree can explode into a fury of flame with the intensity of gunpowder.

Keep the tree away from any heat source and keep both away from draperies and curtains. Allow air to circulate around the tree to keep bulbs cool.

Use only lighted decorations that bear a UL label.

Underwriters Laboratory Inc. (UL) is an independent organization testing for public safety. The cheap lights made overseas may cost you less now, but they could cost your life if they burn.

Check decorative lights for electrical hazards such as frayed wires, broken cords and loose sockets.

Use flame proof decorations on your tree.

Dispose of wrappings, flamable materials immediately.

Keep a hand fire extinguisher and handy and know how to use it.

CREDIT REQUIREMENTS: In order to earn a diploma from the Adult Education Center of the Manchester Community Schools a student may elect one of two program choices. For College Prep, a student must earn 16 credits in the 8th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grade. Six and one-half of the sixteen credits are in required areas and the other 9½ are elective. OTHER MEANS OF EARNING CONTINUING EDUCATION GRADUATION CREDITS

Credit toward a high school diploma may also be earned from (1) work completed at another secondary school; (2) courses completed during military service; (3) correspondence classes from approved correspondence schools; (4) Students may earn five elective credits by successfully passing the GED test. It is recommended, however, that students planning to continue their education earn all 16 credits through regular class work; and (5) work experience, career orientation, life experiences, etc. (6) Military Service, two or more credits may be earned if the person received an honorable discharge.

ATTENTION VETERANS EARN WHILE YOU LEARN

Veterans may be eligible for full time benefits by attending Manchester Adult Education while completing high school. This time will not be counted against their post-high school educational benefits. Benefits are usually paid one month in advance. Four classes usually constitute "full time" attendance, three classes "three quarter time" and two classes "one-half time." Veterans should bring a copy of DD 214 to registration.

Memoriam

In memory of Virgil Bortel who left us two years ago, Dec. 20th.
Loving memories never die,
As years roll on and days pass by.
In our hearts, a memory is kept,
of the one we loved and will never forget.
His wife and children
12-16c

In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather John F. Marine who passed away Dec. 19, 1968. God took you away so suddenly, the shock was hard to stand. But He wanted you in His garden in a much more beautiful land. God did not give us a warning. He was taking you away for He knew we all loved you dearly and would beg Him to let you stay.
Sadly missed by all those that love him.

The Federal Law Allows You To Save For Your Retirement Tax-Free In An

I.R.A.
(Individual Retirement Account)

A person can save and deduct 15% of his or her annual wages (or earned income if self-employed), up to $1,500 each year. The annual amount set aside in an Individual Retirement Account is deductible from gross income in figuring income taxes. Interest earned by an I.R.A. is tax free until it's paid out, too.

Any taxpayer is eligible who isn't covered by an employer's retirement plan, a Keogh plan or a charitable annuity. Incidentally, each married person's income is treated separately - each can set up his or her own plan. Furthermore, an employer can contribute to an employee's I.R.A. plan, and can even set up an account for employees not otherwise covered.

We will be happy to help determine if you are eligible to participate in this tax-deferred savings program, and explain the advantages and restrictions of the new law. Stop in soon - we welcome the opportunity to serve you.

Sewer Plan for Township Is Received

A preliminary plan for a sanitary sewer system in Tecumseh Township has been received by the board. The plan is part of a governmental project for areas, such as subdivisions and groups of houses also in Raisin and Ridgeway Townships, which rely on septic tank systems instead of central wastewater plants.

Although the project is far from the construction stage — and may never be realized for many years — a public meeting for Tecumseh Township residents has been scheduled on Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Grange Hall on Burt St.

Those attending the meeting will be informed of the preliminary plan from James Stuart, representative of McNamee, Porter and Seeley, engineering firm from Ann Arbor.

Only the built-up or more densely populated areas of the township are eligible for the government grants and sanitary sewers, which would eventually lead to the City of Tecumseh wastewater plant.

Areas declared eligible include Tonneberger Subdivision, Loveless-Kaiser Rd. section, Dillingham Dr. and Wildwood Circle.

Those areas not eligible are Pleasant Dr., including Brookmeade Estates, Dillingham Woods, Hawthorne Hills, Burt St. and Grange Hall Rd.

Plans also calls for extending city sewers westward approximately one mile along Russell Rd. and M-50.

The system would be comprised of almost 53,200 lineal feet of mostly eight-inch sewer, plus manholes, pavement replacement and six-inch house leads. Total project cost, including areas not eligible, is $2,374,800.

Federal and state grants are authorized for subdivisions or areas that were 67 percent developed as of Oct. 18, 1972, date when the law passed. This means that anyone who built a new house and occupied it after Oct. 18, 1972, or anyone who bought a new house in a subdivision legally platted after that date, will not be able to obtain government aid.

The federal government has approved funds for 75 percent of the cost; state government, five percent, and the balance of 20 percent to the township and local taxes. Because of the township's valuation, the 20 percent would be quite a burden.

Breakdown of project cost for eligible areas is: federal share, $1,226,475; state's share, $81,765, and the township, $1,066,460. Township must pay 100 percent of the cost for house leads.

Estimated cost for areas not eligible, including house leads, is $739,400.

Additional information on the plan will be released at the Jan. 18th meeting, Al Merz, township clerk, explains.

Raisin and Ridgeway Townships expect to receive their preliminary plans for a sanitary sewer system in January.

35 To Have A Merrier Christmas

As we go to press Tuesday, the Tecumseh Service Club reported that 35 families will have a merrier Christmas thanks to the generosity of many cooperating individuals and organizations.

Since 1932 the Tecumseh Service Club has helped families in Tecumseh the year around supplying their unmet needs for food, clothing and other necessities. The annual Christmas effort is perhaps the most visible in the community.

A partial listing of groups that cooperated with the Club are the Jaycee Auxiliary, which provided dolls this year. The First Baptist, United Methodist, First Presbyterian, Gloria Dei Lutheran and St. Peter's Episcopal Churches, which collected canned food and some clothing. Schools that contributed non-perishables were Herrick Park, Ridgeway and Patterson.

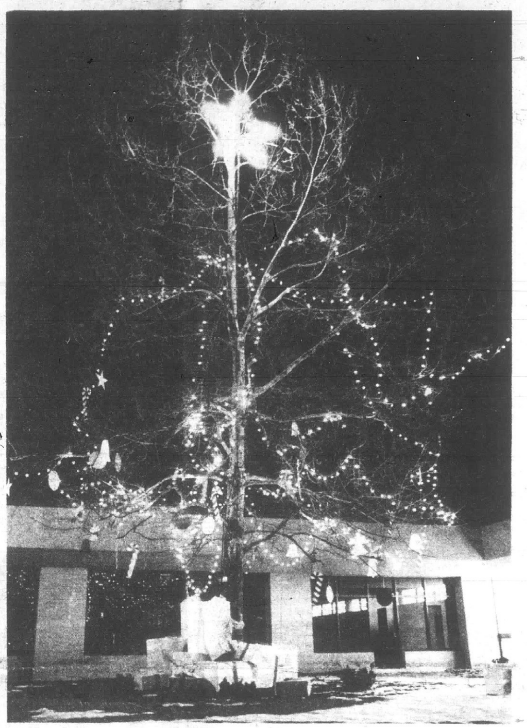
Annual mitten tree at the Herrick Park Branch of the United Savings Bank was considered an overwhelming success with more individuals contributing than before.

"It has been most helpful having local organizations cooperating," said Mrs. Opal Dickinson, a Service Club volunteer. She noted that community cooperation "improves every year. The cooperation of all the town folk has made it possible and given us the courage to go on."

Other volunteers in the Service Club are Mrs. John Baran, Pat Brown, Mrs. Philip Colgrove, Phyllis Lennington, Sue McKeever, Janice Osworth, Nancy Feldkamp and Betsy Owen.

Another boost to the club has been the reinstatement this year of its $1,200 gift from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation. A year ago the allotment was cut in half.

There is no special formula for distribution of the gifts. Each case is considered. Families are referred to the Service Club by the schools, churches, individuals and organizations. A volunteer interviews the family and assesses the need. The volunteers meet and review the information, then try to assist where the need is greatest. Volunteers assist the families with shopping, too. Boots and shoes were among the necessary items purchased for several families within the past two weeks.



THEY DECKED A TREE FOR ALL TO SEE — Tecumseh High School industrial arts teachers and student body decorated this 50 foot sycamore with a four foot star, 2,000 lights and 120 plastic ornaments. City May Take Legal Action on Subdivision

A step that may lead to legal action against a Madison, Wisc. bonding company was taken by Council Monday night. Object is to complete street and curb and gutter improvements in the northern half of the Westhaven Subdivision.

City officials unaminously approved a resolution for the appointment of Irving Shaw, an assistant county prosecutor and Adrian attorney, as special city consul.

City attorney Greg Forsthoefel had recommended to Council that other legal services be obtained since there was a possibility of a conflict of interest.

Approximately two years ago, according to officials, Guardian Development filed bankruptcy and did not complete its obligations — street improvements — in the northern half of the subdivision. Sewer and water lines to the lots, however, were installed.

About 90 lots, now owned by Citizens Mortgage of Southfield, are involved, and the area comprises a major housing development for the city.

According to city officials, one of the officers of Guardian Development, Dean Cunningham, signed the bonding contract with the Wisconsin company. Forsthoefel has provided legal services for Cunningham, a fact that could be later construed in court as a conflict of interest.

Correspondence with the bonding company have proved fruitless, and some officials now consider legal action as the only alternative to have the company complete the street improvements.

Rash of Complaints

Police investigated a rash of complaints this week and made eight arrests on liquor related violations.

A rather unusual arrest took place Thursday when John G. Mueller of Adrian was arrested for being drunk and disorderly early in the morning.

Police found Mueller at the corner of S. Occidental and Chicago, apparently trying to flag down cars. He was taken to city jail and lodged with a number of items of women's jewelry with him.

At 2:15 that day, Janice Sweet, 1201 Shady Lane, reported the theft of her jewelry from the bathroom in her home.

She told police she had let a man in early that morning to use the phone when his car broke down. Mueller reportedly then used the bathroom and left.

When police made the connection from earlier that night, Mueller was arrested. He appeared before a magestrate Monday and was released on $5,000 bond to appear Dec. 22 for preliminary examination.

A resume of other complaints includes:

Dec. 15 — James W. Groover, 22, and Daniel L. Eaton, 19, both of Tecumseh, were arrested for open intoxicants in the car after they were stopped for driving erratically on Occidental Hwy.

James L. Yoder, of Taylor was arrested for open intoxicants in his auto after police stopped him at Oneida and E. Chicago with one light out. A partially full can of beer was found on the rear floor of that auto.

Dec. 16 — Lila Wintersteen, of 205 W. Pottawatamie, reported malicious destruction to her property. Four boys apparently threw snowballs at her home and broke a storm door window.

Dec. 18 — Michael L. Baldwin, 24, and James Baldwin, 36, both of Clinton, and Ralph Saylor, 27, of Tecumseh were all arrested for open intoxicants. Michael Baldwin was reportedly driving on W. Chicago, near Tecumseh Plywood when stopped. Several empty beer cans and full cans under the seats were found.

Michael L. Baldwin was then informed that he was also being arrested for driving with a revoked license.

Dec. 19 — Timothy G. Smith, 19, of 602 Island Dr., was arrested for driving under the influence after he was stopped for driving left of center and erratically on Maumee St. Smith reportedly attempted to escape when he was taken to the station by fleeing out the back door.

Don Martin reported malicious destruction to the Gambles store. A window had been broken before they opened Friday.

Christine Jones reported a window broken at Don's Contented Sole. Someone apparently threw a rock through a west window.

Crash Fatal for Resident

Donald Dean Sanderson, 37, of 303 W. W. Russell Rd. was killed in a one-car accident at 12:05 a.m. Dec. 18 on US-12 near Willow Rd. in Washtenaw County.

State police at Clinton reported that Sanderson was eastbound when he ran off the right side of the road and struck a tree.

Defective steering mechanism apparently caused the accident.

Sanderson was pronounced dead on arrival at Saline Hospital.

Sanderson was born Feb. 21, 1939 in Ohio to Arthur and Thelma Sanderson. He was graduated from high school in Toledo. He resided at 4337 Alexis Rd. in Sylvania, Ohio until 1960 when he moved to the Tecumseh area. He was employed by the Tecumseh Products Co.

He married Peggy A. Sheperd in Adrian on Oct. 31, 1969. She survives. Also surviving are one daughter, Donna Jean and one son, Jeffrey, both at home; two brothers Harold of Virginia and the Rev. Owen Sanderson of Connecticut; a grandmother, Mrs. Henrietta Zock of Toledo, Ohio; and one sister Mrs. Leland (Shirley) Kern of Indiana.

$6,000 Revenue Drop Reported at Library

Tecumseh School Board Monday night heard a report from Supt. Robert Duhan that the city's public library revenue is down $6,000 from last year due to the removal of tax on personal inventory. The report also states that penal fine collections are down.

Due to this drop in revenue, the book budget will remain at $12,000, although the report noted, that the price of an average trade book has risen nearly 15 percent in the past year.

The library has a total budget of $84,831 for 1975-76 of which $71,017 has been expended thus far.

Statistics kept by library personnel show that "readers" using the library doubled in 1975-76 from 1974-75. In 1974-75 there were at least 25,663 readers while this year there have been at least 56,025.

A reader is defined by the library as anyone who uses library materials or facilities, excluding those who enter the library only to use the drinking fountain or restrooms.

Reference questions asked also nearly doubled according to the report.

The report also stated that library personnel will choose books and prepare them for checkout for those individuals and churches who visit the homebound. The library only requests a call before hand for this service.

Plans for the coming year include beginning a collection of large print books, developing the library's resources in adult education and researching better ways to evaluate the quality of the library's services.

Agreement with Farmer

School Board Monday night voted to continue a share-cropping agreement with James Rundell of Tecumseh.

The property owned by the school district, is located at the corner of M-50 and Rogers Hwy. It consists of 123 acres, according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

Officials purchased the property in 1969, hoping to eventually use it as the site of a new high school.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley stated that all funds received from the share-cropping agreement is earmarked for a new high school. It cannot be used for anything else.

Currently the district has earned $26,459.84 in crop receipts and interest.

Presently the funds are earning six percent interest. Officials are investigating other avenues of investment of the funds.

Open House on Jan. 23rd

School board members voted Monday night to hold an open house Sunday, Jan. 23 from 2-5 p.m. for the new high school addition.

The $1.5 addition will be opened to students for the first time on Jan. 3, end of Christmas vacation.

Early Paper

The Herald will be published early again next week, and the newspaper will appreciate early news and advertising copy.

Business office of The Herald will be closed all day Friday, Dec. 24.

It's Final- HS Addition Ready Jan. 3

At Tecumseh's School Board meeting Monday, the board heard a report from Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley concerning the progress of the new high school addition.

Cooley told the board that "everything is go" for a Jan. 3 opening date. Officials received a go ahead from health inspectors last Friday to proceed with kitchen preparations.

Cooley went on to say that there will be a variety in the lunch menu. A regular type A food plan will be offered but the new kitchen will also offer an ala carte lunch line.

Students will be utilized in cleaning, food serving and preparation. Officials are hopeful that this will become a "meaningful, learning experience," Cooley said.

Officials have yet to decide what type of lighting fixtures to use outside of the addition. Cooley stated that sodium lighting — which emit a brownish color — are cheaper to operate than mercury vapor lamps.

One of each type is presently installed on the outside of the addition. Eventually nine fixtures will be installed.

BOYSVILLE STUDENTS PAUSE TO REFLECT ON CHRISTMAS BEFORE THE CHAPEL CRECHE

Christmas Activities at Boysville

by SHARON CONNORS

MACON — Although many of the young men leave to spend the holidays at home, there will be Christmas activities at Boysville for the young men, the public and staff.

A visitor to the Boysville campus before Christmas would have found that many of the preparations for a Christmas at Boysville are the same as those that go on in one's own home. Decorations were brought out of storage many areas were beginning to look a lot like Christmas.

The dining hall, recently renovated was prepared for a candlelight buffet planned for Dec. 22 for the students.

"There's no place like home for the holidays," and most of the boys will pack and leave for their homes Dec. 23. A small number will stay on campus and special activities were planned for them by the Brothers.

The chapel was a focal point for decorating last week. Brother Francis Boylan directed the boys who were busy setting up the crib scene.

Christmas Eve Mass will be celebrated in the campus chapel at midnight by Fr. Steve Sedlock C.S.C., the chaplain of Boysville.

Brother Eugene Hausman will be in charge of music. The Brothers will begin singing carols at 11:30 p.m. prior to the Mass. They also plan to carol in the neighborhood.

As in the past, the public is welcome to attend the Midnight Mass at the chapel with its special Christmas decorations. Coffee will be served in the dining room afterwards and everyone is welcome.

The entire faculty and staff of Boysville will celebrate the evening together on Dec. 27. Festivities will begin with Mass at 6:30 p.m. celebrated by Bishop Kenneth J. Povish. Dinner will follow at 7 p.m. with dancing later to the music of Louis Prang Trio.

This will be an evening for not only the staff of the central campus at Macon, but also for those from Detroit, Saginaw and Alpena, where community-based group homes affiliated with Boysville, are located.

Boysville was founded in 1948 as a residential youth care agency that offers both institutional and community-based services. Boysville is dedicated to interacting with kids in trouble and inspiring them to adopt meaningful values.

The residents number approximately100 young people. A composite picture of these residents is a youth between the ages of 13 and 17 who needs guidance.

The City of Tecumseh is presently taking a dog census, as required by the state of Michigan.

Two youths are presently conducting the census door to door, and will be taking the survey for probably another two to three weeks.

Each youth has a card for the dog owner to fill out. It briefly asks the kind of dog, age, and color for the records.

The two conducting the survey do have name tags and letters of explanation if residents have questions about the census.

UNITED METHODIST WINDOWS FEATURED

Dazzling, Awesome Glass

At once dazzling and awesome, stained glass is one of the most spectacular art forms. Its beauty and magnitude inspire a renewal of faith.

Since stained glass owes its artistic existence to light, it is understandable that the men of the Gothic era used it extensively to design cathedral windows to lift man's minds and hearts to God and symbolically portray the life of Christ, the Light of the World.

The nine Memorial Art Stained glass windows at the Tecumseh United Methodist are one of the best local examples that portray the leading events in the life of Christ. The windows were installed in the church in 1966. They were designed by Willet Stained Glass of Philadelphia, Pa.

The series begins as one enters the sanctuary with window number one, the Annunciation and Birth of Christ, and is complete with window number eight the Resurrection and window number nine, a colored stained glass window above the front entrance.

Though the portraits are contemporary the designs reflect the elegance and majesty of their subjects.

No one really knows just when and where stained glass was first used. Colored glass beads were worn by the ancient Egyptians and glass blowing was known to the Roman Empire. The cathedral window was Gothic in origin, though examples of stained glass that possibly date from the eighth century, were found in France.

Stories of the Bible and the saints were first conceived in the 12th century. Five larger-than-life-sized figures, The Prophets, in windows of the Cathedral of Augsburg, Germany, are believed to be the oldest stained glass windows still to be seen in their original setting.

One of the greatest existing series of windows, in the Cathedral of Chartres, France, depicts scenes from the Old and New Testaments, the Virgin and Christ, Apostles and Saints. These date from 1200-1240.

Until the end of the Middle Ages stained glass windows, monumental and religious were so costly that the only buildings deemed worthy to receive them as gifts were houses of God. Stained glass became secular with the increasing affluence of the growing middle class.

The late 1800's brought about new and original designs and color schemes. Artists Charles J. Connick and Wilbur Herbert Burnham became well known for their beautiful windows designed for the Catedrals of St. John the Divine and St. Patrick in New York City, Grace Cathedral in San Francisco and other churches in the United States. In France, Henri Matisse, Georges Rouault and Fernand Leger designed windows for churches in Assy and other areas.

Rebuilding of the churches damaged during World War II, in Germany and England, resulted in new glass windows in contemporary designs.

MOTHER'S JOY — Mary holds the infant Jesus in nativity scene of stained glass at the United Methodist Church, Tecumseh.

THE ANNUNCIATION— The angel Gabriel announces to the Virgin Mary that she is to give birth to God's Son.

Wearing Apparel

BRITTON — Winter apparel worn during the turn of the century was considerably different from the clothing most people wear at the present time. Perhaps some people may wonder how and why.

Near the beginning of this century houses were drafty and did not have central heating systems. They were not insulated and lacked storm doors and double windows. These conditions made heavy, warm clothing imperative.

People, especially the rural population, spent much time out-of-doors. Chores required hours of outside work morning, noon, and night. Even small town residents had chores to do. Many of them owned a house or two, a family cow and a few chickens. This necessitated their being out in the cold too.

Travel was done on foot or by horse drawn vehicles. Sleighs, cutters, carts, and buggies were all horse drawn and were open to the weather and unheated. Almost all children walked to and from school. (school buses were unknown). All forms of transportation during the winter months required warm outfits.

Thermal underwear, such as we know today, was unheard of. Men, women, and children wore long underwear. Some underwear were all wool. Men and boys wore overalls (sometimes two pair - one over the other), work shirts with long sleeves, heavy woolen socks, and sturdy work shoes.

Many men wore felt boots with galoshes to keep their feet warm and dry. For ordinary outside work they wore a sweater, lined jacket, warm cap and gloves. For traveling, most men wore a long fur coat (made of horse hide or cow hide), mittens to match, and a fur cap that pulled down over their ears.

Boys' dress suits had knee pants and a belted [illegible]. With these they wore long stockings, and either brown or black shoes, never oxfords or low shoes as are worn now.

Girls and women wore long stockings, usually black. Some were all wool; others were part wool and part cotton. Their high top shoes either laced or were buttoned. Women's dresses were long and full skirted. Petticoats likewise were long and full. Most of them, at least for winter, were made of outing flannel or sateen. Over their dresses women and girls wore large aprons—sometimes called Mother Hubbards.

Women's coats were usually dress length. For dress, women wore hats, some ornate-trimmed with ribbons and feathers. To supply the demand, millinery stores did a thriving business.

To keep hands warm during cold weather many women and girls had muffs. Muffs varied in size but were large enough to protect both hands. They were made of various types of fur, padded, and lined with either silk or satin. Being able to cover the lower part of ones face and bury your nose in the soft fur was a protection while walking in a sting snow storm or biting wind.

Youngsters often wore leggings that reached almost to their knees and buttoned from the foot to the top. Leggings were to keep the wearer warm and dry while trudging through snow. (Snow blowers and snow removal equipment has only been in use recently.)

Dressing to be out doors in cold weather was a time consuming ordeal. How fortunate this generation is to have more comfortable, light weight clothing. We have better heating systems, insulated homes, and heated, enclosed transportation that speed us to our destinntion. We have much to be grateful for.

They came to Macon last April. Al's children are Dennis, Denise, Douglas and Coreen. Dolores' are Mrs. Dennis (Kathy) Raymond of Adrian, David Franklin of Garden City, Diane Doletzky of Wayne, Jeff Franklin, Westland and Steven and Jeri Anne, both at home. Dolores is also the proud grandmother of five.

Lasting Gift to Community

CLINTON — A gift to the community which lasted almost all of the Bicentennial year, was climaxed with the presentation of the Christmas Concert by the 35 members of the Bicentennial Choir.

A dream of the director, Mrs. Donald Geiger, was realized early last winter, when there was good response from volunteers to practice each week.

Their outstanding choral presentations on July 4 and at Clinton's Fall Festival, as well as the one Sunday evening at the high school, will be long remembered as one of the most meaningful observances of the Bicentennial in Clinton.

Charlotte Parker and Howard Oesterling narrated the historical significance of the observance of Christmas during the "Christmas Celebration," which included 22 carols from a variety of countries and cultures.

Carolyn Dicks provided the piano accompaniment throughout the year, and presented a medley of holiday music preceding the program.

Members of the choir are: Roy Wagner, Janet Greenleaf, Kim Swift, Roger Waltz, Cyn Geiger, Gala Bellmore, Irene Steffens, Veronica Ottinger, Laura Scott, Sharon Scott, Nancy Cadmus, Terry Calhoun, Charlie Steffens, Kim Greenfield, Randy Breeding, Chari Cadmus, Dawn Warren, Tina Stoner, Rosemary Terry, Hendrika Hulett, Lynn Greenleaf, Dorothy Moon, Richard Dixon, Rex Geiger, Fred Miller, Sandy Swift, Sally Scheer, Debbie Stoner, Rhana Ritter, Wilda Hawkins, Berry Heimerdinger, Irma Broniman, Sue Bernhardsson, Tom Mueler, Hank Schade, Jim Akers, Jim Pittman, Virginia Proctor and Bernd Weisshaar.

The choir's final appearance was Monday night when the choir sang at the Clinton High School Choir concert.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

For many, many years now I have used this article, the one just before Christmas, to share a few personal thoughts. This should be the season when we all do just a little extra thinking about our faith and rethinking our beliefs. Since my outlook is much the same as it has been, so this article will not be too different —

I still believe that this is the time of year when as Martha Smook says in an old issue of "Daily Word," "We see with clearer vision, as if we look at the world with more love, as if we look at other persons with more understanding, as if we believe in and expect miracles, as if we feel Christ nearer, closer, more immediate than at other times."

And aren't miracles, a world full of more love, and Christ being near what we need in this world today? How quickly all of the problems would be solved. But before world problems are settled, people must find their own peace.

Now we are blessed by being able to spend summers in Michigan and winters in Florida. (This year we are here in Tecumseh for the first part of the winter but hopefully in mid or late January we will be heading south).

Since we have been in both places I am even more sure that there is, to borrow a phrase, "A Power greater than myself."

As I look out on the wonderful world of Evans Creek in Tecumseh and our small lake in Tarpon Springs, Fla., "His miracles are all around and are mine just for the looking — a kingfisher rattling up the creek searching for dinner, a graceful egret 'lettng down' on the tiny island, flowers and bird songs, and rainy days as well as sunny ones. His handiwork gladdens my window pictures continually.

Few sermons are stronger and more meaningful than watching storm clouds brood over the gulf or watching a male cardinal bring his youngsters to the near-my-window feeder for their first visit.

Why then does such a wise Creator, who can be so lavish with love and beauty, allow cruel, tragic, and seemingly senseless things to happen?

Well a long time ago, after the car in which I was riding came out second best in an encounter with a tree, I decided that perhaps it is not meant for us to know all the answers, all the whys.

There may be no seemingly logical explanation but things do happen for a purpose — even though we do not always see what that purpose is.

One of my favorite thoughts is taken from Peter Marshall, that famous Scot who spoke so eloquently from a Presbyterian pulpit. He believed that God never closes one door without opening another.

And just the other day I was reading a follow-up to this thought. Unfortunately I have misplaced the article and the author's name slips my mind but his opinion was that this other open door never calls for more strength nor poses problems too difficult for us to handle. How comforting!

So then it is our job to find the other door. The search may be a long and difficult one — certainly it is a full-time task and one which leaves no time for bitterness or self pity.

Oh, of course, there are the dark moods and moments of discouragement but, when faith falters, a look outside quickly sets me back on the right track.

My goodness, how could I not hurry back to good thinking when there are such joys to behold. Imagine a quadraplegic seeing a hermit thrush at close range, hearing the lovely serenade of a lovesick mockingbird, watching a gallinule march across the yard, or enjoying a flock of evening grosbeaks. But even more important are family and friends — they truly are the ones who keep and make my life full and rich.

And now — may your Christmas be merry and bright, may the New Year be full of health, happiness, peace and joy!

'Swearing-in' Is Dec. 30

The "Swearing-in" of the new county officers, judges, commissioners will be Dec. 30 at 3 p.m. in the First Circuit Court Room in the Court House.

1950's Christmas Reflections

by KATHY BROWN

In the past few years, The Tecumseh Herald has interviewed senior citizens and kindergarteners for their reflections on Christmas past and present. This year in a search to present Christmas memories in a unique way, the staff decided to examine the nostalgia of the 1950's.

The topic was not selected by coincidence. Seven members of The Tecumseh Herald staff, early to mid-twenties, celebrated their childhood Christmases in the now called "Happy Days." Since Christmas is a time to share, we share our memories with you.

Our generation was part of the baby boom after the second world war. Suddenly Christmas became a children's holiday. Ours was probably the first generation in American history to have our Christmas memories recorded by camera and movie film.

Children in the home again meant mothers and grandmothers had someone to bake for and fuss over. Because father was the wage earner and mother stayed at home, the children became the center of her life.

With modern appliances, children could be children and were not needed to do manual chores. This extra leisure time was filled by toys to play with and television to watch.

If one likes to admit it or not, our generation was spoiled compared to our parents. We were indulged by proud and loving parents and grandparents who could now afford to give us things they never had.

After our generation arrived, the toy industry flourished and grew bigger every Christmas. Tradition was upheld — there were dolls for Sister Sue and toy soldiers for brother Jimmy. But everything was a bit more realistic with each successive year. Dolls like Betsy Wetsy and Tiny Tears were aptly named and were created so girls could raise a family "just like mommy." The toy soldiers that boys played with were now called "army men" and were painted in the image of World War soldiers.

Television became a popular entertainment medium for children. Because they spent many playtime hours with us, television personalities became "our playmates," and we wanted to "play along" with them. This was reflected by the popularity of cowboy toys and costumes.

(Unlike today's generation which has mostly cartoon characters, our TV favorites were portrayed by real actors. Captain Kangaroo, The Lone Ranger, Buffalo Bob, Sagebrush Shorty, Sky King and Penny, Zorro, the Cisco Kid, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were popular heros and heroines.)

Mothers and dads played Santa Claus by eating the cookies and milk we carefully prepared and by decorating the living room with the presents. Christmas stockings were filled with an assortment of toys and candy — more than just one orange or nuts that our parents had received as children.

Christmas pageants at church and school became increasingly popular family functions as families grew larger.

Family gatherings lasted all day at grandmother's. Christmas presents were exchanged with all the cousins and godchildren — until families found the cost prohibitive.

Full skirted Christmas party dresses that fell below the knee were made of taffeta, flocked organdy and velveteen. Mother and daughter fashions were popular. Shirley Temple and the Toni Company helped promote curls for little girls. Hair ribbons and combed headbands were vogue.

For the little men there were little suits and clipon bow ties. And at Christmastime, black leather shoes styled like dad's replaced those clumsy black and white oxfords.

Perhaps our generation was the last to see so many "Made in America" tags on ornaments and presents. Icicles were made of heavy aluminum, not Saran as today for back then there was no apparent need to economize on such materials. Christmas trees were always fresh cut and the pine fragrance was an familiar scent along with the gingerbread and fruit.

And remember when on Christmas Eve the family rode around town to look at the elaborate Christmas decorations that adorned every home on the block? The homes shined like gingerbread houses. Neighborhoods held decorating contests.

We learned Christmas songs by singing along with hi-fi records by Nat King Cole, The Four Aces, Perry Como, Dinah Shore, Doris Day, Patti Page, Gene Autry and the Lennon Sisters with the Lawrence Welk Orchestra.

Christmas specials that were likely to be seen were reruns of Shirley Temple, especially "Heidi." And our "Peter Pan" was Mary Martin, with Cyril Richard as Captain Hook.

That was the way Christmas was for many of us who lived our childhood in the 1950's. Looking back we remember most of all the love we shared with our families while growing up together. And in the tradition of Christmas, Love is the greatist gift of all.

KATHY BROWN
Stage screen star of home movies. Red cowgirl outfit and Betsy Wetsy were cherished.

FRANK WEIR
Jousting with his toy suit of armor was his holiday sport.

CATHIE HARTUNG
A kitten was one of the "live" gifts she remembers. A farm yard set occupied playtime.

CORTLAND HUNT
His dad posed in a red hunter's suit and scared Corky to bed. "Dr. Corky" doctored everything except the cat.

KAY CHAPMAN
Remembers her dad hid her puppy "Panda" in his coat. She also found out that peeking in the closet doesn't pay off.

BECKIE SCOTT
Santa Claus frightened her. Pollyanna and her Shirley Temple dolls and stuffed animals were cherished presents.

KENT DOWNING
Owes his bowling expertise to toy ten-pins and gardening know-how to toy tractor.

RENT IT! from
George & Carol Parknowitz

How to refinish a floor with an old oil finish? This can be one of the most difficult of renovation problems. This is because oil finishes have a tendency to become imbedded in the wood. Often a steel wool buffer with Number 3 steel wool will do the best job of removing a finish. If not, try an alkali solution of washing soda or a commercial cleanser. Remember that strong solutions of lye will swell and soften the wood. Be sure to rinse carefully.

If you have a do-it yourself project that you need some help with, come in and see us at TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER, 112 S. Pearl St., 423-4470. We probably will be able to answer your questions and maybe rent you a tool or some equipment that will make the job alot easier for you. Remember you can always reduce the time and effort for any project if you have the right tools and equipment. But "Why Buy when it's cheaper to Rent It" so see us at TECUMSEH RENTAL CENTER. Open: Mon.-Sat. 9-6, Sun. 9-3.

HELPFUL HINT: Stain floors darker than any pre-existing spots but not so dark that they will show footprints.

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank its members for their support through the year 1975-1976. We welcome this Christmas season with best wishes to you and to all those who have contributed to their community.

Record Payroll, Employment at Fisher Body

Record employe payrolls, combined with local purchases of goods and services from area suppliers, helped General Motors achieve an economic impact of more than $19.5 million in the Tecumseh area, W.J. Polk, Fisher Body plant manager, announced in a year-end report.

He estimated GM's local payroll in 1976 at $19,274,962, a $5,567,430 increase from the $13,707,532 paid in 1975. Fisher Body purchases from 129 local suppliers amounted to more than $318,000.

Mr. Polk, who is also chairman of the Tecumseh GM Plant City Committee, added that employment averaged 1,067 persons in 1976, compared to 825 in 1975. The higher employment figure was primarily the result of increased production schedules at the soft trim plant.

During the year an additional $16,225 was awarded to employes under terms of the GM Suggestion Plan for submitting ideas to improve quality and efficiency of products and operations.

Lenawee County United Fund and the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation received a pledge of $56,035 from Fisher Body - Tecumseh employes and GM. Employes also invested $448,601 in U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deduction in 1976, compared with $272,963 in 1975.

During 1976, Fisher Body introduced a new system for cutting cloth and vinyl materials used in the assembly of interior automobile trim at the Tecumseh operations. The total project, including both equipment and installation, represents a capital investment of approximately one-half million dollars.

The Fisher Body plant produces interior trim sets for the 1977 Oldsmobile, Pontiac LeMans and Grand Prix, and Buick Century and Regal series of GM cars.

As a result of GM's continuing automobile redesign program, and to provide further capacity to meet rising sales, Mr. Polk noted that General Motors 1977 capital expenditures for facilities and tools will exceed $3 billion, the highest in GM's history.

These expenditures are more than 25% above the 1976 level which GM estimates will reach $2.4 billion, and more than 20% above the previous high of $2.5 billion in 1974.

"A portion of that investment will be in Lenawee County," Polk said, referring to Chevrolet Motor Division plans to open a plant in Adrian. The new plant will begin production of plastic automobile components early in 1977 with employment of approximately 175 workers by late summer.

TEN INJURED — Lenawee County YMCA van was struck broadside last Thursday morning, sending nine youngsters and driver of the automobile to Herrick Hospital. All were treated and released except three of the nine youngsters, ages 13 to 15. Ricard D. Ramos, 19, Adrian, northbound on Rogers Hwy., slid onto M-50 and into the path of an eastbound auto, driven by Mrs. Edith M. Starkey, 66, of 2880 Russell Rd. Ramos was cited by Tecumseh police for driving too fast for road conditions. Police photo above shows snowy conditions which made a number of streets here slippery.

Jeep Upsets, 23-Year-Old Man Killed

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at First Baptist Church for Michael C. McNamara, 23-year-old Tecumseh man who was killed early Friday morning on Rogers Hwy.

According to the Tecumseh police report, he was a passenger in a Jeep driven by Michael A. Clement, 22, of 5732 Centennial Rd.

Clement told police here that he had just turned off M-50 onto Rogers when he saw an oncoming car weaving into his southbound lane. He swerved to the left, hit a ditch with the Jeep flipping over on its right side.

Apparently, Mr. McNamara was thrown out and through the windshield. He was pronounced dead at Herrick Memorial Hospital. Clement suffered only minor injuries.

Until just recently, Mr. McNamara was a pressman for The Tecumseh Herald. He started with the local newspaper on Jan. 24, 1972, as an offset darkroom cameraman, a trade he had learned at Vo-Tec. When the paper installed offset presses in March 1972, he learned to operate the presses and was principally a pressman for the next four years.

This past October, he began employment with Ford Motor Company at Saline, working the second shift. He had returned to Tecumseh from work shortly before the accident.

Two years ago he became a member of the Tecumseh Fire Department.

He attended the First Baptist Church.

After attending schools at Capac and Waterford, he graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1971.

On Sept. 20, 1972, he was married to the former Corrine "Corky" Dermyer. She survives. They resided at 306 W. Cummins St.

Mr. McNamara was born in Detroit on Aug. 28, 1953, the son of Joseph and Serena (Wise) McNamara. They are survivors as are a sister, Mrs. Stephen (Debra) Gray, Bradenton, Fla., and a nephew.

Arrangements were handled by the Proctor Funeral Home.

The Rev. Kenneth Boyd officiated at the services, and burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

An honor guard of Tecumseh firemen were present at the services and interment, and two pieces of the department's equipment escorted the funeral procession to the cemetery.

Vandals Suspected in Santa Hut Fire on Christmas Eve

Some "sick" people apparently do not want Tecumseh to have a Santa Claus hut for hosting city and area youngsters.

On Christmas Eve, shortly before midnight, firemen were called to extinguish a blaze that heavily damaged the interior. Since there was no electrical problem and the hut locked, theory is that the hut was set on fire through the hut's chimney.

In the past couple of years the hut has been a continuous target of vandals. Besides Friday's fire, the door was kicked in and the lock replaced this December.

Last year, the hut was egged and broken into twice, resulting in stolen candy. This occurred after the hut had been remodeled and wheels installed by the Green Thumbers.

In 1974 the hut was broken into and candy stolen. A car also struck it in a hit and run mishap while parked next to a curb in downtown Tecumseh. Windows also were broken this year.

Picking Up Trees

With the holiday season about over, the annual city pickup of Christmas trees will start next Monday, Jan. 3, Cal Zorn, city manager, announces.

Local residents are asked to place their trees next to the curb, if they wish to have them disposed of by the city.

Three-month-old Robert Robinson Jr., 7630 Carson Hwy., choked to death Monday before the emergency run reached Herrick Hospital.

Funeral arrangements were not available at press time and are pending an autopsy.

Arrest Four During Week

Tecumseh police arrested three individuals on alcohol violations this week in two different incidents and arrested another on a warrant out of Adrian.

Early Tuesday morning, police investigated a call at the Second Wind. Police arrested Kenneth E. Davis, and Daniel S. Schindler, both 19 and Adrian residents.

Schindler reportedly would not leave the bar at closing time and police were forced to remove him. Davis started swearing and arguing with people leaving the bar when he was arrested. Davis also reportedly had a small amount of marijuana in his possession.

Monday, Robert A. Dinse, 47, of 108 N. Maumee, was arrested for drunk and disorderly. Dinse was staggering in the parking lot between Powell's Realty and Kitchen and Fabric.

MAGI BEARING GIFTS — Mike Barrett, James Knierim and Randy Mueller, left to right model the costumes that men of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church will wear for the celebration of the Feast of the Epiphany during the Masses on Saturday and Sunday. Epiphany commemorates the visit of the Three Kings to the Christ child. Men dressed as the Three Kings will present the gifts at the offeratory of the Mass. They will give chocolate coins wrapped in gold foil to children at a reception afterward in the parish hall. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Reenact Magi's Visit

For the second year the celebration of the Feast of Epiphany will be celebrated at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church Saturday and Sunday at each Mass with a reenactment of the Magi's visit to the Christ Child.

During the offertory of the Mass, men from the parish, dressed as the three kings in robes and costume jewelry, will carry decorated boxes that represent the gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. These will be presented at Mass to the new born King.

After the Mass a reception will be held in the parish hall. The wise men will present gifts of chocolate gold coins to the children. Coffee and rolls will be served by the worship committee.

Men who will participate in Saturday's liturgy at 7 p.m. will be Jim Knierim, Gregg Miller and Michael Dinkens.

At the 8:30 Mass on Sunday participants will be Allan DeShano, D.W. Jones and Bob Mosley. At the 10:30 a.m. Mass Sunday, Richard Hawkins, Robert Hawkins and Charles Spreeman will dress as the kings.

Sister Beth Hemminger, religious education coordinator and Frances Spreeman, first communicant class CCD instructor, planned the event and designed the costumes from brightly colored robes, fabric and cast off jewelry.

The Feast of the Epiphany was celebrated in the East as early as the third century and spread to the west toward the end of the fourth century.

The word Epiphany means manifestation.

Reader Writes

(Editor's note: The following letter to Ron and Sarah Frenzen, 417 N. Evans chronicles the experiences of one man who rode with the the Bicentennial Wagon Train. Frenzen rode one day with the train.)

Dear Ron and Sarah,

It's been a while now since we left the wagons at Valley Forge. For some it climaxed a year and 4,000 miles of nomadic life on the trail.

I saw a photo awhile back of the wagons arranged in a half-moon circle with spotlights trained on them behind the reviewing stand at Valley Forge - standing in mute testimony of a journey accomplished.

As I held the photo, the recollections came flooding back - of voices and laughter intermingled with the creak of harness leather and treading hooves; the ritual of encamping, watering, feeding and grooming the horses; the feel of hard saddle leather against tired muscles; the campfire activity; sharing a meal with the crowds - I doubt if any of us who went home will forget these experiences or those we'd grown to love during the weeks and months on the trail.

No doubt there is a story to be told by every wagoneer - something that stands out above the rest. With me, it was the people - their warm receptions and helpfulness in every encampment.

The wagon train served as the cohesive threat for the communities, reaching out to all the people of a Nation - and their response was heart warming. I hope the event will be remembered as the peoples' celebration of the Nation's 200th birthday.

It's right to give recognition to the horses that made the journey. There were many good ones in the trains. To cover 1,200 miles with my young mare was a real personal satisfaction to me. She is what the oldtimers would term "a most honest hoss".

I've heard talk about reunions next summer. No doubt the Pilgrimage will be relived once again. Probably wouldn't recognize anyone without their beards.

I hope you have been enjoying good health and pleasant days. Thanks for taking the time to send the clippings, I really appreciate it.

Wishing you Peace and Goodwill of the Christmas Season. God Bless You.

Easy trails,

WOULDN'T IT BE NICE IF

Wouldn't it be nice if all the warmth and love of this marvelous Christmas season could last throughout the whole year? And in the same vein, how nice if the sense of history and the rejuvenation of patriotism fostered by the Bicentennial celebration could be held over. Perhaps we should celebrate Bicentennial plus 1.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could have a cold, pretty winter? One with temperatures just low enough to keep the snow and just enough snow falling every other night to insure that the white blanket is always sparkling clean. The days, of course, should be full of blue skies and bright sunshine. And while daydreaming I might just as well go all the way and wish for the snow not to fall on sidewalks, driveways, or roads.

Wouldn't it be nice if either a citizen or the city planted a tree or two when one is cut down?

Wouldn't it be nice if there were just a speck less commercialism on TV? I realize that the sponsers pay the bills and, my goodness, let's hope we never exchange our system for government operated TV. However, six to 10 commercials in a row could be called overdoing a good thing. Who pays attention?

And another bothersome thing, we notice it most during football telecasts, is the continual 'reminders' of upcoming attractions. They almost make you think that the program you are watching is not good but the one next week will be super. Of course, next week it is the following week that should not be missed.

All of this emphasis on future events downgrades the importance of today and I am speaking not only of football games. Each and every day, in fact each and every minute, should be enjoyed for itself.

Wouldn't it be nice if the next few years things would change so that our next presidential election would not disintegrate into a mud throwing contest? Political parties are necessary but now that the election is over how nice it would be if in both the state and national government decisions could be made on the basis of what is best for the country and what is right.

Wouldn't it be nice if there was less talk about the energy crisis and more work towards solving it? There are certainly no simple answers. However if there were a few good examples perhaps the individual would not feel so helpless.

An example: Last year we were harangued about keeping home thermostats turned down to 65 or 68 degrees and this year the big push seems to be insulation — yet, from so many Christmas shoppers, I heard stories about going into these malls and actually being terribly uncomfortable because of the heat.

And, from personal experience last vear in Florida, stores and malls down their were air-conditioned to the point of being uncomfortably cool. Turning our thermometer down seems rather futile.

Wouldn't it be nice if some of these characters who vandalize schools were caught and made to pay the damages by working in the clean-up brigade? Perhaps similiar work projects should be found for those who maliciously break car windows, shoot out street lights, etc.?

And wouldn't it be nice if this winter Tecumseh were invaded by and could play hosts to flocks of evening grosbeaks and red crossbills? It could happen, it has before!

Library To Close Two Days

The Tecumseh Public Library will be closed on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31 and on New Year's Day, Jan. 1.

The book depository, located on the left side of the entrance, will be open for patrons who wish to return books during the holidays.

Oyster Supper for Grange

The Tecumseh Grange met Thursday evening for an Oyster supper and an array of Christmas desserts followed by an exchange of gifts.

Walter Wonderly, master conducted a short business meeting.

The "John Deere" day of Jan. 17, 1977 was planned as was also announced three future dinners to be held in the Grange Hall.

The first card party for the new year will be held Jan. 8, 1977 at 8 p.m.

Backlog Causes Delay

More than 360,000 refund applications have been received by Consumers Power Company since Nov. 3.

The backlog may take six to eight weeks to process before the customer receives a refund.

Consumers Power was ordered to refund a federal surcharge it had collected during 1970-71 from gas and electric customers. Company shareholders are bearing the cost of administering the refund.

Customers who mailed in refund applications should wait at least eight weeks before sending in another.

Those who have not yet applied for a refund should print legibly on the application.

Customers should try to print their names and addresses the same as they appeared on their 1970-71 bills, and use the company's application. Write Consumers Power Co., Drawer D, Jackson, Mich. 49204.

Private Lines

Additional private lines for General Telephone Company customers are now available in the Tecumseh area due to the completion of a major construction project which added 36 miles of telephone cable.

The $417,000 project installed approximately 22 miles of underground cable and 14 miles of aerial cable.

Completes Training

Norman Fields, installation and repairperson for General Telephone at Tecumseh, recently completed a course in AC-DC Theory at the company's service training center in Muskegon.

Fields, his wife, Carol, and children, Troy, Tracy and Tarry, live at 9475 Shepherd Rd., Onsted.

Addition, Correction Deadline

General Telephone customers in Lenawee County who want to make corrections or additions to the telephone Directory must contact the company's service office before Jan. 7.

The Federal Law Allows You To Save For Your Retirement Tax-Free In An

I.R.A.

(Individual Retirement Account)

A person can save and deduct 15% of his or her annual wages (or earned income if self-employed), up to $1,500 each year. The annual amount set aside in an Individual Retirement Account is deductible from gross income in figuring income taxes. Interest earned by an I.R.A. is tax free until it's paid out, too.

Any taxpayer is eligible who isn't covered by an employer's retirement plan, a Keogh plan or a charitable annuity. Incidentally, each married person's income is treated separately - each can set up his or her own plan. Furthermore, an employer can contribute to an employee's I.R.A. plan, and can even set up an account for employees not otherwise covered.

We will be happy to help determine if you are eligible to participate in this tax-deferred savings program, and explain the advantages and restrictions of the new law. Stop in soon - we welcome the opportunity to serve you.

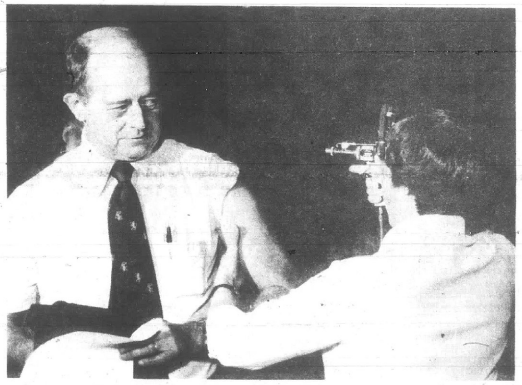
Bicentennial Year in Review

Tecumseh merchants reported record sales during July's sidewalk sale. Many of the children were entertained by BoJo the clown.

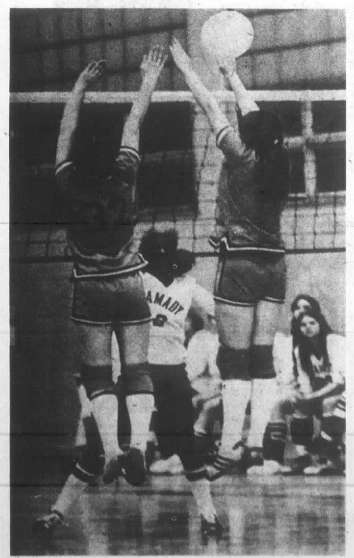
In 1976, Tecumseh started a year of construction which included extension of water and sewer services to the city's west side and the widening of M-50.

The handsome $1.5 million addition to THS had many delays due to construction problems. It will open to students January 3.

1976 saw tragedy as one Detroit man was killed instantly from this crash after traveling in excess of 100 mph. The seven-ton Musgrove Evans marker was moved over a foot.

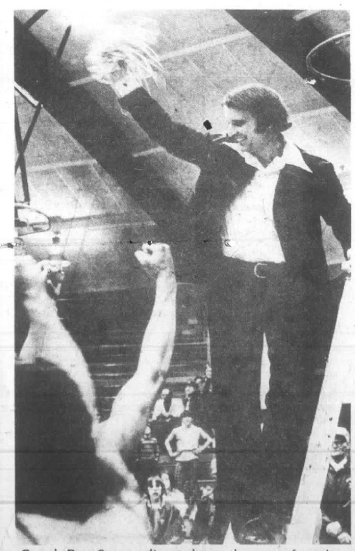


The swine flu clinic here drew some skepticism, as did all clinics in the U.S., but Tecumseh did record one of the largest turnouts in the county.



In Tecumseh's first year of post season volleyball tournament action, the girls captured third in the state after losing the semi-final match to Parchment, final state champions.

1976 was an especially good year for the Community Fund Foundation as contributions climbed well over the $79,950 goal.



Coach Ron Spagnoli cut down the net after the Indians were crowned district champs. The cagers went on to win the regional title, but lost to the eventual state champion, Flint-Beecher, in the quarterfinals.

Macon Montage

By Sharon Connors

MACON — A review of 1976 in The Macon Area brings several events to mind. The Macon Church dedicated a new organ, given to the church by Mrs. Melvin Travis and the church also burned the mortgage on the educational unit during the year. The Historical Society had a sucessful pie social at the Ford Mill on Mills Macon Rd., now owned by the Eldredges. The historical society also began restoration of the old Mills School on Pennington Rd. November found a record turnout of voters in the township.

The only changes over the year have been many new families moving into the area and some old ones moving away, quite a few new homes have been built. These things, reflect the slower pace in rural Macon from year to year.

Bill and Susie Bishop are the proud parents of a son, William Michael, born Dec. 26 at Bixby Hospital. Little William and mom expect to be home by the end of the week. His three sisters at home can hardly wait.

The Herb Morden home was the scene of the family Christmas gathering. Herb and Meredyth, Bill and Susie, Patty and Don, Herb and Marilyn and Max and Sharon and all the grandchildren were present. That night Bill took Susie to Bixby Hospital and the Morden had another grandchild by the next morning.

The Ross family's Christmas started with a Christmas Eve dinner at the Harold Ross home. Fred and Judy, Don and Carlena from Brighton, Roger and Nancy and all the grandchildren were there. On Christmas Day Roger and Nancy had Christmas dinner for Nancy's mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig and her sister, Marilyn and husband, Dave from Petoskey.

Mrs. Arthur Brown had Mrs. Gladys Spring as a guest for dinner on Christmas Day.

Christmas festivities began in the Charles Bigelow home with Beth's 19th birthday on Dec. 23. She is home for vacation from Olivet College. Son, Bill and his wife, Nancy and children, Brad and Bret also arrived from Somerset, Ky. and daughter, Rebekah came from Detroit. Bob and Cheryl, Mrs. Lipski and Miss Wilkinson from Detroit arrived on Christmas Day for the weekend. They were all guests of Bob and Cheryl on Monday.

Bob Camburn and his mom, Mrs. Clare Camburn have been busy with Christmas gatherings the past week. A pre-Christmas dinner was held at the home of Bob and Kay Brandts at Cambridge Junction. Christmas Eve found Bob at the home of Milton and Betty Campbell at Silver Lake, for a candlelight dinner a tradition he has made with these friends for 20 years. Mrs. Camburn enjoyed the Eve at the Pat Connor's home. Christmas morning callers were Vernon and Donna Cochrane and later Christmas afternoon, Mrs. Camburn and Bob were dinner guests of Bill and Mary Kraft in Ann Arbor.

The Boyd and Kay Larrowe family on Hack Rd. began its Christmas celebrations on Dec. 23, the occasion of John's 15th birthday. The family annually goes to Ford Museum or Greenfield village. This year it was the museum. The family gift exchange was Christmas Eve. After the presents were carefully inspected Christmas morning, the family attended church services. That night Kay's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Schmenk visited. Sunday found the family at dinner in Milan at the home of Kay's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tittiger.

Christmas started for Don and Clara Davis with Christmas Eve candlelight services. Guests the next day were Jerry and Linda Stern and family, Nancy Davis and Amanda Babcox. After dinner the group visited the Pennington Rd. home of Jack and Judy Crittenden. They were joined by Donand Penny Davis and children, Ruth and Jack Escott and family and Dorothy and Wayne A family Christmas was enjoyed by all.

A Christmas Eve buffet supper was served at the home of John and Lucille Banks. The whole family was there — Susan and Dan Chapman, Bob and Debbie Banks, Fred and Judy Ross and Tom, Bill, John and Jim Banks. Christmas day again found everybody inside and outside. The Christmas present games were a pastime.

Bob and Shirley Kollar had a Christmas dinner for Ron and Sue Mueller, Shirley's parents, Ed and Gladys Mueller, Larry and Judy Biskner (new Macon residents in the former Graff home) and Tom Mueller, home from Grand Rapids. Wild goose was served. Most of the group returned Sunday for the leftovers.

The Connors Christmas centered around Christmas Eve. Pat's mom, Mrs. Ahlene Connors, brother, Mike and his wife, Pam and his sister, Mary Connors were family guests along with Pat Jr. Other guests were Linda McCleory and her three children and Mrs. Agatha Camburn. A potluck dinner was served and gifts were exchanged. Pat's sister, Cathy Savage from Hiffing, Minn. and son, Mike Connors from Ft. Hood, Texas called that evening. This was Mike's first Christmas away. He missed celebrating his Dec. 23 birthday with the family. A group of Boysville carolers visited. The family attended Midnight Mass. Neighbors joined for coffee afterward.

Wagon Train, Festival Highlight 1976

CLINTON — The past year has been a good one for Clinton. Among the big events, the visit by the Bicentennial Wagon Train on May 24, and the third annual Fall Festival in September, were the most notable days.

Certainly an indication of an improvement in the business outlook for the village was the opening here of several new businesses, Ken's Antiques, Woodward's Village Gift Shoppe, June and Jennie's, Clinton Bell Party Store and Union-76 station. Jane's Flowers moved to a new location and Jean Magee Antiques closed.

For the future, plans are underway to seek financing for park development; the village has been given two former Clinton Engines buildings and construction of a new wider bridge is scheduled for next year on the west entrance to the village on US-12.

The community spirit is much in evidence when an event such as the Fall Festival brings together widely divergent people and talents; residents of Water Wheel Estates have blended into the life of the community, in its churches and other activities; and busy senior citizens groups provide a new dimension for interest for those in later years.

It seems to us that the blending of voices of all age groups in the Bicentennial choir was another keynote of a new harmony here. May this harmony of thought and effort continue throughout the New Year.

JANUARY

Clinton Township Board began considering ways to finance a new fire truck for the Clinton Fire Department.

JC Auxiliary began promoting idea of a village park by scheduling a Bike for Your Park project in April

New pastor, the Rev. Roy Wagner was installed at United Church of Christ, Jan. 25.

FEBRUARY

Village officials began an effort to have the Bicentennial Wagon Train rerouted through Clinton en route to a stopover in Tecumseh.

Clinton High School Agriculture Department hosted the first annual Farm Home Day Feb. 28, with a full schedule of seminars on subjects of interest to rural families, and a pancake supper.

Clinton Township Board planned to place half-mill tax on the May 18 primary election ballot, for four years, to purchase a pumper tanker for Clinton Fire Department.

MARCH

Clinton Township Library negotiated a contract for services with Huron Valley Library System.

Bids were sought for a new track at Clinton High School.

First Federal Savings began building a branch office at W. Michigan Ave.

APRIL

Plans were made by Historical Society of Clinton for a Clinton Day Bicentennial dinner at Clinton Inn, Greenfield Village May 1.

Council designated the area of the village office where the old Clinton Inn once stood, as an historic site.

CHS named Jeff Gibson valedictorian and Darcy Schneider and Elizabeth Wolf as co-salutatorians.

Lt. Donald D. Phillippi, commander of State Police Post at Clinton, retired.

Michigan State Police considered a move to close the Clinton and Blissfield posts and establish a central post in Adrian. Clinton citizens protested with a letter writing drive and immediate action by council protested abandonment of Clinton.

MAY

Clinton Day dinner at Clinton Inn was attended by 140 Clinton area residents at Greenfield Village.

Council became concerned about State Highway Dept. plans to close bridge on W. U.S.-12 for rebuilding, and rerouting traffic down Matthews Hwy. and Staib Rd. A temporary bridge was urged as an alternative.

Bicentennial Wagon Train of 40 wagons and nearly 400 riders rode through Clinton, were greeted by village officials and ate lunch at the school, May 24.

John Keyer was named Teacher of Year at CHS.

Michigan State Police agreed to retain Clinton State Police Post to become the administrative office for both Blissfield and Clinton posts, thus both will remain open.

Jaycettes Bike for Your Park project raised $2,000.

JUNE

Electrical rates were raised June 15.

New fire truck was ordered with delivery time about 18 months.

Bids were accepted for chain link fence around the CHS athletic field.

Clinton Bell has been extensively refurbished for use in the July 4th observance, by its owner Joe O'Donnell.

JULY

July 4th observance included street dance July 3, ballgames, picnic and 2 p.m. church bell ringing. bicentennial Chorus of 30 voices, directed by Peg Geiger, presented "Hallelujah America" patriotic concert to a standing room only audience at Clinton High School.

Clinton State Polcie post became central headquarters for Blissfield and Clinton state police dispatch.

AUGUST

Ken Nelson of Northville opened Ken's Antiques at 125 W. Michigan Ave.

Jane Cole moved Jane's Flowers across the street to the Magee building at 116 W. Michigan Ave., and Jean Magee Antiques closed. Mrs. Magee is devoting full-time to Clintonian Inn restaurant and apartments.

Fred and Gladys Geiger and Don and Bonnie Purkey opened a new Union 76 service station on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., next to George Underwood Fordland.

New sexton's office and storage was opened at Riverside Cemetery.

SEPTEMBER

Carl and Susie Woodward and daughter, Amy Haft opened Woodward's Village Gift Shoppe at 106 W. Michigan Ave.

School board approved plans for a FFA pole barn and lean-to on school property along Kehoe Rd.

Annual Fall Festival was held Sept. 24, 25, 26 with well attended Homecoming Parade, Friday. More than 60 display booths lined the streets, and the Bicentennial choir entertained outdoors Saturday to an audience of nundreds. Lost arts and crafts exhibit in Community Center, apple festival, church dinners, JC Pork Roast were all successful events. Although Sunday's rain kept the booths shut down, the big parade continued despite a drizzle. The Rotarians were able to sell most of their chicken dinners and the Methodists serviced their ice cream social under a tent. Prize car was won by Mrs. Ken McElroy of Tecumseh.

OCTOBER

Jaycees planned a Halloween Haunted House at school.

NOVEMBER

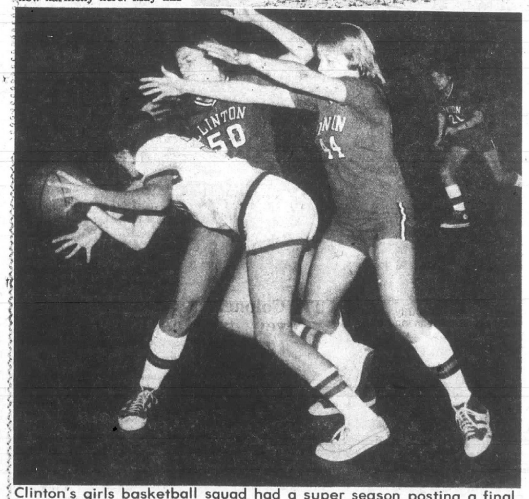
Record turnout of 1,251 voters in Clinton Township named Gerald Ford over Jimmy Carter for president, and chose Stanley Gibbard as county commissioner; Frank Gignac, supervisor; clerk, Janet Welch; treasurer, Mary Hull; trustee, James Meeks; constable, Leo Smith; and library trustees, John Colton, Harry Comstock and Dennis Spina.

DECEMBER

CHS Alumni Association was faced with need for funds to arrange annual reunion for another year.

Council accepted two former Clinton Engines buildings at W. Franklin and Railroad Sts., which have been vacant for several years. They also purchased the parking lot across the street at $6,500.

Electrical rates were increased by one mill, effective Dec. 15.



Clinton's girls basketball squad had a super season posting a final 20-3 record. They lost to Michigan Center in the regional finals 46-42.

YEAR END GIFT — Two large buildings were acquired, at no cost, by Clinton Village, at year end, and will be renovated for use to be determined. In February 1971, Epic Manufacturing Co. (EMC) was formed when Chain Lakes Research Corp. of Detroit acquired controlling interest of Thomas Co. stock. Plant continued to make trial bikes and operate a machine shop and grinding plant at the W. Franklin St. and Division St. corner. About a year later the business failed. The plant has stood empty since, a target of vandals.

'Living with Cancer'

CLINTON — Lynn Sengbush, who is the consultant for the "Living with Cancer" group, has invited two other professionals to help make the group a more dynamic one.

They are Mary Jane Way, of Clinton, a registered nurse graduate from St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor, presently a part-time nurse in Adrian and Ann Anderson, a graduate student in Mental Health Nursing, University of Michigan, School of Nursing.

Meeting time is 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the first Monday of each month at United Methodist Church, Maple Ave., Adrian.

The spring schedule, including some changes, is as follows: Jan. 10, Feb. 14, March 14, April 4, and May 2.

At the January meeting discussion will be on "children's reactions to parents dying."

Injured in Accident

A Clinton man, Robert P. Gonczy, 26, and his three passengers were injured in a US-12 accident Sunday. All were taken to Addison Hospital for treatment after the accident.

Gonczy was traveling east. A westbound auto, driven by Louise A. Easterline, of Belleville, reportedly crossed the centerline in a blinding snow and hit the Gonczy auto.

Easterline was killed in the accident.

A third auto involved in the incident, driven by Duane D. Fry of Coldwater, hit the rear of the Gonczy vehicle after the first collision. The Fry auto occupants sought their own medical treatment.

Pictures Sought

Pictures of the Palman Building are being sought for a renovation feasibility study by Preservation Urban Design of Ann Arbor.

The downtown building located at W. Chicago Blvd. and S. Evans St. was originally built in 1852 by a local entrepeneur, Birdsley J. Bidwell who invested in other downtown buildings during his lifetime. Most recently, it was the home of Ken-Way drug store. It was called the Palman Building because the Palman Brothers of Toledo, Ohio were the owners before Mrs. James Robideau purchased the building.

Anyone who has a picture of the original appearance of the building should contact Lynn Cook, 423-2393.

Cagers Lose to Milan, 51-50

Tecumseh's cage team dropped a close non-league game to Milan 51-50 in overtime on Tuesday last week.

The Big Reds were rated ninth in the state among Class B schools recently.

The Indians came out to lead at the end of the first quarter 11-9 maintaining a one-point lead at the half 23-22. Tecumseh still was in the lead at the end of three stanzas. Milan tied it up 46-46 at the end of regulation play after outscoring Tecumseh 12-9 in the fourth quarter.

Milan came up with five points to Tecumseh's four in overtime to take the victory. Milan sank two free throws to gain the winning edge.

The Indians then took a shot but missed with Milan rebounding. Tecumseh fouled a Milan player and he missed the attempt but the Indians gave up the rebound.

Tecumseh hit on 21 of 48 attempts from the field for 44 percent. Milan made 22 of 47 for 47 percent. The Indians outrebounded the Big Reds 38-32.

Jeff Hans was first in scoring for the Indians with 13 points while Dave Bilkie and Dave Bohannon each had 10. Lyndon Hughes came in with nine.

The loss dropped Tecumseh's record to 3-2. Both losses, however, involved non-conference foes so the Indians remain undefeated in the Huron League.
